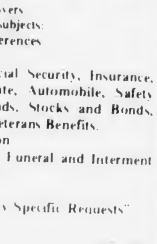
Oscar Wilde once said: "Children begin by loving their parents; as they grow older they judge them; sometimes they forgive them." And Edgar Guest once said: "It takes a heap of living and a lot of loving to make a house a home."



Since the family is the basic unit of society there are not many problems in society that do not originate in the home. These problems may stem from over-protection or under-protection; too much discipline or too little discipline; too much money or not enough money. Young couples, who have hardly had the time to adjust to each other, are overwhelmed by the awesome responsibility of becoming parents. This is a job that would tax the wisdom of Solomon, the patience of Job, the courage of Daniel and the financial resources of King Midas ...

To do what is right and to profit from our mistakes requires nothing less than divine guidance. The fifth commandment is "Honor thy father and mother." BUT, does this not also ADD to parents the responsibility to honorable, to discharge their duties as Christian fathers and mothers, and to establish a Christian home? ...

Pub Warned By Board On Entertainment Noise

By KRISTINE STRENGE

The city's License Board told the owner of Delaney's Pub, 39 Franklin St., to either keep the noise level of his entertainment down or hire a second police detail.

If Maurice J. Foley of Delaney's Pub fails to take either action he will be called before the board on June 14 to show cause why his entertainment license should not be revoked.

He would also have to answer to the board on why the pub's hours should not be rolled back to 11 p.m.

Delaney's Pub along with three taxi companies were called before the board because of complaints from a neighbor, John F. Schmock of 40 Franklin St.

Schmock who lives across the street from the pub claims that taxi cabs from Marina Bay, Braintree Cab and Shore Taxi blow their horns at 1 a.m. and 2 a.m. to let the patrons know their cab has arrived.

The board told Foley to put a sign up in the pub telling patrons to wait outside for their taxi.

Marina Bay Taxi Service and Shore Taxi, Inc. said they will tell their drivers if the customer is not outside Delaney's they shouldn't stop and blow their horn.

Braintree Taxi was not at the hearing. A letter from the board will be sent to them telling them of the new procedure.

Schmock also complained about the noise level coming from the pub and patrons gathering outside during business hours and after the pub closes.

City Clerk John Gillis, also board chairman, told Schmock that Foley can't be blamed for things out of his control.

But acording to Schmock most of the noise is coming from the pub because of the rock bands.

"The beat of the music can be heard in our bedroom quite loudly," he said.

Foley said a rock band is the only type of entertainment that draws a large crowd to the pub.

The pub always keeps its windows and doors closed and hires a police detail when there are bands playing, said Foley.

Gillis told Foley he may do better business now with the bands but in the long run he is better without them.

A PROCLAMATION in observance of Neurofibromatosis Week May 9 to 13 was signed by Mayor Francis McCauley. From left, are William Needel, co-president of the Neurofibromatosis Association; Carol Walsh, who is in charge of publicity for the association; and her son, Richard.

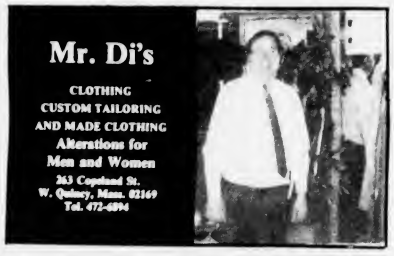
DeCristofaro Seeks Polling Place At Point-Webster School

City Clerk John Gillis said that next year he will look into Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro's request that the Point-Webster School once again be a polling place.



"They (polling places) will remain the same this year," said Gillis.

DeCristofaro said, "The Point Webster School was a polling place for many years and the residents would like to continue to vote at the school.

"I would like to see this change made to relieve the pressure of the number of people voting at Martensen St.

"I feel it is our duty to accommodate the wishes of the people," he said.

DeCristofaro noted that a ramp for the handicapped could be built at the school by Quincy Vo Tech students at little expense.

A panel of three judges selected the winners from more than 100 entries in the first of an annual photograph contest to stimulate interest in visual communication, a part of the Communications Program at Quincy Junior College.

First place winners, in the four categories, were Jennifer Grocer, "Photo Essay," of Hingham, Jay Mikkanen, "College Life," of Rockland, Ronnie Rivera, "Pictorial," of Weymouth and William Ionta, "General," of Quincy who was also presented an award of the "Best in Show."

Each first place winner received a $50 gift certificate and Ionta was presented a certificate for tuition of a course at the college of his photo that was judged "Best in Show."

'Leading Someone To Christ' Wollaston Congregational Topic

Lay scripture reader will be Gus Oster and the acolyte Jennifer Walker.

Greeter will be Bernadette Stentiford and ushers Nancy Sheehan and Gilda Knowles.

Organist Donald A. Reade will accompany the chancel choir as they sing the anthem "Sanctus" by Charles Gounod. For the offertory tenor Paul Frazer will sing "Thou Art Gone up on High" from Messiah by Handel.

Nursery care is provided for infants and preschoolers during the service. Church school for grades 1-5 and the senior high discussion group will meet at 10 a.m.

Following the service a reception for the new church secretary Irene Figueroa will be held in the social hall. Members and friends are invited to attend.

The task force will meet in the social hall Monday, May 16 at 7:30 p.m. On Thursday, May 19 at 7 p.m. the Worship Study Group will meet in the Ladies Parlor.

On Saturday, May 14 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. the church will sponsor a carnival, a bowling party, a roller skating party, "Business Basics" and is available for sixth grade students only.

At 7:30 p.m. on Saturday, the Youth Fellowship will hold a dance in the social hall.

Blood Pressure Screenings

Quincy City Hospital will conduct a free blood pressure screening for the public Tuesday, May 17 in the Ambulatory Care Department from 1:30 p.m. to 3 p.m.

The screenings performed by nursing staff will enable individuals to keep track of their blood pressure, and be aware of dangerous elevations in the pressure.

Council On Aging Awarded $3,000 Grant

The Quincy Council on Aging has been awarded a grant of $3,000 by the Executive Office of Elder Affairs to continue the intergenerational chores program, Senator Paul D. Harold announces.

Harold explained that the intergenerational chores program is organized to provide young people to help with routine maintenance chores, such as removing storm windows, in the homes of elderly residents who need such help.

The grant is awarded under the State Council of Aging Discretionary Grant Program for Fiscal Year 1988, Harold noted, and is in addition to the Executive Office of Elder Affairs annual grant programs.

"I am pleased that help will again be available for elderly homeowners with Spring maintenance work to be done. It is a beneficial program for both the elders and the youngsters involved and I am glad to see it continued," said Harold.

Atlantic Students Adopt Whale

Students at Atlantic Middle School have adopted a new, 53-ton pet.

Her name is Columbia, and she's a 62-ft. humpback whale.

The project was part of a recent Whale Awareness Day effort of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Under the advisement of Sandra Papson, art teacher at Atlantic and member of the Center for Coastal Studies in Provincetown, the students spent the week of May 2 researching and studying whales and, ultimately, adopting a whale on May 4.

The students collected $80 during a lunch period which will be donated to the Adopt a Whale Project of the International Wildlife Coalition.

The whale, Columbia, and her baby, female named Splinter are presently heading to summer feeding grounds off Cape Cod.

Hold-Up And Security Programs

Because of the recent rash of hold-ups in convenient stores and gas stations, the Crime Prevention Officer is offering FREE programs to businesses in Quincy.

The Hold-Up program is designed to inform businesses how to avoid becoming the victims of hold-ups. Some of the topics discussed are, visibility into your business, how to handle money, signs that may be posted to help prevent a hold-up and what an employee should do in the event he/she is the victim of a hold-up.

As the owner or manager of a business you have the responsibility to your employees and the public to do all that you can to prevent a hold-up.

A second program being offered is the Security Survey. Is your business as secure as it can be?

You will be given helpful hints on how to best secure your property and valuables. This program may prevent you from being called by the police at 3 a.m. to tell you that your property has been broken into.

Both the Hold-Up Program and the Security Program can be had by calling 479-1212 ext 368. Both programs are FREE of charge through the Quincy Police Dept.

The "McGruff On Strangers" program is still available to Quincy groups. A simple call is all that is needed.

White Honored As Vo-Tech Advisory Committee Chairman

George White was recently presented a VIP Award during ceremonies in Alexandria, Va. for his work as chairman of the Quincy Vocational-Technical Advisory Committee.

White was honored for "exemplary achievement in strengthening the nation's vocational-technical education programs."

"Business and industry involvement is a vital link to the success of vocational education," said Joyce L. Wilkerson, executive director, National Council on Vocational Education.

"Only through commitment of individuals like you can up-to-date, quality programs be created and continued."

The awards program was sponsored by the National Council on Vocational Education, the National Association of State Directors of Vocational Education, the National Association of State Coordinators of Vocational Education, and the National Alliance of Business.

The Quincy Vocational-Technical Advisory Committee represented Massachusetts at the event for the second year in a row.

Ernest P. Mazzaglia, director of Quincy Vocational-Technical School, represented the committee at the ceremony.

White is retail and national advertising director for the Patriot Ledger.

Quincy Rallies To Defeat North, Tourney Hopes Alive

By TOM SULLIVAN

The Quincy baseball team kept its tournament hopes alive Monday by scoring four runs with two outs in the last inning to pull out a 15-12 win over hard-luck North Quincy.

The Presidents improved to 8-5 and must win four of their seven remaining games to qualify for the tournament. North, which has lost several heartbreaking decisions, fell to 3-10.

Quincy was scheduled to play Cambridge Rindge and Latin in the makeup of a postponed game Tuesday, played at Newton North yesterday (Wednesday), and will host Waltham today at 4 p.m. at Adams Field.

North played Brookline yesterday, plays at Brockton today at 4 and will be home to Cambridge Monday at 4 at Adams.

Bob Sylvia's Quincy team, coming off a tough 4-3 loss to Brookline, had a 9-2 lead over North but Leo Donovan's Raiders, taking advantage of several walks, errors and wild pitches, tied the score at nine and, after Quincy took an 11-9 lead, North took a 12-11 lead after six innings.

The Presidents got off to a 5-0 lead in the first inning. North scored twice in the second but in the top of the third Nick Dragone hit a towering grand slam homer over the right field fence to put Quincy in front, 9-2. North scored two in the bottom half and in the fourth the Raiders scored five times to tie the score. Tony Anderlionis sparked the rally with a two-run triple to the fence in left-center.

In the fifth Dragone hit his second homer over the right field fence with a runner on to put the Presidents ahead, 11-9.

In the bottom of the sixth North took a 12-11 lead on singles by Anderlionis, Chris Baker and Billy Wysocki and a double by Mike Walsh.

In the top of the seventh Greg Chambers walked for Quincy but the next two batters were retired. Joe Taylor walked, Dan Biagini walked, Sean Thompson singled, Brian Taylor singled and Jim Dennis, the third and winning pitcher, singled for four runs.

For Quincy Dragone had six RBI with his two homers, Brian Taylor had two singles, Ed Flavin a double and Wayne Chambers, Biagini, Thompson, Dennis and Greg Chambers a single each.

For North Anderlionis had a triple and single, Walsh a double, Jim Glynn two singles and Baker and Wysocki one each.

"This was a great game for the spectators, but a nightmare for the coaches," said Sylvia. "We were fortunate to pull it out. Dragone had two great blasts and Dennis pitched well in relief to get the win."

"The kids continue to lose tough games," said Donovan. "We are young and have just been unable to get the clutch hits and have made errors which have cost us games. I'm proud of the way they came back today."

Last Friday Quincy lost to Brookline, 4-3, despite 12 strikeouts by Wayne Chambers. Trailing, 4-1, the Presidents scored twice in the last inning but left the tying run on base.

In the seventh Dragone and Chambers walked, Biagini drove in a run with a single and the second run scored on a fielders choice. However, Brooklin pitcher Charlie Cawthorne retired the next batter leaving the tying run stranded.

Earlier in the week Quincy defeated Brockton, 10-6, as Brian Taylor's two-run single sparked a four-run third inning. Dennis was the winning pitcher, going the final three innings and giving up one run.

Taylor had three hits and three RBI, Biagini had two RBI, Dennis an RBI, Thompson an RBI as each had two hits.

North Quincy dropped a 1-0 squeaker to Newton North despite a brilliant pitching effort by Eric DeBoer, who pitched no-hit ball for five innings, struck out five and walking five.

The only run of the game came in the sixth inning when Newton's Bill Troia walked, went to second on a fielders choice and scored on a double by Paul Jones.

Terriers

QUINCY'S Jeff Timberlake, Boston University junior, has been named the winner of the Unsung Hero Award, given by the New England Coaches Association. Timberlake set the school single-season assist record this season and was the top scorer in the ECAC North Atlantic Conference tournament. He led the Terriers into the NCAA championship tournament after being named MVP of the NAC title tournament.

Quincy Girls Pound North 18-7

The Quincy girls' softball team broke a three-year drought Monday when it pounded the North Quincy girls, 18-7, at Faxon Field, improving its record to 4-6 overall and 2-3 in the Suburban League.

It was the first time Quincy has defeated North in three years.

Christine Barrett (3-for-5) singled to open the game and successive RBI doubles by Kristen Curtin and Diane Heeney gave Quincy a quick 2-0 lead. North Quincy scored three runs in the second and one in the third but the First Ladies came back with four in the bottom of the third, including RBI singles by Curtin and Marion Miller.

Quincy put the game out of reach with nine runs in the fourth on 10 hits and two walks. Pitcher Diane Heeney had a double for two RBI and Amy Ballier, Sue Cullen and Barrett also had RBI singles.

Heeney pitched the complete game and aided her own cause by going 3-for-4 (three doubles and six RBI).

Barrett scored four runs and had an RBI and Miller went 3-for-5 (two runs and an RBI).

The defensive plays were turned in by Curtin with a rally-ending double play in the top of the fifth after North Quincy had scored three runs, and Barrett with a spectacular double play, taking a hard grounder up the middle, tagging the runner going to second and doubling the batter at first.

Last Thursday Quincy took advantage of 18 walks and timely hitting by Barrett (two singles and a double), Cullen, Heeney, Ballier, Nicky Manton and Maureen Shea to edge Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 8-7.

Miller turned in the defensive play of the game when she made a fine running catch in left field with a runner on second and doubling the runner up at third to end the game.

Earlier the First Ladies dropped an 8-7 heartbreaker to Brockton, trailing 8-0 (five Brockton runs were unearned) going into the last inning and exploding for seven runs on six hits.

Doubles by Curtin, Baker and Donna Deans and singles by Heeney, Lisa Zambruno and Curtin (her second hit of the inning) together with three walks brought Quincy to within a run but Brockton shortstop Julie Smalley made a great catch of Heeney's hard drive leaving the tying and winning runs on base.

Dobbins Scores Winning Goal For D & H

In the April 28 edition of the Quincy Sun Carl Dobbins was given credit for the goal which gave Doran & Horrigan the Quincy Youth Hockey Association House League playoff championship, 1-0, over Burgin Platner.

The winning goal was actually scored by Dan Boylen, a defenseman who also plays on the Squirt B team and has been credited with many assists during the year. This was his only goal of the year.

Whitelaw Retires As Eastern Collegiate Commissioner

Bob "Scotty" Whitelaw, a former three-letterman at North Quincy, has retired as commissioner of the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference (ECAC), the nation's largest athletic conference after 16 years as head man.

Whitelaw joined the ECAC in 1960 as assistant commissioner after serving as assistant athletic director and head basketball and baseball coach at MIT. He became commission in 1972.

Scotty recently received the prestigious Shaeffer Pen Award from the New England Hockey Writers for his outstanding contribution to college hockey.

He served as tournament director of the ECAC Division I hockey championship since 1962 and was instrumental in forming championships at the Division 2 and 3 levels.

He played football, baseball and basketball at North Quincy High and was inducted into the school's football Hall of Fame three years ago.

Quincy, North May Lose More Coaches On Pay Hike Rejection

By TOM SULLIVAN

Quincy and North Quincy schools are losing some capable coaches, and it won't be surprising if more leave after the School Committee recently rejected the coaches' pleas for salary increases that would bring them closer to the level of other Suburban League coaches.

The committee voted, 4-3, against reconsidering the vote to budget another $20,000 for salaries next year, the second year of a contract in which $30,000 was earmarked for pay increases.

The Quincy and North Quincy coaches are among the lowest paid in the Suburban League and, in some cases, assistant coaches are paid more than the Quincy and North Quincy head coaches.

Quincy football coach Jack Raymer, spokesman for the Coaches Association, presented a copy of the School Committee meeting of June 10, 1960, in which coaches sought the first raises since 1953.

"The figures show how little the coaches have received in 28 years," said Raymer. "Most Suburban League coaches make a good deal more than we do."

North Quincy football coach Ken McPhee said, "We had an excellent chance to get increases which would put us on a par with the other league coaches. The superintendent backed us up but the School Committee refused us raises. The difference in the assistant coaches' salaries in 28 years is practically nothing and we will have a hard time keeping them. I have already lost two assistants, Kevin Cobban, who has moved to Weymouth North, and Ted Sadowski, who is retiring.

"To give you an idea of the excellence of our assistants, the Mass. State Coaches Association selected Ted Sadowski as one of seven Assistant Coaches of the Year and gave him a plaque. All we are seeking is parity with the other coaches in the league."

Jeanne Quigley, captain of the Quincy High Girls' track teams, and a number of other athletes told the committee its decision could mean an exodus of coaches to other towns and could jeopardize existing programs.

Ed Miller resigned as North Quincy boys' basketball coach after the 1986-87 season after 11 years to take the head coaching job at Marshfield High.

One of the reasons for his move was a salary almost double what he was being paid at North Quincy.

Several students in blue and white Quincy High jackets were among about 25 supporters appearing at the School Committee meeting on behalf of the coaches.

Mayor Francis McCauley, committee chairman, said he couldn't support overriding contract negotiations.

The biggest increases in the past 28 years have been for football coaches. In 1960 Quincy coach Jack Garrity and North Quincy coach Jack Donahue received $2000. Today Raymer and McPhee are paid only $4000.

Some of the assistant coaches' raises are practically nil. The freshman football coaches and freshman basketball coaches were paid $600 in 1960 and are now making just $620.

Bill Hutchinson, longtime Quincy hockey coach and the president of the Coaches Association in 1960, explained that there had been no salary adjustment since 1953 and that the Quincy schools had lost some valuable coaches to industry and outside employment, who would have preferred to coach but from necessity needed additional compensation which the coaching salaries did not provide.

Mayor McCauley said at the School Committee meeting that the 10 percent raises the coaches received in the first year of the contract was twice the amount teachers were getting.

"I don't think it's a question of money, it's a question of collective bargaining," he said. "We aren't taking anything away from anybody. We have made a good start for parity."

Joining the mayor in opposing the move were Christopher Kennedy, Mary Collins and Margaret Nigro.

Supporting the move were Frank Santoro, Stephen Durkin and Frank Anselmo.

Collins had proposed to use the $20,000 for hockey pads for high school players.

Quincy Education Association president Thomas Walsh warned the panel that some coaches might quit unless they are paid better.

"Now we won't have enough coaches to pass out equipment," said Santoro. He said McCauley was opposed to the pay hike because some coaches had supported his opponent, Councilman Joe LaRaia, in last November's election.

In last fall's controversial negotiations, in which teachers came close to striking, an agreement was reached that coaches in the second year of the contract would receive a stipend as close to the Suburban League average as a maximum of $30,000 in new money would give them.

The $30,000 figure was suggested by the committee, and both sides felt it would be enough, Walsh said.

The coaches reportedly learned later that the month still fell short and complained.

The following is a list of the increases in coaches' salaries from 1960 to 1988:

Faculty manager, $600 to $1800.

Head football coaches, $2000 to $4000; assistant coaches, $1000 to $1900; ninth grade coaches, $600 to $620.

Head basketball coaches, $1000 to $2400; assistant coaches, $600 to $1500; ninth grade coaches, $600 to $620.

Head baseball coaches, $1000 to $2400; assistant coaches, $500 to $1500; ninth grade coaches, $300 to $620.

Head track coaches, $700 to $1500; assistants, $300 to $1000.

Tennis coaches, $300 to $1500.

Golf coaches, $300 to $1500.

Hockey coaches, $600 to $1800.

Soccer coaches, $600 to $1800.

Cheerleader advisors, $400 to $650.

Giants Roll, 11-4

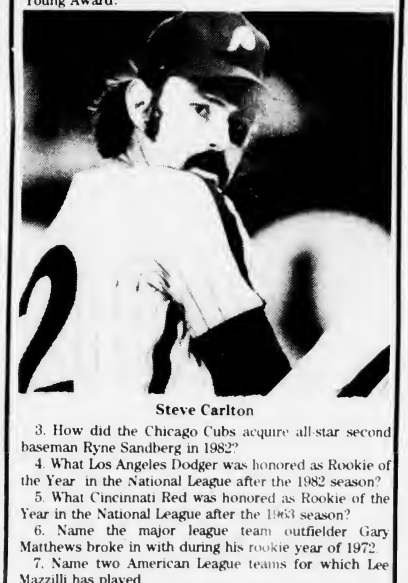
The Giants, coached by Bob Pirelli and Art Carthas, rolled over the Braves, 11-4, in the opening game of the Junior Farm Baseball League.

The Giants, a new entry this year, were sparked by the pitching of Eric Struss, who pitched a five-hitter and struck out 12.

With the Giants trailing, 2-1, in the top of the fifth inning, Mike Nantel, with the bases loaded, two outs and a two-strike count, hit a grand slam homer to center field.

Struss helped his own cause with a grand slam homer in the final inning.

Robbie Pirelli had two RBI and Justin Stavros, John Laukkanen and Chuck Feeley had key hits. Jeurik Samborski, Mike O'Neill, Timmy Hunter, Pat McGann, Chris Carthas, Shawn Manning, Pat Coughlin, Paul Conroy and Kevin Sullivan all played excellent defense.



The Giants will face the Red Sox tonight (Thursday) at 5:45 at Pageant Field.

Record Number Of Entries For Senior Olympics

The sixth annual Senior Olympics which will be held starting next Monday, May 16 and finishing Monday, May 23 with an awards ceremony at the Beechwood Center will have a record number of entries.

Events in the games, which highlight National Older Americans Month, will include swimming, golfing, walking races, javelin throw, bowling at O'Lindy's and basketball.

More than 200 senior citizens from 20 South Shore communities have signed up, according to Betty Campbell, program director for the Beechwood Community Life Center which is sponsoring the event with the city.

The games will begin with a golf tournament Monday at 8 a.m. at the President Golf Course on West Squantum Street.

The swimming competition will be held at 6 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday at the Lincoln Hancock School pool.

Track and field events will take place May 21 at Veterans Memorial Stadium starting at 9 a.m.

Other events will include a softball game Monday against the North Quincy girls team at 7 p.m. at Merrymount Park and a "celebrity" volleyball tournament at 11:30 a.m. May 20 at the Beechwood Center on Fenno St.

Senior citizens will face city councillors and state legislators, including council president Patricia Toland and state Sen. Paul Harold.

Competition will be by age groups: 55-59, 60-64, 70-74, 75-79, and 80 and older.

Two 90-year old contestants are among those signed up.

Admission is free and spectators are welcome at all events.

Olympic-style medals will be awarded to top finishers in all events.

Applications are available at City Hall, the Beechwood Center and the H K Building, 1170 Hancock Street. Registration fee is $8.

Local companies and stores have contributed $4000 toward the cost of the Games and the Beechwood Center and the city have paid about another $5000.

Atherton Hough Takes Jamboree Cup

Atherton Hough advanced through an eight team pack to emerge as the winner of the Jamboree Cup in the annual Quincy Recreation Department Instructional Basketball Jamboree for elementary age participants.

The instructional jamboree has been designed to instruct elementary age participants in the skills of basketball under game conditions. Each team is guaranteed a minimum of two mini-games. Participation and not competition is emphasized.

For the third year over 90 boys and girls participated in a clinic conducted by Brian Buckley, head coach of Curry College. Buckley was assisted by Joe Hall and John Henry, two current members of the men's basketball team at Curry. Henry is a Quincy resident and former Archbishop Williams High School player.

At the conclusion of the clinic all eight teams participated in the round robin jamboree. The teams were coached by recreation leaders from the various gym programs supervised by the Recreation Department.

In round one action Atherton Hough defeated last year's cup winner Beechwood Knoll 18-6. Chris McPartlin was top scorer for Atherton with 10 points. Chris Delisle had four, while Dennis Robbins and Kevin Nichols each had two. Tommy Mead had four and Jimmy Finn two for the Rick Radzik coached Beechwood.

Point defeated Merrymount 11-7 behind Keith Martin's five points. David Gunther had four and Todd Sullivan had two. Jason Downey had five and Steve Barrett two to round out the scoring on the Brian McNeil-coached Merrymount.

Squantum squeezed past Atlantic 9-6. Jeff Johnson and Scott Starsiak each had four while Jennifer Doherty had one point. Billy Manning had all six points for the Stacey Welch-coached Atlantic.

Katie McDonald and Marybeth Feeney played well and led the team in rebounds.

Snug Harbor came from behind to defeat Montclair 12-9 in the final first round game. Sam Brown led both teams with eight points while Snug Harbor team mate Dave Swan had the other four. Pat Mulkern, the Montclair coach, was pleased with the six-point effort of Steve MacDougall. Corey Chaggaris had two and Cedrick Douglas had one to balance the scoring ledger.

In second round games Atherton Coach Patti Morrell kept her club on its winning ways by defeating Point, 15-8. McPartlin had five, Nichols four while Chris White, Jim Goldrick and Tommy Hawes each had two points. Martinson had four to lead Point. Sullivan had two and Joe Donaghue two to round out the scoring, for the Janice Sullivan-coached Point.

Squantum ran into Snug Harbor high scoring Sam Brown as it fell, 18-2. Brown had 10 first half points. Jason Bonive, Chris Booker each had two and Dave Swan four as Snug rolled. Jennifer Doherty managed one field goal for Squantum. Jason Parkhurst, Mike McDonough, [illegible]

Montclair got its winning ways as Steve MacDougall once again topped the team with nine of Montclair's 13 points. Atlantic's Steve Manning could only muster two points as Atlantic fell, 13-2. T.J. Tarrell and Billy Manning played well but could not find the scoring touch. Corey Chaggaris and Cedrick Douglas had two each for Montclair.

Round three of play had four teams remaining. In the battle of the unbeatens Atherton Hough advanced by Snug Harbor, 7-4. This game featured a coaching battle between Patti and Gayle Morrell, the twins were outstanding players for the First Ladies of Quincy High School. Patti, the Atherton Hough coach, came out on top of this encounter as Gayle's Snug Harbor team ran into a scoring drought. Sam Brown and Dave Swan each had two for Snug. Chris McPartlin, Chris White and Amanda Corbin each had two for Atherton. Jim Goldrick made one free throw.

Montclair advanced to the last round on a 14-6 victory over Merrymount. Merrymount had balanced scoring with Justin Tobin, Jimmy Finch and Jeff Keddy each having two. Montclair's Steve MacDougall had six. Corey Chaggaris and Cedrick Douglas four.

In the Jamboree cup game Montclair took an early lead behind the first half scoring of Brendan Welch and Steve MacDougall, however, Chris White and Amanda Corbin teamed up for 10 points as Atherton out-lasted Montclair 16-9. Corey Chaggaris also had three for Montclair. Dennis Robbins, Chris McPartlin and Jim Goldrick rounded out the well balanced effort by Atherton. Jamie Galligan led both teams in assists.

Participants in the elementary Jamboree were boys and girls age eight through the fifth grade who participated in the Quincy Recreation Department winter after school and Saturday Recreation Program. The Jamboree is an end of the season [illegible] the 23 week program.

Open House At YMCA Saturday, Sunday

The public is invited to attend an Open House at the South Shore YMCA, 29 Coddington St., Quincy, this weekend.

The YMCA's service areas include: Quincy, Weymouth, Braintree, Hingham, Hull, Norwell, Cohasset, Scituate, Randolph, and Milton.

The open house will be held Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

The open house will acquaint visitors with the ongoing services at the facility. Residents from the South Shore YMCA's service area are invited to tour the facility and talk with the professional staff.

Full privilege adult members of the YMCA are entitled to participate in gym programs such as basketball, volleyball, racquetball, and weightlifting. The cardiovascular fitness side of the YMCA includes an indoor track, coed fitness programs, slimnastics, and Aerobic Dance classes. Weekly swimming lessons and daily recreational swims are also offered. Special interest aquatic classes include swimnastics, lifesaving courses and aquaerobics.

A variety of special interest courses are available including yoga, karate, prenatal exercise and healthy back classes. The South Shore YMCA also facilitates one of the nation's finest health enhancement fitness programs directed by Wayne Westcott, Ph.D. Dr. Westcott has written many books on health and fitness and is a consultant to the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sport, while also an advisor to the National YMCA. The YMCA's Fitness center is equipped with the latest in "Nautilus" equipment that contributes to high technology exercise programs for developing muscle strength and cardiovascular endurance.

The YMCA also offers a full range of youth programs. These programs include gym classes, swim lessons, tumbling, gymnastics, karate and more. Competitive swim team is available along with instructional swim classes including Water Babies, Young Tots and Young Tot Gym and Swim. Also available to the Y's youth are a variety of Community Service programs that reach into the local area to bring quality programming to the people that can't make the commute to Quincy.

Under the guidance of Community Services executive director, Bill Johnson, and his staff, the communities in the South Shore are provided with classes that range from youth swim lessons at the MDC Pool in Weymouth to Vacation Camps, Water Babies, Young Tot Gym, Before School and After School Care, Aerobic Exercise classes and more, for children in Braintree, Hingham, Norwell, Scituate, Cohasset, Weymouth and Hull.

The South Shore YMCA has been serving the South Shore for over 95 years. Its programs vary from Day Care to Nautilus. These programs are developed to assist the South Shore residents with high quality care and programs. If you are interested in finding out what the South Shore YMCA can do for you...plan to visit us either Saturday, May 14th, or Sunday, May 15th.

If unable to attend the open house, call the YMCA Monday through Saturday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., 479-8500, for more information about the various programs.

WEEK OF: May 12

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
Your approach to finance and romance is generally quite conservative. You can be annoyingly vague — but you're the most trustworthy friend anyone can ask for. Your taste is exquisite, and the coming six months may find you involved in a major decorating program. Career path becomes more clearly outlined by the fall.

AQUARIUS — January 21 - February 19
Week may prove more favorable for implementing a moneymaking idea. Romancewise, there is more time for relaxation than you realize. Your humanitarian side is accented during this period.

PISCES — February 20 - March 20
You may find yourself in the midst of a luxurious environment. Careerwise, this is an outstanding time for making contacts. In romance, you're preparing to make a renewed commitment.

ARIES — March 21 - April 20
Coincidences are sprinkled through the week; you may find that you share a unique interest with a new neighbor. Professionally, you find yourself meeting ever increasing challenges.

TAURUS — April 21 - May 22
You may find yourself embarking on an educational pursuit; the whole period emphasizes learning and teaching. There's room for travel too — once again, with the emphasis on education.

GEMINI — May 23 - June 21
Opportunity for reconciliation should open by the end of this period. Thursday-Friday find you scrambling to meet a deadline; weekend offers chance to indulge yourself.

CANCER — June 22 - July 22
You have a reputation for living in the past; but this week sees you stepping into the future. Current agenda finds you updating skills and dealing with the latest technology.

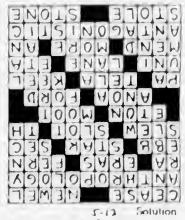
LEO — July 23 - August 22
Your leadership skills are put to positive use as you take charge in an awkward career or community related situation. On the homefront, you may have to make a small sacrifice.

VIRGO — August 23 - September 22
Extravagant streak surfaces toward the weekend, and the time is probably right for a little self pampering. With a combination of patience and sensitivity you solve a friendship dilemma.

LIBRA — September 23 - October 22
Your recent family related decision may be overturned. Superior is prone to exaggeration, so take promises with a few grains of salt. Loved one is more sensitive to your feelings.

SCORPIO — October 23 - November 21
At work especially, people are listening to your ideas more eagerly than you probably realize. Thoroughly investigate all angles before making a major personal decision.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22 - December 22
Ambitious streak is prominent and you more than make up for lost time. In every area — career, community, personal relationships — it's essential that you be a very good listener.



CAPRICORN — December 23 - January 20
Financial adviser may be requesting some detailed information. Artistic endeavors are highlighted, and the week may find you experimenting in a new medium. Romance remains upbeat.

Islamic Center Observing Ramadan

The Islamic Center of New England, 470 South St., Quincy Point, is observing the Muslim community's holy month of Ramadan, the month of fasting, which will end May 16, with the Eid-Ul-Fitr.

Seven million Muslims in the U.S.A., and one billion Muslims in the world, will fast the month of Ramadan, the holiest month of the Islamic lunar calendar.

Drinking, eating, smoking, and coitus are forbidden during the hours from dawn to sunset, after which the pleasures of life may be resumed in full until dawn of the following morning.

Depending on the phases of the moon, Ramadan begins 11 days earlier each successive solar year. This year, the fast began April 17.

Fasting is one of the five pillars of Islam. It is obligatory for every adult Muslim, man and woman. Fasting teaches self-restraint and self-discipline. It is not meant to be simply a denial of pleasures, but the virtue is in the monitoring and mastering of one's own desires and urges, so that they become under control.

Fasting is required year after year so that a person renews his relationship with God and his strength of will, ultimately learning to make this will power an integral part of everyday life.

At the end of the holy month of Ramadan, one of the two most important Muslim holidays, the Eid-ul-[illegible] much festivity and joy.

Gifts will be traded, and new clothes will be worn while people visit with each other sharing the celebration. This year the holiday will fall on May 16. The Muslim culminates the Holy Month by making payment of alms to the poor, an obligation on every Muslim upon completing his/her fast.

The sharing of money and food with fellow Muslims gives the Muslim the sense of unity which is a theme in the religon of Islam.

Especially For Asian Community

Health Dept. Issues Shellfish Warning

Public Health Commissioner Jane Gallahue reminds residents, especially the Asian community, that the city of Quincy does not issue family permits for the digging of shellfish in restricted and closed areas of Quincy.

"Within the past year, increasing numbers of Asians have been seen digging for clams and taking periwinkles without permits and in restricted and closed areas in the city of Quincy," she said. "The untreated clams and periwinkles are usually eaten as part of families' daily meal," Gallahue said.

"It is important for the Asian community to know and understand the laws restricting this practice and the need for such shellfish to be purified before eating. For this reason posters will be placed in areas where the Asians and others are digging clams," she said.

"The posters, one in English and one in Chinese, are written to inform individuals that the taking or digging of periwinkles, razor clams, quahaugs and softshell clams, is unlawful and will not be allowed," she said.

Such digging is punishable by fine or imprisonment.

Posters will also be distributed to areas where meetings may be held by Asians and also to the Asian newspapers in the area, Gallahue said.

Shellfish Warden Andy Ayers will closely monitor the areas frequented by the Asian people, she said.

Police Probe Shows 'Too Easy To Obtain'

80% Liquor ID's Used Phony

QUINCY Liquor Inspector Sgt. Richard Laracy with some of the 300 fraudulent identification cards he has confiscated from minors during the past 10 months.

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

During the past 10 months, Quincy Police and Liquor Inspector Richard Laracy has confiscated about 300 fraudulent identification cards from minors and the only way to fight this problem, Laracy said, is to change the way the cards are issued.

Laracy, who spends 30 to 60 minutes at several Quincy drinking establishments a night looking for underage drinkers, said the best way to stop minors from obtaining phony duplicate licenses and Massachusetts liquor purchase ID cards is to abolish them. Instead, he said, only licenses and Mass. ID cards should be issued and only after close scrutiny.

Laracy advocates such a change since duplicates and liquor cards are easy to obtain.

During his 10-month investigation of Quincy bars and clubs, Laracy said he has encountered and has the documentative proof that 80 percent of the forms of identification used to get in liquor establishments are fraudulent and are presented by minors.

"They have a liquor ID card and duplicate license with their picture on it but the information - name, address, social security number, date of birth - is that of another, usually a friend or member of their family."

Furthermore, Laracy estimated that one quarter to one half of those frequenting Quincy establishments are below the legal drinking age, 21.

It is too easy to get phony ID's, says Laracy.

"The way to obtain these fraudulent IDs is to take the information of someone over 21 years old to the Registry of Motor Vehicles office. All you need are three forms of identification, many of which do not require your picture on it," he explained.

These forms include birth certificates, W-2 forms, paid bills, life insurance papers and home mortgage papers, lease or loans papers.

"Attached are the Registry form and a memorandum from the A.B.C.C. (Alcoholic Beverage Control Commission) stating acceptable forms of identification.

"You say you have lost your driver's license and would like a duplicate. They put the information into their computer, the social security number of another, and it comes back valid with all the information you have presented," he said.

"Then they give you a duplicate license with your picture on the information of another. You then tell them you can't get served (alcohol) with a duplicate license, as most places don't accept them, and could you have a liquor ID card to back up the license, and with the same three pieces of ID, they give you a liquor ID card."

Laracy is not critical of the Registry, pointing out its clerks are merely following state law.

"The clerks do a very good job at questioning the people but their hands are tied if the proper ID is presented, the right questions are answered and the computer comes back with information presented, although it doesn't belong to the presenter."

Furthermore, Laracy said, "The legal department of the Registry of Motor Vehicles told me that they issue liquor ID cards, Mass. ID cards (if they don't have a valid license) and duplicate licenses in good faith according to Massachusetts law."

"Although it may be inadequate," Laracy pointed out, "it is the law and until it is changed they will continue to issue them under the present guidelines."

Under state law, any person who is age 21 may apply for a liquor purchase identification card. Also, any licensee, or agent, or employee who reasonably relies on such a liquor purchase identification

Passes Exam

O'Connell May Be Fire Chief

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Deputy Chief Paul O'Connell, a 15-year veteran, could be Quincy's next fire chief if he accepts the $58,279 a year position, an official said Tuesday.

Fire Chief Carl Valenti, 60, who will retire June 24, after almost 31 years with the department, said that O'Connell, 38, was the only one of four deputy chiefs who passed the Civil Service exam given March 19.

Others who took the exam were Deputy Chiefs Joseph Jackson, Thomas Gorman, Jr., and Francis O'Hare.

Valenti said he has not received the official scores, but learned of the results this week.

"I've had nothing official from downtown," he said. "But this is pretty reliable."

O'Connell, a Stoughton resident, was not available for comment Tuesday.

Mayor Francis McCauley said he would wait to receive the official scores from Civil Service and then talk to O'Connell.

If O'Connell declines the position, an acting chief would have to be appointed, McCauley said.

"But we'll cross that bridge when we come to it," he said.

An acting chief would make the same salary as a permanent chief, according to Personnel Director David Smith.

The salary for fire chief will increase to $59,445 June 30, Smith said.

"Paul would make an excellent chief," said Valenti. "He's very capable. They all (the deputy chiefs) are."

According to Valenti, O'Connell was appointed to the Quincy Fire Department June 23, 1973, then was promoted to lieutenant Sept. 29, 1978, captain, Nov. 10, 1984, and deputy chief, Feb. 28, 1987.

Valenti noted that the chief's exam this year was said to be extremely difficult.

"They said it was one of the most difficult they've seen," he said.

Valenti also encountered difficult exams in his career.

Before he was sworn in as permanent chief May 5, 1987, Valenti served as acting chief, pending results of a civil service exam.

When the results were announced, Valenti did not receive a passing grade, but he appealed and his score was raised.

He succeeded Chief Edward Barry who retired.

Valenti, a Weymouth resident, admitted to mixed feelings about his own impending retirement.

"I feel a little sad, even though I'm looking forward to retirement," he said.

"But I think this move is the right one."

Valenti said that he and his wife, Emily, plan to travel, and possibly take a cruise.

"We're going to spend some time relaxing," said Valenti.

"It will be good not to be on call."

Restaurant At Quincy Fair Gets Conditional Approval

By KRISTINE STRENGE

The License Board Tuesday granted Santa Fareri a common victualer and all alcoholic license to open a restaurant in the Quincy Fair building pending a traffic report.

Fareri who plans to open an informal American contemporary cuisine restaurant with seating capacity of 75 was asked by board members to get a traffic report from the city's Traffic Engineer, David Kinnecom.

Building Inspector Mathias Mulvey expressed concern that the patrons of the restaurant might cause traffic problems in the city.

Fareri said that she expects most of her customers will be movie goers.

A seven screen movie theater is scheduled to open soon at Quincy Fair.

City Clerk John Gillis also board chairman said Quincy should welcome new business.

"We should thank them for coming to Quincy," he said.

7 Movie Screen Theater Approved

The city's License Board granted Entertainment Management Corp. a movie cinema license to operate a seven screen movie theater in Quincy Sq.

The theater will be known as Entertainment Cinemas at Quincy Fair Mall and will feature first run films and possibly some foreign movies.

According to William Hanney, president of Entertainment Management Corp., the theater will offer free parking in the Ross Parking Deck.

There will also be three people from the cinema who will monitor the parking garage for the safety of the movie goer, said Hanney.

The theater is expected to open in the near future.

Koch Joins Brewster Police Department

Former City Councillor Richard J. Koch, Jr. has joined the Brewster Police Department.

Koch, who served three terms on the City Council from 1982 to 1987 moved to Brewster and gave up his council seat.

Koch, who expressed interest in a law enforcement career while a City Councillor, resigned his position as a senior claims adjuster with Kemper Insurance in January.

He passed the examination for patrolman and underwent 12 weeks of training at the Police Academy at Barnstable.

RICHARD J. KOCH, JR.

He joined the 19-member Brewster Police Department last week.

"This is something I have always wanted to do," Koch said while attending the 40th anniversary dinner of the Koch Club Saturday night at the Bryan VFW Post.

The anniversary was a special tribute to his father, the late Richard J. Koch, Sr., City Park - Forestry - Cemetery executive director, who founded the social-athletic club in 1948.

Clean-Up Day Saturday In Quincy Point

A clean-up day, sponsored by the Quincy Neighborhood Housing Services, will take place Saturday from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Target areas include parks, beaches, businesses and neighborhood areas of Quincy Point.

In addition, the Ward 2 Civic Association is sponsoring its annual bean supper from 5 to 7 p.m. Saturday.

Many Quincy Point residents and businesses are expected to participate in cleaning up designated areas including Whiton Park, Avalon Beach, Pollard School, Fore River Field and other areas.

Proctor and Gamble and the Mass Water Resources Authority are among the businesses participating.

Eighth graders from St. Joseph's School as well as local Boy and Girl Scouts and neighborhood groups are also participating.

According to Joseph Hajjar, NHS board member and businessman, the main message of this day is cleanliness. He said that if Quincy Point looks good, it might "rub off" on other sections of Quincy.

Hajjar also said other businesses along Washington St. might help by providing a rubbish barrel in front of their property each day during business hours so people will be less apt to throw garbage on the sidewalk.

Businesses can receive a barrel free by calling [illegible] 2227.

Businesses which place barrels in front of their store with owners who sweep outside regularly will receive a certificate of appreciation at the annual bean supper.

Household Chemical Drop Off Saturday

Clean Harbours Inc. will sponsor a household chemicals drop off day for Quincy Point residents May 21 from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Most household wastes will be accepted with the exception of tires, car batteries and radioactive materials.

The drop off site will be at the Braintree site off Quincy Ave. just past the Fore River Ship Yard. There will be no charge for the services.

For more information on which streets are eligible call Cindy Silveira at [illegible]-2227.

Public Hearing June 15

Motel-Hotel Owners Concerned Over Tax

The City Council has scheduled a public hearing Wednesday, June 15, at 7:30 p.m. at City Hall on Mayor Francis McCauley's proposal for a four percent excise tax on hotel or motel rooms rented in the city.

"This is another source of revenue which cities and towns can avail themselves of," said McCauley.

The city could have raised $77,000 with such a tax in 1987, he said.

But local motel owners such as Loren Strout of the 36-room Presidents' City Motel, 845 Hancock St., feel the tax could hurt their businesses.

The other motels in the city are the Quincy Bay Inn with 100 rooms, Eddie's Motor Inn, 23 rooms, and Ritz Motel, 12 rooms. Hotels in the city have been proposed.

"We are like all other businesses in the city of Quincy, in that we all pay a higher tax rate than the residents, and use fewer of the city departments," said Strout.

"Yet we must provide all these added expenses, that should be covered by our real estate taxes, and I guess that it is not enough - they want to throw another tax at us - and only our industry - not any other.

"Is there anything in the proposal that would use some of this money to help promote tourism?

"...The answer that we hear from the city is pass it on to your customer.

"Our customers are the same ones who are always at the raw end of the deal, the public, and they are getting testy.

"...We feel that there is a future for this tax, but the time is not now.

"For the amount of money that it would generate for the city, minus the cost setting up a new tax account for this purpose, and the prospect of lower occupancy, we can't for the life of us understand how the city will come out ahead!"

According to Strout, Quincy's four motels have been able to attract more people with lower rates than surrounding communities.

"Once our rates increase (on the average of $3 to $5 per room) this then takes some of the competitive edge away that we have established over the past five to eight years."

McCauley downplayed a negative effect from the tax.

"I don't see that it will hurt them," he said.

"Other communities have it, such as Braintree and Boston.

"We've got to avail ourselves of alternative sources of revenue."

McCauley said the public hearing will allow discussion on the proposal.

"We'll have to set this up sooner or later," said McCauley.

"It's time to set it up."

$300,000 For Snow Removal

The City Council voted Monday night to appropriate $300,000 for snow and ice removal, but not before the Finance Committee chairman stressed the importance of such services.

"This is one of the key things as far as city services," said City Councillor Stephen McGrath.

"The administration has to work on improving this.

"It's almost a public safety service," McGrath said.

The $300,000 appropriated by the council is in addition to the $300,000 which had been budgeted by the city.

More On The Point-Sterling Merger

Editor, The Quincy Sun.

Each letter written concerning the Point and Sterling consolidation, is with the hopes of reaching one more person.

The public should be skeptical regarding any promises made to us, relating to school issues, made by our School Committee, Superintendent Ricci and Mayor McCauley.

Since the vote to close Point, there have been many questions left unanswered. There have also been some contradictions and denials on some of the answers we have received by Dr. Ricci and the School Committee. We urge parents to look at this issue more closely to see for yourself what is happening.

One of the main reasons to consolidate was to bring in to our four middle schools, a foreign language program. We were told there was not enough money to hire teachers for the five middle schools.

At the City Wide Meeting on May 9, 1988 these figures were released - Atlantic - 1 Spanish "full time teacher." Broadmeadows - 1 Spanish "full time teacher", Central - "1 Spanish and 1 French - 2 full time teachers," Sterling - 1 French "part time teacher."

With another situation to make us wonder, we tend to agree with School Committeeman Frank Anselmo when he suggested "Discrimination" among our schools when it comes to an "Equal Education."

Four schools will be attending Sterling in September Lincoln-Hancock, Daniel Webster, Point and Sterling. All these children will be affected by unkept promises. We were told through consolidation Point and Sterling would benefit. We see nothing as of yet that proves "beneficial" in any way. We see Central, once again, having more than the other middle schools - why?

We are told Sterling will have a "magnet program" which is Theatrical Arts. Well this program has already been at Sterling for some time. All Dr. Ricci did was put a fancy name on it. We wonder if Dr. Ricci follows through on his programs because if he did he would know that out of the "five magnet programs," he implemented in Rhode Island, maybe "two" have worked. Or does Dr. Ricci know this?

And we wonder if Mayor McCauley plans to follow through this time on the repairing of the Sterling School, considering it's been on a list for the past two years as a "first priority." We wonder if Mayor McCauley would like to have his office located on the third floor of Sterling? We're sure he could stand the ceilings that are caving in as are the walls caving out. Or what about the paint that hangs in strips 12 inches or more off both the walls and ceilings? Not to mention open wires hanging on one wall, among many other deteriorations existing. After all, if he felt the children who already attend Sterling put up with this, why shouldn't he?

And if our School Committee stood up for us, they would have pushed to make sure Mayor McCauley provided a "clean safe school." Maybe both parties should re-read the charts on pg. 200 Ch. 71 S. 68. It specifies all school buildings should be maintained at the city's expense. And it's the job of the School Committee to make sure these matters are in "full compliance."

We also would like to ask Steve Durkin if the phone calls he said he received in "favor" of closing Point outnumber the 1,830 signatures presented in a petition "against" closing Point? And since our School Committee is going to have a raise we felt it would be very generous of them to pool together enough money so "Sterling" may have "1 full time" Spanish teacher and if not, we'll take a couple gallons of paint. After all, the School Committee promised to make sure" Dr. Ricci followed through on "all proposals," and we are wondering now, is this just political or if it's just another promise made in vain.

Sunbeams

By Henry Bosworth

Sun Not For Sale

Eric Schwarz must be pretty hard up trying to fill his column in the Patriot Ledger.

If he hasn't enough factual material to write about, no problem. Just manufacture something. Or let someone manufacture it for him.

Never mind checking it out to see if there is any truth to it. Just go ahead and use it. The hell with the facts. Don't let them get in the way. Why spoil a juicy item even if it is a crock of bull.

Schwarz notes that Nancy McLaughlin is leaving The Sun. That's true. (We've already wished her good luck.)

It's nothing unusual for people to move on after they've been in one place awhile. A change in scenery and routine and a new challenge can make life a little more interesting.

People come and go at the Ledger all the time. No big deal. We don't try to speculate on why they leave. We really don't care why. That's their business.

But Schwarz tries to read something into the fact that McLaughlin is leaving The Sun to go to a Mariner paper in Cohasset, the second writer to leave for that group in three or four years.

And then he clucks.

"Insiders said they wouldn't be surprised if before long, not just the staff but the entire Sun – press and all - - head the way of the Mariner. Cutler (David) and Bosworth have had discussions on a sale, but Bosworth, to date, has held out."

That's a ton of baloney and I have a pretty good idea who sliced it and fed it to him. Schwarz apparently doesn't know when he's being used.

Or he's too lazy to check out a story or maybe he just enjoys spreading a vicious rumor that is designed to harass and damage The Sun or he just doesn't give a damn.

I could have told him it was a phony plant if he had called to ask. But since he didn't I would like to set the record straight.

I have never discussed the possible sale of The Sun with Cutler. Not once. There are no negotiations going on. I am not holding out. There is nothing to hold out about.

I have had one query from that direction asking if I was interested in selling. It came up briefly a long time ago during a discussion of an entirely different matter.

I said I have no plans to sell. I didn't then and I don't now.

Other parties have asked me the same thing and I have given them the same answer.

Each has asked to be considered if I ever change my mind. I haven't changed my mind. That's it. Period.

In case Schwarz hasn't gotten the message, it's plain and simple. THE SUN IS NOT FOR SALE! Got it?

Schwarz tries to tie the fact that someone leaves The Sun as giving credence to the hand fed rumor The Sun is going to be sold.

Well, let's see now. A lot of people have left the Ledger -- including me. Could the fact that people leave mean there is something to the rumor that the Boston Globe wants to buy the Ledger and there have been discussions. But, to date, say insiders, Scott Low is holding out.

And one of the reasons he's holding out, according to insiders, is for a possible merger with the Brockton Enterprise. Then they together would buy out the Globe and move on to Rupert Murdoch.

And what's this from insiders that Bill Ketter is fed up with those "Coffee With The Editor" sessions. The caffeine is keeping him awake nights. They say he's threatening to jump ship unless they change those sessions to "Tea With The Editor."

And did you hear the real reason why the Ledger is moving from downtown to West Quincy? Insiders say the present Temple St. building is haunted and that a ghost keeps running through the place nights yelling "Extra, Extra!" And now he's working the day shift and scaring the daylights out of the staff.

Of course, all of that, is a lot of nonsense but it shows that anyone can manufacture a story and claim it came from insiders.

I challenge Schwarz to reveal the alleged insiders he would have you believe gave him the information about The Sun going to be sold.

If Schwarz wants to write a gossip column instead of a news column, he should forewarn readers that it is a gossip column.

At least Louella and Hedda used to wear lampshade hats, long-time symbols of clucking newshens.

Maybe Schwarz should try one on. Insiders say they have his size.

80% Liquor ID's Fraudulent

card or motor vehicle license for proof of a person's identity and age shall not suffer any modification, suspension, revocation or cancellation of such license for delivering or selling alcoholic beverages to a person under 21 years of age.

To revamp the present system, Laracy advocates abolishing duplicates and Mass. liquor ID cards. Instead, he proposes issuing only licenses and Mass. ID cards.

Furthermore, when these cards are issued, two pictures and two thumb prints of the applicant would be taken. One picture-thumb print set would go on the license or ID, and the other set would be placed on file at the registry.

Laracy believes such a change would make it practically impossible for minors to impersonate 21 year olds since thumb prints are very distinguishable.

"A thumb print is the common denominator. Every time a person goes in to renew his or her license, a new picture and thumb print would be taken and checked," he explained.

The same would follow for issuance of Mass. ID cards, which would also include the person's social security number.

Stateing that the key for such a system is a computer to process and store information, Laracy said, "It's expensive but if it saves one life, it's worth it."

Under Laracy's plan, licenses and Mass. ID cards would not be issued until after the applicant is thoroughly checked out.

"Anyone between 16 and 30 that goes in for a license or ID should be scrutinized," he said, adding the checking period should last a minimum of two weeks.

Police Chief Francis Finn and members of the city's Licensing Board endorse changes in the identification process, Laracy said.

While on duty in plain clothes, Laracy said he looks for club goers who don't look 21.

"I take their ID and it says they are 23 or 24. Then I call information and get the phone number of the person stated on the card," he said.

"Many times I talk on the phone to the person listed on the ID and the person presenting the ID is standing beside me. If the person isn't home, by talking to their parents you usually can tell if you have the right person with you."

Laracy said he explains to minors he has apprehended that they could be arrested for using false identification. Use of an altered or false license is a felony that carries a jail sentence of up to five years while use of a fraudulent liquor ID card is a misdemeanor punishable by law, he said.

"These parents will punish them more than the courts. They are overburdened as it is," Laracy explained.

During his detail the past 10 months, Laracy said he has had some repeat offenders, including one person he caught with two phony IDs in February and with another one in April.

In addition to keeping a watchful eye out for illegal drinkers, Laracy also advises bartenders and club owners of their own rights.

"I tell bartenders if they have any question that a person is not of age, and that person shows a liquor ID card, they shouldn't serve them.

"They don't have to serve them," Laracy stressed.

"Drinking is a privilege, not a right. A liquor ID to a minor is dangerous. They can't drink, they can't hold it."

Laracy also advises servers to never accept out-of-state driver's licenses since they are not covered under Massachusetts law. This form of identification is a growing problem, too, Laracy said, adding he knows of three colleges in the Boston area where some students are producing fraudulent Connecticut and Pennsylvania licenses.

If there is one bright spot to the problem, Laracy said it is the majority of bar owners who agree something must be done.

"Almost all the owners agree that it's about time someone is doing something about this problem.

"Waitresses and bartenders tell me they're happy something is being done about this. Most people agree with it," Laracy said.

"The Registry has been very cooperative. They can't do anything until the system is changed. And that has to be changed by the Legislature," he said.

"No one is to be blamed. It just has to be changed."

Health Commissioner Issues Warning On Shellfish

Gallahue also noted that Quincy does issue permits for the taking of sea worms for fish bait. Also, only commercial shellfish diggers are issued permits in Quincy, she said.

People interested in digging clams for their own or their families' consumption, in other communities, must contact the Division of Marine Fisheries at 100 Cambridge St., Boston, MA, telephone 727-3193 and the local city or town hall first for information on the individual communities where family permits are issued for clam digging, Gallahue said.

"In recent years, concern over scattered outbreaks of illness resulted in greater control over the harvesting (digging) and distribution of shellfish. After repeated testing, clam flats found to meet the acceptable standards for eating, without purification, are open usually seasonally for permit holders of recreational clam digging licenses.

"These permits are issued by both state and local agencies," Gallahue said.

The commissioner also pointed out that Quincy, as well as Boston Harbor, are two areas that exceed acceptable standards and therefore are closed to recreational permit holders but may be opened to commercial diggers who hold special permits issued by the Division of Marine Fisheries and by some local communities.

"Shellfish harvested within the city of Quincy must be closely monitored. Master diggers only are allowed to purchase shellfish dug from these areas.

"These shellfish are immediately transported to a stage operated purification plant in Newburyport. At this site the shellfish are treated for a minimum of 48 hours to determine if minimum standards for human consumption are met," Gallahue said.

"If so, the shellfish are released back to the master diggers for sale to the general public. If clams sent to the purification plant are found to contain high levels of fecal contamination the sites where the clams were dug are closed for all digging," she explained.

Only 3 Areas Open For Commercial Diggers

Due to the pollution in Boston Harbor and Quincy Bay, only three areas in Quincy are open and suitable for the harvest of softshell clams by master diggers and diggers working for a master digger, said Jane Gallahue, Quincy public health commissioner.

They are:

The waters and flats of Quincy Bay to mean low water from the intersection of Quincy Shore Drive and Rice Rd. easterly to 90 Shore Ave.

The waters and flats to mean low water from the Mounds St. beach to the pier at Proctor and Gamble.

The waters and flats to mean low water of the pier behind 236 Rock Island Rd. southerly to Gull Point in Germantown.

Nine areas in Quincy are closed to clam digging.

Also, if more than a half inch to one inch of rain falls within a 12-hour period, the waters and flats of the open areas are closed for three days, said Andrew Ayer, shellfish warden.

If more than one inch of rain falls within a 12-hour period, the open area is closed for five days, Ayer said.

Wollaston School PTO Offering Two Scholarships

The Wollaston School PTO is offering two $150 scholarships to student graduating this year who have been accepted into an accredited institution of higher learning.

Students must have attended the Wollaston School or live within the current boundaries and have a sister or brother attending the school.

Scholarship application forms are available in the office of the Wollaston School, 205 Beale St.

Completed applications should be returned to the school by June 10.

Selections will be by lottery and the funds will be sent directly to the educational institution.

LWV To Meet May 24

The annual meeting of the Quincy League of Women Voters will be held Tuesday, May 24, at 7 p.m. at the home of Mary Quinn, 20 Dixwell Ave., Quincy Center.

A potluck dinner will precede the meeting.

All league members are encouraged to attend.

Registry Offers Bike Safety Tips

With the increasing good weather, more bicyclists will be taking to the open road.

Registrar Robert M. Hutchinson, Jr., reminds bicyclists to use caution, urging them to ride on the right side of the road with the flow of traffic, single file, signalling by hand for turns, and stopping at all stop signs and traffic lights.

Other bike safety tips to remember:

- Give the right of way to pedestrians.
- Give a clear warning (bell, horn or voice) when needed for safety.
- Never ride "double."
- Check your brakes often.
- Equip your bike with front and rear reflectors, pedal reflectors, and reflective material on both sides.
- Do not adjust handlebars above shoulder level or alter the front fork.
- Do not ride on express or limited access highways.

Quincy's Yesterdays

Curley, Burgin Preside At FR Bridge Opening

May 19-25 1936 52 Years Ago

Mayors James Michael Curley of Boston and Thomas S. Burgin of Quincy presided over ceremonies at the much-postponed opening of the new 2,116-foot bridge over the Fore River between Quincy Point and North Weymouth.

"Out of evil cometh good," said Curley, ever the phrasemaker, noting that one of the chief reasons for building the new bridge was to provide employment for the jobless and pump money into the Depression economy.

"And let us thank God for a man like Franklin Roosevelt," the Boston mayor added, since $2 million to make the span possible was put up by the federal government.

State Public Works commissioner William F. Callahan estimated that the bridge, which provides easy access to the South Shore and Cape Cod from Greater Boston, will handle 60,000 autos a day in the summer.

Marie's Kitchen

By MARIE J. D'OLIMPIO

Rhubarb Crisp
Better Than The Pie

Last week my brother John asked me if I could use some rhubarb. After saying I could, I immediately called my daughter Rita, (the expert on rhubarb pie) for her great recipe. However, she told me of a much easier way to prepare rhubarb and one she liked even better than the pie. It is so easy, you'll wonder how it could taste so good!

RHUBARB CRISP

1 bunch of rhubarb
(about as large as a bunch of celery)
1 cup flour
1 cup brown sugar
1 tsp. cinnamon
Enough white sugar to sprinkle the cut rhubarb
1 stick of butter or margerine

First of course, rinse the rhubarb. Cut in one inch pieces. Put them in a large bowl and lightly sprinkle with white sugar. Let stand while you fix the topping. In another bowl, mix the flour, brown sugar and cinnamon. Put the butter or margerine in the mixture and either with a fork or your hands, mix until crumbly. In a baking pan, layer all the cut rhubarb and then on top, place the crumbly mixture. Bake uncovered in a 375 degree oven for about 45 minutes. Serve with freshly whipped cream. You'll love it. After saving some so Rita could taste it, and sending a small dish of it to John, I wish he had given me two bunches instead!

Marie D'Olimpio is the author of "Simply Italian-And Then Some," a collection of her own recipes. Copies of the book are available at That's Italian, Franklin St., South Quincy; Previte's Market, Sumner St., Quincy Point, Samoset Pharmacy, Samoset Ave., Merrymount and Winfield Gift Emporium, Hancock St., Quincy Center.

Mr., Mrs. Leroy Shields Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy S. Shields of Quincy recently celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Janet and Richard Nickerson of Quincy.

The Shields were married April 29, 1938 in Medford.

Mrs. Shields is the former Grace I. Bryant.

The couple also has a son, Stanley Shields, a daughter-in-law, Joan Shields, and a grandson, Bradley Shields, born March 31.

About 75 family members and friends attended the party given by the couple's children.

State Sen. Paul Harold, a long time friend and neighbor, presented them with a proclamation and citation from the governor's office commemorating the occasion.

They were presented with a trip to Bermuda by their children.

The Shields have been residents of Quincy since 1953.

Kim Kelly Takes Trip To Montreal

Kim Kelly of Quincy was among a group of students from Aquinas Junior College in Milton who was recently invited to a trip to Montreal.

Miss Kelly and her classmates are members of the retail merchandising program. They were hosted by College Lasalle, a retailing college in Montreal. The trip was chaired by Aquinas Junior College instructor Mary Good.

The students toured the corporate headquarters and factory of Les Boutiques San Francisco and were honored at a luncheon by the corporate president, Paul Roberge.

The retailing program plans to visit London, Ireland and Scotland over the summer.

Proposed Smoking Ordinance Moves Closer To Approval

Quincy's proposed smoking regulation ordinance moved a step closer to final approval at Monday night's meeting of the City Council.

The council's Ordinance Committee voted favorable approval of the proposal which has undergone six amendments since it was proposed by Mayor Francis McCauley in January.

Later in the meeting, the council appeared set to approve the ordinance when City Clerk John Gillis advised that the ordinance must be legally advertised again because of the changes.

"It's best to advertise it again so that it won't be challenged," said City Councillor Michael Cheney who noted that the ordinance can be acted upon at the June 6 meeting.

The revised ordinance calls for an acceptable air cleaning-ventilation device in any new restaurant or food service establishment licensed after the effective date of the ordinance, or in a restaurant where the license has been transferred.

It is noted in the ordinance that "new" restaurants shall include newly constructed, expanded or significantly remodeled restaurants.

In addition, eating establishments seating 40 or more people must maintain a non-smoking area comprised of one-fourth of the floor space in which customers are served.

Restaurants which fail to comply with the provisions of the ordinance will be notified of non-compliance by the Health Department.

Any restaurant which has received three such notices, and still fails to comply, will be referred to the License Board for appropriate action, including a fine of up to $100 per day, at the board's discretion.

The ordinance would take effect 30 days after final approval by the Department of Quality Control Engineering.

Health Commr. M. Jane Gallahue, who helped draft the ordinance with McCauley, urged passage.

She noted recently released facts from the surgeon general that smoking is physiologically addicting.

"We should do anything we can to help people decrease smoking," she said.

Councillor Thomas Nutley said, "I won't be satisfied until smoking is banned in Quincy."

City Councillor Stephen McGrath proposed that the seating capacity requiring a no-smoking area be increased from 40 to 50 seats.

McGrath explained that he had been contacted by Wollaston business owners regarding the amendment.

"Because of the configuration (of some restaurants), it's difficult to set aside a fourth of the seats," he said.

"We've kicked this around much, much too long," said Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro. "The health commissioner is happy (with the ordinance). I don't go along with the amendment."

The motion was seconded by Councillor Charles Phelan but was defeated 6 to 3.

Marian Year Pilgrimage At Star Of Sea Church

Parishioners of Sacred Heart Church, North Quincy will join parishioners at the Star of the Sea Church in Squantum for a Marian Year Pilgrimage Sunday, starting at 2 p.m.

Rev. Joseph Fagan of Sacred Heart Church will speak on "Mary - A Woman of Prayer, of Hope and of Trust."

There will be Marian hymns, recitation of the Rosary, Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament and, weather permitting, an outdoor crowning of the statue of the Blessed Mother.

The Marian Year is a special period of time proclaimed by Pope John Paul II to highlight the exceptional holiness of the Mother of Christ. It began on Pentecost Sunday of 1987 and will conclude on the Feast of the Assumption in August of 1988. It is the first Marian Year proclaimed since 1954.

Rev. Robert Boyle, pastor of Star of the Sea Church, extends a welcome to all.

'The Cosmos' Sermon Topic At First Parish Church

Science, religion, and the human spirit will be the theme of the sermon, "The Cosmos in a Dogwood Blossom," to be delivered by Dr. Sheldon W. Bennett, minister, at the United First Parish Church this Sunday.

Music Director Norman Corey will play organ works by Buxtehude, Scheidemann, Bach, Boyce and Goodwin.

The service starts at 10:30 a.m. Visitors are welcome and are invited to the social hour following the service.

The First Parish Church is located at 1306 Hancock St. opposite City Hall. The church conducts a church school and childcare is provided.

Wollaston Congregational To Observe Pentecost Sunday

Pentecost Sunday will be observed at Wollaston Congregational Church at the 10 a.m. service.

Rev. Elden D.J. Zuern will preach a sermon titled "What Does Pentecost Mean?"

Lay scripture reader will be Pat DelVal and the acolyte, Harry Towle. Greeter will be Joan Tierney and ushers Gus and Laurel Oster.

The choir and congregation, under the leadership of Donald A. Reade, organist, will sing "Come Holy Spirit, Heavenly Dove."

Nursery care is provided for infants and preschoolers. Church school for grades 1-8 and the senior high discussion group will meet at 10 a.m.

A fellowship hour will be held in the social hall immediately following the service.

The Mission-Action Committee will meet at 11:15 a.m.

The Worship Study Group will meet on Thursday, May 19 at 7 p.m. in the Ladies' Parlor.

'Speak In New Ways' Pentecost Theme At Bethany

There will be two worship services this coming Sunday at Bethany Congregational Church (United Church of Christ) which is located at the intersection of Coddington and Spear Sts., in Quincy Center.

The chapel service is held at 9 a.m. and the sanctuary service is held at 10 a.m.

Following in the tradition of the first Pentecost--when the earliest disciples spoke in new languages--worshippers at Bethany this Sunday will speak in new ways. Responding to the growing awareness among Christians worldwide to the importance of inclusive language, Bethany will focus on the issue in an exciting and creative manner. The hymns, prayers, special music, litanies, and sermon will all explicitly affirm both women and men as well as celebrating the Mother Father nature of our Biblical God.

The Rev. Joel E. Huntington, associate minister, will preach the sermon at both hours on the topic "Making The Invisible Visible." The sermon will challenge hearers to follow the Holy Spirit in the ways that lead to freedom for all persons. The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will be the liturgist at both services. Linda J. Massey will be the lay reader in the chapel and Donna M. Pinel will read in the sanctuary.

Peter F. Krasinski will be at the organ console and will direct the chancel choir in singing "O My Father" by McGranahan as the offertory anthem. This piece ponders the nature of our Mother Father God in some intriguing ways. In addition Mr. Krasinski will play an "Improvisational Tone Painting of Acts 2:1-21" as an organ solo.

An additional musical treat on this Pentecost Sunday will be the offerings of the Bethany Folksingers who will share two pieces for guitar and voice. The first will be a medley of "Ancient Mother," a traditional American Indian song, and "She Changes Everything She Touches" by A. Dembska. The second piece will follow the sermon and is entitled "If I Sing" by Cindy Kallet. Those singing will be Richie Briggs, Linda Devin, Margaret Fernald, Tora Huntington, Carol Massey, George Nicholson, Bob Peoples, and Shirley Pyne.

The worship service will be broadcast over WJDA, 1300 kc. at 10 a.m. In addition a cassette tape of the service can be obtained for $2 by contacting the church office.

The Sunday School will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes for children of pre-school through eighth grade. Nursery care for babies is also provided as well as a toddler class for young children. Our Early Childhood Coordinator, Pamela Curtain, will be present to supervise the care of infants through first graders.

At 11 a.m. there will be a fellowship hour in the Allen Parlor and everyone is welcome to share in the worship and the fellowship. In addition from 1-3 p.m. the Youth Fellowship will be holding a car wash in the church parking lot to help raise money--to buy some rocking chairs--for the Mary Martha House, a home for homeless young mothers with infants or toddlers. Cost per car will be $3 and for vans and trucks $4.

At 7 p.m. in the Allen Parlor the Rev. Jim Livingston of Gorham, New Hampshire will be present to share some personal reflections on his trip to Nicaragua this past January. The evening will include a videotape of the trip, thoughts and comments, as well as ample time for questions. Light refreshments will be served. Anyone who is interested in learning more about this troubled part of the world is invited to attend this free event.

For additional information about Bethany's ministries, contact the church office at 479-7300.

St. Joseph's School Students Launch Peace Balloons

Students at St. Joseph School sent a plea to the world challenging adults to "preserve peace and justice in America" last Friday.

The students sent balloons up with messages of peace attached in what was called a "Peace Launch." Balloons went up one class at a time as the students sang "God Bless America."

Representatives of the student council and the National Junior Beta Club made readings and reflections on the importance of peace in our world.

Pre-fabricated Steel Animal Shelter Proposed

DPW Deputy Commissioner David Colton, will present to the mayor Monday a proposed budget for a pre-fabricated steel animal shelter.

The shelter would replace the aged structure on Broad St., Quincy Center.

The city had planned to spend $450,000 to $500,000 for a new shelter, but bids came in higher than expected at $818,000, $875,000 and $887,000.

"This would save several hundred thousand dollars, and be 100 percent better than what is there now," said Colton.

According to Colton, Quincy resident Alan Borgal of the Animal Rescue League contacted Peter Kenney of the mayor's office after he read newspaper accounts of the city's efforts to build a new animal shelter.

"He proposed that the city consider a shelter similar to the one built last fall by the town of Pembroke," said Colton.

"As a result of his conversation with Peter Kenney, Mr. Borgal accompanied me on a tour of the Pembroke facility.

"The Pembroke facility is comprised of a pre-fabricated steel building manufactured by the Space Building Co. of Pembroke built on a concrete slab.

"The interior was then modified to house dogs.

"The Pembroke facility, although not as elaborate as our current design, is neat, clean, spacious, well planned, easy to maintain and the model of practicality," said Colton.

Colton said he discussed the idea with Building Inspector Matt Mulvey, John McDuff, president of the Quincy Animal League, Althea Griffin of the South Shore Humane Society, and DPW Commr. Paul Anderson.

"I am prepared to recommend that the city reject all bids received and embark on building an animal shelter following the example set by the Town of Pembroked," said Colton.

"Our facility would, of course, be larger but conceptually identical."

Colton said that savings would be realized through the elimination of combination indoor outdoor dog runs, air conditioning, piling, masonry construction and other amenities.

An inhouse design of slab foundation could be completed June 15, he said.

Bids for the foundation would open July 17, bids for the building August 10, according to Colton.

The existing pound would be demolished August 1, and animals moved to a temporary location, he said.

Construction of the new building would begin August 15, and it would be completed Dec. 31, Colton said.

Buddy Poppy Drive Week

Mayor Francis McCauley recently proclaimed the week of May 16 to 21 as Buddy Poppy Drive Days in Quincy.

"VFW Buddy Poppies are assembled by disabled veterans, and the proceeds of this worthy fund-raising campaign are used exclusively for the benefit of the disabled and needy veterans, and the widows and orphans of deceased veterans," said McCauley.

"Basic purpose of the annual sale of Buddy Poppies by the Veterans of Foreign Wars is eloquently reflected in the desire to "Honor the Dead by Helping the Living."

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

It seems that we humans are fascinated by time; our lives are controlled by it; we are helpless to halt the passing of it. It seems that not any of us have enough time; and yet we all possess the same amount of it. Twenty-four hours a day, seven days in a week, fifty-two weeks in a year ...

All of us have occasionally looked back and wondered, what have we really accomplished? Many times we have failed ... sometimes miserably. But there is no use to mourn overlong at past mistakes. Perhaps the saddest words in the English language are, "Oh, if I could only go back and do that thing again!" That is like trying to gather up water that has been spilled on the ground. We need to use our failures as stepping stones, and look forward, not backward. It is also useless to expend energy worrying about the future. Most of the things we worry about never come to pass anyway, and it seems the real troubles come without warning.

Today ... right now ... is actually all the time we can claim. Like the words of the song, "Yesterday's gone, sweet Jesus, and tomorrow may never be mine." I read somewhere that yesterday is a cancelled check; tomorrow is a promissory note. Today is cash ... spend it wisely ...

Quincy Sun Car Care Guide

Don't Be A Lockout Victim

You push down the lock mechanism on your car door and then close it. Just as it slams shut, you realize your keys are inside.

It has happened to most of us, because most car doors can be locked without using a key. This feature didn't exist until recent years; but now that it's common, lockouts are too.

"In 1987, there were over 18,000 AAA road service calls for locksmiths in eastern Massachusetts," says John R. Duddy, AAA Massachusetts Emergency Road Service field manager.

Getting into a locked car can be an expensive proposition. If you call a service station or Triple-A for assistance, the serviceman may be able to open the door by using a device such as a "slim jim." But there is the risk of damage to the locking mechanism, and the serviceman cannot be held responsible if you authorize him to gain entrance.

If a locksmith has to be called, his charges can exceed $75, even though the job may take only a few minutes.

So what can you do to avoid expense and inconvenience? The "key" to preventing a lockout is to follow a routine and not vary from it.

Here are a few tactics to try:

- Get in the habit of using the key instead of slam locking the door. If the key is in your hand, it won't be left inside the car.

"Have an extra key made and carry it in the wallet - it will save time and expense," suggests AAA Massachusetts member Edmund J. Carberry.

- Never lay the keys down in the car. When you're inside the car, the keys should be in your hand or in the ignition.
- If you sit in your car to listen to the radio, leave the window open, reminding you that the key is in the ignition.
- Never put car keys in a jacket pocket. It's too easy to leave the jacket behind - in the locked car!
- On trips away from home, give a second set of car keys to one of your passengers.
- Never lay your keys down inside the trunk, and always check to see you have them in hand before closing the trunk lid.
- Finally, in case your luck fails and you do lock yourself out of your car, you should know your car key code numbers, and keep them written down in a safe place. Most dealers and many locksmiths can make replacement keys if they know the key code.

Don't Try To Get Through Summer On Snow Tires

If you haven't already done it, now's the time to have your snow tires replaced with regular highway tires.

"Winter tires are not designed for high speed driving in warm weather," says John F. Paul, AAA Massachusetts manager of technical services and in charge of the AAA Approved Auto Repair program (AAR). "Snow tires and studded snow tires do not offer the breaking nor cornering performance of regular tires.

"It's false economy to try to get through summer on snow tires and avoid buying regular tires. Snow tires tend to wear out more rapidly on bare pavement and reduce your gasoline mileage as well," Paul adds.

In Massachusetts, Maine, and Connecticut, it's illegal to drive on studded tires after April 30; after April 1 in Rhode Island. No restrictions apply in New Hampshire and Vermont.

Rev Your Car Up For Spring

"Car owners should set aside some time this spring to have their car's performance evaluated after the long cold winter," says John F. Paul, AAA Massachusetts manager of technical services and in charge of the AAA Approved Auto Repair program (AAR).

Paul recommends taking your car to your local service station and have them check the following:

- Visually check lights, wipers, and tires (remove studded tires by April 30).
- Check hoses and belts.
- Drain and flush radiator.
- Replace thermostat and refill cooling system with 50 50 mixture of water and anti-freeze.
- Check battery charging system and ignition system.
- Change oil and filter.
- Check all fluids.
- Lubricate chassis.
- Replace air and emissions filters.
- Check brake linings, brake fluid, and hoses.

"You wondered why we were always adding to the radiator. I think I've found the leak..."

Spring Cleaning Includes Your Car

Spring is a perfect time to wash off all that winter salt and road grime and put your automobile back in sparkling clean condition.

John F. Paul, AAA Massachusetts manager of technical services and in charge of the AAA Automotive Diagnostic Center, says "A thorough outside wash is important - especially the undercarriage and wheel wells. Special cleaner-preservative is available for rubber moldings and black trim, and you can pick up matching touch-up paint from your auto dealer to hide scratches.

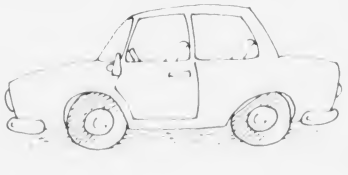
"Finish the job off with wax and polish, and vacuum the interior," Paul adds.

Is Your Trunk Emergency Ready?

Spring is a good time to open the car trunk and see what's there.

Do you need to replace or add any items? AAA Massachusetts recommends you keep the following items on hand:

- Properly inflated spare tire, jack and lug wrench.
- Spray can of wire-drying agent.
- Flashlight.
- Duct tape.
- Jumper cables.
- Container of anti-freeze and water mixture (50-50).
- Flares.
- First-aid kit.



Remember, it is a safety hazard to carry gasoline or other flammable products in your trunk. An empty can or jug is handy to have if you run out of gas and need to purchase just enough to get to a station to refill.

Check Your Windshield Wipers

April showers bring more than just May flowers. According to AAA Massachusetts, showers also bring streaks to car windshields.

Good visibility is critical when driving, and worn or dirty wiper blades that fail to clean a windshield properly can be a hazard.

Mild soap and water can be used to clean dirty blades, but AAA suggests checking the blades for wear and replacing them if necessary. And don't forget to keep your windshield-washer fluid reservoir full with a fluid that's guaranteed safe for your car's finish.

Coordinating Council To Meet May 26

The first Coordinating Council meeting for the Quincy School-Community Partnership will take place Thursday, May 26, at 8 a.m. in the Great Republic Room at State Street South, 1776 Heritage Drive, North Quincy.

Among the goals of the newly formed council are to decrease the city's dropout rate, enhance the employability of Quincy Public Schools graduates and strengthen the relationship between the schools, the city, business community and service agencies.

Sen. Paul Harold will discuss, "Why a School-Community Partnership? Our Common Goals for the Future?"

City Councillor Lawrence Chretien, also educational liaison to the public schools, will talk about municipal government and the partnership.

"The Schools Current Challenges and New Initiatives" will be the topic of School Supt. Dr. Robert Ricci.

Ronald Zooleck, executive vice president, South Shore Chamber of Commerce, will discuss business and the partnership.

"Higher Education and the Partnership" will be the topic of Eastern Nazarene College president Dr. Stephen Nease.

Paul Ricca, executive director, South Coastal Career Development, will talk about "Employment and Training Programs and the Schools."

Host and discussion leader James Darr, vice president for Community Affairs, State Street Bank and Trust, will discuss, "Where Do We Go From Here?"

The Coordinating Council was granted $18,000 by the Executive Office of Communities and Development and a $5,000 matching grant by the city.

Wollaston School Re-dedicated At Special Ceremony

The Wollaston School was rededicated at special ceremonies Sunday.

The ceremony was planned by principal Elizabeth Bostrom, chairperson, Amy Bisconte, Susan Engorn, Denise Goodrich, Margaret Hanna, Jean Herlihy, Ellen Hunter, Deborah Jarnis, Judith Molloy, Faith Mullaney, Nancy Johnston, Denise Leonard, Corinne Mitchell, and Ann Silverman.

The rededication began with the flag salute by student Eric DeOssie and was followed by the fifth grade doing the National Anthem under the direction of music specialist Mary Ruth Scott.

The invocation was given by Rev. Dr. Russell E. Metcalf from the Wollaston Church of the Nazarene. Elizabeth Bostrom then gave a welcome.

Speakers were School Supt. Dr. Robert Ricci; Mayor Francis McCauley, who is also chairman of the School Committee; City Council President Patricia Toland and Deborah Jarnis, president of the Wollaston School P.T.O.

Other speakers were Eugene Creedon, director of Elementary and Middle School Education; Robert Jarnis of the Wollaston School P.T.O.; Susan Engorn, assistant principal and teacher; and student Jacqueline Bradford.

A musical selection from Tom Sawyer was performed by grade five under Mary Ruth Scott and director Susan Engorn.

Rabbi David J. Jacobs from Temple Beth El gave the rededication prayer and Bostrom gave the closing remarks.

Rev. Thomas E. Kean of Saint Ann's Church gave the benediction after grade five performed the Wollaston School Song.

Quincy's Tourney Hopes Dimmed

By TOM SULLIVAN

The Quincy baseball team's chances of making the Eastern Mass. Tournament after missing out by a single win each of the past two seasons, looked promising after defeating Cambridge Rindge and Latin last week to improve to 9-5.

However, two tough one-run losses to Waltham and Newton North later in the week dimmed the Presidents' hopes considerably. They must win three of their four remaining games to make the tournament.

Bob Sylvia's Quincy team played at Brookline yesterday (Wednesday), hosts Brockton today at 4 at Adams Field, plays at Cambridge Monday at 4 and finishes the regular season next Wednesday night under the lights at Adams Field at 7 against North Quincy.

Saturday was another heartbreaker for Quincy, which fell behind, 6-0, in the first inning, rebounded to tie the score at 7-7 but lost for the second time to Newton North, 8-7, in two extra innings. Earlier Newton had edged Quincy on a dropped fly ball.

Steve McInnis started pitching for the Presidents but was relieved in the first by Wayne Chambers after Newton had six runs on only three hits. Chambers shut Newton down, striking out six in two innings, including five batters in a row. He gave up a run in the sixth and the winning run in the ninth.

Quincy scored one in the second, two in the third, one in the fourth, two in the sixth and one in the seventh to tie the score at 7-7.

Jim Dennis had two doubles, Greg Chambers, Wayne Chambers, Scott Logan and Brian Taylor a double and single each, Nick Dragone a double and Dan Biagini and Sean Thompson a single each.

Earlier in the week Quincy led Waltham, the Suburban League's top team, 3-2, entering the last inning but Waltham scored twice to pull out a 4-3 victory.

Bobby Austin, making his first start on the mound, pitched five-hit ball.

Wayne Chambers had given the Presidents a 3-2 lead with a bases-loaded triple in the fourth inning.

In their previous game, the Presidents followed up a wild win over North Quincy by defeating Cambridge, 6-3.

Thompson hit a three-run homer to snap a 3-3 tie in the bottom of the sixth to give Quincy the win.

Dennis recorded his fifth win with a three-hit, seven-strikeout performance in five innings of relief.

"Following the wins over North Quincy and Cambridge, I felt good about our tournament chances," said Sylvia. "But we have our work cut out for us now with four tough games left and having to win three of them. Those two losses to Waltham and Newton were really tough to take."

Hard Luck Continues To Haunt North

Hard luck continued to hound the young North Quincy baseball team, which suffered its fifth one-run loss of the season, 3-2, to Cambridge Rindge and Latin Monday. The Raiders fell to 3-12, despite some fine efforts.

Leo Donovan's North team was scheduled to play at Waltham in the makeup of a postponed game Tuesday, will play at Brookline today (Thursday), will be at Newton North Friday at 4 p.m., will host Waltham next Tuesday at 4 at Adams Field and will wind up against Quincy next Wednesday night at 7 p.m. at Adams Field.

The Raiders lost one of their toughest games to Cambridge Monday. North took a 1-0 lead in the first when Mark DiMattio singled home Jim Glynn. Cambridge tied it in the third and took a 3-1 lead with two in the fifth.

In the North Quincy sixth Jeff Calvert singled and Eric DeBoer drove him home with a double. However, DeBoer overran second and was tagged out. Instead of the tying run on second with one out, North had nobody on with two outs. The next two batters singled but the tying and winning runs were left on base.

DeBoer, who had previously lost a 1-0 game, pitched well again as he went all the way and struck out eight.

Billy Wysocki and Billy MacDougall paced the North attack with two hits each.

"This is just another example of what has been happening to us this year," said a disappointed Donovan. "These kids have never quit and have given me 100 percent and more all year and they deserve better. In addition to our five one-run losses, we made some fine comebacks only to lose in the late innings. A good example was the Quincy game in which we overcame a 9-2 deficit to go ahead, 12-11, only to lose in the last inning."

Last week North had its batting shoes on but lost to Brockton, 12-7. It was a game of big innings with North taking the lead with four runs in the top of the first, Brockton coming back with five in its half, adding six in the second and North scoring three in the fourth.

Robbie Hubbard, Calvert and Wysocki had two hits each to pace the Raiders.

Quincy Track Team Defeats North -- First Time In 15 Years

The Quincy High boys' track team defeated North Quincy for the first time in 15 years Monday when it rolled to a 95-40 victory.

Sean Munroe, undefeated this year in the triple jump, took four first places and broke two school records (long jump and triple jump).

Capt. Jim Kimmell, winner of the 800 and junior Todd Kimmell (first place in the high jump and high hurdles, also contributed heavily to the cherished win.

Munroe set a record of 22-3½ in the long jump and 41-8½ in the triple jump.

Other top performances for the Presidents were sophomore Chris Fay, who won the 330 low hurdles and took second in the long jump; Mark Wisnes, first in the two-mile; Bill Reardon, second in the two-mile; Brian Norris, first in the javelin; Scott O'Brien and freshman Mark Bogan, first and second in the 220; juniors Chris Noble and Ennio Eleuteri, second and third in the 440; Dennis Plant and Steve O'Donoghue, second and third in the mile; Brian Burgess and Joe Baker, second and third in the discus, and Norris and Tony Madden, second and third in the shot put. Noble also placed second in the high hurdles.

Neil Plant took second in the low hurdles and third in the 100.

Quincy dominated the relays with Fay, O'Brien, Mark Bogan and Munroe winning the 4x110 (48.2) and Dennis Plant, Reardon, Eleuteri and Wisnes winning the 4x440 (4:16).

Munroe finished unbeaten in the triple jump (5-0), lost once to Cambridge Rindge and Latin in the long jump and was 3-2 in the 100.

Outstanding performances for North Quincy were turned in by Matt McNamara, who dominated the shot put (50 feet) and discus (126-7); freshman Evan Kiley, second in the 100 and third in the javelin; Glen Garvaros, first in the 440 (60.8); Andy Wohlrab, first in the mile (5:26); J. Chou, second in the triple jump, third in the long jump and third in the 220, and Brian Mahoney, second in the high jump, third in the high hurdles and low hurdles.

Quincy coaches Jack Raymer and John Taglieri were pleased with the fine efforts and dedication that the 38 Presidents showed throughout the season. Although only 1-5, Quincy was competitive in every meet and lost to Waltham by only four points.

McMahon Hurls No-Hitter For Houghs Neck

Houghs Neck got off to a good start in the Quincy Babe Ruth League with victories in its first two games.

HN scored three runs in the fourth and three in the sixth in a 6-1 win over Hancock Bank as Chad McMahon pitched a no-hitter.

McMahon struck out 12 and walked four, striking out seven in a row at one point. Hancock managed to score a run in the third inning.

Billy Campbell and Sal Manganaro had two hits apiece and McMahon and Garrett Butkuss one each.

Houghs Neck pounded Granite City Electric, 15-6, with Campbell the winning pitcher. He allowed five hits and struck out eight in six innings.

Manganaro pitched the final inning and struck out two.

Manganaro had three hits, including two triples, 13-year-old Matt O'Toole had two hits, including a double, and Campbell, Butkuss and Jim Gately had a hit each.

Finnegan Sends Letter Praising 73 Coaches

The Quincy School Committee recently declared "Teacher Appreciation Week" within the Quincy Public Schools and Athletic Cordinator Marty Finnegan wrote a letter to each of the 73 coaches in the school system expressing his appreciation for all they do.

The letter read as follows:

"We are all familiar with the MIAA slogan "Athletics, the other half of education." No other area requires the constant, concentrated, personalized teaching as does coaching.

"I must take this opportunity to express my deepest appreciation for all you do. It is indeed unique when an athletic director can use the same letter to congratulate all staff personnel for their accomplishments. As I read the names of our department members, it makes me proud and grateful to be able to thank each and everyone of you for your care, concern and love of our athletes.

"The unselfish, dedicated labors of our paid and voluntary coaches, office staff and equipment personnel stand second to none. Wins and losses will never show the true accomplishments of working with you. You are to be complimented for all the extras you do so willingly: contribute, college visits, chemical health nights, booster-parent nights, weight programs, youth programs, personal and TV appearances and much, much more.

"We in Quincy are fortunate to have men and women of your caliber as our leaders. Too infrequently do we take the time to recognize those who are doing so much. May appreciation week and every week return the just rewards you so richly deserve. Thank you."

The letters were sent to the following coaches:

Also, Janet Keyes, Shirley Laing, Doug MacFarlane, Charles McLaughlin, Glen McGhee, Jim McGuire, Dave McMillan, Ken McPhee, Steve Metcalfe, Earl Metzler, John Muldowney, Alberta Murray-Head, Bob Noble, Jack Outerbridge, Ken Panaro, Ray Papile, George Peachey, Dave Perdios, John Perkins, Gerry Phelan.

Giants Defeat Pirates, Bow To Sox

The Giants broke even in two Junior Farm League games last week, making their record 2-1.

The Giants rallied to defeat the Pirates, 12-7, despite a good effort by Pirate pitcher Matt Radzevich and the hitting and fielding of Mike Murphy, Bill O'Neill and Robbie Winters.

The Giants trailed, 7-4, in the third inning, but came from behind thanks to key hits by John Laukkanen, Jeurik Samborski, Robbie Pirelli, Mike Nantel, Kevin Sullivan, Chuck Feeley and Mike O'Neill. Justin Stavros had a home run to center field.

Feeley and Capt. Eric Strauss pitched well for the Giants and catcher Nantel and Laukkanen played well defensively.

The Giants didn't fare as well against the Red Sox, losing, 10-4.

The Giants drew to within three, 7-4, led by the hitting of Feeley and Nantel, who had a long triple. However, the pitching and fielding of the Red Sox stymied the Giants.

Feeley made a fine leaping catch of a line drive and also playing strong defense were Pat McGann, Chris Carthas, Timmy Hunter, Shawn Manning, Pat Coughlin and Paul Conroy.

Strauss pitched for the Giants and had a season-high 13 strikeouts.

Snug Harbor School, Neighborhood Center Board To Hold First Meeting

City Councillor Michael Cheney announces the first meeting of the Snug Harbor Community School and Neighborhood Service Center Board will be held Tuesday, May 24 at 7 p.m. at the Germantown Neighborhood Center located in the Snug Harbor School.

Cheney expects to have the residents of Germantown elect the officers and members of the Community School Board of Directors.

At the meeting will be several members of the Steering Committee who will outline the proposed programs that will start as early as this summer. Cheney noted that for the past nine months, representatives from a number of organizations have served on a Steering Committee that has resulted in the establishment of a Community School at Snug Harbor.

"We are very excited about establishing a Community School in the Germantown section of Quincy. It is the feeling of the Steering Committee that a Community School at Snug Harbor will go a long way toward improving the quality of life for all the residents of Germantown by offering educational, recreational and social opportunities that would not normally be provided," said Cheney.

Cheney said the project will be turned over to the residents of Germantown at the first board meeting.

All are welcome and encouraged to attend the meeting, Cheney said. For further information contact Charlene McDonald at 328-8733.

Free Blood Sugar Screenings

The Diabetic Education Department at Quincy City Hospital will sponsor a free diabetic blood sugar screening for the community Thursday, May 19.

Between the hours of 9:30 a.m. and noon, the hospital's diabetic teaching nurse will be available at Presidents Towers, 109 Curtis Ave., Quincy Point. From 1 to 2:30 p.m. she will be at the Arthur Dunham Apartments, 170 Copeland St., West Quincy.

The screening consists of a blood test by simple fingerstick. Fasting is not required prior to the test and results are available in two minutes.

The program is under the direction of Arleen Teretti, R.N., C.D.E., Certified Diabetes Educator, who is available to perform the testing and to answer questions.

Council On Aging To Meet May 26

The Quincy Council on Aging will meet Thursday, May 26 at 2 p.m. in the second floor conference room of the City Hall Annex.

Raymond S.K. Yeung of the Chinese Baptist Church, Washington St., Quincy has been appointed by Mayor Francis McCauley as the newest member of the Council on Aging. Yeung's term will continue until the first Monday in February, 1990.

John Noonan, chairman of Council on Aging, commended the Mayor for appointing Yeung, Noonan said.

"The Council on Aging is quite pleased with the appointment of Mr. Cheung to the Board. There is a growing Asian population in Quincy which should have representation on various committees and commissions of city government.

"Mr. Yeung's experience and knowledge will be most valuable in helping the Council in its planning to meet the ever increasing needs of our rapidly increasing senior population, particularly our new Asian residents."

Noonan also pointed out that May has been set aside as Older Americans Month and that many activities are taking place to commemorate this special month.

Elsie Frank, president of the Massachusetts Older Americans Association, and mother of Congressman Barney Frank, will be the guest speaker at a meeting of the South Shore Coalition of Elderly Workers to be held at 1000 Southern Artery Wednesday, May 25 at noon. Mr. Frank is one of the state's leading spokespersons on senior citizens programs and legislation.

The dean of Congress and senior citizens legislation, Congressman Claude Pepper (D Fla.) will be the commencement speaker at the graduation exercises for the 1988 Gerontology Class at the University of Massachusetts. Congressman Pepper will deliver his address May 25 at 6 p.m. in the John F. Kennedy Library, Columbia Point, Dorchester. Cong. Pepper has made appearances in Quincy in recent years.

The sixth Annual Governor's Conference on Aging entitled "Building Opportunities For A New Age: Challenges and Celebrations" was held Tuesday, May 17 at the Springfield Civic Center, Springfield. Governor Michael Dukakis addressed the more than 2000 senior citizen delegates from Massachusetts.

Among the delegates from Quincy who attended were: Thomas Koch, Executive Director; John Noonan, Chairman; Mary Kay Bamford, Secretary, and Kathy Webb, Council member, all of the Quincy Council on Aging.

A highlight of the Older American Month activities locally will be the Sixth Annual Senior Olympics sponsored by the city of Quincy and Beechwood Community Life Center. Senior Olympic activities will run now through May 23 when the annual awards will be presented.

Quincy Historical Society Student History Fair Saturday

The fourth grade school program of the Quincy Historical Society will conclude with a history fair Saturday, May 21.

During the past year, students in the city's public and parochial elementary schools learned about Quincy history in a four day program entitled "Working with Quincy's Past."

Each pupil learned about the effects of the environment and natural resources on the economic and social development from 1625 to the present.

Through the examination of artifacts, activities at the museum, and a tour of historic sites, students developed an understanding of the major forces that affected the economic, social, and political life in their hometown.

The projects in the fair will include models of historic houses, murals, dioramas of historic sites, and a tapestry.

They will be on display from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, May 21, and 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. on Monday, May 23 through Friday, May 27 at the Adams Academy Building, 8 Adams St., Quincy.

The program is sponsored, in part, by grants from the Massachusetts Council on the Arts and Humanities, a state agency, and the Quincy Arts Council.

WJDA Adds 'Great Sounds' To Sunday Program Lineup

WJDA Radio, 1300 AM, has added a new program, "The Great Sounds," to its line-up Sundays, 1 to 5 p.m.

The program features four hours of hits of the 30s and 40s and the non-rock sounds of the 50s and 60s, as well as artists talking about their music and the stories behind the songs.

Monday to Friday, 8:30 a.m. to noon, Barry Lunderville presents music and interviews.

Guests this week include Dr. Richard Price, a dentist, who will discuss, "National Senior Smile Week."; Shoshona Zuboff, author of "In the Age of the Smart Machine," a book on the future of work, power and computers; and Allan Hobson, author of "The Dreaming Brain."

Lunderville also hosts Radio New England Magazine Sunday, 11:05 a.m.

Program director Roy Lind hosts Partyline talk show Monday to Friday, 10:30 to 11 a.m.

The Wax Museum, Monday through Saturday, 6:30 to 7:30 p.m., features a different artist every night. Mitch Miller is scheduled this week.

Jessica Picarski Performs At Wang Center

Jessica Picarski of Houghs Neck recently performed at the Wang Center, Boston in the ballet, Etudes, of The Scandinavians.

Picarski also performed in Ralph Lemon's ballet, Punchinello, and won a gold medal in the Boston International Choreographers Competition.

'Nunsense' Theater Party Being Organized

Donald Bigger, director of "The Dance Company" of Quincy, is organizing a group of people to see the musical "Nunsense."

This group is the latest one organized by Bigger, who has arranged orchestra seats for such plays as "Les Miserables" and "Cats."

Bigger also is first vice president of The Dance Teacher's Club of Boston and is the founder of the Don Bigger Dance Theatre Troupe.

Anyone wishing to arrange a theater party should call the Dance Company Studio at 479-0646.

CITY OF QUINCY

Proposed Statement of Community Development Objectives and Projected Use of CDBG Funds

1988-1989 Program Year

I INTRODUCTION

The City of Quincy will receive $1,783,000 in Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) Entitlement Funds from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development for the 1988-1989 program year. This statement describes community development objectives of the City of Quincy and projected use of 1988-1989 CDBG funds. Public comments regarding this statement are welcome and should be addressed to the Department of Planning and Community Development, Quincy City Hall.

II COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT OBJECTIVES

As the City plans and implements its community development activities, it aims to carry out the CDBG Program's primary national objectives which include decent housing and a suitable living environment and expanding economic opportunity, principally for persons of low and moderate income.

To this end, the City has established several objectives for its CDBG program:

1 Housing

Maintain decent, safe and sanitary housing conditions for all residents.

Preserve and rehabilitate the City's housing stock.

Create affordable rental and homeownership opportunities for low and moderate income residents.

2 Public Service

Provide a variety of health programs, social services, educational and cultural opportunities and recreational activities for residents of all ages.

3 Economic Development

Foster economic stability and growth in the City's commercial areas.

Leverage private investment with the community and create additional employment opportunities for the City's low and moderate income residents.

4 Public Works

Reconstruct roadways, upgrade traffic signalization and improve traffic channelization to promote commercial area growth and revitalization.

Upgrade existing parks and playgrounds to provide expanded sports and recreational opportunities, particularly for low income youth.

Through establishment and pursuit of these objectives, the City of Quincy makes a firm commitment to all components of its neighborhood - housing, infrastructure, parks and playgrounds, public services and commercial development. At least 60 percent of 1988-1989 program funds are allocated toward activities which will benefit low and moderate income persons. Remaining funds will aid in the prevention of slums and blight.

III PROJECTED USE OF CDBG ENTITLEMENT FUNDS FOR THE 1988-1989 PROGRAM YEAR

Housing Commercial Regabilitation	$462,000
Quincy Neighborhood Housing Services Quincy Point	25,000

New Interior Beginnings Opens At Marina Bay

If you have been considering redecorating your home or business, the serious individual may seek out specialists offering the ultimate in interior design. designing to compliment individual feelings and create a quality environment suited to your lifestyle or particular need

This is the most important goal behind the newly opened office and showroom of New Interior Beginnings located at Marina Bay in Quincy, says Maureen Mahony, president of the company.

The recent opening of this new facility represents a commitment to the goal of providing its customers the ultimate in interior design and decorating. This commitment has helped the company's phenomenal growth over the last several years, she notes

"Interior design, space planning and decorating are only one part of our commitment to our customers," said Mahony. "Not only will we provide interior design and decorating but also coordinate the tedious tasks of reviewing and monitoring contractor's work on the job site More and more the customer is too busy or unable to watch every aspect of the design project Mistakes happen, contractors may install items incorrectly and only after the job is completed does the customer realize the errors New Interior Beginnings will represent the customer and insure that all elements of the job are done to the specifications."

"This total coordination approach to the project will provide peace of mind and insure that the project is done right."

MAUREEN MAHONY

New Interior Beginnings since its inception has enjoyed great success working with a wide range of residential and commercial projects involving distinctive and individual design plans; "from advice on color, texture, furniture, lighting to never-before-seen anywhere designs."

Mahony points out that her success has also been built on her ability to handle the unique and different projects and this has contributed to her growing recognition as one of the most exciting interior designers and decorators in the Boston area

New Interior Beginnings has decorated various types of home and businesses coordinating her work with local architects, contractors and other professionals. The firm has also provided decorating services for newly constructed properties and condominiums

Among New Interior Beginnings growing list of design projects are local homeowners, apartment buildings, businesses and well-known historic buildings These projects range from the renovation and expansion of a Boston law firm's 10-room office suite to complete external and internal designing of large residential homes. Mahony beams with pride when she mentions her company's range of projects and believes that her work can "create a story for her clients through decorating."

To help keep up with the growth and expansion of New Interior Beginnings, the design firm has hired additional staff with extensive experience in real estate development and construction. "This added personnel," Mahony reports, "will allow the company to serve all diversified markets her company is capable of handling."

"Basically with our new staff we service all aspects of a job from color, lighting, rugs and drapes, to furniture selection and placement, and this is often the kind of service our customers demand," she continues. Clients are often repeat customers seeking additional design work and are instrumental in referrals of new clients, Mahony said

"Our customers are our best references for new inquiries," states Mahony, explaining that New Interior Beginning's projects are "unique and suitably created for each individual client. Clearly we excel in this area more than most design decorating firms. Creating a design for an office or an individual's residence requires an understanding of client's need, lifestyle or planning requirements and personal desires

"We have brought our talents and expertise to our customers from 1981 to the present and the outlook for New Interior Beginning's future design and decorating is excellent."

TO THE MASSACHUSETTS ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE

A petition has been presented in the above-captioned matter praying that the last will of said decedent be proved and allowed and that JUNE M. GIBBONS of QUINCY in the County of NORFOLK and JAMES A. CASTELMAN of QUINCY in the County of NORFOLK be appointed executors named in the will without surety on the bond

If you desire to object to the allowance of said petition, you or your attorney should file a written appearance in said Court at Dedham on or before 10:00 in the forenoon on June 15, 1988

In addition you should file a written statement of objections to the petition, giving the specific grounds therefore, within thirty (30) days after the return day (or such other time as the Court, on motion with notice to the petitioner, may allow) in accordance with Probate Rule 16

Witness, Robert M. Ford, Esquire, First Justice of said Court at Dedham, the third day of May, one thousand nine hundred and eighty eight

PRAYER OF APPLICATION TO THE HOLY SPIRIT
Holy Spirit, you who solve all problems, who light all roads so that I can attain my goal, you who give me the divine gift to forgive and forget all evil against me and who in all instances of my life are with me, I want in this short prayer to thank you for all things and to confirm once again that I never want to be separated from you and even in spite of all material illusion. I wish to be with you in eternal glory. Thank you for your mercy towards me and mine. Repeat this prayer 3 consecutive days. After 3 days the favor will be granted even though it may appear difficult. This prayer must be published immediately after favor is granted without mentioning the favor.

500-Pound City Seal Affixed To Police Station

An eye-catching blue, red and green city seal has been affixed to the Southern Artery side of Quincy Police headquarters which is undergoing some $8.9 million in an addition and renovations.

The cast aluminum seal, on a side of the new addition, is six feet in diameter, weighs over 500 pounds and costs some $10,000, according to Department of Public Works Dep Commr. David Colton.

Beneath the seal, foot high cast aluminum lettering will spell out Quincy Police, he said.

A similar seal, nine feet in diameter and with a price tag of about $12,000, will be affixed to the Sea St. side of the building in about a year when the old structure is renovated, according to Colton.

"They are modeled after the seal on the public works building at 55 Sea St.," said Colton, "and are being supplied by Lake Shore Sign Co., Erie, Pa.

"All the exterior signage, seals, and lettering will cost about $26,000," he said.

"The old building had four city seals cast in concrete built into the building at the top," Colton said.

The seal is one of the final touches on the exterior of the addition which is expected to open around August 15, he said.

"The windows will be the last thing," said Colton.

Landscaping in front will also spell out Quincy Police, he noted.

The inside of the addition is fully wired, the plumbing, sprinkler system and air conditioning have been installed, according to Colton.

"The bathrooms, tiles, locker room and shower facility are almost done," said Colton.

"We're putting the doors on the jails.

"Basically, what's left are ceilings, floors, carpeting, tiles and paint," he said.

Bids on furniture for the new and old sections were opened last week, according to Colton.

"We haven't made a final decision, but the low bidder is Offices Unlimited, Inc., of Boston, with a bid of $200,000," he said.

"They could have the furniture for the new addition delivered Aug. 1, and the remainder will be delivered when the renovation to the old building is completed," Colton said.

When work on the old building is being done, all the different departments will move into the addition, he noted.

When it is completed Sept. 1, 1989, such departments as the detective bureau, youth division, traffic division, records, police academy, roll call room, lunch room, and dispatchers will move back into the old building, Colton said.

"We're right on schedule," said Colton.

Sunday Blue Laws Violation Alleged At Quincy Store

By KRISTINE STRENGE

Owners of The Fruit Basket, 148 Granite St., Quincy appeared before the License Board to respond to alleged violations of the Sunday Blue Laws.

According to Police Chief Francis Finn, owners Cosmo and William Mignosa are in violation of the Blue Laws because they are selling deli meats and red meats to customers before noon on Sundays.

Atty. Michael Modestino, representing the establishment, told the board the Mignosa's thought they were able to sell deli and red meats because they were issued a Lord's Day License in 1963 before the Sunday Blue Laws were changed.

The hearing was continued until May 31. During that time Finn, Modestino and City Solicitor Joseph (Jay) McRitchie will meet on the issue.

Finn said he is not asking the Fruit Basket to close. They just have to close down the deli and red meat section of the store on Sunday mornings, he said.

William Mignosa said that they would be glad to eliminate the selling of red meat but the deli food is processed and he does not see it in violation of the laws.

Mignosa also said that 50 percent of their business is out of the deli section on Sunday mornings. "To close it would do serious harm," he said.

City Councillor Timothy Cahill noted convenience stores could also be in violation of such an interpretation of the Blue Laws.

Second Meeting To Be Called

Equal Mix Plan Downtown Goal

TIMOTHY CAHILL, chairman of the City Council's Downtown and Economic Development Committee, addresses the revitalization seminar held last week in City Hall.

(Quincy Sun photo by Tom Gorman)

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

City Councilor Tim Cahill, Downtown and Economic Development Chairman hopes to meet with members of the city's Planning Department as well as members from business and developing fields and neighborhood communities within the next two weeks to come up with a revitalization plan for downtown Quincy.

"We want a downtown that contains an equal mix of commercial office space, residential living and retail businesses that will bridge the gap between historic Quincy and the needs for Quincy's future," Cahill said.

Cahill's call for a revitalization plan comes in the aftermath of a four-hour seminar held last Thursday in the new City Hall. Cahill said the seminar was held to get input from community leaders and activists concerning the revitalization of downtown Quincy.

The seminar, attended by some 60 business and community leaders as well as local officials, developers and members of the clergy, was set up by Cahill in April.

Those in attendance included.

Mayor Francis McCauley, Sen. Paul Harold, Rep. Michael Morrissey, City Council President Patricia Toland, Councillors Lawrence Chretien, Theodore DeCristofaro, Stephen McGrath, James Sheets.

Also attending were developers Peter O'Connell, Stephen Richardi and Arthur Simons; Abe Conen from the South Shore Coalition for Human Rights, Point Middle School teacher David Erikson and Arthur Chandler and Peter Kolson from the Quincy Citizens Association.

"The result of the seminar was that we're going to have to change some of the zoning laws in order to make it feasible for developers," said Cahill, adding that the plan's main purpose is to revitalize the downtown area, not necessarily changing zoning ordinances.

"We have an opportunity to revitalize downtown Quincy and also to set up affordable housing without affecting the neighborhoods.

That is what we're attempting to do," Cahill said.

Right now, the plan, has two key components: zoning changes and formation of a design review board.

Furthermore, any zoning changes would occur in one specific area in downtown Quincy. That area would be South Shore Bank to Granite St. to the MBTA train tracks, south to the Quincy Cable Systems building at School St. to parkingway, back down to School St. over Hancock St. behind Quincy Square to include the Hancock parking lot on Mechanic St. to International House of Pancakes; north up Washington St. on the Post Office side and down Maple St. back to South Shore Bank.

Pearl Harbor Survivor Speaker

Memorial Day Parade, Ceremonies May 30

By CHRIS MAHONEY

Luke Trahin, retired chief petty officer and survivor of the attack on Pearl Harbor will be the keynote speaker for the Memorial Day Parade ceremonies sponsored by the Quincy Veterans Council, Monday, May 30.

Marching units for the parade will assemble on School St. and Charles A. Ross Parkway at 9:30 a.m. and step off at approximately 10 a.m.

The parade route is School St., Hancock St., Washington St., Coddington St., Sea St. to Mt. Wollaston Cemetery, where Chief Marshal Robert Manning, commander, Quincy Veterans Council, and Honor Guests will review the parade.

The parade will rest at Quincy Sq., where wreaths will be placed on the tombs of John Adams and John Quincy Adams.

The Memorial Day services will be held at the World War II Podium, Mt. Wollaston Cemetery, where Trahin will speak.

Trahin was in the Navy from August, 1940, to August 1946. After his discharge he joined the Naval Reserves.

He received a Letter of Commendation for leadership from the Chief of Naval Reserve upon retirement.

Trahin has worked as a Chamber of Commerce executive in California, Louisiana and Texas from the time he was discharged until 1985.

Summit Comments

Following are some of the comments made at last week's Downtown Economic Development Summit meeting at City Hall:

Arthur Chandler, representing the Quincy Citizens Association, said: The voters of Quincy do not want anything higher than six-story buildings in Quincy, and, in fact, he said, they actually prefer a four-story limit.

Rolf Goetze, representing Connery Associates, the city's linkage consultant, said: The city needs to ensure a replacement population by means of a linkage program to produce affordable housing or inclusionary zoning. He suggested a transfer tax of, perhaps one percent, to generate a local "kitty" or a five per cent tax on new development. He said these measures have been effective in other areas.

Stephen Ricciardi, Ricciardi Company, said: There are tremendous assemblage problems trying to develop parcels in downtown Quincy and the cost of land must be weighed against the possible return on the investment. He said the two 10-story buildings already in Quincy have had a positive impact. He said it would take a brave City Council to make things work to encourage developers in the downtown area because if things are too restrictive in the City of Quincy, developers will go elsewhere. He said this industry cannot be overregulated. It is preferable to control overdevelopment.

Council Passes $107 Million Budget

The City Council unanimously approved a $107 million budget for fiscal 1989 last Tuesday, an $11 million increase over last year.

The $107,016,026 budget, which will go into effect July 1, is about $2 million lower than the budget submitted by Mayor Francis McCauley in April.

The city's budget for fiscal 1988 was $96,058,260.

The City Council's nine members finished their budget deliberations last week and approved the $107 million after reviewing three of the largest budgets: school, police and fire.

The final budget reflects $35.4 million for the school department, $9.8 million for police and $9.1 million for the fire department.

In April, McCauley submitted a budget of $109,569,608, an increase of $10,157,195 or 10.2 percent over last year. During three City Council budget sessions, a total of $2,756,547 was cut, he said.

The mayor said $2,606,247 was cut from waste collection and disposal, $100,300 from data processing while another $50,000 was cut from the judgement losses and claims account.

McCauley said the cut in waste and disposal could be offset by recycling efforts and the possible reopening of the West Quincy landfill.

The council also approved $10,296 to cover a low sewer assessment estimate by the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority. The total sewer assessment for Quincy is $3,959,217.

The MWRA's water assessment of $1,824,967 was on target, McCauley said.

McCauley thanked the City Council for their efforts during the budget process. "I want to thank the council ... for acting expeditiously and for working on the budget," he said.

Board Threatens To Revoke Lodging House License

By KRISTINE STRENGE

The city's License Board voted to have Robert McManus, owner of a lodging house at 25 Shaw St., Quincy Point, appear before the board June 4 to show cause why his license should not be revoked.

According to Health Commissioner M. Jane Gallahue, McManus has failed to maintain the sanitary codes of Quincy. Specifically, he is unable to keep the dumpsters at 25 Shaw St. from overflowing, she said.

McManus, also the owner of a lodging house at 110 Billings Rd., Quincy, has been summoned before the board in the past for the same violations.

City Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro said, "I think we've talked to the guy enough. It's a shame that people have to suffer because of people like him."

Quincy Point Cleanup Reset For June 4

A clean-up day, sponsored by the Quincy Neighborhood Services, will take place Saturday, June 4 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Quincy Point area.

The clean-up was scheduled for May 21 but postponed due to inclement weather.

Residents and businesses are invited to participate. Target areas where participants should meet are Avalon Beach, Whiton Park, Pollard Playground, Edison Park Triangle and Follett St.

Many Quincy Point residents and businesses are expected to participate.

Mayor Francis McCauley will be at Avalon Park at noon to help out. Proctor and Gamble as well as the Mass. Water Resources Authority are among the businesses participating.

Other participants include eighth graders from St. Joseph's School and local Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts and other neighborhood groups.

NHS board member Joseph Hanat said businesses along Washington St. help out by providing a rubbish barrel in front of the property each day during business hours so people are less likely to throw garbage on the sidewalk.

For a free barrel or more information, call 770-2227.

Recycling Trash Topic For QCA June 1

In response to the growing problem of trash disposal, the Quincy Citizens Association has set up a meeting to discuss ways of recycling trash instead of incinerating it.

Orfa Corporation will be making a presentation to representatives from Quincy, Weymouth, Braintree and Milton June 1 from 8 to 9 p.m. at the Montclair Men's Club in North Quincy.

Invitations were sent to Mayor Francis McCauley and all city councillors to attend the meeting, as well as the selectmen from Braintree and Weymouth.

According to the invitation sent out by QCA president Arthur M. Chandler, the Orfa process will be a "non-controversial method of trash disposal because it is not incineration, but recycling."

He said the end product of the process is approximately 90 per cent reusable and can be made into various end products.

Substitute Teacher Suspended On Charges She Struck Students

A Quincy substitute teacher who allegedly struck fourth grade pupils at the Snug Harbor School last Friday will not be allowed to teach the rest of the year after she and school officials reached a "mutual agreement" Monday, said School Supt. Robert Ricci.

Ricci said substitute teacher Mary McCloy, of Wollaston, denied most of the charges against her, admitting only that she may have restrained one child by holding on to his chin.

Parents and pupils from the school had complained that McCloy pulled one youngster's hair, struck another in the back of the head and grabbed two others by the chin. One pupil said McCloy dug her fingernails into his cheeks, Ricci said.

"It was a mutual agreement that she would not substitute either at the school or elsewhere in the system for the rest of the year," he said.

Carmen Mariano, Assistant Superintendent of Personnel, said he met with McCloy for one hour Monday and discussed the incident.

"She adamantly denied that anything happened," Mariano said.

He said the incident occurred during a 45 minute period Friday afternoon while McCloy was covering a fourth grade class for a teacher who was at a conference.

McCloy, who has substituted in Quincy since November, has taught mostly pre-schoolers and students in first, second and third grades, Mariano said.

"Since November, she has worked up to now without incident," he said.

School officials are still investigating the matter and it has not yet been decided whether McCloy will be permitted to teach in Quincy next year.

Parents have been notified of the school system's decision, said Eugene Creedon, Director of Elementary and Secondary Education.

According to Mariano, it was in "everyone's best interest" that McCloy not be reassigned during the remainder of the school year.

"It's not to imply she's guilty of anything. The agreement made the most sense for everyone," he said.

"I believe everyone's comfortable with it," Mariano said, adding "parents are generally satisfied with the action."

"We respect what both sides are saying," he said.

Finn Declines Tokyo Conference Invitation

Police Chief Francis Finn was recently invited by U.S. Atty. Gen. Edwin Meese III to attend a summer conference in Tokyo.

However, Finn will not be attending because he said the opportunity has come too late in his career.

The conference will be entitled The U.S.-Japan Bilateral Session: A New Era in Legal and Economic Relations." Senior governmental officials and leading members of the bar and the business communities of both the U.S. and Japan plan to take part.

Lightning Bolt Causes $20,000 Damage At Atherton Hough

A bolt of lightning struck and shattered the chimney at the Atherton Hough Elementary School in Houghs Neck early Tuesday causing an estimated $20,000 and closing the school for the day, said School Supt. Robert Ricci.

No injuries were reported.

The incident occurred around 6 a.m. during a brief thunderstorm in the area. Lightning struck the chimney and shattered it and also put a hole in the school's roof, Ricci said.

"Bricks were blown right off the roof," Ricci said, adding it was fortunate the incident occurred before any students had come to school.

Ricci said students were advised not to come to school Tuesday. He said two did and they attended classes at the Montclair School.

An emergency contractor has been notified and the damage is expected to be fixed in three to five days, Ricci said.

The Chronic Violator

The parking problems in downtown Quincy won't go away until the chronic violator is dealt with.

The meter maids should zero in on him (her) instead of swooping down so quickly on shoppers whose parking meter has run out by a minute or two or someone making a quick delivery.

Unfortunately, every store or business in downtown Quincy does not have a rear entrance for deliveries. And, not all deliveries are made by truck.

Some think the problem of the chronic parking violator in downtown Quincy - expired parking meter or restricted place -- would best be resolved with a one, two punch: hook the car or, a tow truck and drag it off to a garage for ransom.

Have your car get hauled off on a regular basis? It will be a lot more convenient way to pay than [illegible] next time.

It would probably work.

But then, who will come to a city where the word gets around that Quincy is now towing cars. One newspaper photo would be an economic disaster.

It's bad enough coming here and getting a $5 ticket because you missed getting back to your car in time by two minutes.

There's enough people who no longer come here because of an experience like that.

Hauling cars off by tow truck might be effective but it isn't good public relations.

And you always run the risk of carting off the wrong car. All you need is one wrong car. Let that get around and we'll be growing grass on Hancock St.

Capt. Walter Frazer, head of the Quincy Police Department Traffic Division, disclosed last week that a crackdown on parking meter violations is underway.

Meter maids will ticket cars of drivers who feed a meter -- sometimes all day -- instead of moving the car.

And those who leave the cars at unexpired meters and are tagged once, could get tagged several times more that same day at $5 per tag.

An old ordinance, recently dusted off, prohibits meter feeding and allows multiple ticketing for overtime parking.

That's a good start.

Frazer says the Traffic Commission does not want to increase the basic $5 fine for parking meter violations. Tagging a car three or four times in the same day would equal $15 or $20 in penalties.

But at least one merchant thinks the city should look into a progression system of tickets and penalties.

Under this system, the first five or 10 tickets would remain a $5 penalty for each. Then the next 10 or 15 would cost $10 each. And the next 15 or 20 $20 each, etc. etc.

Before the current crackdown, parking illegally in downtown cost $5. Pretty cheap when compared to parking in Boston.

By progressively increasing the penalty, the chronic violator eventually will be unable to afford illegal parking and be forced into the validated parking areas where he (she) should be.

Validated parking is a good buy. 25 cents an hour, $2 maximum a day. And only $25 per month.

Most downtown stores participate in validating parking by issuing stamps to shoppers who then get their parking free.

Progressive penalties in the long run would be more effective and less disruptive than towing. It would penalize a chronic violator in the wallet or pocketbook where it hurts. And not disturb the downtown scenery with cars dangling on the end of a tow truck hook.

The Traffic Commission has recommended that some parking fines which range from $5 to $15 be increased to $20.

These would be for violators who cause safety or traffic flow problems.

But progressively increasing the penalties for chronic violators would be more effective.

With todays computers it takes only a matter of seconds to check on the number of violations per car.

But the chronic violator is not the only problem.

At last week's Quincy Center Development conference headed by Councillor Tim Cahill, Ron Zoolieck, executive vice president of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce, raised a point that some would agree with.

CAHILL

He said zealous traffic might say, overzealous meter maids are going drive shoppers and other customers away from downtown.

ZOOLECK

"When is the last time someone went into a store and came out without getting a ticket?" he asked.

"I don't know where they [illegible] meter maids) hide."

Zoolieck called for a "more reasonable" approach to ticketing on the part of meter maids.

More than one bystander has wondered as they watch a meter maid slip a ticket under a windshield whether she is on commission.

Getting tough is a good move as long as its aimed at the chronic violator who consider himself (herself) some sort of privileged character.

But let's have a little compassion for the innocent shopper who tried to get back to his or her car before the meter ran out but didn't quite make it.

Meter maids know who the chronics are -- including some merchants and their employees -- and who the legitimate shoppers are.

Weed the chronics out and there will be a lot fewer parking problems in downtown Quincy. And in Wollaston and North Quincy for that matter.

Praises QHS 1988 Class For Behavior At Prom

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

On Monday, June 4, the Class of 1988 at Quincy High will proudly march on to the Veterans Stadium field to accept their hard earned diplomas. Here's another feather for their mortar boards.

I was lucky enough to be able to spend a few moments at the Quincy High Senior Prom at the Sheraton Boston Hotel on the evening of Friday, May 20. Everyone looked super and they were having a grand time. While I was watching with enjoyment, I was greeted by one of the hotel's security personnel who wanted to tell me that this was the best behaved group of young people he had ever seen at the ballroom. I was very pleased.

We are never slow to criticize our youngsters - hopefully for their own good, because we care - when they are out of line. Well, fair is fair. Such a compliment simply cannot go unmentioned.

I wanted parents and teachers and the rest of the city to feel as good and proud as I did that evening.

Congratulations to the graduates. Hey kids, way to go!

Quincy Woman Receives Historical Preservation Award

Quincy resident and historic preservation activist Barbara Luedtke was one of 25 individuals honored by the Massachusetts Historical Commission (MHC) for their dedication to historic preservation in the Commonwealth.

The awards were presented at the third annual Massachusetts Preservation Conference in New Bedford. The conference examined the future of preservation in Massachusetts and recognized the 25th anniversary of the enabling legislation creating local historical commissions and the creation of the MHC.

Secretary of State Michael J. Connolly, chairman of the MHC, presented the MHC's 25th anniversary Preservation Awards to 25 men and women who have helped to establish Massachusetts as a national model for historic preservation.

"The Massachusetts Historical Commission is one of the few government agencies that has groups appointed at the local level operating in every town in the state," said Connolly. "Much of our success over the past 25 years is the result of hard work done by volunteers at the local level and by professionals who have set new standards for the field. We are proud to honor these awardees for their dedication to historic preservation. Everyone in the entire state benefits from their work."

The conference was co-sponsored by Historic Massachusetts, Inc. (HMI), the statewide, nonprofit preservation organization, and the MHC, which was established by the legislature in 1963 to identify, evaluate, and protect important historical and archaeological assets of the Commonwealth. MHC administers assistance to local historical commissions and certified local governments, and provides technical assistance to public agencies, communities, the public, and property owners and developers using federal tax credits for historic rehabilitation projects.

BARBARA LUEDTKE of Quincy receives historic preservation award from Secretary of State Michael J. Connolly at the third annual Massachusetts Preservation Conference held in New Bedford.

For nearly two decades, Luedtke, now Associate Professor of Anthropology at the University of Massachusetts at Boston, has successfully worked to inform the public of the importance and significance of archaeology. In 1975, her archaeological survey of the Boston Harbor Islands was one of the first projects in Massachusetts specifically designed to inventory prehistoric and historic sites prior to any construction or land alteration. This research led directly to the nomination of the islands to the National Register of Historic Places as a 700-acre archaeological district containing an immense record of some 8,000 years of prehistoric Indian land use and settlement. The designation of the Harbor Islands in the National and State Registers has since helped to protect the sites from the potentially threatening impact of public works projects.

Luedtke believes that professionals and amateurs can and should work hand in hand to identify and protect historic resources below ground.

In 1975, she organized a conference on public archaeology that brought together archaeologists, politicians, and public agencies in a forum whose ultimate result was a network of archaeologists and citizens working to heighten awareness of site significance.

Through her involvement in the Massachusetts Archaeological Society, Luedtke has contributed to a more positive and productive relationship between professional and avocational archaeologists.

"Amateurs are on the front lines," Luedtke said. "They have so much enthusiasm to harness."

She has encouraged amateurs to document and conserve their artifact collections properly and to report on their findings.

Some Good News About Out-of-State Speeding Tickets

Speeding tickets received out of state need no longer delay vacationing Massachusetts motorists, now that Massachusetts has joined the Nonresident Violator Compact of 1977.

The compact treats nonresidents receiving citations for minor traffic offenses in a member state as if they were residents--thereby minimizing delays for Massachusetts residents traveling in any of the other 38 member states or the District of Columbia.

"In the past, Massachusetts residents receiving traffic citations out of state had to post bail immediately or face a mandatory appearance before a local traffic court," explains Robert M. Hutchinson, Jr. Registrar of Motor Vehicles. "Travelers often lost a day of more of their vacation, sometimes even spending a night in jail."

The alternative provided by the compact allows Massachusetts drivers to continue on their way after being cited, with the awareness that ignoring the citation could result in license suspension back home until the citation's terms are met.

The compact covers moving traffic violations which of themselves do not carry a penalty of suspension or revocation. It does not cover offenses which mandate a personal appearance, however, nor violations for equipment, inspection, size-weight, parking or transportation of hazardous waste violations.

Due process safeguards are ensured; the compact provides for a show cause hearing and offers license reinstatement once satisfactory evidence of citation compliance is shown.

220 Bus Drivers Mechanics On Strike

May 26-June 1
36 Years Ago

A two-hour labor-management conference with State Labor Commissioner John J. DelMonte failed to reach a settlement in the 81-day strike of 220 drivers and mechanics against the Eastern Mass Street Railway Co.

A last minute hitch developed in the plan for the Quincy School Department to rent five buses from a Vermont company at $21 a day to transport some 650 Quincy school children to classes during the strike.

It was reported that the $15 a week allowance being paid to the striking drivers and mechanics was being reduced to $13 weekly as the treasury of Quincy Local 253 was depleted by the long walkout.

Mayor David S. McIntosh blasted the International Union for what he called its failure to step aside and permit the Quincy Local to handle its own affairs.

"The International very likely is trying to win a point; while the men are more interested in going back to regular pay checks than winning some technical point," he said.

Meanwhile, the New Haven Railroad reported that the strike had added 25,000 riders a week to its trains, enabling the company to show an $884,158 profit for the first quarter of 1952. It lost $432,661 in the first quarter of 1951.

ELKHILL BLANKS WEYMOUTH

Reliever Al Elkhill took over from sore-armed Ronnie Frongello in the second inning and blanked Weymouth the rest of the way as North Quincy High beat the Maroons, 4-0, at Legion Field, East Weymouth.

Frongello gave up one scratch hit in the first inning and Elkhill allowed a fluke safety in the second. Bill Rodgers, Clyde Hadlock and Spero Coulacos were batting for North Quincy.

Veal And Turkey Meatloaf

A Great Combination

If you're one of many who have to watch their colesterol, but really miss that juicy hamburger I think I have found the solution to a tasty treat.

With my husband and family and friends who only should eat beef occasionally, here is a recipe for hamburgers and meatloaf or meatballs made with veal and turkey.

Some of the supermarkets are featuring more ground turkey and veal than ever before and although I have tried both separately, they are great as a combination.

For a hamburger, mix equal parts of the veal and ground turkey and saute in a teflon pan very slowly. Although I have cooked the burgers plain with a little salt, I have also used some chopped onion, a smidgen of cooking sherry and some garlic powder, (salt if you like), and the result was a juicy hamburger and so tasty. With Memorial Day coming, this combination will cook great on the grill (almost flameless!). Here is the recipe for the meatloaf.

VEAL AND TURKEY MEATLOAF

1 Lb ground veal
1 Lb ground turkey
1 egg
1 cup or so of seasoned bread crumbs (if plain crumbs are used season to your own preference)
1 Tbsp of grated cheese
1 Tbsp or so of chopped onion (optional)
A little water for easy mixing
Salt & pepper to taste
Either a white wine or cooking sherry (about 1-2 Tbsps)

Mix all together in large bowl and bake in slightly greased baking pan (I used a meatloaf pan) in a 350 degree oven until done (usually about 34-40 minutes depending on the pan used. Even the next day, this meatloaf slices as thin as a cold cut.

Retired Teachers Assn. Celebrate 10th Anniversary Of Scholarship Fund

Celebrating the 10th anniversary of its Scholarship Fund, the Quincy Retired Teachers Association recently held its annual spring meeting at the Quincy Neighborhood Club.

Over 167 members and guests joined in celebrating the growth of the Scholarship Fund, from an initial bequest of $1000 from the estate of Warren Findlay in 1978 to a current sum of over $115,000.

While the leadership of the scholarship committee has been under the direction of co-chairwomen Mable Pratt and Alice Guilmartin, with treasurer Martin Casey, the committee emphasized that the success of the fund is due to the generous support of the membership of the Q R I A. The association continued to build the fund through bequests, memorial and honoree donations and endowed named permanent scholarships.

The East Weymouth Savings Bank was also helpful in managing the investment and growth of the fund.

The Q R I A scholarship committee has invested all donations in the fund, given scholarships to four-year accredited colleges based on academic excellence and financial need paying the college directly and presenting an engraved certificate to the student recipient.

Program participants for the scholarship celebration included:

Reta Watson, president of the Massachusetts Retired Teachers Association; Dr. Henry Paterson, president of the Quincy Retired Teachers Association; Dr. Robert Ricci, superintendent of the Quincy Public Schools; Patricia Toland, President of the Quincy City Council, representing Mayor McCauley; Mable Pratt, co-chairperson of the Scholarship Committee; Martin Casey, treasurer of the Scholarship Committee; Laura Asci representing the high school scholarship counselors; Alice Guilmartin co-chairperson of the Scholarship Committee introduced former scholarship recipients Joseph Higgins freshman at Northeastern; Ann Carroll, senior at Boston University; Michelle Dunn graduating from Smith.

The Q R I A scholarship fund has awarded $24,800 in scholarships, including 13 awards made this year to the following students:

North Quincy High School: Karen O'Sullivan, Dana Forrester, Augustine Li, Barbara L. Carroll.

Quincy High School: Patricia Morrell, Grace Morrell, Eric Abbott, Catherine Wellbiber, Kristi Cannitt.

Quincy Vocational Technical High School: Steven Bonavita, Daniel Reynolds, John Arnstein, Christine MacKrory.

Parents Advisory Committee To Meet June 2

The Quincy Citywide Chapter 1 Parent Advisory Committee will meet June 2 at 7:30 a.m. at the Thomas Crane Public Library in the Children's Section, Washington St., Quincy Center.

Jane Granstrom, Thomas Crane Public Library, will discuss the varied services available at the library for parents and children. Dr. Janet DiTullio, Language Arts Coordinator Quincy Public Schools, will explain the Summer Reading List Program.

Wollaston Market Features Quality And The Personal Touch

By KRISTINE STRENGE

When it comes to competition, Wollaston Market has found a way to compete with the best.

Wollaston Market, located at 615 Hancock St., Wollaston is a small market with a big quality.

According to Frank Miller, who opened the market in May 1987, having concern for the individual is the only way to compete with the big supermarket chains.

"Bigger markets are less personal. They are like big warehouses," he said.

Though his market has kept up with its competitors, it has taken a few steps backwards by not using computers, said Miller.

He recently went into a big supermarket and there were computers to help the customer locate things.

"Here (Wollaston Market) the employees or myself would show the customers where things are," he said.

Miller who has worked in the supermarket business for more than 20 years with Star Market Corp. is now able to do what he could not do in a big chain, "get personal."

"I'm on a first name basis with a lot of my customers," he added.

During the cold winter days customers can find a pot of hot mulled cider waiting to take the chill out of them before they begin shopping.

Miller and his three sons, who also work at the store, have often driven shoppers home on snowy days when taxis were not available.

Miller who works at the store seven days a week encourages shoppers to bring their concerns and suggestions to him.

"There is no red tape to go through. If there is a problem I can respond immediately."

FRANK MILLER, owner of Wollaston Market, assists customer Beatrice Forknall in selecting bread and butter corn.

Before St. Patrick's Day Miller recalls seeing a customer with all the trimmings for a corned beef and cabbage dinner. He asked the customer why she was not buying some corned beef. She said all the meat was cut too large for her. Miller had the butcher cut a small piece for her.

"At a big store no one is paying attention," he said. "Here we are aware of the customers' needs."

Having the owner present is also a plus to the customers because Miller has been known to lend money to customers who at the checkout counter realize they don't have enough to pay the bill.

"We measure values in a different way," said Miller. "We are sensitive to people in the store."

"If we see that people are waiting in line we will open a new register."

"People's lives are busy enough. They shouldn't have to spend a lot of their time in line," he said.

Shoppers at the market will find most of what they would in a large supermarket. And if they don't, Miller may consider ordering it for the next time.

On one occasion a shopper suggested that the market carry an imported tea from Dublin. Miller placed an order and the store now carries the tea.

In addition to his concern about the customers, Miller has "selective picked" his 70 employees.

"I try to hire people who feel good about people and enjoy working with them."

All the departments managers came from Star Market Corp., and most of the employees are from the neighborhood.

Miller said he finds hiring employees from the neighborhood helpful.

"It's a two-way street. The neighborhood has to support the supermarket and the supermarket the neighborhood," he said.

Apart from the quality of service and food the market provides shoppers with a curiosity desk where checks may be cashed, and money orders, postage stamps and reduced taxi fair tokens may be purchased.

Miller and his wife are residents of Pembroke. But according to Miller, who is trying to persuade his wife to move to Wollaston, they may be Wollaston residents in the near future.

'Embarrassing God' Sermon Topic At Bethany Church

There will be two worship services Memorial Sunday, May 29, at Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., at 9 a.m. in the chapel and 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach the sermon "Embarrassing God" at both services.

Lay scripture readers will be Marion Lockwood in the chapel and Terri DeLorenzo in the sanctuary.

The Holy Communion will be celebrated at both services with the associate minister, Rev. Joel F. Huntington, serving as the liturgist.

At the sanctuary service, the Chancel Choir under the direction of Peter F. Krasinski, organist, will sing as the offertory anthem, "Sheep May Safely Graze" by Bach.

The service will be broadcast live direct from Bethany's sanctuary over the South Shore radio station, WJDA, 1300 am at 10 a.m. The communion commentary during the broadcast will be given by Deacon Robert W. McLain.

Sunday school will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes for pre-school through eighth grade. Nursery care will be provided for babies and toddlers during the ten o'clock worship service.

The Fellowship Hour will be held in the Allen Parlor beginning at 11 a.m. following the worship service. Individuals and families from the community are welcome to attend the worship and participate in the fellowship.

The Youth Fellowship will meet at the church on Sunday at 7 p.m.

For information about Bethany's ministries and programs, contact the church office at 479-7300.

St. Anthony Festa At St. John's June 10-11

The 13th annual St. Anthony Festa, sponsored by St. John's Parish, will be held on the church grounds, School St., Quincy Center June 10 from 6 to 11 p.m. and June 11 from noon to 11 p.m.

Fr. Daniel Graham, organizer of the festival for the past 13 years, will be the principal celebrant and homilist for a special Mass in honor of St. Anthony on Saturday at 4 p.m.

Segments of the Mass will be in Italian and an outdoor procession honoring St. Anthony of Padua, patron saint of Italians, will take place following Mass.

Fr. Graham will be leaving St. John's in June for another parish assignment.

Proceeds from the two-day festival will benefit the parish building, maintenance and charitable activities funds.

There will be a variety of booths, foods and pastries, games and amusements for the entire family. A special magic show for youngsters will take place Saturday at 2:30 p.m. Music for singing and dancing will be provided.

The festival has become one of the most popular religious, cultural, and social events of the spring season along the South Shore.

The general public is invited to attend. Admission is free.

'Understanding The Justice' Memorial Theme At United First Parish Church

This Sunday the congregation of United First Parish Church will commemorate Memorial Day during its regular Sunday Service.

Dr. Sheldon W. Bennett, minister, will give a sermon "From Memory to Understanding and Justice."

The Youth Choir, under the direction of Sally Bohl, will sing "America the Beautiful." The Church Choir, Norman Corey, Music Director, will sing anthems by Bach and des Pres. Mr. Corey will also play organ works by Scheidt, Pachelbel, and Reger. The Social Hour will be hosted by Carolyn Pickel.

Members of Veterans and Auxiliary organizations are invited to attend the service, including Quincy Legion Post, which will conduct the Grand Army of the Republic Exercises at Hancock Cemetery at 10 a.m. Children of the Church will join in the exercises and place flags and flowers on the veterans' graves.

Historic United First Parish Church, "Church of the Presidents," was first established in 1636 in colonial New England as a Puritan congregational church. An early leader in liberal religious thought and practice, the church has been Unitarian since 1750. It is the church of Presidents John Adams and John Quincy Adams, whose remains rest in granite tombs in a stone crypt within the church, together with those of their respective wives, Abigail and Louisa Catherine.

The church conducts a Church School for children and child care is provided. Visitors are welcome and are invited to attend the social hour after services.

The church is located at 1306 Hancock St., Quincy Center, opposite Quincy City Hall.

Three Vo-Tech Students Awarded Medals

Three students at Quincy Vocational Technical School were recently awarded gold and silver medals during the recent contest sponsored by Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA).

Two students majoring in child care and development won first and second place in the contest, which Director Joseph A. Mazzarella said was "extremely stiff." Shirley Spano won top prize and received a gold medal, while Eileen Hayward was awarded a silver medal for second place.

David Hogan, a culinary arts student, also received a gold medal and Joseph Matranga, who graduated last year, won first place in the post graduate contest in electrical.

"It was one of the best showings in VICA contests that this school has experienced," said Jeff Johnston, faculty advisor. "All the tests were written, and none of it was easy."

Winners will participate in the statewide competition scheduled at Blue Hills Regional Technical School in Canton on April 15.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

It will be said of this Memorial Day, as it has been said of many others, that we treat it too lightly ... that it has become a time to take a three day vacation, enjoy a backyard picnic, or find other ways to put to good use a respite from the work-a-day routine.

But let us not be too cynical in this regard. We believe that most Americans will pause at some point during the day to pay tribute in their own way to those who have borne the battles and paid the costs for the freedoms that contemporary America accepts as its legacy. As with most everything else, "patriotism" has changed in form and expression. Time has marched on in this respect, too.

Nonetheless, we believe, the overwhelming majority of our citizens, young and old, love their country, honor much of its past and are prayerful of its future ...

Yes, Memorial Day is a day to remember and a day to pray ... prayers for peace.

Kathleen Francis Receives Simmons Degree

Kathleen M. Francis, daughter of John and Jane Francis of Quincy, received a bachelor of arts degree from Simmons College in Boston at commencement exercises.

A communications major, she was a member of the Dean's List. She is a graduate of North Quincy High School.

Equal Mix Plan Downtown Goal

Cahill said the zone abuts, but does not include, some sections of Wards 2 and 3.

Under the current zoning ordinances, no building over six stories can be built in Quincy.

As for density, which will also be looked at, the present ordinance stipulates 2500 square feet per unit density.

Cahill said the plan may call for a decrease.

Cahill also favors creating a design review board that would look into how certain buildings "would fit into downtown Quincy." This board, whose members have not yet been determined, would recommend action to the City Council before final approval of any development project.

Once the plan is drafted, Cahill said it will be taken to various neighborhood and citizen groups and he will meet with them during the summer.

"No one is going to come to Quincy unless they are encouraged to do so. Right now, they're not encouraged," Cahill said.

Summit Comments

Bob Catineau, also representing Connery Associates, said don't concentrate more on height than density. He suggested raising the F.A.R. (floor area ratio limit). He said this was far more important than the height limit.

Asta Baskauskas, owner of Konceptual Design Hardware in North Quincy, said: existing buildings in Quincy aren't leasable in her opinion. She said there was nothing in Quincy for the up-sale shopper - but high rents are charged nonetheless. She said that Quincy should not base economic development on lunchtime shoppers and foot traffic. It would be preferable to draw customers from distances.

Michael Kenealy, of Key Realty, suggested getting workers in the office buildings first.

Peter O'Connell of O'Connell Management, said zoning governs land costs and under present zoning Quincy land is too expensive to be able to generate a profitable rent stream. Currently, it is affordable only if subsidized.

Joyce Baker, chairman of the Historic District Commission, said: Design Review Board is essential.

Joyce Baker, chairman of the Historic District Commission, said: A Design Review Board is essential. She said no one wants to see empty lots in downtown Quincy and working for developments was the only solution. She said there should be a plan for what the city wants its downtown area to ultimately look like.

Rolf Goetze, Connery Associates, said: Store revitalization must follow the affordable housing priority. The city has stunted things with its zoning laws. He said the Red Line was an incredible convenience. He also said nowhere are homes being built for the "empty nester." "Boston is about to choke on its own success," he said.

Bob Catineau, Connery Associates, said: Know what you want first and then set your zoning to attract the kinds of stores and services you want. He stressed a plan is needed before zoning is set. He also said the existing zoning was like a moratorium.

Dave Ezickson, a Quincy teacher who lives on Miller Stile Rd., said: Buildings are one thing - humanity is another. Security is essential. Concert sites are needed as well as non-alcoholic places for the youth today. He also suggested transportation be provided for seniors. He said it was dangerous to walk empty streets. He also said perhaps a demographer was needed for the City of Quincy.

Ron Zooleck, executive vice president of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce, said: Linkage, sign ordinances, special permits, design review boards, parking fines, etc. are all barriers not inducements to a thriving business community. Downtown has special needs and should be approached accordingly. He said they are not lining up to come to downtown Quincy. Is there a reason to come to Quincy Square? He said that Quincy cannot talk about inducements like 10-story buildings and then impose restrictions at the same time or development will go elsewhere.

Hong Liang Scores High In Math Exam

Hong Liang, a 12th grade student at Quincy High School, recently participated in the 39th annual High School Mathematics Examination (AHSME).

The examination is a 90-minute competition covering all high school mathematics excluding calculus. The problems range from easy to extremely difficult.

In 1987, there were 379,956 students from 5,976 schools in the United States who competed.

This year Hong scored high enough to qualify for competition in the American Invitational Mathematics Examination (AIME). It is the second consecutive year she has achieved this recognition.

The AIME is a three hour examination and it is the qualifying examination for the USA Mathematics Olympiad (USAMO).

Durkin Has Concerns Over Summit View Project

School Committee member Stephen J. Durkin, a candidate for state representative, has written to the Zoning Board of Appeals chairman expressing concerns about the proposed Summit View Project on Quarry St.

In a letter to Peter MacDonad, Durkin said:

"As a candidate for state representative for the district that includes the Quarry St. area, numerous West Quincy residents have in the past several weeks voiced to me their opposition to the Summit View Project. While I have the utmost confidence that members of the Zoning Board of Appeals will make the correct decision in this matter, I do feel an obligation to convey those concerns and to offer some of my own thoughts.

"There is little doubt that the City of Quincy needs more affordable, low income and moderate income housing, and that we should be willing to make some sacrifices to generate that housing. However, from everything I have heard about the Summit View proposal, it may not be the best way to provide affordable housing for Quincy.

"The concerns raised by Quarry Street area residents are entirely understandable. Apart from the potentially serious problems of drainage, rodent control, dust control, sewerage, and traffic, most importantly, there are serious environmental questions which have not been satisfactorily addressed.

"It is my understanding that the DEQE has indicated that the site is not perfectly clean, but that if the developer follows certain steps, it can be built upon. How can we be sure those steps will be followed?

"I also understand that the city has hired its own consultant to offer guidance on the project. Has that consultant conducted any environmental testing? Can we be confident in the opinions offered by the developer's own consultant?

"The DEQE has told the City of Quincy it must cease using its solid waste disposal site because of environmental hazards. Yet we are now faced with the prospect of a developer excavating and building upon another disposal site. I understand that more detailed tests can be done as the project proceeds, and that there are technologies which may deal with the existence of hazardous materials. But there are still many preliminary environmental questions to be answered, and if it's not a good project for environmental reasons, then it shouldn't be done, whether it's 975 units or 1300 units.

"While the residents of West Quincy have borne more than their share of development and the burdens and inconveniences that go with it, if residents could be guaranteed that public health and safety would not be threatened, the project would be easier to accept.

"I am mindful that the Zoning Board of Appeals will not make the ultimate decision as to whether the project can go forward, and that under state law the City may deny the application only for serious environmental or public safety reasons. However, I urge you to delay your decision on this project until all preliminary questions regarding environmental dangers, drainage, sewerage, rodent control, dust control, etc., are answered to our satisfaction.

"Providing affordable housing is a desirable goal, and a critical issue in Quincy and across the state; however, concern for public health and safety must be paramount. At the very least, the city should continue negotiations with the developer, to try to impose stringent conditions and safeguards to make certain that the developer doesn't cut corners.

"I commend the members of the Zoning Board of Appeals for the time and effort devoted to studying this and other issues, and also for holding so many public hearings on this matter. I know that you have a difficult decision to make, and I trust that it will be the right one."

Third Annual JFK Regatta On Memorial Weekend

The third annual John F. Kennedy Regatta, a classic sailing event pitting vessels of all types against each other, will take place Memorial Day weekend, Saturday and Sunday, May 28-29, at Marina Bay in North Quincy.

The two-day regatta will feature well over 100 IMS & PHRF as well as One-Design sailing vessels.

The Skippers Reception will kick off the race Friday evening, May 27 at the John F. Kennedy Library. After a full day of sailing on Saturday, an outdoor BBQ and dance for the skippers, their crew, welcomed spectators and guests will be held under the tents at Marina Bay.

Skippers and crews will start the final day of sailing with a complimentary breakfast at 7 a.m. at Marina Bay.

The event will close Sunday evening with the presentation of the Perpetual Trophy as well as keeper prizes for the top three finishers in each sailing category.

Last year's successful race had over 100 PHRF's and 45 One-Design boats entering the competition. This year's field promises to double.

Despite the 53 degree temperature and a wind chill factor of 40 degrees, last year, the competition was stiff and the race course challenging.

"It is our hope with each passing year that the John F. Kennedy Regatta will be the sailing event for Memorial Day weekend," said Peter O'Connell, the developer of Marina Bay.

The JFK Regatta is a tribute to John Fitzgerald Kennedy's love of the sea, his constant drive for excellence and his intense competitive spirit.

"Marina Bay is proud to sponsor the third annual J.F.K. Regatta and is dedicated to instilling the rich sense of spirit that captures all that John F. Kennedy represented," O'Connell said. "It is Marina Bay's hope that the J.F.K. Regatta will find a life-long home here, with a regatta more richly steeped in tradition with each passing year."

For more information or an application, call Marina Bay's Administration Office at 847-1800.

Sheriff's Club Bows To Weymouth Elks

The Norfolk County Sheriff's Baseball Club of Quincy has opened its fifth season in the streamlined 10-team Budweiser-Cranberry League and had to face the defending champion Weymouth Elks, who have dominated the league and the South Coastal League for years, in their opener last Sunday night at Adams Field.

The Sheriffs, managed by Tom Owens, have a new coach in John Mariano, the coach of the Randolph American Legion team.

Quincy lost a hard-fought 5-3 decision to Weymouth in the opener.

Owens feels his team, which originally started as a 16-19-year old team, may be ready to become a competitive Cranberry League team.

Newcomer Bob Biagini, former North Quincy High and Morrissette Legion standout, a former Brockton Invitational MVP and triple trophy winner, should be a big help with his bat and glove.

Norwell's Sean Murray will play first base and Weymouth's Bill Jackson will play third. Quincy's Bob Hunter, a talented third baseman, will be joined by shortstop Marty McLaughlin of Quincy, an excellent hitter and fielder.

Jack Card of Brockton will help out pitching and in left field, while Quincy's Jack Bandera will also help considerably, as will Bob Campbell.

Other players include shortstop Rick Doyle of Weymouth, pitchers Brian and Gregg Griffin, Bob Whelan of Braintree, Quincy's Rob Abramson, lefty Chris Earls of Norwell and Matt Kennedy.

Second base will be in the hands of Quincy's Dennis Dolan with Scituate's Randy Pina as backup. Ralph Berry of Natick and Tom McCusker of Natick are infielders.

The Sheriffs made an excellent showing against the much more experienced Weymouth Elks before losing.

Campbell got Quincy off to a fast start with a two-run double in the first inning, but the Sheriffs could do little more with Weymouth's Ken Greer, who walked four and struck out 13.

Tardo Warns 1987 Retroactive Auto Insurance Bills Must Be Paid

Denis Tardo, candidate for state representative, said, "The eight and a half percent retroactive rate increase for 1987 automobile insurance must be paid, as billed, despite the Attorney General's court suit filed to overturn the rate increase."

According to Tardo, the 1987 and 1988 rate increases are the result of the insurance industry suit against Insurance Commr. Roger Singer, alleging his conclusions were not based on all the facts.

Although the Supreme Court did not order the increase and merely asked the commission for evidence pertaining to the decision of the rate increases, Singer re-opened the rate hearings and decided to raise the rates, Tardo said.

"Now that the rates have been approved by the commissioner," Tardo said, "they must be paid or the insurance industry can refuse to renew your insurance policy and can report unpaid bills to the credit bureau."

Tardo said, "The attorney general filed suit to overturn the approximate $100 per auto increase. However, no action was taken to stop the billing and subsequent payment of these increases.

"It doesn't seem fair that at a time most folks are planning summer vacations and 1987 is an almost faded memory, Beacon Hill tells us we must adjust our budgets to correct their mistakes. Most motorists expect current year adjustments until the rates are finalized. I don't know of anyone prepared to deal with deficit budgets from previous years," Tardo said.

"The bottom line right now is all 1987 and 1988 retroactive bills must be paid on time to maintain good credit and renew 1989 insurance."

Sports

Weixler Sets Record In Triple Jump

Quincy's Beth Weixler set a Suburban Track League record in winning the triple jump (33-7½) and also placed fourth in the high hurdles, gaining all-league status in both events in the annual league championships last week.

North Quincy's Sherrin Quintiliani placed third in the mile (5:33.1). Robin Guilfoy of North was fourth in the shot put (28-10¾) and fifth in the 100 (14.0) and the Raiderettes' Bridget Toland was sixth in the two-mile.

Quincy's Karin Iscarski was sixth in the 100 (14.2).

In boys' action North Quincy's Matt McNamara, who had an outstanding season, won the shot put (50-8) and took second in the discus (130-9), while North's Brian Mahoney placed sixth in the high jump (5-2).

Savoie UMass-Boston MVP

Quincy's Tom Savoie has been named the UMass-Boston tennis team Most Valuable Player and received his MVP award at the recent sports awards dinner.

Only a freshman, Savoie had a 9-2 record and was responsible for the team's having its best season ever with a 11-2 mark.

Mass Patriots Sweep Regional Volleyball Titles

The Mass Patriot volleyball teams, including several Quincy and North Quincy girls, recently swept the New England Regional championships in all three age divisions.

The 14 and under Mass Patriots Gold team defeated the tough Mass Junior team in the finals, 15-11, 15-8, to take home the trophies. Playing for the Gold were Quincy's Brenda Havduk, Kim Marsden, Cheryl Kelly and Christie Richmond. Quincy's Tara Guarnieri, Tracy Linehan, Alyssa Haldoupis, Jenny Barron and Kathy McLoughlin played for the Juniors.

The 16 and under title was taken by the Mass Patriots White team, which defeated Mass Royal, 15-13, 15-12, in the finals.

Both teams came out of pool play defeating Merrimack Valley teams to set the state for the exciting final. Tremendous setting and blocking by Quincy's Christine Barrett as well as strong defensive showings by North Quincy's Kara Sullivan and Quincy's Jennifer Richmond and Capt. Randi Gaura gave the White team the extra edge it needed. Quincy's Lori Novak, Julie McCloskey and Erin Doherty played well for the Royal team.

The 18 and under division finals pitted the Mass Patriots Blue team and the Patriots Red team.

Both teams defeated MetroWest, Merrimack Valley, Mass Navy and Mass Juniors to reach the finals.

The Mass Red team, led by the strong defense of North Quincy's Holly Rendle, was unable to defeat the stronger Blue team and lost, 15-13, 15-12. Outstanding blocking and hitting from Quincy's Amy Gudice and Nancy Laitinen and consistently tough defense by North Quincy's Debbie Panaro clinched the win for the Blue.

The Gold team, along with the Royal and Navy teams, will travel to Penn State to represent the region at the East Coast Championships on the Memorial Day weekend. The White team, with the Blue and Red, will go to Western Michigan University for the Great Lakes Festival Gold. Braves, Red Sox Pirates Rack Up Wins

The Braves scored 11 runs in the fourth inning and pounded the Yankees, 15-3, to even their Junior Farm Baseball League record at 2-2.

Paul Marnikovic pitched four scoreless innings, giving up one hit and striking out 11.

Marnikovic and James Crowley each went 3-for-3 for the Braves. Jacob Drohan tripled. Jim Mastroinni had a hit, walked twice and drove in what proved the winning run in the fourth.

Marnikovic, Jeff Finner and Mastroinni scored two runs apiece and Jeff Sullivan, Katie Gallagher, James Crowley, Drohan, Todd Sullivan, Jonathan Cahir, Mike Martin, Mike McLaughlin and Nicholas Hanratty scored a run each.

Earlier the Braves scored 12 runs in the fourth and rolled to a 19-0 win over the Pirates as Mike Adams pitched a three-hitter and struck out 13.

The Braves were sparked by a homer and triple by Drohan, two hits each for Marnikovic, Sullivan, Finner, Adams, Gallagher and Joshua Maloney and one each for McLaughlin, Adam Stone and Cahir one apiece.

Tony Egan, Jeremy Riley and Steve Rose had the only hits for the Pirates.

The Red Sox started off with five runs in the first inning and held off the Mets, who scored five in the fourth, to win, 7-5.

John Manning was the winning pitcher with a three-hitter, striking out 16. Manning, Geoff Meade, Eric Malames and Sean Farrell led the Sox attack, while Jonathan Ryan hit a grand slam homer for the Mets in their big fourth and Kevin Regan and J.P. D'Angelis pitched well.

The Pirates had eight runs in the third and 10 in the fifth as they rolled over the Orioles, 21-0, as John Greene pitched a one-hitter and struck out eight. Robbie Winters had three hits and Matt McLaughlin two for the Pirates. Pitcher Bill Graney struck out nine. Mohamed Nahas pitched well in relief and Justin Bernier played strong defense.

The Braves scored five times in the first and topped the Dodgers, 5-2, behind the three-hit pitching of Marnikovic, who struck out 2.

Todd Sullivan singled in two runs in the first. Jacob Drohan made a fine catch of a line drive to center field. Joshua Maloney made a fine stop at second and Jeff Finner made a fine stretching catch for the out.

The Giants defeated the defending champion Tigers, 13-9, with Capt. Eric Strauss the winning pitcher.

Strauss was awarded the game ball as he had the game-winning single.

The Giants trailed, 9-1, after three innings but rallied and had a big fourth inning. Strauss had a double in the inning, Mike O'Neill, Timmy Hunter and Paul Conroy had singles, Robbie Pirelli, who went 3-for-3, hit a long triple and Kevin Sullivan and Mike Nantel had home runs. The Giants played excellent defense with Chuck Feeley and Kevin Sullivan played well.

The Giants lost to the Angels, 9-2. Pirelli, with a single and double, and Nantel led the Giants' offense and Pirelli, Shawn Manning, John Laukkanen, O'Neill, Chris Carthas and Sullivan made excellent defensive plays. The play of the game came with the bases loaded and one out for the Angels. Strauss made a great running catch to save a grand slam homer.

Pirelli pitched four innings and Justin Stavros pitched well in relief. They combined for nine strikeouts.

North Loses 7th One-Run Game

By TOM SULLIVAN

This is a season North Quincy baseball coach Leo Donovan would like to forget.

Monday the Raiders lost their seventh one-run game and third extra-inning game of the year to Newton North, 3-2, in eight innings to drop to 3-14.

North played only one game last week due to the weather and was forced to play four days in a row this week.

The Raiders were scheduled to face Waltham Tuesday, met Quincy last night (Wednesday) at 7 at Adams Field and wind up a frustrating season today at Brookline.

"This is the most frustrating season I've ever had," said Donovan. "These kids have played so hard all year long and never given up. They deserve to have at least nine of ten wins. I feel so sorry for them.

"We just have to do the best we can in our remaining games and look toward next season. We have only two seniors this year and things could begin looking up next season."

Bill Wysocki hit a two-run homer to give North a 2-0 lead in the first inning at Newton but the Raiders were stymied the rest of the way. Newton tied it with a run in the second and one in the fifth. The Tigers won it on an unearned run in the eighth inning.

Kevin MacDougall pitched all the way for the Raiders and gave up seven hits, only one earned run, struck out two and walked only one.

"Kevin did a terrific job for us and it was a shame he couldn't have won it," Donovan said.

Last week North exploded for seven runs in the second inning against Waltham, the Suburban League's top team, and took a 7-3 lead. But Waltham came back and won it, 8-7, in the eighth inning on Tim Florio's sacrifice fly.

The Raiders had three home runs in the second. Tony Anderlionis singled and Eric DeBoer homered. Kevin MacDougall singled and Wysocki hit a home run. Jeff Calvert's three-run homer followed walks to Jim Glynn and Bob Hubbard.

RAY McPECK, who took part in several events, shows off his prowess in the softball throw in the Senior Olympics.

Quincy Bombs Cambridge Rindge

The Quincy baseball team bounced back from two tough one-run losses to defeat Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 10-1, Monday and keep its tournament hopes alive.

Bob Sylvia's Presidents, which didn't play a single game last week due to the elements and forced to play four straight days this week, needed two wins in their last three games to make the tournament. They were scheduled to play Brookline Tuesday, faced North Quincy last night (Wednesday) at 7 at Adams Field and wind up the regular season today against Brockton at 4 at Adams.

"We really needed that win after losing real tough decisions to Waltham and Newton North," said Sylvia. "We played our best defensive game of the year. We have a tough road this week but if we play as we did at Cambridge, I feel we have a good chance to make the tournament."

Quincy missed qualifying for the tournament by a single win each of the past two years.

Jim Dennis pitched five strong innings at Cambridge and Bobby Austin pitched the final two innings.

Quincy scored a run in the first, then exploded for nine runs in the fifth. Dan Biagini had a long home run and Greg Chambers had two key hits. Nick Dragone played excellent defense at second base and Chambers made two fine running catches in right field.

Gamsby Hurls No-Hitter For Granite City

Dave Gamsby pitched a no-hitter as Granite City Electric edged Barry's Deli, 4-3, in the Babe Ruth League. Gamsby struck out 18 with a live fast ball and a sharp curve. Andy Colleary did a fine job catching him.

Danny McLain pitched four-hit ball and struck out 10 for Barry's.

Gamsby had two hits and Dave Jolley and George Walsh one each for Granite City, while Wayne Sit, Vin Anderlionis, Corey Haddad and Ed Costello played strong defense. Also contributing to the win were Mike MacDougall, Jamie White, Theresa Elwood, Andy Veneziano and Brian Jennette.

Dan Kearns, Joe Bevilacqua, Mike Kelley, Chris Murray and Chris Peck played well for Barry's.

Bryan Post defeated the Sons of Italy, 6-4, behind the two-hit, five-strikeout pitching of Pat McDonough.

Bryan jumped off to a 3-0 lead in the first with Steven Waas having a double and McDonough a single. Wayne McCulley's single helped S of I move to 3-2 and Dan Morrell's single in the third tied the game.

Bryan Post scored three runs in the bottom of the third as Mark Kelleher and Michael Malvesti singled and Waas had another RBI double.

Don Anderson and Kevin Mullay helped the cause with some excellent base running.

Bryan's Kelleher caught an outstanding game and the infield of Waas, Mullay, Steven Foud and Chris Stenmon made several fine plays. The Sons of Italy's seventh inning rally was shut down by a spectacular play by Paul Murphy and Joe Marnikovic. Rob Kane, Tom Nutley, Phil Bell, Terry Sheehan and Todd Portesi also contributed to the victory. Eric Fagerlun pitched well for S of I.

Jenn Goba Places First In Intercollegiate Horse Show

WEEK OF: May 26

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
Knowledge is the theme of the coming 12 months -- a trend that should appeal to your inquisitive nature. Offbeat travel opportunities, highlighted through the summer, should interest you as well. A greater willingness to make a commitment can put an on-again, off-again relationship back on track.

AQUARIUS – January 21 - February 19
Platonic relationship is accented this week. You gain new and useful insights into a family situation. Decorating plans may be put on hold. Love life demands a light touch.

PISCES – February 20 - March 20
Thursday-Friday may see you getting the go-ahead to proceed with a pet project. Domestic dispute clears during the weekend. Monday-Wednesday are favorable for developing new friendships.

ARIES – March 21 - April 20
Thursday-Friday focus on long-distance communication and travel planning. Weekend offers a few private moments for reflecting on career situation. Small windfall may arrive by Wednesday.

TAURUS – April 21 - May 22
New interests are accented through this period. Thursday-Friday present a chance for tackling a mountain of paperwork. The weekend finds you in the limelight, perhaps making a sentimental speech.

GEMINI – May 23 - June 21
Keyword is experimentation; new approaches may help you out of a career rut. This is a mobile week. You may find yourself visiting new destinations and seeing "distant" relatives.

CANCER – June 22 - July 22
Misunderstandings within the family should be cleared by the end of the period -- thanks largely to your diplomatic gifts. The month ends on an emotionally upbeat note.

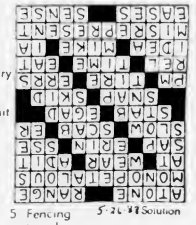
LEO – July 23 - August 22
Scientific pursuits are highlighted through this period. This is a good week for speaking your mind as you're quite objective. Your social standing improves through the weekend.

VIRGO – August 23 - September 22
Travel is highlighted, despite some minor complications en route. New commitments are especially tempting at this time. Stay very clear of meddling neighbors and coworkers.

LIBRA – September 23 - October 22
You may be asked to run for office or accept a community honor. Creative activities appeal to you but watch tendency to go overboard. Partner is more attentive.

SCORPIO – October 23 - November 21
Much of the week finds you cutting through red tape, but by Wednesday you've made some significant advances on the home and career fronts. Community interests capture your fancy.

SAGITTARIUS – November 22 - December 22
Behind-the-scenes activities are working to your benefit and may lead to travel in the near future. Some promising opportunities are available at the workplace.



CAPRICORN – December 23 - January 20
You may have difficulty persuading others that you're right, don't push the issue at this point. If planning a social event, review your guest list with added care.

Dinosaur Day At Merrymount School June 15

Second grade students at the Merrymount Elementary School will present a Dinosaur Day Program for parents, relatives and invited guests on Wednesday, June 15 at 9 a.m. in Room 21.

The program is part of a unit on dinosaurs taught by Kathleen Fitzpatrick. This unit places much emphasis on language arts as well as science, anthropology and social studies.

The second graders have read independently on the subject of dinosaurs and have also written creative and imaginative stories about the distinct creatures.

Art teacher Kim Michaud has helped the children create their own favorite dinosaur from clay. The clay was baked and painted and the finished product is on display in the classroom.

Students who have participated in this program are Timothy Boyle, Paul Brown, Jonathan Cahir, Mary Lynn Chenette, Robert Conroy, Denise Cushera, Julie Fitzgerald, Carmela Guarino, Daniel Kane, Matthew Kazolias, Matthew Kistel, Jason Peckham, Meredith Rugg, Jason Schuboth, Stephanie Sprague, Joshua Straughn, Joseph Sullivan, Daniel Toland, Steven Verlicco, Shaun Walsh and Stephen Wiltshire.

At the June 15th program, students will receive a diploma for outstanding achievement in the areas of language arts, science and social studies.

Eugene Creedon, acting director of elementary education in Quincy, will present the diplomas.

At the conclusion of Dinosaur Day, Kathy Kane, Elaine Cahir and Judith Brown of the P.T.O. will serve cake and shakes.

QHS Chorus Presents 'Cabaret 88'

The Quincy High School chorus recently performed "Cabaret 88."

The show, which featured a mix of Broadway and popular music, was directed by Salvatore Bartolotti and choreographed by Joan Kenney.

The audience was greeted by Scott Kradolpher and John Porcaro performing the "Wilkommen" number from Cabaret.

Featured solo performances that followed included two numbers from A Chorus Line, a tap solo to "One" by Jaqueline Potter, and "At the Ballet" sung by Julie Flaherty.

Dan Pascarelli sung his rendition of "Candle in the Wind," Elton John's ode to Marilyn Monroe.

The show choir, consisting of Lisa Brangiforte, Lisa Connelly, Christine Childers, Julie Flaherty, Ruth Hernandez, Jennifer LaRaia, Kelly Wilson, Hartley Batchelder, Scott Kradolpher, Mark Liscombe, Dan Pascarelli, and John Porcaro, performed "Georgia" and "Puttin' on the Ritz."

Some of the lighter moments were provided by the faculty, who performed "Nothing like a Dame" and "Honey Bun" from South Pacific.

The evening's entertainment ended with a gospel version of "My Country 'Tis of Thee."

John Noonan To Take Part In Catholic Press Conference

John Noonan, editor of St. John's News, newspaper for St. John's Parish, is one of the more than 400 members of the Catholic Press Association of North America who will participate in the association's national conference May 25-28 in Boston.

The conference will consist of various seminars and panels with noted American journalists and theologians.

Cardinal Bernard Law will be the principal celebrant and homilist at a special Mass to be held May 25 at the Marriott Copley Place Hotel.

William J. Bennett, secretary of the U.S. Department of Education will address the convention May 26.

Noonan has been editor of St. John's News since 1974. The newspaper is distributed to over 10,000 parishioners of St. John's Church. It is produced at The Quincy Sun.

Hancock Place
Condominium Marketing Underway

Marketing efforts have begun for Hancock Place, a 12-unit luxury condominium development now under construction at 963 Hancock St., by Simon Companies of Braintree.

Located near Quincy Center, Hancock Place combines elements of traditional New England architecture with modern amenities.

The one and two-bedroom units feature varied floor plans, with one and one-half to two full baths, ranging in size from 885-1455 square feet.

There are three one-bedroom units and nine two-bedroom units. The four third floor units have cathedral ceilings with skylit lofts and dramatic spiral staircases.

Depending on size and location, a one-bedroom one and one-half bath unit starts at $149,900 and a two-bedroom-one and one-half bath unit starts at $159,900.

Loft units range from $169,900 - $189,000.

The new homes are scheduled to be ready for occupancy late summer of 1988.

Franklin W. Simon, president and founder of The Simon Companies, said "Hancock Place Condominiums offer residences with an outstanding location with the unique style of the building presenting a departure from the larger, more traditional high-rise complexes being built in the City of Quincy today."

Hancock Place is located eight miles from the center of Boston and is within walking distance to the center of Quincy and the MBTA's Red Line at Quincy Center Station. Bus service is available in front of the building. The condominiums have the added attraction of being only a ten minute ride from Merrymount Beach.

ARTIST'S RENDERING of Hancock Place, a 12 unit luxury condominium development on Hancock St., near Quincy Center, is now being marketed by DeWolfe New England. The one and two bedroom units built by the Simon Companies of Braintree are scheduled to be ready for occupancy this

William Wolk Elected NISH Chairman

William P. Wolk, Ph.D. president and executive director of WORK Inc., Quincy was recently elected chairman of the National Industries for the Severely Handicapped at an annual meeting in Orlando, Fla.

NISH is a private, non-profit agency designated by the President's Committee for the Purchase of the Blind and Other Severely Handicapped (CPBOSH) to provide technical assistance to work centers that want to secure government contracts designated under the Javits Wagner O'Day Act.

Wolk was elected to the NISH board in 1984 and most recently served as vice chairman. He also served on the long range planning committee, the fiscal committee, and the legislative committee. On behalf of NISH, Wolk has testified several times before Congress regarding the JWOD Act.

Wolk, a graduate of Brookline schools, received a M.A. from Boston University and a Doctorate in Psychology from Columbia University.

New Loan Programs At Hibernian Savings

The Hibernia Savings Bank announces the introduction of two new products to its loan portfolio.

The bank now offers the MEEP loan, sponsored by the Massachusetts Elderly Equity Program, and the Home Energy Assistance Team (HEAT) loan, both designed for area homeowners.

The MEEP loan is an emergency reverse mortgage loan designed specifically for individuals over the age of 60 living on fixed incomes which are not sufficient to cover monthly expenses such as home maintenance and health care.

Customers must qualify for the loan through the agency and then apply to the bank for approval. Security for the loan is based on the value of the individual's home equity, not income level. An approved applicant's income is then supplemented monthly with installments from the bank for up to five years, at which time repayment of the loan is due.

HEAT loans, initiated by the Fair Share Development Corporation (FSDC), are designed to provide financing to homeowners wishing to implement energy-conserving, home improvement projects such as roof, door and window insulating.

Homeowners living in a one-to-four-family, owner occupied property within the bank's market area and earning up to $75,000 per household are eligible. Applicants are prescreened by the FSDC and then referred to the bank.

Approved applicants pay back only the original amount of the loan over a maximum 60-month period. All interest on the loan is paid initially to the bank by the FSDC.

"By introducing these products, we hope to make those residents who are eligible for the loans aware of the opportunities available to them through the various non-profit agencies. These efforts are part of our continuing commitment to better serve the communities of Boston and the South Shore," said Dennis P. Myers, lending officer of The Hibernia Savings Bank.

The Hibernia Savings Bank, founded in 1912, is a state-chartered, federally insured thrift institution with offices located at 263 Washington St., Boston, 51 Commercial St., Braintree and its new office located at 731 Hancock St., Quincy.

CITY OF QUINCY IN COUNCIL

ORDER NO 15A
ORDERED — April 19, 1988

Be it Ordained by the City Council of the City of Quincy, that the Revised Ordinances of the City of Quincy, 1976, as amended are further amended upon the recommendation of the Commissioner of Public Health in Chapter 13, Article IV, add the following

SECTION 54 REGULATION OF SMOKE WITHIN CERTAIN ESTABLISHMENTS

Section 1. Rationale. Extensive research findings from national and health services substantially document tobacco smoke as a strong factor in the causation of lung cancer and other respiratory disorders Smoking is also listed as one of the risk factors in the development of heart disease

Exposure to secondhand tobacco smoke or "passive" smoke is now known to be a direct cause of specific types of lung cancer among healthy non-smokers

Therefore, pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 111, Section 31 and 31C, of the Massachusetts General Laws, the City of Quincy adopts the following ordinance which is designed to help protect and improve the health of residents, in the City of Quincy

Section 2 Legal Significance: This regulation prohibits smoking in every publicly or privately owned coffee shop, cafeteria, short-order cafe, luncheonette, sandwich shop, soda fountain, restaurant or other eating establishment with the following exceptions.

a This prohibition shall not apply to an establishment seating forty (40) or more people who maintain a contiguous non-smoking area comprised of one-fourth of the floor space in which customers are served

b. This prohibition shall not apply to an establishment seating less than forty (40) people

c Acceptable air cleaning ventilation devices shall be required for installation in any new restaurant licensed after the effective date of this ordinance For the purpose of this ordinance new restaurants shall include newly constructed, expanded, or significantly remodeled restaurant as well as the transfer of ownership of any restaurant

Section 3 Definitions:

a "Acceptable air-cleaning system" shall mean a mechanical unit comprised of an air-cleaning device and an air circulating fan approved by the Quincy Board of Health b "Air charge" shall mean the volume of the air occupying the room in which an air-cleaning device is installed

c "Air-cleaning device" shall mean a device, or combination of devices properly located, providing six (6) air charges per hour and capable of removing particles as small as .03 microns, including smoke, dust, bacteria, and 99 percent of all pollens with cleaned air discharged into the room in such a manner so as to prevent short circuiting from the outlet to the inlet of the device

d "Bar" shall mean an area which is devoted to the serving of alcoholic beverages and in which the service of food is only incidental to the consumption of such beverages

e "Restaurant" - any facility serving and preparing food to customers on the premises

f "Employee" shall mean any person working in a food service establishment

g "Enclosed" shall mean closed in by a roof and four walls with appropriate opening for ingress and egress and is not intended to mean areas commonly described as public lobbies

h "Make-Up Air System" shall mean a system capable of providing a minimum ventilation rate of seven (7) cubic feet per minute of outside air per person occupying the room in which the acceptable air-cleaning system is installed.

i "Person" shall mean any natural person, state agency, municipal corporation, corporation, unincorporated association, partnership, joint venture, joint stock association, or other business organization of any kind

j. "Smoking" shall mean the combustion of any cigar, cigarette, tobacco, or any similar article or any other combustible substance in any manner or in any form.

k "Non-Smoking Area" that area of a restaurant designated and posted by the proprietor or other persons in charge, where smoking by patrons or employees shall be prohibited

l. "Smoking Areas" all other areas of a restaurant unless smoking is prohibited by sanitation or fire safety codes or regulations.

Section 4 Implementation and Enforcement

a The proprietor or other person in charge of a restaurant shall make reasonable efforts to prevent smoking in the non-smoking area by:

1. Posting appropriate signs.

2. Arranging seating so that existing physical barriers and ventilation systems minimize the effects of smoking in a smoking area upon persons in an adjacent non-smoking area,

3. Directing patrons seated in a non-smoking area to refrain from smoking.

b. Any restaurant which fails to comply with the provisions of this ordinance shall be notified of such non-compliance by the Health Department in writing Any restaurant which has received three such notices, and still fails to comply, shall be referred to the Licensing Board for appropriate action, including a fine of up to $100. per day, at the License Board's discretion

c Nothing in these regulations shall make lawful smoking in any area in which smoking is or may hereafter be prohibited by law

Section 5 Severability

a If any provision of this regulation is declared invalid or unenforceable, the other provisions shall not be affected thereby

Section 6 Variance Provision

a The Licensing Board, upon the recommendation of the Health Commissioner, may vary any provision of this regulation with respect to any particular case when, in its opinion, the enforcement thereof would do manifest injustice, provided that the decision of the Board shall not conflict with the spirit of these minimum standards, and provided further, such variance may be granted only after notice is given to all affected occupants and after a hearing is held Any variance granted shall be in writing and available for inspection in the office of the Licensing Board

Section 7 Effective Date

a This regulation shall take effect thirty (30) days after final approval

PERSONALS

PRAYER OF APPLICATION TO THE HOLY SPIRIT

Holy Spirit you who solve all problems, who light all roads so that I can attain my goal, you who give me the divine gift to forgive and forget all evil against me and who in all instances of my life are with me, I want in this short prayer to thank you for all things and to confirm once again that I never want to be separated from you and even in spite of all material illusion I wish to be with you in eternal glory. Thank you for your mercy towards me and mine. Repeat this prayer 3 consecutive days. After 3 days the favor will be granted even though it may appear difficult. This prayer must be published immediately after favor is granted without mentioning the favor.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS
THE TRIAL COURT
THE PROBATE AND FAMILY COURT
Norfolk Division
Docket No. 84P3075E1

NOTICE OF FIDUCIARY'S ACCOUNT

To all persons interested in the estate of ISABELLA PATTAVINA late of QUINCY in said County, deceased.

You are hereby notified pursuant to Mass. R. Civ. P. Rule 72 that the first and final account(s) of Vincent Pattavina and Dante S. Pattavina as Executors (the fiduciary) of said estate have been presented to said Court for allowance.

If you desire to preserve your right to file an objection to said account(s), you or your attorney must file a written appearance in said Court at Dedham on or before the twenty-second day of June 1988, the return day of this citation. You may upon written request by registered or certified mail to the fiduciary or to the attorney for the fiduciary obtain without cost a copy of said account(s). If you desire to object to any item of said account(s), you must in addition to filing a written appearance as aforesaid, file within thirty days after said return day or within such other time as the Court upon motion may order a written statement of each such item together with the grounds for each objection thereto, a copy to be served upon the fiduciary pursuant to Mass. R. Civ. P. rule 5.

Witness, Robert M. Ford, Esquire, First Justice of said Court, this eleventh day of May, 1988.

McCauley Says:

Administration Supportive Of Affordable Housing

Mayor Francis McCauley has told the chairman of the Quincy Zoning Board of Appeals that his administration has and will continue to be supportive of meeting the ever-increasing demand of providing affordable housing.

In a letter to Peter Macdonald, Zoning Board chairman, McCauley offered comments relative to the application by Summit View Associates Limited Partnership to construct residential housing on the easterly side of Quarry St. in West Quincy.

"Partnership and Affordable Housing Development Corporation are two examples of my commitment to this national problem," McCauley said.

According to McCauley, "Summit View will contribute significantly towards meeting this goal, but I do feel compelled to raise some questions that I think are important for the board to consider during its deliberations on this application.

"The 73.6-acre site for the proposed development was formerly a granite quarry operation and subsequently was used as a disposal area. Thus the site contains numerous buried quarry holes and is blanketed by refuse fill.

"The major concern that I have is the "unknown" of just what was dumped into these quarry holes prior to state and federal mandates for manifestation and documentation to fill the multiple quarry holes. I understand that a considerable amount of investigative testing has been undertaken, but the question that I have is "can the applicant state with 100 per cent surety that the area is environmentally safe and suitable for residential development?"

"The Site Assessment of the Quincy Shipyard, prepared by the NUS Corporation, alludes to conflicts between the G.Z.A. and NUS Study reports dealing with environmental and chemical contaminants, the NUS study apparently being the more complete of the two reports. With this in mind, I feel that further testing, particularly test borings with soil and material testing every 10 feet to the depth of resistance, be done. These holes should be located at several sites over each quarry hole as well as around the actual building site, as requested by both the Building and Health departments, he said.

McCauley said he would also suggest that a capping of at least 15 feet in depth with blue clay be investigated so as to prevent any contamination that might be missed by the test borings from working its way to the surface."

Windows Smashed At Rent Grievance Board

Three windows were discovered smashed by rocks Monday morning in the basement office of the Rent Grievance Board, 1120 Hancock St., Quincy.

Jane Reikard, the board's executive secretary, said it was the fifth similar incident in her office in seven years.

Nothing was reported missing, she said.

Upon her arrival Monday at 9:30 a.m., Reikard said she discovered two panes of glass broken in her office and another smashed in her private bathroom. One rock was on the office floor, another in a sink and "one big rock was lying inside on the window sill," she said.

"I think it's just a scare tactic. I have no intentions of leaving and I'm still going to voice my opinions," said Reikard, an advocate of tenant's rights and affordable housing in Quincy.

Reikard said she believes the incident occurred over the weekend.

Last year on Aug. 8, Reikard reported that sugar was put into her car's gas tank.

Last September 8, she was hit and sustained minor injuries in a hit and run accident involving an automobile.

Charges Tax Agreement Violation

City Files Suit Against GD

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

Mayor Francis McCauley announces that the City of Quincy has filed suit against General Dynamics Corporation, alleging that the firm has violated the tax agreement entered into with Quincy in 1983.

The agreement provided that Quincy pay General Dynamics $19,029,000 in taxes plus $8,900,000 interest for overassessing the shipyard for fiscal years 1977 through 1983, McCauley said.

The mayor said that General Dynamics violated the terms of the agreement that states, "that in any year that the City levied taxes in accordance with the agreement and if General Dynamics applied for an abatement of taxes in that year, the City would be entitled to a rebate of 75 percent of the interest paid rather than the 50 percent rebate provided for in the agreement."

Although Quincy adhered to the agreement for fiscal year 1987, General Dynamics filed for an abatement in violation of the agreement, McCauley said.

The interest rebate difference amounts to $300,909.84, the mayor said.

The complaint was filed in Suffolk Superior Court May 12 by City Solicitor Joseph A. MacRitchie.

Lawyers for General Dynamics are contesting the city's allegations, McCauley said.

McCauley Seeks $275,000 For Animal Shelter

Mayor Francis McCauley will seek a $275,000 appropriation from the City Council June 6 to build a new animal shelter at the site of the existing facility on Broad St., Quincy Center.

If approved next Monday, construction will begin Aug. 15 and be completed by Dec. 31 of this year, McCauley said.

"We'd like to have this project wrapped up by the end of the year," he said.

The plan for a $275,000 facility, devised by David Colton, deputy commissioner of Public Works, is $543,000 lower than previously planned. The previous plan received a low bid of $818,000, McCauley said.

Colton devised the new plan after visiting the Pembroke animal shelter at the suggestion of Alan Boygal of the Animal Rescue League, the mayor said.

The new 2400 square foot facility calls for the use of the latest in pre-engineered steel building technology which will be retrofit for animal sheltering use by a combination of city employees and outside contractors.

In essence, Quincy will act as general contractor and sub contract to the various building trades where necessary saving in overhead and profit, McCauley said.

In describing the Pembroke facility, Colton said: "The Pembroke facility is comprised of a pre-fabricated steel building manufactured by the Space Building Co. of Pembroke built on a concrete slab.

"The interior was then modified to house dogs.

"The Pembroke facility, although not as elaborate as our current design, is neat, clean, spacious, well planned, easy to maintain and the model of practicality."

The Quincy shelter would be larger than Pembroke's but "conceptually identical," Colton said.

McCauley praised Colton saying "Deputy Commissioner Colton has put together a sensible and cost effective plan, soliciting and obtaining the support of City Building Inspector Matt Mulvey, John McDuff of the Quincy Animal League, Althea Griffin of the South Shore Humane Society and Dog Officer Phyliss Berlucchi."

According to Colton, preliminary plans for the new shelter include 29 cages for dogs plus an additional 8 to 12 smaller cages for cats and puppies.

He said the existing shelter has 15 cages.

The old facility is scheduled to be demolished Aug. 1, Colton said. Animals will be housed temporarily at a garage near the existing facility, he added.

The new facility will consist of:

- 1650 square feet of indoor kennel space.
- 800 square feet of semi-enclosed outdoor kennel space.
- 1,050 square feet for office space.
- An isolation room for sick or nursing animals.
- Space for cats and puppies.
- Landscaping, parking and limited improvements to the end of Broad St.

McCauley said he was pleased to approve this plan.

"We have been able to put forth a plan to upgrade yet another city facility without going overboard on cost.

"The city will get a serviceable building of high quality which will benefit the citizens of Quincy for years to come while keeping the cost in line with what we can afford," he said.

Mayor: Please Pay Taxes By June 30

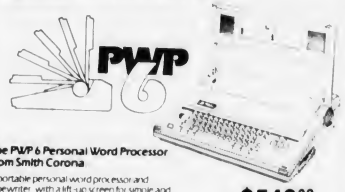
Mayor Francis McCauley is urging Quincy taxpayers to pay all outstanding real and personal property taxes as well as boat and automobile excise taxes and water bills as soon as possible.

McCauley said all municipal payments received on or before June 30 will be credited to fiscal year 1988.

"I want to close the books this year in good shape," he said.

The mayor said it is important for the city to finish the year in a strong financial position. Surpluses in the "free cash" account will have to be used to close a shortfall in fiscal year 1989 revenues that could reach $3.8 million, McCauley explained.

The City Council recently approved a fiscal 1989 budget of $107,026,322. The budget will go into effect July 1.



Bazaar License Granted

Plans for the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association's 18th annual sidewalk bazaar are underway.

At a License Board meeting Tuesday, the board granted, subject to a team inspection of the Fire, Health, and Building Departments the QCBPA a license to hold a three-day bazaar July 14, 15 and 16 in Quincy Center.

According to George Riley, executive director of the QCBPA there will be 70 Quincy businesses participating.

Mulvey, Pub Given 3 Weeks To Iron Out Public Safety Problems

By KRISTINE STRENGE

The License Board has given Building Inspector Mathias Mulvey and an attorney for Kelly's Pub and Grub, 27 Billings Rd., North Quincy three weeks to iron out conflicts concerning public safety in the establishment.

Atty. Richard Barry and Peter Kelly, owner of Kelly's, were asked to appear before the License Board because the establishment is using restrooms that are in violation of building codes.

Sgt. Richard Laracy inspected Kelly's May 2 at the request of Mulvey and found the downstairs restrooms in use.

According to Mulvey, as of last October, he and Kelly had an agreement that no one use the bathrooms because there is no second means of egress from the basement area causing a safety hazard.

Mulvey told Barry the establishment has the options of closing the bathrooms or adding another means of egress in the basement.

Barry told the board another means of egress could not be made because Kelly does not own the land immediately behind the pub.

In a report given to the board Barry said, "A Certificate of Inspection was granted which states that the means of egress are sufficient." "All known codes, rules, regulations, ordinances, were complied with in order to obtain the Certificate of Inspection," he said.

Barry told the board Kelly would do everything the board asks but he will not do everything Mulvey asks.

"If Mr. Mulvey bring a criminal suit against us," he said.

"I feel we are standing on firm ground with our rights in the matter," said Barry.

Property Management Workshop June 7

Weatherization, efficient lighting techniques, and energy conservation for rental property will be discussed at a Property Management Workshop Tuesday, June 7 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

The workshop is sponsored by the Quincy Community Action Programs and will be held at Broad Meadows Middle School's auditorium, 50 Calvin Road off of Moffat Road.

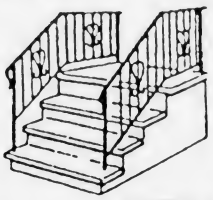
Steven Grattan and Mike Plasski from Mass Save will discuss Energy Conservation for rental property.

Mike McCann from Mass Electric will discuss new efficient lighting.

Bob Cosgrove from QCAP will discuss the QCAP's weatherization program.

License Board Briefs

The city's License Board took the following action at Tuesday's meeting at City Hall.



- Granted a request from South Quincy Social Club for a one day all alcoholic license for a clambake Sept. 11, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the Fore River Clubhouse.
- Granted a request from Atlantic Data Services, Inc. for a one day all alcoholic license for June 1 for the National Fire Protection Association.
- Granted a request from North Quincy High School Track Boosters Club for canning dates June 10 and 11.
- Continued for one week a request from Houghs Neck Community Council, Inc. for a license to conduct a field day Saturday, June 25. City Clerk John Gillis, also chairman of the board, said a representative from the council must be present.
- No action was taken on a request from Albert Cl... owner of Woodbine Gar... 18 Weston Ave., Wollaston, ... transfer his general auto repair license to ... Washington St. The Board was unable to take action because Clein needs a special permit from the Zoning Board of Appeals.

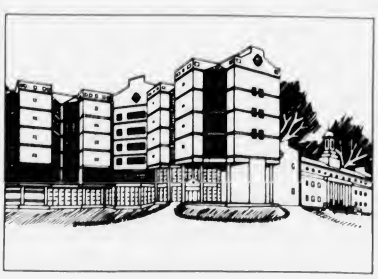
Q: What's up and coming in health care?



A: The New QCH!

Quincy City Hospital has begun an impressive $57 million renovation. Almost two-thirds of the buildings and other facilities will be replaced—all part of a dramatic plan to better serve the growing and changing health care needs of the South Shore.

The focal point of the new hospital complex will be a brand new six story building that will contain 234 patient beds as well as all of the necessary patient care support services.

Since its founding in 1890, Quincy City Hospital has been in the forefront of health care on the South Shore. With our new facilities we'll continue to deliver the highest quality health care services with warm, personal attention.

At QCH—we're building for the future on a proud past.

Pearl Harbor Survivor Says:

Many Have Forgotten Memorial Day Meaning

Many people have forgotten the true meaning of Memorial Day, according to retired Chief Petty Officer Luke Trahin.

"Throughout our land today, we have people who do not recognize this day of remembrance," Trahin said during Memorial Day services at Mt. Wollaston Cemetery sponsored by the Quincy Veterans Council.

To these people, he said, "It is just another holiday and I can assure you that in a survey I made to test it, it is quite evident even in Massachusetts."

Trahin, who is a veteran of World War II and a survivor of the attack on Pearl Harbor, was the keynote speaker during Monday's services.

He said that while the survey he conducted made him embarrassed for some people's lack of patriotism, he was glad for the turnout for the services in Quincy.

Trahin, however, indicated he found patriotism much alive in Quincy.

"It is a distinct honor to be here today, Mayor, members of the City Council, fellow vets and citizens of Quincy.

"I'd like to call Quincy the City of Patriots," he said. "I can think of no finer name to call this great city. Primarily because of the great cooperation of the Council, of course the Mayor, and the veteran organizations in Quincy. Nowhere will you find a greater patriotic spirit than in Quincy.

"I think that we are to be congratulated today for taking the time to remember," said Trahin. "We are not indifferent. We are thoughtful and thankful for knowing those who have served honorably."

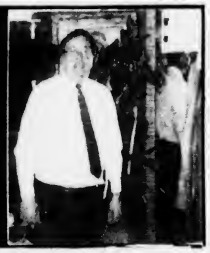
Trahin talked of how he reveled in the thought of being a serviceman when as a child he saw the flag and watched veterans marching in previous Memorial Day parades."

"Little did I know that I would get caught up in World War II," he said. "There is no special war; war is hell."

He read a selection from the poem "Flanders Field," which describes a cemetery of men who were killed in action during World War I.

The stanza he read demanded that people continue fighting the enemy. He had a reply to the poem's plea which said the fight was taken up by 10 million hands and the lesson the dead soldiers taught in Flanders Field was learned.

"What is that lesson?" he asked. "To me the reply means the torch of freedom, the torch of liberty...Liberty and freedom, one in the same, are the bulwark of our policy and make this nation greater than any nation in the world."



Trahin expressed hope and optimism for success at the current nuclear arms summit in Moscow. But peace is still some way off.

"Some day there will be no more wars," he said. "Utopia has not arrived yet, and until that day comes, we will have veterans and we should care for those veterans," because they have given a part of their lives to the nation.

Trahin also said if he could he would volunteer again if there was a need.

"We must be ready to defend (freedom) at all cost. I am dedicated to that cause and I hope you'll join with me in that ideal."

Trash Disposal Solutions QCA Meeting Topic

A presentation by the Orfa Corporation on a solution to trash disposal problems--including recycling and end-product marketing was scheduled for Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Montclair Men's Club, 93 Holbrook Rd., North Quincy.

The project, sponsored by the Quincy Citizen's Association, was open to the public.

Dr. Benjamin R. Kafka, project development manager of Orfa Corporation, made the presentation, showing the capacity and building of the plant, financing, operation, environmental concerns, collection to end-product marketing.

Kafka discussed a similar plant in Philadelphia and how its working.

Invitations were sent to the Mayor Francis McCauley, the City Council and officials from Milton, Weymouth and Braintree.

Refreshments will be served.

The QCA is also sponsoring a dinner dance to be held June 9 at the Adams Heights Men's Club. During the evening Roger J. Kineavy, Arnold Rd. will receive the Citizen of the Year Award.

Tickets are $16.50. They may be obtained by calling Elenda Lipsitz at 328-8327 or Rita O'Toole at 328-7917.

Anyone interested in the dinner dance are requested to bring a raffle item with them to help the Joseph Brett Scholarship fund.

On June 7 members of QCA are requested to attend the Board of Appeals hearing at City Hall at 7:45 p.m. and uphold the six-story low-density zoning ordiance which is being challenged.

Water Conservation Week June 5-11

The week of June 5-11 has been proclaimed "Water Conservation Week" in Quincy by Mayor Francis X. McCauley.

David Colton, deputy commissioner of Public Works, said the key to maintaining an ample water supply is conservation.

"The Quabbin Reservoir is not bottomless. We want people to consciously think about what they're doing when they are running water," he said, adding that Water Conservation Week is held annually in the city.

The mayor urges all residents to support this worthwhile effort.

A Job Well Done

Quincy's city cemeteries this Memorial Day weekend appear to have been given tender loving care.

Grass manicured. Weeds removed. Leaves raked.

And the veterans sections -- especially at Mount Wollaston Cemetery -- were most impressive with hundreds of small American flags fluttering above the graves.

The sight, as you drove down Sea St. near the Police Station and looked across to the cemetery, was a heart tugging scene to behold and not forget.

Credit goes to Ray Cattaneo, executive director of the Park-Forestry and Cemetery Departments and his crews.

CATTANEO

Cattaneo had some big shoes to fill when Mayor Francis McCauley named him executive director to succeed the late Richard Koch, Sr.

KOCH Sr.

Koch had put the cemeteries back into A-1 shape after the upkeep there had slipped.

Cattaeno is carrying on in the Koch style. The shoes fit.

REGARDLESS OF WHERE you go or who you meet, there seems to be a Quincy connection.

Senator Paul Harold attended the recent State House ceremonies marking LaFayette Day.

HAROLD

And there met a direct descendent of the famed French General Marquis de Lafayette, Count Gilbert DePusy LaFayette.

General LaFayette who fought in the American Revolution and worked for a French-American alliance, visited Quincy and John Adams in 1824.

LaFayette came to Boston that year to see his son, Georges, receive an honorary degree from Harvard.

The General then came to Quincy and the Adams Mansion to visit Adams who influenced the writing of the French Constitution and Articles of Rights.

After his visit to Quincy, LaFayette went to Bunker Hill where he layed the cornerstone of the Bunker Hill monument.

And, of course, another Quincy connection the monument is built of Quincy quarried granite.

JOHNSON

AND, YOU MIGHT say, the Quincy connection was recently carried to Lawrenceville, Va., where Dr. O. Clayton Johnson, president of Quincy Junior College, was the Centennial Baccalaureate speaker at St. Paul's College.

The college was founded in 1888 the year the town of Quincy became a city. Quincy of course, is also celebrating its Centennial this year.

FONTAINE

WJDA news director Herb Fontaine will again be a guest auctioneer at this year's Ch[illegible] Auction, Tuesday, June 7. Fontaine will appear sometime between 6 and 7 p.m. looking for bids from his friends.

AIDS Information At Health Center

Information about AIDS in the form of brochures, videos, and answers from public health nurses will be part of AIDS Awareness Week, June 8 through 15.

The week was set aside by Mayor Francis X. McCauley-Mayor Francis X. McCauley's AIDS Education Trask Force.

Highlights of the week include information and educational material on hand at the John F. Kennedy Health Center, 1120 Hancock St.

The Health Center's auditorium will be open to the public June 9, 10 and 13 from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Nurses will be available to answer questions and distribute materials concerning AIDS.

Videos on AIDS will be shown in the Health Center continuously.

On June 15 from 7:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Cable TV Channel 3 will feature the program "Quincy's Response to AIDS".

The program will feature a panel discussion, resource referral, and AIDS telephone numbers to be shown at the close of the program.

On June 8 there will be a Mayor's Luncheon for the Task Force Members.

NQHS Students Learn Original Story Writing And Telling

Senior creative writing students at North Quincy High School recently participated in a workshop focusing on original story writing and telling conducted by storyteller and Boston cable television personality George Capaccio.

The workshop was conducted in two parts. The first session was creating original stories and the second session was storytelling, where the students tried out various techniques for expression.

The workshop culminated in the students' visiting Montclair Elementary School and telling their original stories with the younger students.

Capaccio is the host of The Reading Balloon, a children's storytelling series for Boston cable television produced at the Boston University Bookstore.

He has appeared in numerous plays, films and commercials, as well as performing at the Boston Arts Festival and the WBZ-TV Kidsfair.

The workshop was funded by the Quincy Public School Arts Council.

Shipyard Low Bidder On Passenger Liners

June 1-7
44 Years Ago

Bethlehem's Fore River Shipyard was disclosed as the low bidder at $54 million on contracts to build two passenger liners for American Export Lines.

John T. Wiseman, general manager of the Yard, said if Bethlehem got the contracts the 4,500 workers at Fore River would be assured of stable employment for the next two years.

However, a spokesman for American Export Lines said construction of the two liners depended on favorable Congressional action on bills calling for a 50 percent federal subsidy.

NORTH BEATS QUINCY

Lefty Bill Ericson pitched a five-hitter and struck out seven in leading the North Quincy High School baseball team to an upset 3-2 victory over Quincy.

Natalie's Cheese Cake
With Strawberries Or Cherries

Each time we have a family get together one of my many nieces will bake her favorite dessert. One of our favorites is a crustless cheese cake which our niece Natalie bakes. Here is the recipe which I have made the day before and served with strawberries or cherries and a touch of cream if you like.

NATALIE'S CHEESE CAKE

1 Lb cream cheese
1 Lb ricotta cheese
1 Lb sour cream
1½ cups sugar
3 Tbsps cornstarch
3 Tbsps flour
4 eggs
½ cup melted butter
1 Tbsp lemon juice
1 tsp vanilla

Grease pan with oil. Cream the ricotta and cream cheese together. Add the sugar slowly and beat well. Add the cornstarch, flour and the eggs. Mix. Cool the melted butter and add to the mixture. Add the lemon juice and the vanilla. Then at the last minute add the sour cream and mix well.

Bake in a 325 degree oven for one hour. Shut off the oven and leave the cheese cake in the oven for two more hours. Do not open the oven door.

Marie D'Olimpio is the author of "Simply Italian-And Then Some," a collection of her own recipes. Copies of the book are available at That's Italian, Franklin St., South Quincy; Previte's Market, Sumner St., Quincy Point; Samoset Pharmacy, Samoset Ave., Merrymount and Winfield Gift Emporium, Hancock St., Quincy Center.

Angela, Christine Venezia To Be Honored By Dante Alighieri Society

ANGELA VENEZIA

CHRISTIN VENEZIA

Two sisters from Quincy, Angela and Christine Venezia, both seniors at North Quincy High School, will be honored at the Dante Alighieri Society of Massachusetts Honors Cotillion at the Copley Plaza Hotel, Boston, on Saturday, June 4.

Angela and Christine, the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore Venezia of Quincy, will be honored for their academic achievement and extracurricular volunteer services within the community.

They were selected by application references by the Board of the Dante Alighieri Society of Massachusetts.

Angela through hard work, strong organization skills and study habits, is among the top two percent of this year's graduation class at North Quincy High School. Through her years at NQHS, she has shown a great deal of leadership qualities by delegating authority and responsibility to others, then assembling the results of their work.

Her parents are second generation Italians who have instilled in their daughter a great pride in the Italian heritage, the importance of education and a genuine love of the arts.

Angela, a member of the National Honor Society, is an outstanding student, gifted both academically and creatively.

A teacher of Angela has said of her: "Angela is going to be a superb asset to the college or university she attends."

She has decided to attend Boston College and major in journalism.

Angela's sister, Christine, has been recognized as an excellent student-athlete who has achieved many honors for her outstanding ability. Along with active participation in school activities and projects, she displays superior reading, writing and research skills.

Christine recently earned the highest grade possible in the Advanced Placement United States History Exam.

She is a member of the National Honor Society, Foreign Language Honor Society and served on the Year Book Committee.

Her teachers have recognized Christine as conscientious, intelligent and motivated. She also ranks in the top two percent of her graduating class.

Christine will continue her education at either Georgetown, Yale, Boston College or the University of Pennsylvania.

Durkin Supports 'Joint Asset Bill' For Nursing Home Patients Spouses

Stephen Durkin, candidate for state representative in the Second Norfolk District, recently sent a letter to Rep. Richard Voke, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, expressing his support for a pending "joint asset bill."

This bill would allow the spouse of a nursing home patient to retain 50 percent of joint assets and still have the benefit of Medicaid coverage for nursing home costs.

Durkin said in his letter, "I am writing in support of the "joint asset bill" being considered by the Ways and Means Committee.

"It is my understanding that the "joint asset bill" would allow the spouse of a nursing home patient to retain 50 per cent of joint assets and still have the benefit of Medicaid coverage for nursing home costs. Additionally, the bill would permit the nursing home patient's spouse to earn up to $12,000 annually without forfeiting Medicaid coverage.

"As you know, under the present system, Medicaid covers the cost of nursing home care only for those at or below the poverty level. It is a tragedy that married couples who have worked hard all their lives in many cases must spend their life savings and relinquish all their assets, including the family home, before the Medicaid program will cover the cost of one spouse's long-term medical care.

"Numerous people have expressed to me the tremendous hardship and heartache that result when a spouse is forced to place an elderly husband or wife, for whom they are no longer able to care, in a nursing facility, and forced to spend most of their retirement savings and to become impoverished or dependent on public assistance.

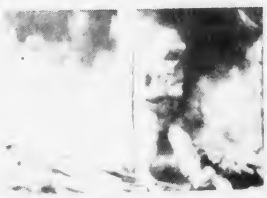
The Problem

Heating and cooling your home



NASA developed methods of using thin layers of reflective metal materials to protect spacecraft from extreme temperature changes, ranging from absolute zero to burning heat upon re-entry (above).

Why does your A/C run all summer?

Why does your heater run all winter?

Spin-off products from this space technology include reflective fire suits for high intensity temperatures (above).

Because

Heat always transfers to cold by natural law. The problem is how to keep heat out of your home in the summer and how to keep the heat in your home in the winter.

The Solution

Eagle Shield Radiant Barrier

is offering the most advanced form of insulation available today. Developed by NASA, this radiant barrier will reduce your heating and cooling costs from 20 to 40 percent, when simply placed over existing insulation.

WHAT IS EAGLE SHIELD?

First and most importantly, Eagle Shield is a radiant barrier which when simply laid on top of your existing ceiling insulation can significantly reduce your heating and air conditioning, and increase the comfort level of your home.

100% Financing
20% to 40% Utility Cost Reduction
Free Installation
3 Year Satisfaction Guarantee
Listed with Better Business Bureau
Registered with the National Energy Specialist Association

HOW DOES IT WORK?

Eagle Shield is a radiant barrier made with two sheets of aluminum adhered together to create a two-sided reflector. When installed directly on top of your insulation, heat waves put off by your roof decking in the summer are reflected by the radiant barrier before they have the opportunity of being absorbed by your ceiling insulation, thus keeping your home cooler. In the winter, the radiated heat waves from within your home are absorbed by your ceiling and conducted up through your insulation into your attic. In this case, the down-facing side of the radiant barrier reflects the radiant heat waves emitted from your insulation back down toward your living area instead of allowing them to simply escape into your attic. This process eliminates heat loss through your ceiling, thus saving you dollars. Eagle Shield is also perforated with tiny holes that allow moisture to pass through so it doesn't create a moisture barrier for your existing insulation.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

WHAT IS MATURITY? Many quotes come to mind ... "When you can sense your concern for others outweighing your concern for yourself." "A frank acceptance of barren realities." "Implies otherness ... the art of living with." ... One of the best we have come across is by Dr. William C. Meninger. He said that the criteria of emotional maturity are:

Having the ability to deal constructively with reality.

Having the capacity to adapt to change.

Having a relative freedom from symptoms that are produced by tensions and anxieties.

Having the capacity to relate to other people in a consistent manner with mutual satisfaction and helpfulness.

Having the capacity to sublimate, to direct one's instinctive hostile energy into creative and constructive outlets.

Having the capacity to love.

Having the capacity to find more satisfaction in giving than receiving.

We at Deware Funeral Home would like to thank the many readers who have taken the time to phone us or write us about these articles. It is most appreciated.

'Celebration Of The Children' Sunday At Bethany Church

A service of celebration of the children at 10 a.m. Sunday, June 5, will mark the conclusion of the church school year at Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center.

The opening call to worship from Psalm 136 will be led by Curt Gifford and students from the fifth through eighth grades. The Cherub Choir, directed by Marsha Archer and Sandi Jones, will sing "Praise Him, Praise Him!" A duet "Can You Count The Stars" will be sung by brothers Eric and John Leuchte. Janette Archer will read a poem which she has written entitled "Mother Earth."

Bible Stories for Children will be presented to children entering the second grade, and Good News Bibles will be given to twelve boys and girls entering fourth grade.

As the Old Testament lesson, children of the second-third grade class will recite the 23rd Psalm in unison. The New Testament lesson from Mark 10:13-16 will be read by David Corley.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will have a special story for the children. The Chancel Choir under the direction of organist Peter J. Krasinski, will sing the offertory anthem.

Additional music will be provided by the Bethany Folksingers, led by guitarist, Tora F. Huntington. Children in the fourth-fifth grade class will sing, "Joy Is The Flag."

Gerard Capobianchi, church school superintendent, will give brief remarks and conduct the recognition ceremony for the 19 teachers and aids who served on the 1987-88 staff and the work of Pamela Ford Curran, Bethany's professional early childhood coordinator.

Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will lead the worship and conduct the recognition service for this year's Youth Advisors.

The Mission project of the Church School has been to raise funds to provide several rocking chairs for the mothers and babies at the Mary Martha House in Hingham, a ministry of the Quincy Crisis Center. Tammy Vozzella, project coordinator, will comment on the mission program and the funds for the chairs will be dedicated.

The closing responsive prayer will be led by Ann Buckmann, Lisa Chenette, and Kris Massey. Serving as youth ushers will be Wendy Eng, Steven Fernald, Jennifer Foley and Eric Leuchte.

The worship service will be broadcast "live" direct from Bethany's sanctuary at 10 a.m. over radio station WJDA, 1300 kc.

Nursery care for babies and toddlers is provided during the 10 a.m. service.

At 11 a.m. there will be a Fellowship Hour in the Allen Parlor. Families and individuals from the community are welcome to come and share in the worship and fellowship, and any of the programs offered by the church.

For additional information on any of Bethany's ministries or programs, please contact the church office at 479-7300.

St. Anthony Festa At St. John's June 10-11

The 13th annual St. Anthony Festa, sponsored by St. John's Parish, will be held on the church grounds, School St., Quincy June 10 from 6 to 11 p.m. and June 11 from noon to 11 p.m.

Fr. Daniel Graham, the prime organizer of the festival for the past 13 years, will be the principal celebrant and homilist for a special Mass in honor of St. Anthony on Saturday at 4 p.m.

Segments of the Mass will be in Italian and an outdoor procession honoring St. Anthony of Padua, patron saint of Italians, will take place following Mass.

Fr. Graham will be leaving St. John's this month for another parish assignment.

Proceeds from the two-day festival will benefit the parish building, maintenance and charitable activities funds.

There will be a variety of booths, foods and pastries, games and amusements for the entire family. A special magic show for youngsters will take place Saturday at 2:30 p.m. Music for singing and dancing will be provided.

This festival has become one of the most popular religious, cultural, and social events of the spring season along the South Shore.

The general public is invited to attend. Admission is free.

Confirmation Sunday At Wollaston Congregational

Confirmation Sunday will be observed at Wollaston Congregational Church at 10 a.m. June 5.

The Rev. Elden D.J. Zuern will preach a sermon titled "Anointed By God."

The sacrament of Holy Communion will be celebrated with the deacons assisting the minister.

Organist, Donald A. Reade, will play the two voluntaries: "When In Our Music God Is Glorified" by Sue M. Wallace and "Allegro Vivace" from Water Music Suite by G.F. Handel. He will also direct and accompany the chancel choir as they sing the anthems "Praise The Lord, Come Sing" by G.P. Telemann and "We Walk By Faith" by Hal Hopson.

Nursery care is provided for babies and toddlers. Church school will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes for pre-school through grade eight. The senior high discussion group will also meet at 10 a.m.

Communion Service At Covenant Congregational

The Deaconate will serve communion at the 10:45 a.m. worship service Sunday at Covenant Congregational Church, Whitwell and Granite Sts.

Prior to the service, Sunday school with classes for all ages will meet at 9:30 a.m.

Rev. Fred Lawson's sermon topic will be "Conversations of Jesus: Nicodemus."

The nursery for children age five and under will be attended by Heather McKim.

A new member, Robert Purpora, will be received into the congregation. Immediately following the service there will be a coffee hour in honor of the occasion.

For the service, the choir, directed and accompanied on the organ by Richard Smith, minister of music, will sing "Sanctus" by Gounod and "Rejoice in the Lord" by Redford. Mr. Smith will play "Fugue in Honor of the Trinity" by Bach as prelude as well as the offertory and postlude.

The Deaconate will meet at the church tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m. The all-church picnic will be June 12.

For more information about any of the church's activities please call the church office at 479-5728.

Alzheimer Support Group To Meet June 9

The Alzheimer's Disease Support Group will meet Thursday June 9 at 7:30 at Beechwood Community Life Center, 225 Fenno St., Wollaston.

Speaker will be Dr. Tom Hedges who will discuss "Vision and Alzheimer's Disease."

For more information call 471-5712.

United Methodist Yard Sale

A yard sale will be sponsored by the Quincy Community United Methodist from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday at the church, in the rear parking lot on Chapman St.

In case of rain the sale will be inside the Chapman St. entrance.

Guest Preacher At First Squantum Church

"Swords Into Plowshares," from the book of Micah, was the theme of sermon by guest preacher Craig Zachring during Memorial Day services at the First Church of Squantum.

Zachring used the passage to urge everyone to begin working right away to the eventual abolition of war.

The altar flowers were given in memory of Robert Lewis by his daughter Nancy and son-in-law Charles Saad.

Greeters at the door for the service were Zachring's wife Cynthia, and their two daughters, Emily and Vanessa.

Music was provided by the Chancel Choir under the direction of Mary Ruth Scott.

Hostesses for the Fellowship Hour following the service were Grace Holmes and Doris Longmire.

Rev. Gene Langevin, who has been on sabbatical, will return to the pulpit next Sunday.

JFK Regatta Draws Record Number Entries

The third annual John F. Kennedy Regatta was held at Marina Bay over the holiday weekend with 135 PHRFs and 65 One Design boats.

The race field has nearly tripled since its inception in 1986.

The weather was perfect for the two-day kickoff to the racing season with sunny skies, temperatures in the high 70s and a steady sea breeze.

Skipper Bill Callahan of Bonnie Lassie said, "Conditions were ideal, the best winds of the year."

Skipper David Hayward of Bittersweet said, "I considered the regatta a real first class event. The race was well-organized and every aspect was handled in a professional manner, definitely a reason for its growing popularity. The course was challenging, an excellent test of sailing skills. This is the only race I enter all summer. None other compares."

In PHRF Class A Mike Frigard of Corinthian won in Loose Goose 4, followed by Todd Johnson of Chicago in Annapurna and Hugh Chandler of Cottage Park in Scheherazad.

Paul Kerrissey of Hingham won Class B in Allegra, with Bob McLemore of Jubilee Yacht Club second in Vapor Trail and Robert Moorhead of Derry, N.H., third in Checkmate.

Class C was won by Robert Barth of Kittery Point, Me., in Jumbo, followed by Bob Sheppard of Cottage Park in Mr. Smooch and Bob Davidson of North Andover in Catchit.

In Class D Jack May of Plymouth won in Keewaydin, David Hayward of Savin Hill second in Bittersweet and Tom West third in Non Sequitor.

In Class E Gerald Fennessey of Jubilee Yacht Club won in Bvidget, Woody Savage of Cottage Park was second in Flying High and Bea Sprague third in Sunpath.

In Class A Star Joe Zambella of Cottage Park won in Brillo, followed by John Siljander of Sandy Bay in Shellback and John Cavicchi of Cottage Park.

In Class B Thunderbird Don Kavanagh of Savin Hill won with Thunderation, Reed Cournoyer of UMass Sailing was second with Hot Coffee To Go and Peter Gilson of South Boston third with AMR'A.

Jennifer Rousmaniere of Winchester won Class C Snipe in Swedish Chef, John Keane of Boston second and John Lally of Medford third in Blue Flame.

Peter Follanbee of Agamenticus Y.C. won the Class D Laser race with B. Boatwright of MIT Sailing second and John Pratt of MIT Sailing third.

Class E Mercury was won by Anderz Hedlund of UMass Sailing, Zaf Haneef of UMass Sailing was second and Leo Manning of South Boston third.

In Class F Hustler Alex and Ted Randall of Wollaston were the winners in Breakaway, Harry Carlton of Squantum was second in Bigwig and Norman Stanley of Squantum third in Beechnut.

The weekend kicked off with a Skippers Reception at the John F. Kennedy Library last Friday night. Saturday a BBQ and dance was held for 500.

A complimentary breakfast was held Sunday morning and the awards ceremony Sunday evening capped off a fun-filled evening. The winners of each category received engraved ice buckets, second place finishers engraved brass bells and third place finishers engraved teak boxes. A perpetual trophy will be engraved this week.

Powers Helps Set Record

Mary Beth Powers of Quincy helped Notre Dame Acacemy track and field team to a new school record in the half-mile relay as she, running anchor, together with Andrea Roderick, Heather Hartford and mary Ellen Kennedy, finished in 1:51.9.

Notre Dame finished second in the championship relays held at Dennis-Yarmouth High.

Sports

Weixler Sets New Triple Jump Records

Beth Weixler of Quincy High continued her dominance of the triple jump by setting a new school and Suburban League record at the state Class A meet last Sautrday at Class A meet last Saturday at Boston College.

Weixler jumped 34 feet, 3½ inches to finish second overall in the meet.

Jessica Rutan also had a fine day, finishing fourth overall in the long jump and Karin Picarski ran a strong race in the 100, finishing fourth in her semifinal heat.

Coach John Franceschini announced that the three will be the tri-captains of next spring's team.

Sadowski Testimonial Dinner

A testimonial dinner for Ted Sadowski, who is retiring after 29 years as a North Quincy High teacher and assistant football coach after 29 years, will be held Tuesday, June 14, at 6:30 at the Bryan VFW Post.

Donations are $22 and checks or money orders should be made out to North Quincy High School and sent to the school in care of Barbara McConaghy.

Sadowski served under all of North Quincy's football coaches, Jack Donahue, Carl Leone, Dave Burke, Ralph Fraser and Ken McPhee.

"PEOPLE HELPING PEOPLE"

North Tries To Take Quincy Out Of Tourney

By TOM SULLIVAN

The North Quincy High baseball team went into Tuesday night's game with Quincy with a chance to knock the Presidents out of the Eastern Mass. tournament for the third year in a row.

As the result of an 8-6 loss to Brookline last Saturday, Quincy had to defeat North to make the tournament. The Presidents missed qualifying for the tournament by a single win each of the past two years.

Quincy's record fell to 11-8 when it lost to Brookline last Saturday.

Jim Dennis pitched six innings and suffered his second loss of the season and Bobby Austin finished up. Dennis is one of the leading pitchers in the Suburban League with a 7-2 mark.

Danny Biagini who, with Dennis, made the league all-star team, had a double and single and two RBI and Greg Chambers also had two RBI.

"This wasn't one of our better games and we had to play catchup all the way," said coach Bob Sylvia. "Brookline, which hit the ball well, jumped off to a quick 3-0 lead and we never were able to catch them."

Sylvia had high hopes of clinching a tournament spot at Brookline after Quincy's biggest win of the season, a 4-3 decision over Brockton in its previous game. It was the first time in many years that Quincy has beaten Brockton twice in a season. Some think it may have been the first time this has ever happened.

The past two seasons it was Brockton which kept the Presidents from qualifying for the tournament.

Wayne Chambers, who was due to start against North Quincy Tuesday night, pitched a four-hitter and struck out 10 in the win over the Boxers.

Sean Thompson drove in the winning run in the seventh inning with a long drive to center field with the bases loaded. Thompson stopped at first when the winning run scored as it was unnecessary to go any further.

Mike Noonan started the inning off with a single and Nick Dragone walked. Chambers bunted the runners along and Biagini was intentionally walked. Thompson then drove in the winning run.

Quincy took a 2-0 lead in the third when Dragone drove in Ed Flavin and Scott Logan with a triple. Brockton tied in the fifth.

Quincy regained the lead, 3-2, in the sixth when Thompson doubled and scored on an error. Brockton again tied it in the top of the seventh.

Sylvia expected plenty of trouble with North Quincy Tuesday. In the first meeting, a wild affair, Quincy led, 9-2, only to have North battle back to take a 12-11 lead in the sixth. Quincy scored four in the top of the seventh for a 15-12 win.

Leo Donovan's North Quincy team lost to Brookline, 6-3, last Friday to drop to 3-16. A win over Quincy would help the Raiders forget one of their most frustrating seasons in which they lost seven one-run games, three in extra innings.

In their previous game the Raiders lost to Waltham, the Suburban League's top team, 5-11, despite another strong pitching performance by sophomore Kevin MacDougall. Waltham clinched at least a tie for the league title with the win.

MacDougall, who had lost a heartbreaker to Cambridge Rindge and Latin in his previous start, pitched two-hit ball until the fifth when Waltham took a 3-0 lead and added two runs in the seventh.

8-Year Old YMCA Swimmer Completes Outstanding Season

Paul Zukauskas, age 8, a swimmer for the South Shore Y.M.C.A. (Quincy) swim team, recently completed an outstanding season.

Although he only started swimming competitively in September, he has won several area and New England titles.

During February and March he traveled throughout New England to compete in several 8-and-under championship meets. In February he won the U.S.-New England championship in the 25 and 50-yard freestyle events at Cape Elizabeth, Me.

He again won the 25 and 50-yard freestyles at the Eastern Mass. Y.M.C.A. championships at Massasoit Community College in Brockton in March. He broke a five-year old meet record with a time of 14.44 seconds in the 25-yard freestyle.

Later in March he won the 25-yard freestyle and finished second in the 50-yard event in the New England area Y.M.C.A. championships in Providence.

His best times are 14.10 seconds for the 25-yard and 31.59 seconds for the 50-yard.

During the regular season he was unbeaten in his specialty and the Y's 8-and-under boys' team finished undefeated in Division I dual meets (7-0).

The combined boys' and girls' 8-and-under team finished second in the N.E. Y.M.C.A. championships out of approximately 45 teams.

Paul lives in Weymouth and is a third grade student at the Johnson School.

Young swimmers are encouraged to join the team by calling the South Shore Y in Quincy (479-8500).

PAUL ZUKAUSKAS

Alyse Zaccheo On B.C. Softball Team

Freshman Alyse Zaccheo of Quincy was a member of the Boston College women's softball team, which won its first ECAC Division I championship recently at Brown University.

Zaccheo had a .250 batting average and a .875 fielding percentage.

Quincy Girls Defeat North For City Title

The Quincy girls' softball team, which hadn't been beaten North Quincy in three years, topped the Raiderettes for the second time this week, 13-6, to claim the city championship.

The First Ladies, who [illegible] ended the three-year drought with an 18-7 victory.

Pitcher Marion Miller batted a lascinating bases-loaded rally to help preserve Quincy's sixth win of the year.

Quincy built an 8-0 lead but North closed to within 8-5 and had the bases loaded with two outs in the fifth. Miller relieved starter Ann Marie McCaffrey and retired the first batter she faced on a pop-up.

Miller pitched no-hit ball over the last 2-1/3 innings and struck out two.

Quincy took the lead with four runs in the first inning when Miller drove in two runs with a single and Diane Heeney had a sacrifice fly. Quincy added two in the second, aided by Kristin Cutin's RBI single, and two more in the third when Christine Barrett, the Suburban League's leading hitter, came through with a bases-loaded single.

North answered with two in the third with five walks helping out. The Raiderettes added a run in the fourth on a single by Siyon Park and three more walks. In the fifth Diane Clougherty drove in North's fourth run with a single.

The First Ladies clinched the win with five runs in the seventh. Nancy Manton and Miller had RBI doubles and Lisa Zambruno and Sue Cullen RBI singles.

Nantel's Bat Powers Giants Over Cubs

The Giants blasted the Cubs, 22-8, in the Quincy Junior Farm Baseball League, exploding for 10 hits in a big fourth inning.

Co-Capt. Mike Nantel got the giants off to a good start by hitting a towering home run over everything on the second pitch of the game. Nantel added a double and a grand slam home run.

Kevin Sullivan, Shawn Manning, Nantel, Capt. Eric Strauss, Robbie Pirelli, Justin Stravos and Chuck Foley all had hits in the fourth. Mike O'Neill's long triple to left field driving in two runs, drove in what proved to be the game-winner.

Pat McGann made the play of the game with a near impossible catch in center field. Chris Carthas, John Laukkanen, McGann and Pat Coughlin played strong defense. Co-Capt. Robbie Pirelli pitched his best game with a four-hitter and Nantel pitched well in relief.

"This is one of the newest teams in the league and many of these kids never played ball before, but they played well as a team everythem they take the field," said Bob Pirelli, who coaches the Giants along with Art Carthas.

The Braves defeated the Giants, 10-4, behind the three-hit pitching of Paul Marnikovic, who struck out 14 for his third win of the season.

Jeff Finer and Katie Gallagher led a 14-hit attack, both going 3-for-3. Finer also had five RBI. Todd Sullivan, James Crowley, Marnikovic had two hits each and Jacob Drohan and James Mastroianni had one each. Nicholas Hanratty scored two runs for the Braves.

The Red Sox topped the Pirates, 6-4, with John Hanafin the winning pitcher. Kevin Sullivan, John Manning, Geoff Meade and Mike Cosseboom, who had the winning RBI, led the Sox attack. Dan Stone, John Mahoney and Paul Holland had key defensive plays.

John Greene pitched well for the Pirates, striking out seven. Matt Radzevich and Matt Kisiel led the offense.

Only 3 Games In Youth Soccer League

The Quincy Youth Soccer League took the holiday weekend off except for three games in the girls' under 10 division Saturday and a Special Needs game.

In the girls under 10 games Quincy Plumbing got by Granite City Storage, 1-0, on Kelly Duggan's goal. Melissa Ruozzi and Tracy Rowerdink assisted and Julie Kingsbury and Laura Shea played well. Goalie Colleen Donahue, Lauren Kenny, Elizabeth Kirby and Meghan McGilloway had good games for Granite City.

Hair Place One blanked Alford & Bertrand, 4-0, with Kristy Cheney having a hat trick and Melissa Gerry and Liz Fitzpatrick a goal each. Eileen Sherman had two assists and Gerry and Fitzpatrick one each. Annie Bergen, Amy Danna, Nancy Ruscio and Martina Hickey played well for A&B.

Patriot Insurance won by forfeit over Deware Funeral Home.

Quincy's Special Needs team edged Weymouth, 2-1, with Billy Skehan scoring both goals. Julie Murray, Craig MacDonald, Elaine McKeon and Debby McGrath played well.

North Boys Defeat Quincy

The North Quincy boys' volleyball team, in only its second season, finished a winning season (10-8) last week when it defeated Quincy, 2-0 (15-0, 15-13).

Co-Captains Brian Mosher and Kipp Caldwell were outstanding for Coach John Perkins' Raiders. Also playing well were Rich Connelly, who contributed some clutch serving, and Charles Levering, Shawn Darcy, James Lee, Steve Zkowski, Mike Doherty and freshman Hiep Ngo.

North Quincy started boys' varsity volleyball a year ago and took its bumps, finishing 3-15.

The success of last fall's girls' team -- an undefeated season and state championship -- spurred interest among the boys.

Perkins ran volleyball as an intramural sport until the school decided to have a varsity team. He had extensive coaching experience but little formal volleyball training, so he read up on the sport and received advice from girls' coach Jim Rendle.

Travel is emphasized this year, often in conjunction with professional interests. Your good-natured attitude enhances personal relationships over the next six months.

AQUARIUS — January 21 - February 19
Thursday-Sunday favor improved relationships with relatives. After the weekend you may find yourself agreeing to disagree with a co-worker. Think twice before volunteering for neighborhood assignment.

PISCES — February 20 - March 20
Health review and fitness programs are accented. Be prepared to spend extra time with friends or relatives who seek your support. You manage to smooth some very ruffled feathers.

ARIES — March 21 - April 20
Week finds you assuming a management position, but at home prepare to play a supporting role. If traveling, be aware of a tendency to want to do too much.

TAURUS — April 21 - May 22
People in high places are willing to take a chance on your novel ideas. Relatives may seem demanding, but it's important that you lend a sympathetic ear.

GEMINI — May 23 - June 21
Thursday and Friday accent restored harmony on the homefront. Weekend is favorable for bargain hunting -- provided you know your bargains. Monday-Wednesday focus on health and fitness regimes.

CANCER — June 22 - July 22
Travel prospects brighten, but be sure to do adequate research. Clashes at work can be avoided -- ingenuity on your part is a must. Possessive friend loosens the grip.

LEO — July 23 - August 22
Thursday-Saturday spotlight community-related activities; you may be asked to assume a leadership role. Sunday-Wednesday are favorable for family reunions and long-overdue reconciliations.

VIRGO — August 23 - September 22
Domestic activities may be unexpectedly time-consuming from Thurday to Sunday. After the weekend you may become involved in an educational hobby. Don't procrastinate with travel plans.

LIBRA — September 23 - October 22
Week finds you in a sentimental frame of mind -- dusting off photo albums, or contacting a friend from yesteryear. Family member surprises you with an unexpected vote of confidence.

SCORPIO — October 23 - November 21
As the month gets under way, an important relationship shifts from intense to carefree. Communications snags are cleared, and you make steady progress with a pet project.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22 - December 22
Beware of a leaning toward extravagance; you may want to hide your credit cards this weekend. Your upbeat mood has positive effects on those who love you most.

CAPRICORN — December 23 - January 20
The pace becomes increasingly lively in a week that highlights social obligations and new projects. Key announcement on family-related matter is issued after the weekend.

BORN THIS WEEK
June 2nd, actress Sally Kellerman; 3rd, actor Tony Curtis; 4th, actor Bruce Dern; 5th, director Tony Richardson; 6th, singer Carla Toma; 7th, singer Tom Jones; 8th, actress Alexis Smith.

COLLEEN DONNELLAN

Female Student Welder In Commercial For Quincy Vo-Tech School

Colleen Donnellan, an 18-year old senior at Quincy Vocational Technical School, is currently being featured in a commercial promoting the school and vocational education.

The commercial shows a welder at work, but when the helmet is removed, the welder is a female, the only woman in the Sheetmetal Program at Quincy Vo-Tech. It is being aired on cable TV Ch. 52, Ch. 8, Ch. 6 and Ch. 12.

When Colleen works during school vacations at Dorchester Aqua Air Systems, a sheetmetal firm owned by her father, the male workers often ask her if she knows what she is doing. "I tell them I can do everything in the trade, and they ask if I am sure, but once they see me at work they leave me alone," she said.

When she graduates in June, she will continue her education in evening courses to expand her knowledge of heating, ventilation and air conditioning. Her primary interest is air balancing, and because she is female, she believes that the opportunities ahead for her are broad and satisfying.

Because she is learning in a non-traditional shop at Quincy Vo-Tech, and because she welds and does other sheetmetal functions, she often triggers surprise in people, especially in young men her own age.

"Most are surprised, but if a boy wants to date me, and my being a sheetmetal worker gets in his way, he isn't worth worrying about," she said.

"I care very much about what I do, and I am delighted that I had an opportunity to do something and to learn an occupation that I am good at. I think it will make a big difference throughout my whole life," she said.

Meanwhile, Marie Hurley, assistant director at Quincy Vo-Tech, and an administrator who has authored a director of women and men working in non-traditional areas, says she is delighted with the progress Colleen has made.

"Many parents are still reluctant to encourage, or even allow their sons or daughters to enter a field that traditionally has been closed to them. But with each passing year, and with each example that someone like Colleen Donnellan provides, we become more encouraged and more aware that aptitude and potential has little to do with gender," said Hurley.

Kennedy & Lehan Leases At 300 Crown Colony Drive

Kennedy & Lehan, CPA, a South Shore consulting firm specializing in accounting for entrepreneurial-driven businesses, has leased 25,000 square feet at 300 Crown Colony Drive Crown Colony Place West Quincy.

Meredith & Grew, Inc. represented the developer, The Linpro Company in the transaction. The Codman Company represented Kennedy and Lehan.

The 25th floor space will serve as Kennedy & Lehan's corporate headquarters. Occupancy is scheduled for June 1.

"We chose 300 Crown Colony Drive because of its ease of access from Boston, the South Shore and points east," said Edward H. Pendergast, chairman of Kennedy & Lehan. "Crown Colony Place will serve as a focal point for business on the South Shore."

The structure at 300 Crown Colony Drive is a 125,000 square-foot office building situated in the middle of Crown Colony Place. It is located at the intersection of the Southeast Expressway and Routes 3 and 128.

The five-story facility combines a bowed and stepped design with alternating bands of red brick, green-tinted glass, and limestone accents. The interior features a five-story central atrium with pyramidal skylight and three-story glass curtain wall. Its building overlooks a three acre reflecting pond.

"We are pleased to welcome Kennedy and Lehan to 300 Crown Colony Drive," said Thomas T. Garden, operating partner of The Linpro Company. "We have been fortunate to attract such high caliber tenants to our building."

Other tenants in 300 Crown Colony Drive are USE&G Insurance, Murphy, Hesse, Toomey & Lehane, and Panache Cafe.

Crown Colony Place is a 170-acre former quarry that will consist of over two million square feet of office space and a major hotel-conference center.

The Linpro Company, established in 1978, is the owner, developer, and manager of over eight million square feet of commercial and residential real estate in major markets throughout the United States.

Bancorp Mortgage Company Offers Free Housing Affordability Analysis

Bancorp Mortgage Company, Inc. has announced its initiation of a no-cost Housing Affordability Analysis Program. This informational service is intended for home buyers as well as people refinancing their real estate.

After a 20-minute consultation, the prospective home buyer will be presented with a written report. The analysis addresses such questions as the individual's maximum affordable mortgage payment and the total mortgage amount he may be able to borrow. In addition, the type of mortgage program and price range of houses best suited to the home buyer's financial picture, as well as often-overlooked costs in home buying, will be offered.

The consultation is designed to provide information to help the home buyer in the first stages of the home financing process. The program is being offered by Bancorp Mortgage Company through its loan offices in Acton and Chelmsford, as well as through the retail offices of both The Co-operative Bank of Concord and The Quincy Co-operative Bank. Those persons interested in obtaining a Housing Affordability Analysis should call 1-800-551-HOME to arrange for an in-person or telephone interview.

Bancorp Mortgage Company performs the residential mortgage origination and servicing functions of the co-operative Bancorp's subsidiaries. The Co-operative Bank of Concord and The Quincy Co-operative Bank. Bancorp Mortgage processes and packages these loans to sell in the secondary mortgage market. The company is a leading residential mortgage lender in its primary market areas.

PERSONALS

HOLY SPIRIT

O Holy Spirit, thou who are all knowing, who brightens every path that may reach my ideal. Thou, who giveth me the divine gift of forgiving and forgetting wrong done unto me and who in every instant of my life art with me. I'd like in this short dialogue to affirm my gratitude for all your blessings and reaffirm once again that I never want to part from thee though the illusion of material things abound.

My desire is to be with thee and all loved ones in perpetual grace. Thank you for your mercy on me and mine.

(Person should pray 3 consecutive days without revealing petition. Within three days grace will be attained regardless of how difficult the petition may be.)

Publish this prayer once grace obtained.

Parents Without Partners Orientation Meeting

An orientation meeting for those who wish to join Parents Without Partners will be held Monday, June 27 at 8 p.m. at the Knights of Columbus Hall, 875 Washington St., Braintree.

Family activities, dances, discussion groups, sports, and getaway weekends are some of the activities offered by P.W.P. for single, divorced, separated, or widowed parents.

McCauley To Attend Conferences In Utah, California

Mayor Francis McCauley will travel west next week to attend two conferences the week of June 10-18.

McCauley will be in Salt Lake City, Utah, from June 10-15 to attend the 56th Annual Meeting of the U.S. Conference of Mayors.

The Seven Standing Committees of the conference will review and act on 50 resolutions presented to the conference. McCauley is a member of the Community Development, Housing and Economic Development Committee.

Some of the resolutions to be discussed this year include: several resolutions concerning the topics of AIDS, Hunger and Homelessness, Community Development Block Grant Programs (CDBG) as well as the problem of drug abuse.

Ward 4 Councillor James Sheets will also attend the conference.

After the Mayors Conference concludes, McCauley will fly to San Diego, Calif., where he will attend the seventh annual conference of the National Association of Public Hospitals.

The mayor will participate in a panel discussion on the topic "Should Government Operate Hospitals?"

McCauley will return to Quincy Saturday, June 18.

While away, City Council President Patricia Toland, will perform the mayor's ceremonial duties.

Rte 3A Traffic Control Systems To Be Updated

A $208,000 project to update 10 traffic control systems along route 3A in Quincy and Weymouth is scheduled to begin this summer, according to Senator Paul D. Harold (D-Quincy).

The purpose of the project is to help regulate traffic flow along 3A, especially during the morning and afternoon commutes, Harold said.

The project is expected to last one year and end Aug. 31, 1989, he said.

Existing traffic signals will be upgraded and new signals will probably be installed, according to Harold.

These signal systems should become more "sophisticated" to allow the frequency of green and red lights to coincide with long and short lines of traffic, he said.

Planning Board Public Hearing

The Planning Board will hold a public hearing Wednesday, June 15 at 7 p.m. in the City Council Chamber, City Hall, 1305 Hancock St.

Three proposed amendments to Chapter 24 of the City of Quincy Zoning Ordinance and a definitive subdivision plan titled "Plan and Profile of Moody Street" filed by Robert J. Fleming for the owner, Joseph J. LaRaia, will be considered.

The proposed subdivision plan may be examined at the Department of Planning and Community Development in City Hall during regular business hours from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The proposed amendments to the zoning ordinance deal with the supplementary use of zoning districts, nonconformance and accessory uses.

Succeeds Valenti June 25

Gorman Named Acting Fire Chief

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

Deputy Chief Thomas F. Gorman Jr. of 292 Franklin St., Quincy, has been appointed acting fire chief by Mayor Francis McCauley effective June 25.

Gorman, 50, will succeed Chief Carl V. Valenti, 60, a 30-year veteran of the department, who is retiring June 24.

Gorman will be sworn in Friday, June 24 at 10 a.m. in the mayor's office in City Hall. His appointment will take effect Saturday, June 25.

Gorman was named acting chief after Deputy Chief Paul O'Connell, 38, the only candidate from within the department to pass a recent Civil Service chief's examination, told the mayor he could not accept the $55,445 annual post.

During a meeting with McCauley last week, O'Connell said he felt he could do the job, but believed he is too young, the mayor said.

THOMAS GORMAN

McCauley then offered the position to the three deputies who also took the exam: Joseph Jackson, Francis O'Hare and Gorman.

Gorman, the last deputy notified by the mayor because of seniority, accepted.

A lifelong Quincy resident, Gorman is the son of the late Thomas F. Gorman, who served as Quincy's fire chief from Nov. 7, 1947 until his retirement July 1, 1967.

Deputy Gorman began his firefighting career on Oct. 19, 1963 as a firefighter. He was promoted to lieutenant on June 16, 1973; captain on July 28, 1979 and became deputy chief on Sept. 10, 1983.

McCauley said Gorman has appealed his exam mark.

This is a similar scenario which occurred two years ago when Valenti was named acting chief to replace retiring Chief Edward F. Barry.

Valenti took the chief's but was notified he had not achieved a passing grade. He then appealed the mark and won.

McCauley then appointed Valenti permanent fire chief in April. He had been acting chief for nearly two years.

Strict Smoking Ordinance Awaits Mayor's Signature

Quincy is only a signature away from implementing one of the strictest smoking regulation ordinances in the state.

Mayor Francis McCauley said Tuesday he expects to sign a new smoking regulation ordinance which won unanimous approval at Monday night's City Council meeting.

"As far as I can see, there's no problem with it. I expect I'll be signing the ordinance in the near future," McCauley said.

The mayor leaves Thursday for a one-week absence from the city to attend two conferences on the west coast.

The new ordinance calls for an acceptable air cleaning-ventilation filtering device to be installed in any new restaurant or food service establishment, or in a restaurant where the license has been transferred.

"New" restaurants include newly constructed, expanded or significantly remodeled establishments.

The ordinance also stipulates restaurants seating 40 or more people must maintain a non-smoking area comprised of one quarter of the floor space in which customers are served.

Hotel, Motel Tax Hearing Postponed

The City Council public hearing scheduled for Wednesday, June 15, at 7:30 p.m. relative to Mayor Francis McCauley's proposed four per cent excise tax on hotel and motel rooms has been postponed.

Council President Patricia M. Toland said the public hearing will be rescheduled for a later date.

McCauley said the proposed tax is "another source of revenue which cities and towns can avail themselves of."

But local motel owners said the tax could hurt their businesses.

$15 Illegal Parking Fines Proposed

The price of illegally parking a car in Quincy could go from $5 to $15.

The City Council Monday Night proposed hiking parking ticket fines to $15 for most violations.

Supporters of the measure said the increase would better enforce motorists who park illegally throughout the city.

"The problem of illegal parking is city-wide," said Ward 5 Councillor Charles Phelan.

"Raising fines would help with enforcement. Illegally parked cars is a huge problem throughout the city," he said.

Phelan said both side and main streets in his Wollaston district regularly have illegally parked cars, many owned by commuters who ride the MBTA to work.

The increase in fines will be advertised. Advertising is required before it can be passed by the council.

As proposed, the increase includes parking at a fire hydrant, double parking, parking in crosswalks, sidewalks or in intersections, parking in tow zones, bus stops, restricted places and within 20 feet of a corner.

Parking at expired meters is not included in the proposal.

The Quincy Traffic Commission made the recommendation to increase the fines. It previously resisted a change.

The traffic commission, which includes the city's fire and police chiefs, concluded at a meeting in April that Quincy's parking fines are in step with other communities and should not be increased.

However, at its May 18 meeting, the commission recommended that the fines go up from $5 to $15. It also asked the city to consider filing legislation which would give the city permission to raise some parking fines to $20.

Centennial Flag Day Ceremony June 14

The Quincy Centennial Committee has finalized plans for the Centennial Flag Day Ceremony to be held Tuesday, June 14 outside City Hall.

The program will begin at 9:30 a.m. with opening remarks by cochairmen Eugene Creedon and Joyce Baker.

A color guard - QJRPTC and various veterans' organizations - along with the Quincy High School band will participate in the Raising of the Flags, followed by a talk "Thoughts For the Day" by City Council President Patricia Toland.

Centennial flags will be presented to students and city department heads by Baker, Creedon and members of the committee.

School Supt. Dr. Robert Ricci will offer remarks at this time. The program will conclude with the Quincy High School Band's musical selections.

On Sunday, June 19 the Centennial Kickoff Celebration will begin at 2 p.m. at McIntyre Mall, Quincy Sq.

Sludge Meeting In Quincy Point

Ward 2 Councillor, Ted DeCristofaro, has scheduled a community meeting for tonight at 7 p.m. at the Fore River Clubhouse to update the community on the dewatering of sludge by the Enviro-Gro Company at the shipyard.

Recently, some residents of Ward 2 visited the Enviro-Gro plant in Atlanta and they will be in attendance to answer questions.

DeCristofaro urges residents to attend.

Animal League To Discuss Planned Animal Shelter

The Quincy Animal League will meet Sunday, June 25 at 3 p.m. at Quincy Community United Methodist Church, 40 Beale St., Wollaston to discuss the city's plans for the construction of a new animal shelter.

Members are urged to attend and all interested persons are welcome.

McGrath Criticizes QIHS Report On Zoning, Linkage

City Councillor Stephen McGrath Tuesday criticized many of the recommendations regarding the recent Quincy Inclusionary Housing Study released by Connery Associates and Roll Goetze promoting affordable housing in Quincy.

In a letter sent to the consultant McGrath expressed his concern regarding the concept of inclusionary zoning and linkage.

"I object to your concept of linkage, and would like to point out that for some time now the City of Quincy has utilized several forms of linkage payments.

"Several developers donated funds for the cost of the recent Traffic 2000 Study which addresses further traffic needs.

"In addition," McGrath said, "development fees currently are at least two percent, a one percent fee for sewer improvement imposed over a year ago, and the building permit fee of one percent.

"However, these linkage payments have not been implemented in the context you describe, that is, in return for a specified payment a developer receives the right to build additional floor area beyond that allowed by right. Our fee structure requires the payment for issuance of permits as of right," he said.

McGrath continued, "I feel that your concept would foster abuse by the city of the development concept. I find it somewhat suggestive of a rather blatant, quid pro quo of sorts for the city to forego current zoning for a price.

"Either our zoning is proper on its merits or it is not - it was. I believe never intended to be some sort of a bargaining chip with a developer. In addition a five percent fee on top of current fee structures could amount to 'killing the goose that laid the golden egg'.

"The proposal regarding inclusionary zoning I also find disturbing. The concept of providing a certain number of affordable units in return for permitting a developer to build more units than permitted 'by right' runs counter to our concept of providing controlled growth throughout zoning ordinances.

"Of particular concern is your proposal of widespread proliferation of an accessory apartment as a means to promote affordable housing to use your quote 'Open up exclusive suburban residential neighborhood'. By the term I presume you mean Residential A property which zoning designation is the most prevalent zoning category," McGrath said.

"I must point out that the city has just undergone an exhaustive 14 month process of reviewing thoroughly our zoning ordinances as a result of a City Council Task Force appointed by me. This resulted in some 82 recommendations. These recommendations most of which have been implemented generally reduced height and more to the point density.

"These recommendations," McGrath continued, "were adopted after extensive public hearings in support of these changes. Accordingly I would object to any attempt to curtail the zoning ethic on the scale you have recommended, particularly in a use of the so-called second accessory "bonus unit" which could permit turning a single-family Residence A dwelling to a three-family unit.

"In addition, your 14-day notice to abutters requirement would seem superfluous as the permits would be issued as a matter of right provided all other criteria were met.

"The idea of additional affordable housing for Quincy is a sound one that I support. However many of the factors controlling housing costs are beyond the control of the municipality," he noted.

"It is well known that the northeast has experienced an unprecedented increase in real estate values over the past several years which now has slowed and in some cases actually dropped. This has been the major factor in causing an affordable housing shortage.

"In addition your report somewhat skims over the fact that Quincy has already done quite a bit to address the problem of affordable housing and [illegible] important, improving current housing stock.

"According to [illegible] you have provided 1,200 percent of the total housing units are public housing owned by the Quincy Housing Authority. In addition City of Quincy will be leasing to the Quincy Interfaith Shelter, Inc. the old Registry of Motor Vehicles facility as a [illegible] shelter for the homeless.

"While the need for affordable housing exists," McGrath said, "it should be discussed with what has been accomplished. In addition I suggest that surrounding communities come anywhere near what Quincy has done to provide affordable housing.

"Also, I do not agree with your statement that Federal and Community Development funds have been 'invested primarily in commercial development projects.' Since 1975 $46 million or 46 percent of Planning and Community Development funds have been spent on housing rehabilitation of existing housing and neighborhoods and improvements.

"Only $2.9 million or 3 percent has been spent on commercial development projects," he said.

"Accordingly, I feel that Quincy has accomplished a great deal in the affordable housing area, and I look forward to working with other communities to help address this issue.

McGrath concluded, "I have supported in the past and would willingly support in the future reasonable inclusionary proposals for developers to provide affordable housing in developments such as the affordable housing near the Presidents Place project.

"However I do not support drastically altering the existing zoning structure permitting over development in residential areas."

Telephone Call Leads To Rape Suspect's Arrest

A Dorchester man suspected of abducting and raping a seven-year-old Quincy Point girl Easter Sunday was arrested Monday in California after authorities traced a phone call he was making to Quincy.

Ronald K. Waterman, 27, was arrested by Beverly Hills detectives Monday afternoon as he talked on a pay telephone at a variety store, Quincy Police Capt. David F. Rowell said Tuesday.

Waterman was arraigned Tuesday in California as a fugitive from justice. He was expected to waive extradition proceedings, meaning he could be returned to Quincy by the end of the week, Rowell said.

In another development, Braintree Police said Tuesday they have also obtained an arrest warrant charging Waterman with kidnapping and assault and battery of an 8-year-old girl in East Braintree March 13. Detective Gary Connell said. The girl escaped unharmed.

In the Quincy incident, Waterman allegedly grabbed the girl as she walked with her brother and friends on Mound St., Quincy Point, around 3:30 p.m. April 3.

The girl was sexually assaulted, driven to an industrial section of Medford and released, police said. She was severely injured in the attack.

On May 4, police obtained an arrest warrant for Waterman in Quincy District Court, charging him with forcible rape of a child, kidnapping, indecent assault and battery of a child under 14, and committing unnatural acts with a child under 16, according to court records.

Rowell did not disclose details of the traced phone call from Jack's Snack Shop in Beverly Hills to the Quincy party. He would not say who Waterman called in Quincy.

"Waterman had made a phone call to a party in Quincy. It was through that call, with the help of New England Telephone, security staff, Pacific Bell and A.T. and T. that we were able to locate the pay phone," he said.

Once Quincy police knew Waterman's location, they called police in Beverly Hills.

According to Beverly Hills Police Sgt. Jack Douglas, Waterman was talking on the pay phone when two detectives approached him. He said Waterman apparently had been talking for 20 to 30 minutes.

When first approached, Waterman told police his name was George Karns, but later admitted his true identity, and did not resist arrest, Douglas said.

Waterman first became a suspect several days after the abduction after Quincy Police received information from Detective Thomas Miller of the Boston Police Sexual Assault Unit, and Detective Frank Obreys of Boston Police District C.

Waterman allegedly left the Dorchester rooming house where he lived several days after the attack on the Quincy girl. As he traveled west, police kept track of his movements by telephone calls he made to friends and relatives in the Boston area, Rowell said.

Rowell praised the work of the detectives who tracked down Waterman. "This was one of those cases that haunts you. It was the kind of thing that you couldn't give up on until an arrest was made."

Police officers who assisted in the arrest include MacDonald, Quincy Detectives John Smith, William Donnelly, Thomas Tierney and William Lanergan, and State Police Detective Kerry McHugh of the district attorney's office.

$275,000 Order For Animal Shelter Sent To Finance Committee

A $275,000 appropriation order to fund the construction of a new animal shelter to replace the existing facility on Broad St., near the police station, was referred to the Finance Committee by the City Council Monday night.

Ward 4 Councillor James Sheets said he was concerned that by building a less expensive dog pound than envisioned, the city may receive a shelter of lower quality.

The city had expected to pay $500,000 for a masonry shelter. But the lowest bid for the project was $818,000. Mayor Francis X. McCauley then decided to seek out the feasibility of building a steel pre-fabricated shelter.

Ward 1 Councillor Michael Cheney also expressed reservations, saying, "I am concerned about the aesthetics of the structure."

David Colton, deputy of Public Works, appeared before the Council and said he will produce plans of the facility at the next meeting, Monday, June 20.

North Quincy Bar's License Suspended 10 Days

By KRISTINE STRENGE

Sagamore Inn, 78 A & B Sagamore St., North Quincy had its liquor license suspended by the License Board Tuesday for 10 days.

Dates of the suspension were not set as the establishment plans to appeal the board's decision to the state Alcoholic Beverages Control Commission within the next seven days.

The action is a result of a Feb. 28 incident in which police said they found four persons in the bar at 1:57 a.m. with two open beer bottles and two mixed drinks on the bar in front of them.

Thomas Dormady, the bartender on duty that evening, told the board he had closed the bar at 1:30 a.m. but returned to administer first aid to a friend who had been in a fight near the bar. The drinks he said, had been left on the bar from earlier in the evening.

Thomas May, Sagamore's attorney, said he did not see Sagamore in any violation of the law since there was no proof of sale of liquor, there is no state policy when to have people out of the bar, and there is a reasonable explanation of why there were people in the bar.

According to Liquor Inspector Richard Taracey, his policy of when patrons must be out of the bar is 1:30 a.m. and employees by 2 a.m.

If the cleaning people, manager, or owner are in the establishment past 2 a.m. they are to notify the police, Taracey said.

May said the incident was a "minor infraction."

But according to City Clerk John Gillis, also board chairman, Sagamore has been before the board four times because of liquor violations since it opened in 1980.

"All the violations seem to revert around people in the bar after hours," said Gillis.

Committee To Meet June 21

The Quincy City Hospital's board of managers Finance Committee will meet Tuesday, June 21 at 6:30 p.m. followed by a board of managers meeting at 7:30 p.m. in the Dennis F. Ryan Board Room in the hospital.

Historical Commission Public Hearing June 27

The Quincy Historical Commission will hold a public hearing on Monday, June 27 at 7:30 p.m. in the Planning Department Conference Room, third floor of the new City Hall, 1305 Hancock St., Quincy.

The installation of screening and shrubbery for air conditioning at the Thomas Crane Public Library, 40 Washington St., Quincy, will be considered.

Also, any other business which may come before the commission will be considered.

McDonald, Collins Rematch

Quincy's George McDonald will seek a sixth term as Norfolk County Commissioner and pass up an opportunity to become assistant Director of Operations and purchasing agent for the county.

McDONALD

In making that decision, he has set the stage for a rematch with Quincy School Committee Vice Chairwoman Mary Collins who is challenging him for the second time.

COLLINS

She ran against McDonald eight years ago but lost by 1600 votes.

Collins says this time she will campaign harder and cover more ground.

She has already been campaigning, she says, in Dedham, Randolph, Sharon and Weymouth. And, of course, in Quincy.

"I'm running to win," she says.

McDonald, who has served 20 years -- five four year terms --is willing to let Collins set the campaign pace.

If she steps it up, he'll step it up with her. If she doesn't, he won't.

McDonald is serious about winning a sixth term. He filed nomination papers with an estimated 3,000 signatures.

There has been speculation that McDonald would give up his commissioner's seat and take appointment as assistant Director of Operations and purchasing agent for the county.

The dual post pays about $40,000 or about twice as much as a county commissioner gets.

John Pohlmeyer of Weymouth is retiring around June 30 but with vacation time due him won't be leaving office until early or mid-August.

His successor will be named by the county commissioners. McDonald was considered to have the inside track there.

But McDonald would have to be out of office 90 days to be eligible for the appointment. He could have resigned earlier this year and been eligible when Pohlmeyer leaves.

But McDonald decided he preferred to remain a county commissioner because it is more interesting and is not a confining eight hour a day job.

"I am not interested in the job," he says. "Certainly not at this time."

What if he should lose his bid for re-election and the job has not been filled? Would he take it?

He concedes that could be a possibility but adds "I don't intend to lose this election."

DOES HE or doesn't he? He doesn't.

"No," says Mayor Francis McCauley. "I don't dye my hair."

McCAULEY

A youthful 58, McCauley's hair is still dark.

A downtown businessman who sees McCauley go by almost every day is the latest to raise the does-he-or-doesn't-he question.

"Not only is his hair dark," says the businessman who is an envious gray. "It seems to get darker every time I see him."

"Not true," says McCauley. "There's gray there but sometimes it is not as noticeable."

His Honor says a lot of people have asked him outright if he dyes his hair.

"I laugh and tell them no," he says.

He doesn't touch it up either. And he's not into egg oil.

THE CITY OF Quincy, marking its 350th anniversary, this year, has never had a woman mayor in all that time. But Pat Toland will come pretty close to it for a week anyway.

TOLAND

Mayor Francis McCauley will be attending out-of-state conferences beginning tomorrow (Friday) through June 18.

Tomorrow through June 10 he will be in Salt Lake City, Utah for the annual Conference of U.S. Mayors. Ward 4 Councillor James Sheets will attend that one, too. (Hmm! He's being mentioned as a mayoral candidate next year.)

Then McCauley will take off for San Diego, Calif. for the conference of the National Association of Public Hospitals through June 18.

While he's gone, Toland, as City Council president, will perform any mayoral ceremonial duties that need to be performed.

SPEAKING OF TOLAND, her daughter, Elizabeth graduated from New York University over the weekend receiving a degree in political science.

"She likes government and history," says the Mom.

Elizabeth interned with New York City Councilwoman Ruth Messinger in Manhattan and became acquainted with zoning and planning in the Times Sq. area. Sounds something like what's going on in Quincy Sq.

Is Elizabeth going to follow in her mother's political footsteps?

"I don't know," says Toland. "She used to hand out and distribute political flyers. But you can never tell."

Environmental Fair At QJC July 16

An Environmental Fair will be sponsored by Quincy Junior College at the school's new building, Saville Hall, 24 Saville Ave., on Saturday, July 16 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The fair is free and open to the public.

Event Chairman Leo Kelly said it will focus on issues ranging from the preservation of area wetlands to the clean up of Boston Harbor. Exhibits, demonstrations, films and lectures will explore the many environmental and conservational issues facing the region.

Area schools will have an opportunity to exhibit at the fair.

Kelly also said bus rides will be available to take groups of fair goers to the Quincy Quarries and Blacks Creek tidal marshes.

This year is an anniversary of two events of this century with major environmental impact: the 50th of the 1938 hurricane and the 10th of the blizzard of 1978. The fair will have visual demonstrations and reminders of these significant events.

There will also be other exhibitions for the public to view and participate.

The fair will enlighten those who attend today's most serious and often complex environmental issues.

Graduation Day: Happiness And A Dash Of Sadness

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Kristen McGhee graduated from Quincy High School June 6 and thus comes to an end my parental involvement in the Quincy Public Schools which began in 1965 - 23 years what changes have occurred.

Our oldest daughter, Karen, entered the Thomas B. Pollard School in September, 1965. The Pollard School was the elementary school I had attended as a child. I can still remember taking Karen during those first school days and thinking how little the school had changed - even some of the teachers were still there.

Karen's first grade teacher was Kay Hofferty, my first grade teacher and she also had Margaret Morris and Mary DeBartholemeau who were special teachers to me. There were over 500 children at Pollard. This was when children came home every day for lunch which was 1½ hours long. They could eat at school during the winter months in their classrooms. Girls wore dresses and boys had school pants and shirts. Kids got new shoes for school and sneakers were for gym day. "New Math" was being taught. Every holiday called for a school assembly in which almost everyone participated.

During the following years Karen was joined at school by her two brothers, Geoffrey and Adam. In 1969, Frank Keegan came to Pollard and a renewed feeling of parental involvement began. Parents were encouraged to visit the school anytime and participate in various projects. Parents became familiar with the Individualized Learning System and ITU's (I thought) Quincy Schools had stock in a paper company with all the ITU's that came home). PTA sponsored father-son and mother-daughter nights. The lunch-time was reduced to ½ hour and everyone ate at school. There was Junior High and High School began in the 10th grade.

When our youngest daughter, Kristen, entered the school system in 1975, declining enrollment was beginning. In the years that followed there was Proposition 2½ - all the emotional meetings on the closing of schools and the restructuring of the school system. In June, 1982, Kristen's 6th grade class was the last one to complete 6 years at the Pollard School - what a dreary day. Then came Middle School and 9th grade at Quincy High School. Kristen has been captain of the Cheerleaders and played four years on the varsity girls basketball team and will be attending Northeastern University in the Criminal Justice program in the fall.

Looking back, one thing has not changed - parents make a difference when they are involved in their child's education. We have always made our feelings known - good and bad. I am for public education and Quincy Public Schools.

So, on this graduation night, happiness was mixed with sadness and many thoughts came forth - all the parent-teachers conferences, bake sales, field trips, plays, school assemblies, concerts, proms, athletic events, award nights, teachers our children have had special relationships with. They were there with us on June 6.

New Erosion Coverage Available Under Flood Plain Insurance Amendment

Building Inspector Matthias J. Mulvey reminds Quincy citizens, especially those residing on or owning waterfront property, that new erosion coverage is available under the provisions of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1987 recently signed into law by President Reagan.

The National Flood Insurance Act of 1968 has been amended to include the payments of claims to relocate or demolish buildings that are subject to "imminent collapse or subsidence" due to erosion.

To qualify, buildings must have been covered by flood insurance under the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP) by June 1, 1988. If not, flood insurance must be inforce for two years of the length of ownership of the building, whichever is less.

The NFIP is administered by the Federal Insurance Administration (FIA), a part of the Federal Management Emergency Agency.

This amendment expands the NFIP's existing coverage, which previously paid claims on insured buildings that sustained physical damage as a result of storm-related erosion or were damaged as a result of erosion by water at higher-than-anticipated cyclical levels. The amendment applies to buildings along coastal areas.

The amendment specifies that a building subject to imminent collapse or subsidence from erosion would be eligible for a claim payment totaling up to 40 percent of value (or the cost of relocation, if less) when the building is to be relocated or up to 100 percent of the building's value plus 10 percent (or the cost of the demolition, if less than 10 percent) if it is to be demolished.

Under the amendment, the value of the structure is the lowest of:

The value of a comparable structure that is not subject to imminent collapse.

The price paid for the structure and any improvement to the structure, adjusted for inflation, or

The value of the structure under the Flood Insurance Contract.

The NFIP covers single-family residential buildings for up to $185,000. However, because of the demolition provisions permitting a claims permit of up to 110 percent, payments may, in certain cases, exceed coverage in force even when that coverage is at the normal statutory limits.

FIA has contracted with the National Academy of Sciences for recommendations regarding appropriate methodologies for developing erosion data required to implement this provision. This study will be completed in 15 months, at which time the FIA will issue final regulations.

Until FIA has issued these regulations, claim payments under the policy will be made on a determination by the Federal Insurance Administrator that the building:

Otherwise meets the requirements of the amendment, and

Has been condemned (or otherwise declared uninhabitable) by a state or local authority, and

Is subject to imminent collapse or subsidence as a result of erosion of underming caused by waves or currents of water exceeding anticipated cyclical levels.

Once regulations have been issued, claim payments under the policy will be based on a certification by state or local authority and determination by the Administrator that the building is subject to imminent collapse or subsidence and that claim is in compliance with the regulations.

Eligibility for benefits is based on the building being covered by a contract of flood insurance:

On or before June 1, 1988.

For a period of two years prior to the certificaton, or

For the term of ownership if less than two years.

The NFIP claims deductible carried by the policyholder, currently $500 minimum, will be applied to erosion-related claims.

The new NFIP coverage is for buildings only. It does not cover land, so there is no coverage for the value of or the damage to land caused by erosion.

When a determination of "imminent collapse" is made, future flood insurance coverage for buildings on that property is available only if the relocated or newly constructed one-to-four family building is located beyond the land expected to erode within the next 30 years.

All other buildings must be beyond the 60-year erosion line.

Until the National Academy of Science study is completed, FIA will utilize existing erosion rate data at the site to determine appropriated setbacks for buildings to be relocated.

"This is one of the toughest and fairest smoking ordinances in the state," said Councillor Timothy Cahill.

"This is a very fair compromise that protects citizens and doesn't force restaurant owners to spend a lot of money to enforce a smoke-free environment," he said.

Cahill added that eventually, all restaurants in Quincy will have air filtering devices.

Ward 1 Councillor Michael Cheney, chairman of the Ordinance Committee, said, "I believe it will set a precedent in restaurants and other establishments on the South Shore and beyond."

Any restaurant that fails to comply with the provisions of the ordinance will be notified of non-compliance by the Health Department.

Furthermore, any restaurant which has received three such notices, and still fails to comply will be referred to the License Board for appropriate action, including a fine of up to $100 per day, at the board's discretion.

The ordinance will take effect 30 days after final approval by the Department of Quality Control Engineers.

The ordinance was originally introduced by McCauley in January. It experienced six amendments before Monday's vote.

The Ordinance Committee unanimously approved the ordinance prior to the City Council meeting.

7-Month Bus Strike Settled

June 8-14
29 Years Ago

Service returned to normal on Eastern Mass Street Railway Co. bus routes but patronage was reported down following settlement of a seven-month strike of drivers and mechanics, longest in Eastern Mass history.

The New Haven Railroad said that of the 1,700 new commuters it picked up as a result of the strike only 380 went back to riding the buses and many others were still using other alternative means of getting to work.

Twenty of the 125 drivers in the Quincy division failed to report to work on the first day after the settlement. It was said that seven had taken other jobs, eight were on the sick list and five were giving a week's notice to new employers.

The drivers, who were getting $2 an hour, and the mechanics, who were getting $2.16, sought a 25 cents an hour increase. They settled for 6 cents retroactive to Oct. 1 and an additional 4 cents starting July 1, 1960.

LOCAL 5 TEAM WINS

Art Morgan's single and three Weymouth errors produced a three run seventh inning that gave Quincy's Local 5 team a 5-2 victory over Weymouth Recreation and preserved its first place standing in the South Shore Baseball League.

Local 5's Bill Myers pitched an eight-hitter while Art Kinsman of Weymouth allowed Quincy only four hits.

Candy Puffs
With Just Three Ingredients

When we were kids and we wanted to put a smile on our mother's face, we would bring her some candy puffs.

We used to call them molasses puffs, but the recipe does not have molasses in it. Anyway, these puffs were all cut in uneven chunks and resembled sponges. They can still be purchased in specialty stores. Anyone remember them? They would virtually melt in your mouth.

My neice Jean surprised us one day and brought a batch she had made and it was the real thing, exactly as you can buy. Here is the recipe for this gourmetish candy ... and all made with just three ingredients!

JEAN'S PUFFS

1 bottle dark Karo syrup
2 cups sugar
8 tsps baking soda

Boil the sugar and syrup until it reaches a 310 degree mark on the candy thermometer. Grease the bottom of a baking pan slightly. Add the baking soda and stir vigorously until well blended. Pour into the pan and wait for it to cool before cutting into pieces.

Marie D'Olimpio is the author of "Simply Italian-And Then Some," a collection of her own recipes. Copies of the book are available at That's Italian, Franklin St., South Quincy; Previte's Market, Sumner St., Quincy Point, Samoset Pharmacy, Samoset Ave., Merrymount and Winfield Gift Emporium, Hancock St., Quincy Center.

Janet Colclough Graduates Magna Cum Laude

Janet Colclough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Colclough of Wilson Ave., Wollaston, graduated magna cum laude from the University of Massachusetts Boston with a bachelor of arts degree in English.

Miss Colclough was also a graduate of the honors program.

Mother, Son Receive Degrees

Commencement was a family affair at the Barry household, 17 Maypole Rd., in Quincy this spring.

Rosalie Barry graduated from Anna Maria College with a masters degree in business administration, and her 22-year old son, Timothy, received a bachelor of arts degree from the University of New Hampshire in Durham.

Mrs. Barry, mother of three sons and one daughter, has been a school nurse for 14 years in the Quincy public schools. She is presently working at the Quincy Vocational-Technical High School.

Mrs. Barry was aided in her return to academia when she was awarded the first James McIntyre Memorial Graduate Scholarship last fall.

A graduate of the Hospital of the University of Pennsylvania and Teachers College, Columbia University, summa cum laude, she was voted "Outstanding Student" in the MBA program at Anna Maria College by her student colleagues.

Timothy, a 1984 National Honor Society graduate of Archbishop Williams High School, spent the 1987 fall semester in "Washington Semester," at American University, a special program for political science majors.

During that time he also served as an intern for Congressman Brian Donnelly's Washington office.

A member of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity at UNH, he received a bachelor of arts degree in political science.

COLLEGE COMMENCEMENT was double the pleasure at the Barry household in Quincy recently. Rosalie Barry graduated from Anna Maria College and her son Timothy graduated from the University of New Hampshire.

Quincy Girl Scouts Tour Washington, D.C.

Three Quincy Girls Scout Troops recently returned from a three-day trip to Washington, D.C.

The three troops, comprised of 32 girls, were Junior Troop 4205 from St. John's Parish under the leadership of Christina Randall and Lola Randall; Troop 4147 from Star of the Sea Church, led by Kathy Keating and Lee Anne Parsons, and Cadette Troop 4159 from Covenant Congregational Church, led by Ruth Lutts.

The trip, taken during the April school vacation period, was made possible by a series of fundraisers. These fundraisers, which offset most of thier expenses, icluded pancake breakfasts, lollipop sales, bottle and can drives as well as the annual cookie sale.

On the first day, the girls visited the National Zoo to see the panda bears and then Arlington National Cemetery to visit the graves of John F. Kennedy and Robert F. Kennedy.

At night, they took an illuminated tour of Washington's memorials.

During the second day, the troops toured Ford's Theatre and the Peterson House where President Abraham Lincoln was shot and later died.

They also toured the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, the U.S. Capitol building, Supreme Court and the Library of Congress.

Even after all this, the girls had enough energy to spend the night roller skating.

They concluded their trip with a tour of the FBI building and the Smithsonian Institute.

Because there was a three and half hour wait to tour the White House, the girls were unable to visit it.

Despite the disappointment of not touring the White House, the girls enjoyed their trip and look forward to more travel with the Girl Scouts.

They thank everyone who has supported them during the school year and express a special thank you to their leaders who volunteer many hours to make scouting a reality in Quincy.

Girls Scouts who toured Washington were Michelle Hamilton, Kate Sullivan, Anne Hurlebaus, Sarah Cadogan, Sara Walsh, Kate Keating, Coleen Muical, Claire Lutts, Susan Costa, Jamie Carini, Stacey Oa, Karen Mezzetti, Kerry Sullivan, Diane Costa, Jaclyn DuBois, Sara Sweeney, Amy Par, Melissa Ruozzi, Courtn Sullivan, Jaime Ga, Jennifer Doherty, Yvon Kemp, Aimee Ho, Heather McKim, Anne Ma Murphy, Irene Lu, Rebecca Siteman, Pa Demers, Tracy LaPo, Michelle Carlson, Li Sawin and Lauren Lar.

Leaders and chaperones who attended were Lo Randall, Chris Randa Carol Murphy, Lee An Parsons, Kathy Keat Ruth Davis, Nancy Goldt Sue Hurlebaus, Lind Horian, Peggy Costa, Ruth Lutts, and Ca McDonough.

Quincy Point Congregational To Celebrate 150th Anniversary

Quincy Point Congregational Church will celebrate its 150th anniversary Sunday, June 12, during the 10 a.m. worship service.

The church is located at Washington St. and Southern Artery.

The church was first gathered in 1838 when the Rev. N.S. Spaulding called together a group of nine men and women from Braintree Neck, Germantown and Quincy Point. During the winter and spring of 1838, Bible classes and occasional services of worship were conducted in schoolhouses of the three neighborhoods. On July 19, 1883, a newly erected meetinghouse was dedicated in Quincy Point at the corner of Washington and South Sts. under the leadership of the Rev. Daniel Wise.

The original name of the church was the Methodist Episcopal Society. In 1883, the congregation voted to affiliate itself with the Massachusetts Society of Congregational Christian Churches, and the local church became the Washington Congregational Society. In later years, the church was renamed the Quincy Point Congregational Church and, in 1957, affiliated itself with the United Church of Christ, a union of Congregational Christian Churches and the Evangelical and Reformed Church.

Sunday's anniversary service will be a blending of the church's current service of worship and the services of the mid-1800's - both Methodist Episcopal and Congregational. The sermon, to be delivered by the Rev. Fred Atwood-Lyon, is entitled "Lessons From 150 Years of Worship and Mission."

The service will also include an historical sketch of the church and a litany of praise and consecration. The Chancel Choir will sing "O Jesus, I Have Promised"; and the organ selections by Dr. Herman Weiss, organist and choir director, will include "Jesus, We Are Yours" by Pachelbel and "The Church's One Foundation" by Sachow.

All church school children will attend the first portion of the service of worship before passing to their classes. Child care is provided in the Crib Room for parents with infant children.

Fr. John McMahon Retirement Dinner June 18

By CHRIS MAHONEY

June 18 will mark the end of an era at St. Mary's when the Rev. John M. McMahon is honored with a testimonial dinner marking his retirement after 24 years of service to the parish.

The dinner for Fr. McMahon, 75, will take place in the church's Mullarkey Hall, 115 Crescent St., that Saturday immediately after Mass is celebrated at 5:30 p.m.

Bishop Lawrence J. Reilly will be the celebrant. Bishop Reilly preached at the first Mass McMahon celebrated and presided at the Mass marking McMahon's 25th anniversary as a priest.

There is already a waiting list of parishioners who wish to attend the dinner.

Fr. McMahon, who recently marked his 45th year in the priesthood, leaves behind a parish which he improved and beautified.

Fr. JOHN McMAHON

Among his accomplishments was the renovation of St. Mary's School and the addition of a library.

He saw to the reconstruction of the church and the building of Mullarkey Hall which is in the church's basement.

McMahon is responsible for the building of a $250,000 convent which ultimately became home to the Boston Archdiocesan Catholic Youth Organization. He also turned a former convent on church grounds into an apartment building.

Fr. McMahon became pastor of St. Mary's in 1968. Before his assignment to the parish he served in St. John's Church in Canton, St. Margaret's Church in Lower Immaculate Conception Church in East Weymouth and St. William's Church in Dorchester.

He was a member of the Quincy Housing Authority and an honorary chaplain to Morrisette Legion Post.

'The Hiddenness Of God' Sermon Topic At Bethany

During the summer months at Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center, there is one worship service held at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach a sermon, "The Hiddenness of God," on June 12. Lay scripture reader will be Earlee A. Kinnecom.

The Chancel Choir, under the direction of organist Peter J. Krasinski, will sing as the anthem, "My Shepherd Will Supply My Need" by Virgil Thomson and as the offertory Gordon Young's "Now Let Us All Praise God and Sing."

The church school is closed during the summer. However, nursery care is provided for babies and small children.

The worship service will be broadcast live from Bethany's sanctuary at 10 a.m. over radio station WJDA 1300 Khz.

There will be a fellowship hour in the Allen parlor at 11 a.m. immediately following the worship service.

Individuals and families from the area are invited to come and share in both worship and fellowship.

The annual meeting of the Massachusetts Conference of the United Church of Christ will take place at Mt. Holyoke College June 10-12.

Official delegates from Bethany will be Louise B. Forsyth, moderator; Lee Coolidge, assistant clerk; and Rev. Joel F. Hunting, associate pastor.

For additional information about Bethany's programs and ministries, call the church office at 479-7300.

Children's Sunday At Wollaston Congregational

A hymn sing at 9:45 a.m. will precede the celebration of Children's Sunday at the Wollaston Congregational Church, Sunday.

Rev. Elden D. J. Zuern will preach a sermon titled "Who's Teaching Whom?" Children from each grade will participate in the service.

The first, second and third grades will recite the Lord's Prayer and give their interpretation of it.

The fourth through sixth grades will recite the 23rd Psalm and tell what it means to them.

The seventh through the ninth grades will relate what the Last Supper means to young people their ages.

The senior high group will present the latest art form known as The Raps, demonstrating the rap sessions they hold each Sunday.

The Junior Choir, directed by Linda Walker, will sing several selections, and the combined Senior and Junior Choirs under the direction of organist Donald A. Reade and pianist Linda Walker will sing the offertory anthem "Go Into The World" by Natalie Sleeth.

Rev. Zuern will present Bibles to children entering the second grade. Geraniums, gift of Henry J. Curtis, will be presented to all children by Richard S. Kelsay and Frank C. Wiot, Church School Superintents.

Immediately following the service, there will be a Fellowship Hour in the Social Hall at which time special recognition will be given to our dedicated teachers and staff.

Children's Sunday At Faith Lutheran

Children's Sunday, June 12 will mark the start of summer schedule at Faith Lutheran Church.

Regular morning worship services will begin at 9 a.m. and there will be no Sunday school or Adult Forum.

'A Sign Of Shalom' First Parish Sermon Topic

Dr. Sheldon W. Bennett, minister, will deliver the sermon, "A Sign of Shalom," at the 10:30 a.m. Sunday service at United First Parish Church (Unitarian) in Quincy Center.

As part of the congregation's traditional communion service, the sermon will consider the communion ceremony as a sign of peace and whole community in the midst of the strife and turmoil of daily life.

The Church choir, under the direction of Norman Corey, will sing anthems by Elgar and Brahms. Corey will also play organ works by Messiaen, Drayton, and Dupre.

In the afternoon, the congregation will gather at Lavon Park for the annual church picnic from noon to 4:30 p.m.

Historic First Parish Church, "Church of the Presidents," dates from 1636. Unitarian since 1750, the church continues as a leader in liberal religion. It is also the church of Presidents John Adams and John Q. Adams whose tombs are in the church with those of their wives, Abigail and Louisa Catherine.

The church is located at 1306 Hancock St. in Quincy Center opposite City Hall. Visitors are welcome and are invited to attend the social hour immediately following the service. Child care is provided.

Faith Lutheran Church Picnic In Pembroke

Faith Lutheran Church will holds its annual church picnic at the Finnish Temperance Society Camp in Pembroke Sunday, June 12.

Car pools will leave the church parking lot immediately following the 9 a.m. worship service.

For directions to the camp site or transportation, call the church office at 472-1247.

There will be hamburgers, hot dogs, soft drinks, and ice cream for sale and a common table with salads and desserts, free of charge. Guests are welcome to bring their favorite dish.

Koch Club Plans 37th Annual Flag Day Parade

The Koch Club of Quincy will sponsor the 37th annual Flag Day Parade and observance in Quincy Tuesday, June 14.

Considered one of the most colorful events scheduled in the city during the calendar year, approximately 2000 boys and girls don the uniforms of their athletic and youth organizations and are provided 12 inch by 18 inch United States flags to carry on the parade route and retain following the event.

The Koch Club invites other youth groups to join with them in a salute to Old Glory. The Quincy Youth Soccer, Quincy Track Club, St. Ann's, St. John's, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Cub Scouts and Camp Fire girls have all participated in the past and are again invited to do so.

Assembly time is 6 p.m. at the Coddington St. parking lot at the Quincy Vo-Tech High School. The parade will kick off at 6:15 p.m. down Coddington St. to Washington St., right to Hancock St. and will end at the Veteran's Memorial Stadium with a flag raising ceremony.

All are invited to observe or participate and may call Thomas P. Koch, parade coordinator. For further information call 328-8286.

St. Anthony Festa At St. John's

The 13th annual St. Anthony Festa, sponsored by St. John's Parish, will be held on the church grounds, School St., Quincy June 10 from 6 to 11 p.m. and June 11 from noon to 11 p.m.

Rev. Daniel Graham, general chairman for the festival, will be the principal celebrant and homilist for a special Mass in honor of St. Anthony Saturday at 4 p.m.

Segments of the concelebrated liturgy of the Mass will be in Italian. An outdoor procession honoring St. Anthony of Padua, the patron saint of Italians, will take place immediately after Mass.

Proceeds from the two day celebration will benefit the parish building, maintenance and charitable activities funds.

This annual celebration is Italian in spirit and flavor. Young and old enjoy the wide variety of foods and pastries that are available. In addition there are many special events, games, and booths.

There is music for singing and dancing and a number of surprises to delight the thousands of visitors who attend.

This event has become one of the most popular religious, cultural and social events of the spring along the South Shore.

The public is invited to attend and admission is free.

MEMBERS OF THE St. Anthony Festa Committee include, from left, Joseph Zacheo, Christine Graham, Ben Parker, and Fr. Daniel Graham, general chairman. The festa will be Saturday and Sunday on the grounds of St. John's Church, Quincy Center.

PLANNING THE 13th annual St., Anthony Festa at St. John's are committee members, Bob McAuley, Mary McAuley, Clare Monac and Ted Monac. The event, to be held Saturday and Sunday will feature a variety of booths, foods and pastries, games, and amusements for the entire family.

COMMITTEE MEMBERS for the St. Anthony Festa, sponsored by st. John's Parish are from left, Ray Papile, Diane Acorn, Joyce Acorn, and Peter Graceffa. The festival will be held Saturday from 6 to 11 p.m. and Sunday from noon to 11 p.m. on the church grounds.

Rev. Langevin Returns To Squantum Church

Guest pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin returned to the pulpit of the First Church of Squantum Sunday June 6 after his sabbatical.

Dr. Langevin spent his time away from the church on a writing project.

The sermon for the morning was "Toyons Reunion."

The congregation sang "When Morning Gilds the Skies," and "Joyful, Joyful, We Adore Thee." Guitarists Mary Ruth Scott and Andrew Ogilvie accompanied the congregation on "Amazing Grace."

Deacons Gretchen Bumpus, Tom Williamson, Kate MacRitchie, Stewart Scott and Dana Olson assisted the pastor in serving the Lord's Supper.

The flowers on the worship center were given in memory of Elizabeth Holmes by her husband and family. Arthur and Virginia Sorensen were the greeters for the morning. Harry Holmes, Tore Wallin, and Stewart Scott were the ushers, and the Fellowship Hour after the service was hosted by Patti Hurd and Dorothy Abbe.

Sunday School classes for this school year concluded with a Children's Day Sunday School picnic. Nursery and child care during the Sunday morning service, however, will still be provided throughout the summer.

The Board of Trustees will meet on June 15 at 7:30 p.m. The board of deacons will meet on June 20 at 7:30 p.m. The church's annual flea market will be held on June 18 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Table space may be reserved by calling Allyson Barnum 328-1786 or Hazel Mayne at 328-4367.

North Quincy Sidewalk Sale June 24-25

Over $1,000 in prizes will be featured at the North Quincy Super Sidewalk Sale June 24 and 25.

The sale, sponsored by the North Quincy Business and Professionals Association, will feature good deals by many area merchants.

These merchants will also contribute prizes for a drawing which will be held late afternoon, June 25.

Coupons for the prizes will appear in The Quincy Sun issue of June 23 prior to the event.

The coupons must be deposited at participating businesses prior to the drawing.

In addition to the super buys, there will be many activities to keep children occupied.

Stanley Kogut Re-elected Montclair Men's President

Stanley W. Kogut of Quincy, president of C.W. Graphics, Inc., Holbrook has been re-elected president of the Montclair Men's Club.

Other officers elected at a recent meeting are Thomas P. Koch, vice president; William H. Connolly, treasurer; Howard A.W. MacKay, recording secretary; Richard E. Post, financial secretary; Stanley J. Kowalski, Jr., corresponding secretary; James J. Kelley, George J. Hatfield and William B. Szczutkowski, trustees; Thomas J. Bridge, sergeant at arms.

Recent torching of a member's car in the Montclair Playground (Bishop Field) has added further impetus to the club's request for improved lighting in the residential area, a spokesman said.

Mass. Electric claims that the lights are adequate on Holbrook road from Newport Ave. to Belmont St. will continue to be contested by the Men's Club, he said.

Speeding remains unabated throughout the city, but the meter maids are seemingly taking in more money than $50 fines generate for public safety, the spokesman said.

Drugs are destroying the fabric of family life and the quality of our neighborhoods.

Arthur Stephen Tobin says "Lets take back our streets from the drug pushers."

"Steve" Tobin is aware of the threat which drug abuse poses to the citizens of Quincy. It strikes at people in all age groups. A check of the statistics at our local district court for "1987" shows that 40% of the cases involving abuse to battered women involved some type of chemical substance abuse. Drugs are being sold and distributed throughout our neighborhoods. Tobin believes that we cannot allow the drug pushers to profit at the expense of our community. "The social effects of drug addiction are many. Families are destroyed, the safety of our police officers is threatened, crime flourishes, and people die. Drug addiction preys on the weakness of the individual.

We must enact the toughest legislation possible to protect ourselves". Much is now being considered, but little is being done. Tobin would push for the toughest legislation in the shortest time. "Drugs are big business. We must create a legal atmosphere, which makes it unprofitable for the dealers to operate. These drug distributors are not law abiding citizens, and they are not law abiding tax payers. Let's endorse the Tobin toughness plan...

Enact legislation which calls for a mandatory jail sentence for anyone found guilty of possession of drugs with the intent to distribute. Tobin says, "Lets get tough and slam the door on drug pushers".

That is why Arthur Stephen Tobin should be our next State Representative.

Timmy the finest years I ever knew were all the years I spent with you. Things will never be the same without you very sadly missed.

Your Brother, Kevin

Planning ahead can offer peace of mind...

It is only human to put things off. But proper planning for the event of one's death can spare a family many traumatic decisions and financial burdens. By pre-arranging the desires and wishes of one's funeral, burial and expenses can be specified to eliminate confusion, differences of opinion and difficult decisions on the part of family members. To ease this burden, we are making available to you FREE a booklet with all necessary information and forms to assist and guide you. Why not visit us or write for your FREE Pre-arrangement Booklet.

Booklet covers the following subjects

- Funeral and Interment Preferences
- Vital Statistics and Data
- Survivors Information, Social Security, Insurance, Bank Accounts, Real Estate, Automobile, Safety Deposit Box, Savings Bonds, Stocks and Bonds, Retirement Accounts and Veterans Benefits.
- Pre-Arrangement Information
- Three duplicate copies of a Funeral and Interment Pre-Arrangement Agreement.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

"The United States flag, which we honor and under which we serve, is the emblem of our unity, our power, our thought and purpose as a nation. It has no other character than that which we give it from generation to generation. The choices are ours. It floats in majestic silence above the hosts that execute those choices, whether in peace or in war. And yet, though silent, it speaks to us - speaks to us of the past, of the men and women who went before us, and of the records they wrote upon it. Woe to the man or group of men that seek to stand in our way in this day of high resolution, when every principle we hold dearest is to be vindicated and made secure for the salvation of the nation. We are ready to plead at the bar of history, and our flag shall wear a new luster."

Water Sampling At Beaches To Start June 14

The Quincy Health Department will begin its beach water sampling program Tuesday, June 14.

Water samples will be collected from 15 beaches and the results will be analyzed for total and fecal coliform by a certified laboratory. The samples will be taken by inspectors from the Health Department each Tuesday one to two hours before high tide until Aug. 30.

The standard used to indicate the acceptability of the beaches for swimming is a fecal coliform count of 200. This count serves merely as a fecal pollution indicator, and represents the potential for associated risk to public health.

Both total and fecal coliform counts will be listed for each beach with levels of fecal coliform of less than 200 indicating the beach is acceptable for swimming. Counts of greater than 200 are considered unacceptable for swimming.

The Health Department will not close beaches for swimming but will inform residents of the levels at each of the 15 beaches through the printed media by Friday of each week. If fecal coliform counts as reported are considered extraordinarily high (400 or greater), the city will immediately conduct a new test to verify the initial findings. In the meantime, the beach area will be listed as unsafe for swimming and the unacceptable water quality results will be posted on site.

Analyses of past water sample records indicate the potential for elevated fecal coliform counts is greatest following heavy rains. Residents are thus advised to refrain from swimming (especially around areas of storm drains) for at least one day after a heavy rain.

Contact The Quincy Health Department at 773-1380 ext. 219 about the bathing beach water sampling program.

Ray LaRue Elected

Houghs Neck Legion Commander

Ray LaRue was elected commander of the Houghs Neck Legion Post for 1988-89 at the June meeting.

Mary Timcoe will be senior vice commander and Brian Young, junior vice commander; William Morrill, adjutant; Wayne Elsmore, finance officer; Alice Scribner, Chaplain; Richard Wainwright, historian; and Robert Miller, sergeant-at-arms.

The executive board will include Robert Dolan, James Saudade, Carl Barnhill, Rico Lorenzetti, Russell Baratelli, William Barry and immediate past commander Stanley Younie, a member automatically.

Installation of officers of the post and auxiliary will be Aug. 13 at 8 p.m.

ATOMS Meeting June 16

A discussion of the upcoming election and a general rap session are on the agenda for the June 16 meeting of the Quincy chapter of the Association to Overcome Multiple Sclerosis.

The meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. at the First Church of Squantum, 164 Bellevue Rd.

The church has a wheelchair entrance at the rear.

For more information, call June Sutcliffe at 328-1371.

Pride And Responsibility

By JAMES BENT
Vo-Tech School President

The Quincy Vocational Technical School was formerly known as the Old Trade School, where those who were not perhaps academically talented were sent to give them some functional niche in society.

Well, times have changed and the image of the tradesman has been vastly improved! The school is now established to give a student many options, even more so than a conventional high school. An individual can elect to explore such varied areas as graphic arts, electronics, carpentry, and sheet metal fabrication. In addition, a student may pursue a career in culinary arts or auto mechanics. The choices are numerous and extensive.

When a student enters the Quincy Vocational Technical School, an instructor will be with him or her at every obstacle, every step of the way, showing the right procedure, explaining the process of a task and encouraging him or her to be self-reliant. In the area of plumbing, for example which is the trade I elected to study. You are first taught step by step how to make joints and connections between all types of piping materials. You are then shown the types of systems, with which these materials are used, and you explore the code to insure proper installation. A plumbing student is then asked to work on their own with minimal assistance from instructors. He or she is expected to design a plumbing system that will be cost efficient, work at maximum capacities and meet state codes. The student is then expected to prepare drawn plans for this system and install this system in such a way that it will work under any conditions and could pass a state plumbing examiners inspection. The work of designing a plumbing system involves many areas which include estimating the cost of the job, including material, labor, and conforming to the state and local plumbing codes, which is a Massachusetts law plus solving many problems along the way.

The teachers at the Vocational Technical School teach that being the best at whatever you do is what it is all about. That's what gives you the competitive edge.

After four years of hard work, determination and encouragement from your instructors you must make the choice of what you are going to do when you terminate your high school career. That's when you realize how many options you have at your disposal because you went to a vocational technical school. You were given the best of both worlds. You now have the choice to continue your education at an advanced technical school acquiring additional skills that will make you more proficient in your trade or to attend college. Because of the combination of college preparatory courses and technical skills, the student can select numerous options. If a vocational student does not choose to further education he or she may enter the world of work with a solid trade background and the confidence accumulated through four years at the Quincy Vocational Technical School.

Dr. Harold Reynolds made the statement that vocational education is one of the best kept secrets in education today. I think he was definitely correct. The sad fact is that some people still regard vocational education as inferior to college preparatory courses. I say that it is not so! This nation has functioned and always will function because of the trades people who lay her pipes, repair telephone lines and build her houses. We are the cement which holds this country together.

When I decided that I wanted to attend Quincy Vocational Technical School, I was asked countless times by teachers and friends from my old school, "Why do you want to go to that school, why don't you go to a school that you can be proud of?" I would like to say to those people today, one of the greatest days of my life the day I graduate from the Quincy Vocational Technical School, that I know I made the right choice. I can look back at the past four years and truly say it was worth it.

The vocational student is imbued with that sense of responsibility that tells him if he is going to do a job, it must be done right, it must be impressive, it must be something he or she can stand back and look at and be proud to tell the world that "I did that and I did it with my own two hands with my knowledge of this trade and I am proud to say it."

Planning The Future With The Past

By KEVIN DiCESARE
QHS Speaker

KEVIN DiCESARE

The political philosopher Thomas Paine once said, "What we obtain too cheaply we esteem too lightly; it is dearness only that gives everything its value, and it would be strange indeed if so celestial an article as freedom should not be highly rated."

Now that we are embarking on a road of uncertainties, these words should prompt us to acknowledge what we are certain of as citizens of the United States. We have opportunities in front of us that are limited only by what we allow them to be limited to, our freedom to choose our destiny rivals any other nation, and thus, it would be a crime to waste these opportunities by being passive. Our founding fathers valued their freedom to such an extent that they fought against incredible odds in order to gain their independence. And yet, the struggle for freedom was only just beginning.

Looking back in our history, we can see examples of how the ideals incorporated in the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution were implemented and upheld. The War of 1812 was caused by Britain's interference with U.S. trading and the rights of our citizens. The war lasted over two years, and this young and inexperienced country forced Britain to sign a peace treaty by winning several major naval battles. The end of the Civil War in 1865 ensured that all citizens had the same right to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness, no matter what their race might be.

The wish to see other peoples liberated was the central issue in the Spanish-American War, where the U.S. defeated Spain, thereby giving Cuba its independence. More recently, our involvement in World Wars I and II reflect a desire to assure our allies of the same rights that we possess.

However, after 200 years it is easy to forget that the battle for freedom is not over. We can look for reminders in the world beyond our borders today. The Afghan rebels and the Nicaraguan Contras are just two of the many groups who are trying to achieve now what we achieved over two centuries ago. As we know, freedom can be a controversial struggle.

What freedom also implies is the responsibility to be an individual and to excel as one. We have all seen how our freedom to be individuals has been denied in other people in history and the results that followed.

Take, for example, the dictatorship of Adolf Hitler in Nazi Germany. The German people were forced to look upon Hitler as an almost God-like figure, and any deviant from absolute loyalty to him could be subject to death. Religion was suppressed; being Jewish was lethal. In today's world too, the suppression of individualism can be seen. In the Soviet Union, people are afraid to protest because they fear repression. Getting visas to travel to different countries is difficult, and to leave permanently is almost impossible.

I have thus come to the conclusion that democracy is a great advocate of freedom and the expression of individualism. The products of our system over our brief history are numerous. Many great inventions have come from the United States: the telegraph, motion pictures, radar, the helicopter, the submarine, and the airplane, just to name a few. Our scientists have been acknowledged for their work by winning more than 80 Noble prizes in the sciences since 1950, and many more before then.

What we, as a new generation, must do is not just look back on past achievements and admire them, but rather make our own contribution to the American Dream.

The freedom we have now we may take for granted, and this is not good. Hopefully we will enjoy the untarnished liberties we have for a long time to come, but we must be prepared for anything. The same spirit that instilled George Washington and Abraham Lincoln must be present in our society so we can keep the rights that we value so dearly.

So whether you are going on to continue your education, or are entering the work force, keep in mind the great times that can lie ahead of you if you just take full advantage of the opportunities available to you.

As U.S. citizens you have a duty to keep this country strong and to show the world how successful democracy can be. Thank you, and good luck in whatever you do.

Good Luck

Quincy Community Theatre To Present 'The Firebird'

The Quincy Community Theatre will present two performances of the Bennington Puppets production of "The Firebird" Sunday, June 26 at 1 and 3 p.m. at the Milton Cinema, 558 Adams St., Milton.

The Bennington Puppets, a professional touring marionette company, delight audiences with their wonderfully costumed 30-inch high marionettes.

The Quincy Community Theatre welcomes the group back to the cinema by popular demand after their wonderful and successful production of "Ring of the Nibelung" and "The Circus."

Tickets are available now at the Milton Cinema during cinema hours and at the door June 26 for $5. Attendance will be limited to 300 persons per show.

Proceeds from previous Bennington Puppets shows went to the building of a new cinema stage.

Proceeds from the June 26 shows will go towards a live concert in July starring Ann Kenneally-Ryan with a 30-piece orchestra. Her performance will consist of many popular broadway show tunes.

For more information on this and other performances at the Milton Cinema call 698-2335.

LITTLE FLAGS, an award winning people's theatre, will present "Little Colt" for children grades one through five at the Beechwood Community Life Center, 225 Fenno St., Wollaston, on Tuesday, June 14 at 3 p.m.

Adams Family Lecture Series Dates Announced

The dates for the 1988 Lecture Series on the historic Adams family, to be held at the Adams National Historic Site, have been announced.

They will be held the week of June 20 at 11 a.m. each day.

"Child Rearing Notions of the Families of John and John Quincy" is the topic of the lecture June 20.

The speaker will be Dr. Thomas V. DiBacco, professor, The American University, Washington, D.C.

Dr. DiBacco will also deliver a lecture titled "Charles Francis Adams Jr. the Journalist and Businessman" on June 21.

"The Other Henry Adams and His Diary" is the lecture topic for June 22. Malcom Freiberg, editor of Publications Emeritus, Massachusetts Historical Society, Boston, will be the speaker.

Henry Adams, a family descendent, will give the lecture "Henry Adams and his Appreciation for Art" June 23.

On June 24, William Spawn will give the lecture "The Books in The Stone Library."

Coffee will be served at 10:30 a.m. before each lecture.

Trip To Bunker Hill Quarry June 17

The Metropolitan District Commission's Reservations and Historic Sites unit is sponsoring a trip to Bunker Hill Quarry on Bunkers Hill Day, June 17, from 10 a.m. to noon.

Metroparks naturalists from Quincy Quarries Historic Site and staff from Friends of the Blue Hills will guide participants through the landmark.

They will also describe techniques used to remove granite from the ground by transporting it to Charlestown to erect the Bunker Hill Memorial.

For more information on the Bunker Hill Day event, call 698-1802.

Children's Theatre Workshop To Present Two Plays

Children's Theatre Workshop will present "School's Out: Charlie Brown" and "Hokus Pokus" on Saturday, June 18 at 3 p.m. at the Woodward School auditorium, 1102 Hancock St., Quincy Center.

Tickets are $3 reserved and $4 at the door.

Carolyn Walter Finalist In 'Most Beautiful Eyes' Contest

Carolyn Walter of North Quincy was a finalist in the recent "Most Beautiful Eyes in Massachusetts" contest to benefit the National Society to Prevent Blindness.

Proceeds from the event will help support the society's programs of research, public and professional education, and community service. The first place winner will go on to compete in the national finals in Chicago in September.

Entrants were asked to submit a photograph best displaying their "beautiful eyes" and a panel of judges selected the seven finalists from among the many entries.

CAROLYN WALTER

Sponsors of the event included Rix Dunnington Super Drug Stores, WRKO's Dick Swatt, American Airlines and The Place Entertainment Complex in Saugus.

Founded in 1908, the National Society to Prevent Blindness is the nation's oldest voluntary health agency dedicated to the preservation of sight.

For information send a self-addressed stamped envelope to "Prevent Blindness," 375 Concord Ave., Belmont, MA 02178.

Final Rummage Sale At Mite Box Thrift Shop

The Mite Box Thrift Shop of St. Chrysostom's Church will hold the last rummage sale of the season Wednesday, June 15 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The shop will close for the summer and reopen Wednesday, Sept. 7 for the fall season.

TV Council To Meet

The Quincy Community Television Council will meet Thursday, June 16 at 7 p.m. in the community television offices, 81 School St., Quincy.

Youth Soccer Centennial Tournament On Sunday

The Quincy Youth Soccer League will hold a City of Quincy Centennial Tournament Sunday as part of a city's 100th birthday as a city. All games will be played at the varsity soccer field on Southern Artery behind Veterans Memorial Stadium. Games will start at 9 a.m. and will be played continuously until 5 p.m. when awards will be made to the winning teams in each division.

Quincy, Bridgewater and Brockton will compete in the girls under 16 division and Quincy, Braintree and Weymouth in the boys under 19 division.

Bob Dano, who coaches the Quincy girls' team, said "This tournament, with closely-matched teams, is a great way to finish the season.

Boys' coach John Murphy said "The tournament provides a good chance for the league's younger players to see competitive soccer with well-skilled teams.

The public is invited to watch and help the league celebrate the city's centennial. Admission is free.

City Government Address On 'Cable Talk'

This week's "Cable Talk" program on Quincy Community Television will kick off cable television's coverage of Quincy's Centennial Celebration with an address by Mayor Francis McCauley on the 100 years of city government.

The mayor's speech was given recently at the Quincy Historical Society at their monthly meeting.

Program host John Noonan also asked McCauley about the upcoming city celebration on Sunday, June 19.

"Cable Talk" can be seen Thursday at 8 p.m. on Channel 3 in Quincy, Milton and Randolph. Please note the special starting time.

Communications Club Schedules Meetings

The Quincy International Training in Communication Club will meet June 22 and July 13 at 7:30 p.m. at the Atlantic Neighborhood Club, North Quincy.

A special meeting of ITC members and Mayor Francis McCauley will meet June 25 at 10:30 a.m. at Quincy City Hall Plaza and release balloons to designate the 50th anniversary of ITC.

McCauley will also proclaim ITC Quincy Club Day in the city of Quincy.

For more information call 331-5744.

Advance Testing For Instructional Swimming Program

The Quincy Recreation Department will conduct an advance testing program for its summer instructional swimming program at Lincoln Hancock Community School pool Friday, June 10 from 5:30 p.m. to 8 p.m.

The pre-requisite swim test for boating and sailing will also be at this time.

The program is for persons who are unsure of their child's swimming ability, and who previously have not been enrolled in swim lessons.

Registration for classes will be done later this month according to the child's ability.

Pool lessons are open to Quincy residents age six through 16 who have a current pool participation card issued by the Quincy Recreation Department.

Children one through five are eligible for parent and tots lessons.

Anyone desiring lessons at beach locations need not attend testing as it will be done by beach instructors at the time of registration.

For more information call 773-1380 ext. 204.

Legion Baseball Underway

By TOM SULLIVAN

The Zone 6 American Legion baseball season got under way this week with Morrisette, Quincy and Wollaston posts again competing.

Morrisette, which finished second behind Milton last year and was eliminated in a tough three-game series with Mass. Fire of Weymouth, will open Friday night against Wollaston at Adams Field at 8 p.m. It will play at Milton Monday at 6 p.m. and will host always powerful Braintree next Wednesday at 8 at Adams.

Quincy, which had its best season in 10 years last summer, opened against Holbrook Tuesday night and will play at Randolph Friday at 6.

Morrisette, coached by Dave Perdios, is returning nine starters but Perdios feels that they will go only as far as their pitching will take them.

The pitching staff is headed by southpaw Wayne Chambers, having a fine year with Quincy High after an excellent 1987 season. Also back is Dan Overby and if his arm is healthy, he could be the key to a successful season. Jim Brillo, who was impressive in brief appearances last year, is also back.

Rounding out the staff are Ron Kistel and Kevin MacDougall and Eric DeBoer, both of whom pitched some excellent ball this spring for North Quincy High.

Back for his third season behind the plate is Bob McDonald, an excellent defensive catcher with the potential to hit with power and he is backed up by Quincy High's Brian Taylor.

Three starters return in the infield, second baseman Mike Mullaney, hard-hitting shortstop Dan Biagini and third baseman Ron Fletcher. Biagini was Quincy High's top hitter and his grand slam homer and five RBI led Quincy past Natick in the opening round of the Eastern Mass. tournament.

DeBoer, Jim Ross and Jeff Calvert are battling it out for the first base position and Tony Anderlionis and Rob Cinquegrano are backup infielders.

In the outfield Quincy High's Eddie Flavin and North Quincy's Billy MacDougall are returning starters. Right field is up for grabs with Kevin MacDougall and Jim Glynn, both of North Quincy, looking good.

Along with Perdios, former coach Ray Cattaneo is back as manager. Athletic officer and chief fund raiser Frank Osborne is back as is Richard 'Berger' Ryan, statistician and publicity man.

Former Morrisette pitcher Jack Outerbridge has been added to the coaching staff.

Quincy, coached by Ed Spring and Dick Laracy, lost six players from last year and Kevin Duffy and Joe Gately have decided not to play due to other commitments.

For the first time in years Quincy has an abundance of quality pitchers. Robbie Higgins, who pitched this spring for the University of Maine, leads the staff. He is joined by Jim Dennis, Quincy High's top pitcher this season; Sean Mulkern, a 16-year-old starter from Abp. Williams; Quincy High's Joe Taylor, and 16-year-old Peter McLaughlin, a standout for the B.C. High junior varsity. Also seeing action will be Jim Kerns, who pitched some and started in right field for Abp. Williams; Quincy High's Nick Dragone, who hit two home runs out of Adams Field in a win over North Quincy, and Mike Connor, an Abp. Williams jayvee.

Bill Mulkern of Williams and Mike Toland of B.C. High will handle the catching chores. Both will be at other spots when not catching. Another promising catcher is 16-year-old Dan Ryan.

Sean Gately will be at first base and can also play third and catch. Dragone will start at second base and will move to third when Gately plays first and Higgins will play second. Jim Kerns will be at shortstop backed up by 16-year-old Kevin Daley, who was a B.C. High jayvee and is one of the best fielders coming out of the Babe Ruth League. North Quincy's Tim Baker, with probably the best arm on the team, will see a good deal of action in the infield.

Spring and Laracy are happy with the abundance of fine infielders and having to find a place to play them. Defensively Quincy is three deep at every position. McLaughlin is also a fine third baseman.

Speedy Paul McLellan of Williams is the left fielder and Peter Tufts will be in center. Dennis, a fine clutch hitter, will play right when not pitching. Last season Tufts hit a 400-foot homer out of Adams Field.

Rounding out the roster are two 16-year-old players, Chris Beatrice of Quincy High and Greg Clifford, a power-hitting infielder-catcher from Williams.

"Our potential shows the results of a building program started three years ago by Ed Spring and myself," said Laracy. "The big problem will be keeping everyone happy with playing time. We won't keep a player on the squad who we would be afraid to put in a game at any given time."

Spring and Laracy thank the sponsors who took out ads in the program, without which Quincy would not be able to field a team.

Sheriffs Ride To 2 Upset Wins

The young Quincy Sheriffs, who have had tough sledding in the strong Budweiser-Cranberry Baseball League, last week upset two of the league's top teams to improve to 3-5.

The Sheriffs defeated previously unbeaten Brockton, 4-3, as Brian Griffin pitched two scoreless innings to earn the win in relief.

Trailing, 3-2, in the bottom of the ninth, Quincy scored twice on RBI singles by Jack Card and Mark Chambers.

Bobby Whalen pitched a seven-hitter and struck out five as the Sheriffs upset the Braintree White Sox, 8-5.

Rob Parsons was 2-for-4 with two RBI. Quincy trailed, 5-4, in the sixth inning but scored three runs for a 7-5 lead. Two runs scored on Rick Doyle's double.

• Babe Ruth League

Baylis Hurls Perfect Game

Mike Baylis, making his first start of the season, pitched a perfect game as the Firemen blanked Granite City Electric, 4-0, in the Quincy Babe Ruth League.

Baylis struck out 15 as Granite City failed to have a base runner. It was his first day of eligibility following the high school season.

Jim Mahoney, Bill Eddy and Dewey Holmes drove in runs as Holmes had three hits. Baylis two and J.J. Snabel one for the Firemen. Mark Portesi made an excellent catch in center field.

Dave Gamsby pitched a good game for Granite City giving up six hits.

Bryan Post had a big week with three victories, blanking the Firemen, 9-0, behind the outstanding pitching of Steven Loud.

Michael Malvesti had two hits, Mark Kelleher and Don Anderson had doubles and Steven Waas, Kevin Mullay, Chris Stenman and Paul Murphy had singles. Kelleher, Anderson and Rob Kane played excellent defense. Baylis had two singles for the firemen.

Bryan Post defeated Barry's Deli, 9-5, with Malvesti striking out eight.

Malvesti led the attack with three hits. Waas doubled and singled and Mullay and Terry Sheehan each had two hits. Kane, Loud, Marnikovic, Phil Bell and Tom Nutley had singles and Todd Poresi played well in the outfield. Denny MacLean and Mike Conner led Barry's offense.

Bryan also edged Granite City Electric, 6-5, as Marnikovic struck out 11.

Bryan led, 5-1, but Granite City rallied to tie the score in the sixth inning. Andy Colleary opened the Granite City seventh with a long triple but was left stranded as shortstop Waas made an outstanding catch of a line drive and Marnikovic bore down and struck out the next two batters.

In the bottom of the seventh Kane and Loud singled and Waas drove in the winning run with a long sacrifice fly.

Loud had two hits and Marnikovic, Mullay and Stenman had singles. Kelleher played another excellent game behind the plate.

Colleary and Vin Anderlionis had two hits for Granite City. Anderlionis pitched well with eight strikeouts.

Summer Basketball Registration At YMCA

The South Shore YMCA, 79 Coddington St., is currently taking registrations for its 1988 summer basketball season.

The season runs for eight weeks. The league will meet on Tuesdays at 6, 7, 8, and 9 p.m. starting June 28. The final meeting will be August 22.

Teams will be limited. For more information, call 479-8500.

James McIntyre Memorial Scholarship Golf Tourney June 27

The first annual James R. McIntyre Memorial Scholarship Golf Tournament will be held Monday, June 27 at the Wollaston Golf Club in Milton.

The tournament will include a full day of activities including golf, tennis and swimming and will serve as the primary fundraising activity for the McIntyre Scholarship Fund.

"This past year two scholarships will be given in memory of our friend, Jim McIntyre," said Committee Chairman Carl Johnson. "We hope to do even better this year with your help."

All participants will receive green fees, golf carts, prizes, and a steak dinner. Tickets are $150 per person.

Golfers who score a "hole in one" on a par 3 hole will win a new car.

A giant drawing following the dinner will include a weekend for two in Bermuda.

Those wishing not to play golf may attend the dinner for $25. Dinner will be served at 7 p.m. and the drawing will follow.

Seamans To Run 100 Mile Endurance Race

Bob Seamans, veteran Quincy marathon runner, will compete for the third year in a row in the 100-mile Same Day Western states endurance run on June 25.

He is being sponsored by South Boston Savings Bank.

The race starts at Squaw Mountain, Calif., and ends at Auburn, Calif.

The race is one of the most physically taxing events in the world and participation in it presents numerous risks. It is the 'ultimate challenge' for the long distance runner.

The run covers difficult mountainous terrain and spans great extremes of altitude and temperature, ranging from 20 degrees at the start to temperatures along the course that exceed 110 degrees in the shade. Much of the trail is narrow and is often uneven, rutted, rocky, muddy, wet, dusty, slippery, or all of them.

Many sections of the race course are along the edge of very steep or vertical drop-offs, extending in some cases, for hundreds of feet. Much or even all of the first 15 to 30 miles may be run on snow in the high country.

BOB SEAMANS

Rattlesnakes, bears and other potentially hazardous forms of wildlife inhabit this race trail and have surprised runners in the past. Seamans will be running many miles in the dark of night with only a flashlight to light his way on the mountain trails.

A runner must finish the 100 miles in 30 hours and when race officials see a runner won't finish on time, he is pulled from the race.

Seamans ran 47 miles last year before his water supply ran out in 114 degree temperatures. Less than 150 of the 400 starters finished. Two years ago Bob ran 57 miles and is determined to go all the way this month.

To qualify a runner must run a 50-mile race and finish inside of 10 hours and Seamans fulfilled this requirement. He finished in seven hours.

It is estimated that the average runner who does complete the 100 miles, burns up 32,000 calories and loses 50 pounds of water.

Seamans, who was 1980 masters 50-mile champion and has competed in 100 full 26.2 marathons and numerous 50-mile races, is also running this year to help the Sunset Point Vacation Camp in Hull.

People are urged to pledge money for every mile Seamans runs. Every penny will go the Sunset Point Camp, a summer camp for needy children of all races and colors operated by the Catholic Charitable Bureau of Boston.

Checks should be made payable to Sunset Point Vacation Camp Run, and sent to the camp in Hull, 02045.

Quincy Upsets Natick In Tourney 11-9

By TOM SULLIVAN

Quincy's baseball team, after missing a tournament berth by a single win each of the past two years, finally qualified for the Division 1 South Sectionals of the Eastern Mass. Tournament by winning three of its last four games and proceeded to pull one of the big upsets of the first round with an 11-9 victory over Natick last Saturday.

Quincy, making only the school's second tournament appearance in 20 years, was the 14th and last seeded team in the South Sectionals with a 12-8 record. Natick, a perennial Bay State League contender and tournament entrant, was seeded third behind Barnstable and Braintree with a 16-4 mark.

The Presidents faced Suburban League rival Brockton Tuesday at Brockton after beating the Boxers twice during the regular season. If they got by that game they played the Braintree-Durfee winner yesterday (Wednesday) in the semifinals and the survivor of that game will meet the Weymouth-South Barnstable-Bridgewater-Raynham-Norwood winner in the championship game Saturday at 1 p.m. at Rockland Memorial Field.

"Obviously, this is a big boost for our program," said happy Quincy coach Bob Sylvia following the win at Natick. "Natick has a tremendous baseball tradition, but we weren't intimidated. We play in a very tough league and teams aren't going to surprise us.

"It is going to be tough playing Brockton for a third time. Too many times a team beaten twice during the season will come through and win the third meeting. The law of averages will be against us, but if we play our game, we should be all right." Brockton ran roughshod over Taunton, 23-5, in its tourney opener.

Dan Biagini was the Presidents' big gun at Natick, going 3-for-4 with five runs batted in, including a grand slam home run over the right-center field fence in the fifth inning to snap a 2-2 tie.

He also played a prominent role in the seventh after Natick had tied it at 6-6 in the sixth. He started off the three-run inning with a walk and scored the tie-breaking run on Greg Chambers' single.

Quincy added one in the eighth on Biagini's RBI double and one in the ninth. Natick fought back with three runs in the bottom of the ninth on three singles and two walks.

Wayne Chambers started pitching for Quincy and was relieved by Jimmy Dennis, the Presidents' leading pitcher with an 8-2 record. Dennis put the fire out on a pop up.

"We decided Jimmy might be our best bet to tie this one down for us," said Sylvia.

After Natick tied it, Quincy added three runs in the top of the seventh. After Biagini and Sean Thompson walked, Greg Chambers and Scott Logan hit back-to-back singles with Chambers scoring on a bobbled relay throw.

Biagini drove in Nick Dragone with a double in the eighth and in the ninth Chambers scored on a dropped fly to right.

Natick came back with three but Dennis retired the side to seal the victory.

Quincy had no easy task in qualifying for the tournament as it was held to two hits by North Quincy sophomore Eric DeBoer but squeezed out a 2-1 victory in the final game of the season.

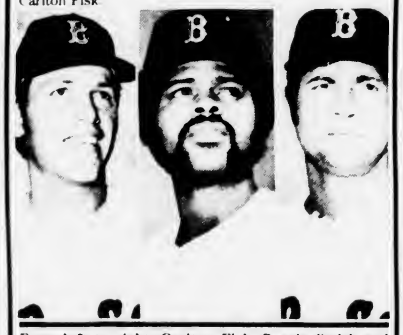
It was another heartbreaking loss for the Raiders, who finished 3-17 but lost nine one-run games, including three in extra innings. The Presidents just made the tourney with a 12-8 record.

The heroes for Quincy were pitcher Wayne Chambers, who pitched three-hit ball and whose 3-4 record was deceiving, as he pitched several excellent games, and first baseman Scott Logan, whose two-run single up the middle in the bottom of the sixth gave Quincy the cherished win. Chambers struck out five and walked only one.

DeBoer, who pitched some fine games despite winning only once, walked two batters and hit one to fill the bases in the sixth, setting the stage for Logan's game-winning hit. The sophomore, who should have an excellent season next year, struck out seven.

North had taken a 1-0 lead in the top of the inning when Billy MacDougall singled, advanced on two fielder's choices and scored on Mike Walsh's dribbler down the third base line.

"Making the tournament is the high point of a very exciting season," said Sylvia. "It would have been a tragedy for us not to make it after playing so well, especially after missing out the last two years by a single win. I feel we really deserve to be in the tournament.



"Wayne pitched awfully well and kept us in the game until we could get some runs across. He had a much better year than his record indicates. And nobody deserves a moment of glory more than Scotty (Logan) does. He works very hard every single day, whether in practice or in a game. Now he can tell his grandchildren that his hit put Quincy in the tournament."

"Quincy deserves to be in the tournament and I'm glad to see them make it," said North Quincy coach Teo Donovan. "This loss was just typical of our entire season. The kids played hard all year and deserved better. With experience, those losses will become victories. We are young and had only two seniors, so we have something to look forward to."

Quincy Defeats Brookline Twice

The Quincy girls' softball team, following its second win over North Quincy for its first city championship in several years, won two of three games last week, making its record 8-9.

The First Ladies started off the week with a 15-6 victory over Brookline, with Sue Cullen, Diane Heenes and Christine Barrett, the Suburban League's top hitter, combining for nine runs batted in.

Donna Dean had two RBI and Nicky Manton went 3-for-4 as Quincy raced out to an 11-0 lead. Marian Miller was the winning pitcher, giving up nine hits, striking out five and walking four.

Quincy followed up with a 14-13 decision in extra innings over the same team in the makeup of a rained out game.

Pinch runner Trina Furbish scored the winning run in the top of the eighth inning on a passed ball and two throwing errors.

Furbish ran for Aileen Donahue, who had reached on a fielder's choice but sprained her ankle. Miller pitched the last four innings and gave up six hits and six runs.

Heenes went 3 for 5 with four RBI, including a base clearing double in a seven-run second inning. Barrett, Amy Baker, Deane and Jane McMakin each had two hits.

The First Ladies lost to Brockton, 4-2, with Manton going 2 for 3, driving in a run and scoring the other.

Manton singled, went to third on an infield error and scored on a double steal to give Quincy a 1-0 lead in the first inning. Brockton tied it in the second but Quincy went ahead in the fifth when Barrett singled, stole second, took third on an infield out and scored on Manton's suicide squeeze.

Brockton won it with three runs in its half of the fifth.

Giants Win 2, Move To Top Tie

The Giants moved into a top tie in the Junior Farm League with victories over the Indians and Mets during the past week.

The Giants defeated the Indians, 7-5, with Capt. Eric Strauss, Co-Capt. Mike Nantel and Kevin Sullivan leading the attack. Justin Stavros hit a base-clearing triple and Co-Capt. Robbie Pirelli drove in the winning run with a single.

Pirelli and Justin Stavros went 2-for-2 and Shawn Manning, John Laukkanen, Pat Coughlin, Timmy Hunter and Paul Conroy played strong defense.

Chuck Feeley pitched his best game and Pirelli and Strauss pitched well in relief.

The Giants pounded out 15 hits to top the Mets, 12-7, with Pirelli, Feeley and Stavros sharing the pitching.

Stavros hit two long triples and Nantel hit a towering home run that proved to be the game-winner. Strauss, Feeley, Sullivan, Hunter, Laukkanen, Mike O'Neill and Chris Carthas all had key hits and Coughlin, Manning, Conroy, Jeurik Samborski and Pat McGann played excellent defense.

The Braves defeated the Red Sox, 8-6, despite being held to four hits by John Manning. Errors and walks led to the Braves' win. Paul Marnikovic was the winning pitcher and struck out 15.

A five-run third inning led by Marnikovic, Mike Adams and Todd Sullivan, proved to be enough for the win. Sullivan and Adams made outstanding defensive plays.

Kevin Sullivan had three hits for the Sox and Mark Kelly and Eric Sullivan played strong defense.

In their previous game the Braves topped the Pirates, 5-1, behind the five-hit pitching of Adams, who struck out 11.

Marnikovic went 3-for-3 and James Crowley 2-for-2 with two RBI. Adams, Marnikovic and Mike Martin made outstanding catches for the Braves.

For the Pirates Steve Verlicco and Steve Rose played well and John Greene had six assists. Joe Carr had two hits.

Mike Doyle pitched a two-hitter and struck out 16 as the Tigers blanked the Yankees, 6-0. Eric Wirts was the losing pitcher.

The Tigers started off with five runs in the first but Wirtz settled down to allow only one more run. He gave up seven hits and struck out 13.

Timmy Sheehan, Brenda Linehan and Doyle showed good patience at the plate, drawing six walks between them.

The Tigers scored three runs in the fifth to overcome a 5-4 deficit and edge the Angels, 7-6.

Brian Shields was the winning pitcher as the Tigers again took advantage of walks to score four runs in the first. The Angels came back with three in the second and two in the third for a 5-4 lead. In the Tiger fifth Brian O'Connell had a two-run triple and John Haddad singled in the winning run. The Angels scored a run in the top of the sixth but a heads-up double play by first baseman O'Connell halted the threat. Mark Stanton and Robbie Churchill played strong defense for the Tigers.

Quincy Firemen Memorial Exercises Sunday

The annual Memorial Exercises of the Quincy Firemen's Relief Association will be held Sunday, June 12 at 10:30 a.m. at the Quincy Firemen's Monument in Mount Wollaston Cemetery.

Participants at the exercise for Quincy's deceased firefighters will be Chief Carl Valenti, President Angelo DelCreco, Vice President Noel Balducci, Treasurer Harold Shedd and Secretary John Bille.

In the event of inclement weather, the program will be conducted at the George F. Bryan V.F.W. Post, 24 Broad St., Quincy.

City Urges Spectacle Island For Residual Treatment Plant

A resolution urging the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority to use Spectacle Island as a long-term residual treatment plant will be presented by Quincy Public Works Commr. Paul Anderson at a public hearing Thursday, June 9 at 7:30 p.m. at Boston City Hall.

The resolution, introduced at Monday's City Council meeting by Ward 1 Councillor Michael Cheney, states:

"The City Council of the City of Quincy supports the use of Spectacle Island for composting of residuals, as well as landfilling of grits, screenings and a substance known as scum and that the City Council of the City of Quincy encourages the Secretary of Transportation (Fred Salvucci) and the Executive Director of the M.W.R.A. (Paul Levy) to coordinate their respective construction projects so as to utilize Spectacle Island for both the construction of the Third Harbor Tunnel and the depression of the Central Artery, for the disposal of excavation material and the construction of a residuals management composting facility."

Anderson will be representing Mayor Francis McCauley, who will be away on business. The mayor said he supports the resolution, adding, "it's the most logical choice."

Anderson is Quincy's representative on the M.W.R.A. board.

Cheney said the Spectacle Island site is significant to Quincy in that it would eliminate the city as a possible long-term treatment facility.

He encourages Quincy residents to voice their support for Spectacle Island as a long-term site at the hearing and also at a one-hour rally to be held prior to the hearing Thursday at 6:30 p.m. at Boston City Hall Plaza.

The 97-acre island, located in Boston harbor, is in close proximity to Deer Island, the location selected for the new M.W.R.A.'s sewerage treatment facility, Cheney said.

"The transportation of residuals can easily be achieved through barging or the installation of an underground pipe conveyance system," he said.

According to Cheney, this "one-time precious island" has been destroyed by its historical uses, such as the location for a rendering plant for diseased horses, a garbage reclaiming plant, and a dump where garbage of varying types has been landfilled, creating a mountain of garbage up to 75 feet in height.

"This island is known by some environmentalists as the second largest source of pollution to Boston Harbor," Cheney said.

Recycling Committee To Meet Friday

The Quincy Recycling Committee will meet Friday, June 10 at 8 a.m. in the second floor conference room of New City Hall, announces Councillor Larry Chretien, chairman.

Centennial Celebration On 16 Housing Start

By RUTH WAINWRIGHT

The city of Quincy's Centennial Celebration marking 100 years as a city, officially opens Sunday at 1:30 p.m. at the McIntyre Mall at City Hall.

Featured will be the planting of a tree and centennial marker, the introduction of a woman two years old when the town became a city, announcement of Quincy's "Centennial Baby" born June 1, and a band concert by Baron Hugo from 2 to 4 p.m. Interspersed will be the cutting at 2:30 p.m. of a huge birthday cake prepared by Montilio's of Quincy.

Mrs. Rose Drohan of Presidential Convalescent Home in Wollaston, 102 years old, was born in Boston and has lived 80 years in Quincy where she raised two children and worked as a secretary. She is alert, active and well liked at the nursing home where she has lived for 19 years.

An Interfaith Service of Thanksgiving at United First Parish Church in Quincy Sq. at 4 p.m. will follow. Rev. Sheldon W. Bennett, minister of the Church of the Presidents, will give the invocation. Rev. Cornelius J. Heery, pastor of Sacred Heart Church will offer a prayer of thanksgiving, and the benediction will be bestowed by Imam Talal Eid of the Islamic Center of New England located in Quincy.

The Quincy Choral Society, directed by Brian O'Connell and accompanied by Carla Errichiello, will provide patriotic selections: "Battle Hymn of the Republic," "Let Freedom Ring," "Give Me Your Tired, Your Poor," "This is My Country," and "Let There Be Peace On Earth."

Refreshments will be served in the church reception area following the service.

Meet Caitlin Marie Kelly

She Is Quincy's Centennial Baby

Caitlin Marie Kelly, a 6-pound, 9-ounce baby girl, became an instant celebrity when she was born Sunday at Quincy City Hospital.

She is Quincy's Centennial Baby born the day after Quincy officially became a 100 years old city on June 11.

A special celebration was held at Quincy City Hospital Monday for the first child of Susan and Frank Kelly, of 81 Emerald St., Quincy.

She will be a guest of honor Sunday at the ceremonies ushering in the seven-month celebration planned by the Quincy Centennial Committee to mark the transition from a town to a city.

Attending the celebration at Quincy City Hospital were her great-grandmother Katherine Kelly, grandparents Arthur and Sandra Bouffard, and of course her parents, Frank and Susan Kelly.

The city of Quincy was represented officially by Council President Patricia Toland, representing Mayor Frances McCauley who was attending a mayor's convention. Doris Oberg, vice president of the Quincy Historical Society, represented the Centennial Committee.

Well wishes and gifts poured in from the community, including a balloon bouquet from Balloons and Stuff and a floral display of Clifford's Flowers, both of Quincy. A Centennial Baby cake was donated by Whitey's Bakery of Weymouth.

Tuesday, mother and baby returned home in comfort and style, courtesy of Custom Limousine Service of Quincy.

Affordable Housing Need Stressed At Public Hearing

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

The city's two consultants for promoting affordable housing in Quincy were questioned by city councillors and residents during a two-hour public hearing at City Hall Monday night.

Among the issues discussed were inclusionary zoning, linkage and accessory apartments.

About 60 residents and eight city councillors gathered to hear an update by Robert Catineau and Rolf Goetz of Connery Associates, the city's hired housing consultants.

Although some had different opinions, virtually all present agreed something must be done to promote affordable housing in Quincy.

Figures presented by the consultants show that nearly one in four of Quincy's 37,200 households is "becoming severely stressed by the current housing situation."

According to the consultants, to meet Quincy's emerging needs over the next decade, the city needs to create, identify or acquire 5,700 more units, for a total stock of 8,700 units of affordable housing, including 3,700 dwellings suited for non-elderly household and 5,000 for elderly.

The consultants said a median-valued home in Quincy this year costs $160,000 and requires an annual household income of $60,000 to cover the $32,000 downpayment and $1,200 monthly mortgage.

The same house cost $44,000 and required a $21,600 annual income to purchase the home in 1980, according to the consultants.

Of the three concepts, Catineau and Goetz agreed that linkage was the best option for Quincy.

"We feel that linkage is one of the most important concepts available," said Catineau. "Linkage is really the way to go," he said, adding "I think we've looked at all the options."

However, several councillors expressed caution against the options presented by the consultants.

"Stacking units and clustering just doesn't make a lot of sense to me," said Ward 1 City Councillor Michael Cheney.

"The City Council would be doing a 180 degree turn if we went back and changed all the zoning ordinances," he said, recalling some zoning ordinances were revised about a year ago as a "result of encroachment of the neighborhoods."

Councillor Stephen McGrath echoed Cheney's remarks. "The (zoning) pendulum seems to be going the other way."

Ward 6 Councillor Thomas Nutley praised the work of the consultants.

"I think they're doing a marvelous job. They have accepted the (hiring) contract to write up a draft and list (affordable housing) options."

"Quincy has done much. We're proud of it and we want to do more. We want to balance things out," he said.

"We have to proceed very slowly. The quality of life is paramount in Quincy," Nutley said, calling affordable housing a "very sensitive issue."

"It's not our job to sit here and worry about the next election," he concluded.

Ward 2 Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro said, "I am pleased with what we have accomplished in the areas of affordable housing. We will continue to work as hard as we can to upgrade the quality of affordable housing.

"The neighborhoods should be preserved," he said.

Councillor Timothy Cahill said, "We have to take a strong stand of this issue regardless of how it will hurt us politically.

"I have no intentions to disrupt any neighborhoods. I don't want to see us put this issue off. I want to see us deal with it with whatever it takes," Cahill said.

"We have to be creative as possible," he added.

Rosemary Wahlberg, chairman of the Quincy Housing Authority, said, "We have to be sympathetic and understanding to the changes (in Quincy). Think about creating additional units."

'Hurricane Janice' To Hit Here Thursday

It's the return of Hurricane (exercise) Janice.

Janice II, a full scale, state-wide hurricane drill, will hit Quincy June 16 to test the city's preparedness as part of Massachusetts Hurricane Awareness Week, June 13 through 17.

All Civil Defense personnel, along with seconds in command, will participate in the exercise which will likewise involve the police and fire departments, rescue, emergency medical services, shelter, communications, underwater recovery, transportation, radiological, and Civil Air Patrol personnel.

The emergency operating center at 55 Sea St. will be fully activated starting at noon.

Simulation runs will start at noon with all cruisers, fire and rescue trucks, CAP vehicles, and the dive truck in action.

Federal Emergency Management Agency officials from Washington, D.C., will also be in attendance.

Hurricanes are most apt to strike between June and November. Therefore, the week of June 13 was named Hurricane Awareness Week by Gov. Michael S. Dukakis to ensure the education of citizens and public officials.

Water Tanks Demolition To Start June 20

Mayor Francis McCauley announces the long awaited demolition of the Hough's Neck and Squantum water storage tanks is scheduled to begin Monday, June 20.

McCauley recently awarded an $80,000 contract to the James I. Grant Company of Readville, to remove the two structures.

Representatives of the company recently met with Deputy Public Works Commissioner David Colton, Deputy Fire Chief Frank O'Hare, Police Lt. Norman Goyette and representatives of the Boston engineering firm Camp, Dresser and McKee, who will inspect the demolition work. Grant said they will demolish the tanks using cutting torches and a heavy crane.

Work will proceed daily--depending on wind conditions--from 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. and the sites will be clear of any hazard at the end of each work day.

Work will begin in Houghs Neck, with each tank demolition taking approximately five working days to complete. All work at the site, including the grading of the land will be completed before moving to the next tank.

McCauley thanked the City Council, particularly councillors Michael Cheney and Thomas Nutley, for acting quickly on the appropriation of the money for this project. Both Cheney and Nutley, along with Colton, have met with members of each community to address concerns.

All comments received have been taken into account.

No decision as to the future use of either site has been made.

Input from the community will be sought by the mayor and councillors before any decision is made.

Toland Opposes MWRA Germantown Sewer Line Plans

City Council President and candidate for state representative Patricia Toland announces her opposition to the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority's plans for Germantown.

Toland has been handing out fliers and talking to her constituents about MWRA's proposed plans for a new sewer line in Germantown for the Braintree-Weymouth pumping station.

She says the MWRA is proposing to tear up either Palmer St. or Doane St. in Germantown instead of building a deep rock tunnel which would have less of an impact on the Germantown residents and the marshlands.

The plans for the deep rock tunnel were discarded as being too expensive.

"Can you believe that the same agency that is willing to spend $6 billion to clean up Boston Harbor isn't willing to spend $25 to $30 million to save an entire neighborhood?" Toland says in her flier. "Is it worth pinching pennies on this project? My answer is no."

Germantown, she says, will get a strong advocate on this issue if she's elected representative. Less than 10 percent of the sewage going through the pipe would be Quincy's.

"Clearly," she says, "it is just plain unfair to ruin Germantown for the purpose of carrying sewage from Braintree, Weymouth, et al."

RR Restoration Runs Into Heavy Opposition

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

The project manager for the MBTA's proposed Old Colony rail restoration drew heavy opposition from state representatives, city councillors and residents at a two-hour public hearing Monday night in City Hall.

"Quincy is being asked to take too much," said Ward 6 Councillor Thomas Nutley, chairman of the Public Transportation Committee. "You just can't push a commuter rail right through the middle of this heavily populated area.

"I ask you to seriously consider halting the project," Nutley told Stephen Polechronis, the MBTA's project manager for the rail restoration.

"I think it would be wise to halt this project," he added.

The hearing was held to update councillors and residents on the project. About 25 residents and eight councillors attended the hearing.

Rep. Robert Cerasoli (D-Quincy) and Rep. Robert Ambler (D-Weymouth) also attended and spoke in opposition to the project.

The restoration proposal includes three commuter train rails in the Quincy-South Shore area. All three rails would funnel through Quincy and Braintree and end in Boston. At Braintree, the line would diverge into three separate lines.

Pointing south, one line would go through the Whitman-Kingston-Plymouth area, a second would travel through Middleboro and Brockton and a third would go through Braintree, Hingham, Scituate and Cohasset.

Many councillors agreed that the restoration would not benefit Quincy since the train would be filled with riders before it reached the city.

"We have nothing to gain, not a thing," said Ward 4 Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro. "We'll stick to our guns and keep opposing it," he said, referring to a council resolve that opposes the proposal.

Polechronis estimated the cost for the three rails to be $391 million. However, several councillors, as well as the state representatives in attendance, said the cost would be much greater.

"I think it will cost $600 million, maybe a billion dollars, to restore it," said Cerasoli.

Nutley agreed that the restoration would be more likely to cost between $600 and $800 million.

Furthermore, there is no commitment by the federal government to fund any portion of the restoration, Nutley said, who added the funding is a bond issue.

"Bond issues are no free lunches," he said. "They gave to be paid and paid by the people."

Polechronis acknowledged the $391 million restoration figure, adding it includes building a new bridge over the Neponset River as well as rail surfacing along the three lines.

Other aspects of the rail project discussed included noise and air pollution, transporting freight, as well as parking and traffic impact in the area.

According to Polechronis, by the year 2000, the three-line service would carry between 13,000 and 15,000 riders into Boston per day, greatly reducing the number of cars on the Southeast Expressway.

However, some councillors doubted the rail service would free up the congested expressway. "The moment there's an opening for a car, another car will fill it," Nutley said.

Cerasoli added that Boston will continue to grow and "cars taken off the road to ride the rail will be replaced by more cars."

"I don't see this as serving a purpose," Cerasoli said, drawing applause from residents.

Another issue raised was the comamuter rail frequency. According to Polechronis, trains would start running at 6 a.m. and continue no later than 11:30 p.m. During the morning commute, three trains would run every half hour with less running the remainder of the day.

There would be 22 station sites along the three rail routes.

Many councillors also expressed concern over noise and vibration impact of trains moving through Quincy neighborhoods.

Ward 5 Councillor Charles Phelan, who said he mailed out forms asking his constituents for feedback on the commuter rail proposal, said "A lot of them express great concern about the noise level along the tracks.

DeCristofaro Requests Police Call Box At Adams, Pageant Fields

Ward 2 Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro has requested Police Chief Francis Finn to install a police call box in the area of Adams and Pageant Field.

DeCristofaro stated: "There have been numerous situations that could have had serious results because of the distance it is necessary to travel to call for assistance. I was at Adams Field recently when a youngster was injured and it was necessary for someone to drive up to Hancock St. to make a call.

"Fortunately, the youngster's injuries were not as serious as anticipated," he said.

DeCristofaro said the safety of young people is a very important reason and the call box could very well be a life-saving request for this area.

Dukakis Promises Mayors All-Out War On Drugs

(Special to The Quincy Sun)
By FRANCIS X. McCAULEY
Mayor of Quincy

SALT LAKE CITY -- Governor Michael Dukakis told the delegation at the U.S. Conference of Mayors here that he promises "an all out war on drugs if elected president."

Governor Dukakis, who has won the necessary 2,081 delegates to become the Democratic nominee for president, spoke at a luncheon at the 56th annual Conference of Mayors in Salt Lake City.

Gov. Dukakis, in a hard hitting speech, promised to lead all national and state alliances against drug trafficking in the U.S., McCauley said.

The governor criticized the Reagan Administration for withdrawing funds in the war against drugs at a time when drug trafficking is on the increase, the mayor reported.

One hundred and seventy-five U.S. mayors, as well as other municipal officials attended the 56th annual Mayor's Conference which convened Friday and adjourned yesterday (Wednesday).

The critical need for affordable housing was a major topic of discussion among the mayors who attended the conference.

As a member of the Community Development, Housing and Economic Development Committee, I was particularly interested that regulations were approved urging federal help in promoting low-income housing, home ownership and the problem of homelessness," McCauley said.

Mayor Richard Berkley of Kansas City, Mo., presided over the conference.

Ward 4 City Councillor James Sheets and I attended seminars and workshops which included disaster-crisis management, municipal finance, ethics in city administrations and recruitment of municipal employees.

Mayor Arthur Holland of Trenton, N.J., was elected president of the conference for 1988-89.

I left Salt Lake City Wednesday for San Diego, Calif., where I will participate in the seventh annual Conference of the National Association of Public Hospitals.

I plan to return to Quincy late Saturday evening.

Chamber To Disclose Energy Concerns Survey Results

What energy concerns are unique to the South Shore? What do major area employers see as the greatest future energy needs?

The South Shore Chamber of Commerce recently participated in a survey to find the answers to these questions. They will be revealed in a formal press conference Thursday, June 16, at 4 p.m. at the Chamber, 36 Miller Stile Rd.

Energy supply increases only two percent annually while energy demand increases five percent. This issue will be addressed by chamber president Ralph Rivkind and executive vice president Ronald Zooleck.

Other issues will be the environment and the economy, which are just as important as energy, according to Zooleck.

The survey, which was initiated by the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce, came about because of business leaders' concerns for the impact of the South Shore's economic growth on the environment.

This Week In History

1963 (June 17) — In an 8-1 Supreme Court ruling, laws requiring the recital of the Lord's Prayer or any Bible verses in the public school system were deemed unconstitutional.

1972 (June 17) — Five men were arrested for the famous Watergate break-in of the Democratic National Committee in Washington, D.C.

1986 (June 12) — The first reports of drug and arms trafficking by Panama strongman Gen. Manuel Noriega became public.

Fond Farewells

It will be a fond, but a little sad, farewell this week for two of Quincy's outstanding clergymen.

Fr. John McMahon is retiring as pastor of St. Mary's Parish, West Quincy.

And, Fr. Daniel Graham is leaving St. John's Parish, Quincy Center to become assistant pastor of St. Brendan's Church in Dorchester.

Both will be honored by their parishioners and many friends in the community this weekend.

McMAHON

Fr. McMahon, who has been a fixture at St. Mary's for 24 of his 45 years as a priest, will be honored at a retirement dinner Saturday at the church's Mullarkey Hall immediately following a 5:30 p.m. Mass.

Bishop Lawrence Reilly, a close friend will be the celebrant. Bishop Reilly has a knack for being at Fr. McMahon's milestones. He preached at the first Mass celebrated by Fr. McMahon and presided at the Mass marking Fr. McMahon's 25th anniversary as a priest.

Fr. McMahon has a long list of accomplishments at St. Mary's including the reconstruction of the church, the renovation of St. Mary's School and building of a convent, plus many others.

On a personal note, we always appreciated his kindness in welcoming The Quincy Sun to Quincy with a special column in our very first issue 20 years ago this September.

We wish him many years of happy retirement.

FR. GRAHAM'S assistant pastorate at St. Brendan's will begin June 28.

GRAHAM

He will celebrate a special Mass of Thanksgiving Sunday at St. John's at 12:30 p.m.

A reception will follow in the parish hall.

Fr. Graham is one of the most popular and hard working priests in St. John's 125 year history.

He played a major role in the beautiful Christmas Eve midnight Mass and Easter Vigil liturgies at St. John's which drew many from outside the parish. You have to be there a half to three quarters of an hour early to get a seat.

And of course, he has been the man behind the highly successful St. Anthony's Festa at at St. John's for the past 13 years.

His sense of humor -- those little sometimes corny but always cute -- jokes he told before starting his homily were sometimes we all looked forward to. They relaxed you and got your attention for the serious message that was coming.

We wish him well in his new assignment. He's going to be missed.

St. Brendan's is a lucky parish.

AND, ANOTHER FAREWELL is coming up next week when Fire Chief Carl Valenti calls it a career.

Valenti steps down June 24 after more than 36 years service with the city -- nearly 31 with the Fire Department.

VALENTI

He started with the Water Department in 1951, joined the Fire Department in December, 1957, became acting chief in August, 1985 and chief May of last year.

Valenti will be honored at a roast the night before -- June 23 -- at 6 p.m. at Morrissette Legion Post, West Quincy.

Tickets are $20 per person. Today (Thursday) is the deadline for obtaining them.

AND DID YOU know there have been only 10 fire chiefs since Quincy became a city 100 years ago?

In the early years, they were political appointees. First was Walter Ripley who served from 1889-1893.

Then came Peter Williams, Frank Packard, Ames Litchfield, Laxon Billings and Alfred Mead, the latter from 1919 to 1930.

These six served a total of 41 years.

Then came civil service exams with William Sands the first fire chief as we know them today. He served from 1930 to 1947.

Thomas Gorman succeeded him in 1947 and served until 1967. Edward Barry served from 1967 to 1985 and was succeeded by Valenti.

So the last four chiefs served 58 years with Gorman the longevity champ with 20 years followed by Barry (18) and Sands (17).

AND, STILL ANOTHER FAREWELL.

James D'Olimpio, Superintendent of Maintenance for the Quincy Housing Authority for more than 10 years, will be retiring Aug. 1.

D'Olimpio started his QHA career 18 years ago as a carpenter which, he says, gave him insight to the needs of the tenants.

As superintendent he advocated the use of beepers to give tenants 24-hour service. He assisted in the modernization program which included the re-siding and roofing of more than 140 buildings, conversion of more than 400 units from oil heat to gas saving tenants money and bathroom renovations.

D'Olimpio succeeded Frank Terranova as superintendent.

He is married to the former Marie Ricciuti. They have six children and eight grandchildren. She is a former newswriter for the Patriot Ledger where she also did a food column.

The food column now appears in The Sun as "Marie's Kitchen."

D'Olimpio was a substitute shop teacher in Quincy for two years and owned his own business.

Centennial Celebration Off To Rousing Start

At 7:30 p.m. the Quincy High School Alumni Band Concert will take place at the Ruth Gordon Amphitheater, Pageant Field, Southern Artery. The concert will last approximately an hour and a half.

The day's events will be climaxed at 9:15 p.m. with a 20-minute spectacular fireworks display fired from a barge in Quincy Bay. Spectators at the concert should have a fine view of the fireworks from Pageant Field.

The fireworks will be presented by Zambelli International of New Castle, Pa., one of the largest makers and exhibitors in the United States. The barge will be located near the channel marking the entrance to Squantum and Wollaston Yacht Clubs. Small boat owners must stay out of the area surrounding the barge and tug boat, which will be secured by Marine officers and the Quincy Harbor Master.

There should be excellent viewing from the shorelines of Squantum, Merrymount and Houghs Neck as well as Quincy Shore Drive. The display will be a total aerial display with no low level shells or special effects on the barge itself.

Quincy Police, Metro Police and Marine patrols have planned for the public safety and traffic expected.

Police ask that persons driving to the event park in legally designated spaces on side streets adjacent to viewing locations, leaving sufficient room for emergency vehicles to pass.

Both Metro and Quincy Police will be strictly enforcing the Commonwealth laws on public drinking. No alcohol is permitted on MDC or city property.

An emergency first aid station will be set up at the Joseph F. Brett Comfort Station on Quincy Shore Drive. Police will staff that location also.

In the event of a weather postponement, the fireworks will be held Monday, June 20, at 9:15 p.m.

Conservation Commission Public Hearing

The Quincy Conservation Commission was scheduled to hold a public hearing Wednesday, June 15 at 7:30 p.m. in the third floor conference room, City Hall annex, 1305 Hancock St., Quincy.

On the agenda was a notice of intent filed by Joseph and Marilyn Tower for construction of a pier and work in the buffer zone at 254 Rock Island Rd., Quincy, and a notice of intent filed by Frank and Cheryl Catrambone for the construction of a single family house at 125 Turner St., Quincy.

Centennial Flag Hoisted At City Hall Ceremonies

By RUTH WAINWRIGHT

Quincy's Centennial flag of blue and white was hoisted for the first time Tuesday, Flag Day, along with the traditional red, white and blue national colors at Quincy Center Plaza (McIntyre Ma'l).

Several hundred spectators including Quincy's A.F. R.O.T.C. school children, city officials, businessmen and Centennial Committee members stood at attention as ROTC members under Col. Champi and Thomas Hurlebaus of the Quincy Veterans Council and Houghs Neck Post, raised the flags.

Joyce Baker and Eugene Creedon, Centennial Committee co-chairmen, conducted the program.

Patriotic selections were played by the Quincy High School Band.

City Council President Patricia Toland reminded those present of the American heritage, quoting from "Our Symbol of Freedom" written by Gary Turbak, an Air Force veteran of Vietnam and a journalist.

Dr. Carol Lee Griffin of the Quincy School Department spoke particularly to students reminding them "You are history, the future is really yours to create."

Creedon introduced students from Quincy's 22 public, private and parochial schools who were each given a flag to be flown over their school, and Centennial pins as souvenirs of the event.

They were:

Kevin Nichol and Rebecca Sault of Atherton Hough school; Christine Neamtu and Thomas Gildea of Furnace Brook; Susan Creedon and Mark Demeo, Lincoln Hancock; Justin Tobin and James Lenckl, Merrymount; Brendan Welch, Samson Lee and Sean Nee of Montclair; Nicole DeLegorete and Jeffrey Costa Parker School.

Latoya Chanderl and Kevin Norton of Snug Harbor School; David Doherty and Sarah Radell of Squantum; Jeffrey Burrell, Jr. and Jennifer Kelley of Point-Webster; Brad Currie and Kathy Johnson, Wollaston, Theodore Gregorladis and Kathryn Kabilian of Atlantic Middle School; Shane Abboud and Susan Byrne of Broad Meadows; Michael Giese and Tracy Linehan of Central; Erin Creedon and Sarah Byrne of Sterling Middle School.

Kathy McArdle and Meaghan McBride represented St. Ann's School; David White and Maureen Wilk, Sacred Heart School; Matthew Fennessey and Amy Madden, St. Joseph's; Christine DiPaolo and Terrence Galde of St. Mary's; and Catherine Deery and Gail Marie Torandeau of Woodward School for Girls.

Matthew Orman and Thomas Gerek, Nelson Chin and Sherrin Quintiliani were from North Quincy High School; Bryan Enos and Beth Sullivan, Quincy High School; Shawn Southwick and Patrick Neil, Quincy Vocational Technical School.

Also receiving Centennial flags were Quincy Police Chief Francis Finn and Fire Chief Carl Valenti, along with representatives of the various public buildings in Quincy.

MaryJane Fandel, coordinator of Centennial events, and members of the Centennial Committee assisted the chairman in flag presentations.

Band selections concluded the program.

Quincy's Yesterdays

Mixed Reaction Over Widening Of Southern Artery

June 16-22 1956 32 Years Ago

A State proposal to widen Southern Artery between Sea and Washington Sts., at a cost of $568,000 if Quincy would take the land for about $100,000 drew mixed reactions from city officials and citizens.

"It doesn't really make sense," said City Councillor Thomas S. Burgin, noting that the widened road would merely link two bottlenecks. "It seems to me like almost an unnecessary expense on the part of the Commonwealth. We don't want a super highway inside the city."

On the other hand, George A. Yarrington, executive director of the Quincy Taxpayers Association, predicted that if the state's offer were turned down "it will be the most tragic blunder made by any City Council in the past 20 years."

"Some of these glorified hot dog stands that are complaining so loudly today," said Yarrington, "will be able to sell out at a 100 percent profit 10 years from now."

DIGS START AT IRON WORKS

Roland W. Robbins, an archaeologist from Lincoln began work on a $6,800 project to excavate and develop the historic John Winthrop Jr. colonial blast furnace in West Quincy, the first to produce commercial iron in America.

Robbins said he hoped to complete the project in about two months, with most of it finished in time for the Historic Quincy Festival in July.

BUILDER, PLANNERS FEUD

A long simmering feud between Anthony Spinelli of Milton, developer of Furnace Brook Acres, and City Planning Director Regis J. Harrington broke out into a heated battle of words.

"Than skunk threatened to throw me out of his office," Spinelli told the City Council. "They only harass people up there. I wouldn't hire any of your planning directors for $50 a week."

"I didn't threaten to throw him out," responded Harrington coolly. "I threatened to have him thrown out."

'Significant Victory But . . .'

Cheney Cautions Spectacle Island Issue Not Over Yet

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

"This is a significant victory but the issue is not over," said Ward I Councillor Michael Cheney after learning that Boston Mayor Raymond Flynn will negotiate with the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority to determine if Spectacle Island is a feasible long-term residual treatment plant site.

"We have to work harder to make this a reality," Cheney said, who first proposed the 97-acre island as a possible long-term facility site a year and a half ago.

Flynn made the announcement last Thursday. Cheney said negotiations between the mayor and MWRA are expected to begin within 30 days.

Flynn's announcement should be encouraging news to all Quincy residents, Cheney said.

"This is exciting news for not only the city of Quincy but also for everyone in the Metropolitan Boston area who pays a sewer fee to the MWRA.

"The initial figures that we have drafted up show that we (Quincy) could save millions and millions of dollars to rate payers by using Spectacle Island and at the same time clean up that island so that it is environmentally safe," he said.

"It will not only clean up the island," Cheney continued, "but it will also provide safe transportation throughout the harbor island area." A piping system would be set up from the regional sewer treatment facility on Deer Island to Spectacle Island to transport residuals, he explained.

"This of course would eliminate the truck traffic through the streets of Quincy, Weymouth and beyond," he said, which he added would be "extremely expensive."

If Spectacle Island is chosen, Cheney said the interim treatment plant, to be set up in 1993 at the former General Dynamics shipyard in Quincy Point, would be moved to the island. If this happens, the interim facility would operate an additional year, to 1996 instead of 1995, he said.

"But, the shipyard would not be used for a long-term facility. Before, the shipyard was clearly the frontrunner for a long-term facility.

"I believe Spectacle Island is now the frontrunner," Cheney said, adding the proposal has picked up a "tremendous amount of momentum" since Boston City Councillor Maura Hennigan Casey began a campaign in support of Spectacle Island.

Cheney said if discussions between Flynn and MWRA executive director Paul Levy go well, a final decision could be made soon.

The idea of Spectacle Island as a long-term site was given a boost at a public hearing last Thursday at Boston City Hall. About 150 residents from Quincy, Revere, Stoughton and Walpole attended the hearing and rally and demanded that the island be used as the long-term site.

Sites in Stoughton, Walpole and Revere as well as Quincy are being considered for the long-term facility.

According to Cheney, there was a "unanimous consensus" among the ralliers to use Spectacle Island.

A resolution passed last week by the City Council urging the use of Spectacle Island was presented at the hearing, Cheney said.

"We were the first community on record as proposing that site be utilized. We're just pleased to see that it's come along very well."

"But we must continue to make the case for it," he said.

Adult Basic Education Students To Graduate

Ten adults, some over 40, will graduate from Manet Health Center's adult basic education program June 23 at 6 p.m. at the Germantown health center office on Bicknell St.

The program, which started with 15-and eventually went up to 28-focused on basic reading and math skills for adults who for some reason couldn't receive an education but otherwise are intelligent people.

The teacher was David Pierce, adjunct professor of English at Quincy Junior College. QJC sponsored the program.

Lawrence Ochs Army Course Grad

Lawrence Ochs of Quincy recently graduated from the ammunition specialist course at the U.S. Army Missile and Munitions Center and School, Redstone Arsenal, Ala.

The course Ochs took provided instructions in identification, handling, receiving, storing and issuing conventional, chemical and special ammunition under battlefield conditions.

Ochs is the son of Maureen A. Dailey, 45 Curtis St.

"The course of civilization is a race between catastrophe and education."

— John F. Kennedy

Arthur Stephen Tobin feels that we must make sure that education wins the race.

Every parent wants what is best for their children, and they want their children to receive the best education possible. "Steve" Tobin wants the best for your children also. Quality teacher training and better wages should be a priority.

As your state representative, Tobin will propose legislation which will link Quincy's teachers with the State College System, much as state employees are today. Under his plan, teachers will be able to attend any state college for advanced degree studies on a tuition-free basis. This way, the state will absorb the cost of the education of our teachers. Our teachers will receive a bonus in the form of the money saved on tuition. Better trained teachers should be scaled to higher compensation and our students will receive the benefit of having better trained teachers. We must be prepared!

When you go to vote in the primary election on September 15, 1988, savor this thought: throughout the city, our five year old children will begin their first day of structured education in our school system. Twelve years from now, these same children will graduate as the class of the year 2000 of the "21st century". Will they be prepared to face the challenges of the 21st century? Will they have received the very best education possible? If the answer to these questions is no, then we have failed in our task. We must elect a state representative who has the vision to bridge the gap between today's problems and tomorrow's solutions. The time to approach these problems is now, not in the "21st century". Tobin welcomes these challenges.

The Tobin candidacy is an alternative to the tired slogans, which mask a lack of fresh ideas.

That is why Arthur Stephen Tobin should be our next State Representative.

Scholarship And Awards Sunday At Bethany

This Sunday there will be one service of worship at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary of Bethany Congregational Church, United Church of Christ, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center.

The focus of the worship service will be that of giving thanks to God for the achievements of our students. Those graduating from high school and college will be recognized. And scholarship awards will be given to Bethany students from a number of scholarship funds.

Reflecting upon the place of the mind and spirit in human life, the Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will preach on the topic of "Seeking Wholeness." Jean Ann Phinney will be the lay scripture reader for the day. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will be the liturgist. In addition, Peter Krasinski will be at the organ console. Soloist will be Edmund Aluisy who will play three pieces for the clarinet: "Draw Thou My Soul, O Christ" by Sir Arthur Sullivan, "Breathe On Me Breath Of God" by Robert Jackson, and "Alleluia" by Mozart.

Nine students of the Bethany church family will be receiving scholarships. They are:

Richard M. Carr, Melissa J. Mikami, Elizabeth F. Morse, David F. Murphy, Tracy J. Panuschka, Emily B. Ross, Christopher S. Roberts, Barbara A. Stuart, and Tammy Vozzella. Scholarships will be made from six special funds set aside for this purpose. The Bethany Scholarship Fund, The Hazel F. MacGregor Scholarship Fund, The Goudey Fund, The Munroe D. MacLeod Scholarship Fund, The Ethel Will Scholarship Fund, and The Virginia W. Nolan Scholarship Fund. The total amount of scholarship aid to be given is $4,600.

The worship service will be broadcast over WHDH 1060 kc. at 10 a.m. In addition, a cassette tape of the service can be obtained for $2 by contacting the church office.

At 11 a.m. there will be a fellowship hour in the Vestry Parlor. Individuals and families from the community are welcome to share in the worship, learning, and fellowship of Bethany Church. For more information about Bethany's ministries and activities call the church office at 479-7300.

Over 150 Volunteers Spruce Up Quincy Point

Over 150 Quincy Point residents and businesses recently worked for hours in a clean up of Quincy Point during Quincy Neighborhood Housing Service's clean up day.

Residents pruned trees and raked up over 200 bags of rubbish in six locations.

Each location had a site captain.

Areas cleaned and site captains were:

Nancy Riley at Edison Park Triangle, Glenn McGhee at Avalon Beach, Carol McGhee at Whiton Park, Rhonda Merrill at Martensen St., Barbara Wass and Brownie Troop 4610 at the Pond Street Playground and Mary Fuller at the Pollard Playground.

Over 175 third, fourth and fifth grade students also cleaned the Point Webster School.

Mayor Francis McCauley visited the cleaning sites during the day and City Councillor Ted DeCristofaro handed out rakes to the site captains.

Various businesses participated by sweeping their sidewalks and putting rubbish barrels in front of their establishments to help eliminate flying rubbish on the streets.

Dick Peterson, vice president of Neighborhood Housing Services and coordinator of the clean up declared the day a success.

"This has been an outstanding turn out of residents and businesses for the clean up day, especially considering that it was a rain date. It is a tribute to the community spirit here in Quincy Point," Peterson said.

Because of the community participation, Neighborhood Housing Services is considering making the clean up day an annual event, he said.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

FATHER'S DAY ... a day when old Dad traditionally gets his day of thanks.

American fathers are unique, for better or worse. On one hand, they have accepted ... in many cases ... theories about making all decisions on family affairs. Modernists think this is democratic and beneficial; critics believe it's abdication of the father's responsibility as an authority, which has contributed to a breakdown of discipline, and to juvenile crime.

Whatever one's view on that, fathers are worth having. Children who enjoy the blessing of loving, well-providing fathers, of character and standing, begin life with a major advantage. Father's Day is the day to remember that ...

The 'wags' would equate fathers who are good providers with the quip that money isn't everything, but it keeps one in touch with his children! In remembering old Dad on Father's Day, the giving, on this day, is in the other direction ...

Scholarship In Memory Of James, Ruth Qualter

A scholarship for candidates to the priesthood was recently established at St. John's Seminary in Brighton in memory of James F. and Ruth A. Qualter, Quincy residents for more than 47 years.

Instituted by their children, Ruth A. Qualter of Wollaston and James B. Qualter of Venice, Florida, the scholarship will carry on the love and appreciation that the elder Qualters had for their faith and for young people by assisting those seminarians toward their goal.

Originally from Portland, Me. James F. Qualter was employed by Canadian National Railways in passenger tickets sales in Portland, and subsequently headed the Boston Office until his retirement in 1958. Following his retirement from the railroad, Mr. Qualter worked for 10 years at the main office of the Quincy Savings Bank as a security guard and also helped customers access their safe deposit boxes. Additionally, he served in the United States Army during World War I.

Communicants of St. Ann's Church in Wollaston, Mr. Qualter died in November 1985, and Mrs. Ruth A. Qualter, his wife of 62 years, died in October 1986.

HN Legion Holds Flag Burning Ceremony

A Good Reason For Them To Come Back

Customer Satisfaction Top Priority At Barry's Deli

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

A few things have changed since Barry's Deli opened at the corner of Hancock and Beale Sts. in Wollaston almost 40 years ago.

For one thing, it's now located at 21 Beale St., just down the road from the original site.

Secondly, Mike McFarland now owns and operates it.

But it is still serving the Wollaston and surrounding neighborhoods in a friendly, family atmosphere.

That, said McFarland, 34, is one thing that will always be true as long as he owns it.

"A customer should get the value of his money," McFarland says. "We want to give them a reason to come back again."

"We want to try to find a way to make people happy. In a neighborhood store, you deal with the same people day in and day out.

"If you take care of them, they'll take care of you," he says.

The tradition of taking care of customers began when Dan Barry and his brothers first opened Barry's Deli in the early 1950s.

"The Barrys had an excellent rapport with the community," says McFarland, who began working at the full service deli-restaurant almost 20 years ago.

McFarland, a long-time Wollaston resident, started working part time for the Barrys when he was 15 and a student at Boston College High school in 1969. After graduating, he went on to Suffolk University and continued working at the deli.

After receiving a degree in accounting, McFarland got a job as an accountant with the Howard Johnson Company.

But he kept his part-time job.

"I was a fill-in person," he recalls. "I could do just about anything."

All his time and experience at the deli paid off in 1978 when Dan Barry retired and sold the business to McFarland. He left the corporate world never to look back.

"The menu is still the same and the recipes are still the same," McFarland said of the transition. "They passed everything along to us," he says.

Since the change in ownership, the deli has undergone several interior renovations with another scheduled this fall.

The store is also now opened at 6 a.m. for breakfast. "It's been going very well," McFarland says of the venture. "People have been very good to us."

"Wollaston has a real neighborhood atmosphere," says McFarland, who lives with his wife Martha (Marty) and three-year-old twins Erin and Ryan on Summit Ave., Wollaston.

In addition to breakfast, Barry's Deli also serves lunch and early dinner.

The menu features three homemade soups daily, with cream of broccoli and chicken noodle the most popular.

Barry's also boasts more than 50 varieties of sandwiches made with fresh rolls and sliced bread. Meat is cut to order. The biggest sellers are hot pastrami, corned beef and roast beef.

The deli also specializes in party platters for all occasions.

And for those who feast on bargains, there are specials on three or four delicatessen items every Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The dining area is set up cafeteria style where people pick up food and seat themselves. There are about a dozen tables and 45 seats for comfortable dining. "It's very laid back," McFarland says.

"We probably know about 70 per cent of our customers by name," he continues. "They are in here every day or every other day.

"We see them constantly," says McFarland, who employs 15 people.

Furthermore his relationship with his customers is just as strong as his bond with his employees.

"Five people here have been with me since I bought the place in 1978. We have a very low turnover because it's like we're a family."

Not only does McFarland own Barry's Deli, he is the proprietor of Barry's Shiphaven in Quincy Center. Bought in 1986, Mike's brother Tom McFarland manages the restaurant.

Throughout McFarland's career at Barry's Deli, he has maintained that satisfying customers is first priority.

"Customer satisfaction is very important. We want people to think of Barry's Deli as a nice, friendly place that serves great food."

Yes, some things never change.

A Commitment To The Community

At Wollaston Credit Union 'People Helping People'

By CHRIS MAHONEY

Its motto is "One Made of Many," and that's exactly what the Wollaston Credit Union is - both in its dealings with the public and in its internal organization.

There is no staggering bureaucracy, no long forms to be filled, no endless lines to wait in, just to get some service.

"We emphasize a 'people-helping-people' philosophy," is the way Francis A. Perfetuo, senior vice president and chief financial officer, puts it. "People can walk in off the street and talk to anyone from the president on down."

According to Robert Dunphy, president of the Wollaston Credit Union, the depositors are the true owners of the institution. A credit union is a non-profit organization accountable to the depositors whereas a bank is accountable to its investors and board of directors.

"We've made a commitment to this community to be able to serve the needs of the Wollaston area," says Dunphy. "For any business to survive they have to be a part of the community."

Both Dunphy and Perfetuo agree that the Wollaston Credit Union is known for its congenial ways.

"It's the personalized service," says Perfetuo. "Depositors are not just a number to us; they're a name, a person to us."

The personalized service, while being efficient and down to earth, is in reality a very streamlined process.

It starts with Dorothy Rand, assistant vice president and loan officer most of the time. Rand is part of customer relations. She has been working for the credit union for 27 years.

"It's been my life for a long time," she says. "I like the people. I like working with them. It gets interesting because everyone's different."

Dunphy says many people request doing business with Rand and that she gets compliments from clients whenever they run into a credit union employee.

"She is able to find out what customers are looking for and fit their needs," he says. "She takes the time to do these things."

A striking aspect about most of the employees, as is probably pointed out with Rand's long time employment with the credit union, is the fact that the turnover rate for employees is very low.

"We've grown up together," says Dunphy of the workers. "We're a family."

Perhaps the most impressive aspect of the Wollaston Credit Union, however, is the process of automatic payroll deduction.

Eight years ago Dunphy took over the helm of the credit union and proceeded to turn it into an even more streamlined, even more viable, organization.

He became aggressive when it came to getting companies to take part in the payroll deduction services. He says that at one time Wollaston Credit Union got one company a week to sign up.

In those eight years, their assets have grown from $10 million to $82 million.

And for a community based credit union, they do an alarmingly extensive business which takes place in the space of a day.

The automatic payroll deduction works by automatically taking an allotted amount out of a paycheck and depositing it in an account, which saves a depositor the hassle of a bank.

"We encourage customers to save on a regular basis," says Perfetuo.

It doesn't stop there, however. Wollaston Credit Union also has an A.T.M., a 24 hour teller service, which is pretty much nationwide.

This is all documented and monitored by their payroll computer. The computer makes it possible for all the assets to keep straight. For example, someone in Hingham can make a deposit and someone in the Midwest uses the A.T.M. One computer keeps track of it all.

According to Dunphy, the automatic payroll deduction is the most impressive part of the organization.

He says that the businesses do not necessarily have to be corporate giants. They can be as small as five people.

There are currently 360 payroll companies doing business with the Wollaston Credit Union.

"The little guy gets as good service as big business," he says.

The computer is in the main office at 680 Hancock St. The building's exterior looks as if it came straight out of the 19th century. It belies the modern, efficient office space inside.

The buildings on Hancock St., the A.T.M. Office at 652 Hancock St. and the 651 Hancock St. main office are going through improvements.

The large main office has stayed where it has been for the last 40 years, Dunphy says, to benefit the community.

"The people of Wollaston have supported us and this is our gift back to them," he says, noting the easy accessibility in Wollaston Center.

The Wollaston Credit Union recently celebrated its 40th anniversary. It's come a long way in those 40 years - especially in the last eight.

How about the next 40 years?

"We hope to continue to change as the needs of our members change," says Perfetuo. "The financial marketplace changes rapidly and we hope to be able to change along with it."

MWRA Digging Borings Along QSD

The Massachusetts Water Resources Authority announces its employees will be digging soil borings and test pits along Quincy Shore Drive, the marshes of East Squantum and near Black's Creek throughout June.

These excavations, which were approved by the Quincy Conservation Commission, are needed to gather information on the MWRA's three sewerage pumping stations and underground pressure pipes within the city.

Due to the age of the facilities, as well as in response to long-standing concerns of citizens in several neighborhoods about sewage odor and back-ups, the MWRA has initiated a one-year study.

Its purpose is to identify problems in the pumping stations and pipelines, to determine their causes, and to develop a set of short and long-term actions for remedying them. The findings of the MWRA's study, as well as the draft recommendations, will be presented at a series of public meetings to be held in Quincy later this year to provide opportunities for public input and comment.

The firm of Whitman & Howard, Inc. of Wellesley has been hired to assist the MWRA in the preparation of the study, which will require extensive field work. Issues such as flow, capacity, corrosion, air quality, and projected demand on the system to serve future populations must be studied. The consultants have been conducting inspections of the Hough's Neck Lift Station and the Quincy and Squantum Pumping Stations and pipe lines, as part of the data collection phase. Their findings were submitted in a draft report to the MWRA in early May.

Neighborhood meetings are planned for October and a public meeting on the final draft Facilities Plan is scheduled for December, 1988. The final plan must be submitted to the Massachusetts Department of Environmental Quality Engineering for approval in January, 1989.

WEEK OF: June 16

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
You are flexible, curious, and intellectually inclined. But you're restless too, and inconsistent. You generally enjoy being on the go, and this year's accent on travel should suit you perfectly. What surprises you -- and others -- is your willingness to make a significant commitment.

AQUARIUS — January 21 - February 19
Financial matters are emphasized in both your home and work environments. Recent risks may pay off, especially as they affect your personal life. Relationship with older relative improves.

PISCES — February 20 - March 20
Loved one decides to pamper you -- a welcome contrast from a demanding work schedule. Thanks to your new style of presentation, children are more receptive to your ideas.

ARIES — March 21 - April 20
Good week for researching family history. Recent accomplishment thrusts you into the limelight and may lead to an award, be prepared to make thank you speeches.

TAURUS — April 21 - May 22
Attention to the fine print is critical; this is not the week for rushing negotiations. Family announcement may greet you by surprise. You excel in the role of organizer.

GEMINI — May 23 - June 21
Cooperative tasks prove rewarding, but be sure each participant's role is well defined. New interests appeal to you at this time. Meaningful gift may arrive by Wednesday.

CANCER — June 22 - July 22
Social life is lively, and week finds you meeting some fascinating people. A new relationship may be off to a sluggish start, but there's no point in rushing the situation.

LEO — July 23 - August 22
Week may see you becoming interested in an all-new area -- tennis, perhaps, or possibly computer technology. Relationship becomes more harmonious thanks to quiet intervention of mystery person.

VIRGO — August 23 - September 22
Writing tasks are highlighted over the period, and you may be asked to prepare an important report. Family member may be less than discreet. Independent streak surfaces after the weekend.

LIBRA — September 23 - October 22
Delays are inevitable till Saturday, but you make up for lost time after the weekend. Check that insurance and other policies are current. Be cautious if planning surprises.

Quincy's Performance Gives Local Sports Welcomed Booster Shot

By STEVE KAVANAGH

The Quincy High baseball bowed out of the E.Mass state tournament, 3-2, to Durfee last week, but not before providing Quincy athletics with a much welcomed booster shot.

The Presidents qualified for the tourney with a come-from-behind, 2-1, win over North Quincy in the final game of the regular season. Quincy (the 13th seed) then outscored third-seed Natick, 11-9, in the first round of the tourney, and rallied to beat sixth-seeded Brockton, 8-6, in the quarterfinals. The Boxers lost just six games all year - three to Quincy.

The win moved the Presidents into the South Sectional semi-final against Durfee. It is the furthest that a QHS baseball team has advanced in school history.

"We got good pitching from Joe Taylor, but our bats went silent," said Quincy coach Bob Sylvia. "We made some mental mistakes and Durfee capitalized on them. However it was certainly a great season - one of the best in the annals of Quincy High School athletics."

The 1988 Presidents were a senior-laden team which had missed the tourney by a single game the previous two years. Sylvia said he felt it was significant that his team was made up almost entirely of kids who played three sports.

"With the exception of girls volleyball, the sports scene at Quincy has been somewhat frustrating in recent years. The kids have gone through some tough times but their coaches never gave up on them," Sylvia said. "The coaches at Quincy are dedicated and they really care. They kept the kids on an even keel through the tough times and the kids stuck with athletics and it finally clicked for them.

"This team is made up of a bunch of average athletes who enjoy playing sports. They made some memories for themselves and I hope they will be a catalyst to get sports where they can be at Quincy.

"If this team leaves a legacy it is the promise of hope– that hard work can pay off. It happened for them and it couldn't have happened to a better bunch of kids," Sylvia said.

Quincy showed a lot of poise down the stretch in winning some tight games.

"After beating Natick we were confident going into Brockton," Sylvia said.

The Boxers took a 1-0 lead in the third inning but Quincy tied it in the fifth. Pitcher Wayne Chambers reached on an error and moved to third on Nick Dragone's double. Chambers scored on Dan Biagini's sacrifice fly to deep center field.

Brockton tallied three runs in the bottom of the fifth as Chambers was victimized by an error and an infield hit.

The Presidents closed the gap to 4-3 in the sixth and grabbed the lead for good with three runs in the seventh.

Sean Thompson doubled, Jim Dennis singled and following a walk, Chambers ripped a bases loaded double for the go ahead runs.

The Boxers scratched out a run in the eighth to get within one, 6-5. However, Quincy struck for two more in the ninth. Greg Chambers singled, was sacrificed to second, Wayne Chambers walked, and Greg scored on a single by Dragone. Wayne then scored on an error.

Brockton threatened in the ninth with one run but Dennis, on in relief, set the Boxers down and moved the Presidents to the semifinal.

Dragone knocked in a run in the first to give Quincy a short-lived lead as Durfee tied it, 1-1, in the bottom of the inning.

A hit batsmen and two errors allowed Durfee to take a 2-1 lead in the sixth but Biagini belted a solo homer in the eighth to tie it again.

Durfee squeezed the game-winner across in the last of the eighth against Dennis but Quincy didn't quit. Greg Chambers reached on an error but was doubled off first when catcher Bryan Taylor hit a hard line drive for an out.

Sylvia credited the hard work of his players for the team's success. Sylvia also praised pitching coach Dave MacMillan for his work with Chambers, Dennis and Taylor.

"Dave MacMillan had a lot to do with our success. His work with our pitchers was a big key to our season," Sylvia said.

Sylvia also applauded junior varsity coach Bob Troup and freshmen coach George Peachey who coached the players in previous years.

"We also received a lot of support from our athletic director Marty Finnegan. I would also like to thank Ray Cataneo (City of Quincy Director of Parks) for making Adams Field available to us during the tournament and keeping it in such great condition all year," Sylvia said.

NORTH QUINCY'S Matthew McNamara will play in the Shriners High School Football Classic Friday, at 7 p.m. at Boston College Alumni Stadium. McNamara, a 1988 graduate of North Quincy High School, co-captained the Red Raiders this year. The 6-foot, 2-inch and 280 pound tackle will attend Central Connecticut State University this fall.

McDonough Hurls Bryan Past Morrisette, 11-2

Bryan Post defeated Morrisette Post 11-2 behind Pat McDonough's fine pitching performance.

Bryan jumped out to a 1-0 lead in the first as Steven Loud walked, stole second and scored on Steven Waas' hit.

Morrisette tied the game at 1-1 in the bottom of the first on hits by Mike Desroches and Jeff Currie.

Bryan pulled ahead 2-1 in the third on hits by Loud, McDonough and Waas and increased its lead to 3-1 in the fifth on Mark Kelleher's double.

Morrisette got a run back in the bottom of the fifth on Sean Connelly's RBI hit to make it 3-2.

Bryan broke the game open in the top of the seventh, scoring eight runs on hits by Loud, McDonough, Joe Marnikovic, Kevin Mullay, Don Anderson, Rob Kane, Waas and Michael Malvesti.

Loud and Waas led the Bryan Post attack with three hits apiece while McDonough and Mullay had two hits each. Morrisette's Connelly and Currie each singled twice. Desroches and Stephen Keddy had the remaining hits.

Bryan's Anderson, Kelleher and Chris Stenmon turned in several defensive plays.

Paul Murphy, Tom Nutley, Todd Portesi and Philip Bell also contributed to the Bryan Post victory.

Mike Kavanaugh pitched well for Morrisette.

Granite City Electric defeated the Elks, 11-6, behind the strong arm and lively bat of Mike Picariello.

In his first start, Picariello pitched a no-hitter and fanned eight Elks batters. He did have control problems, walking 11 batters, six of whom scored. He helped his own cause by hitting two long doubles.

For Granite City Electric, Vin Anderlionis and Eddie Costello had two hits apiece. Dave Gamsby, Andy Colleary, Wayne Sit, Dave Jolley and George Walsh had singles.

Second baseman Andy Veneziano and catcher Andy Colleary were the defensive standouts for Granite City Electric.

Also playing well for G.C.E. were Brian Jennette, Mike MacDougall and Scott Wysocki.

Tony Bianco, Dana Gurwitch, John Kelly, Mike McManus and first baseman Bill Warren stood out for the Elks.

Kiwanis Racks Up 3 Wins

Kiwanis won three games last week and have now won four in a row and seven of its last eight.

Pitcher Jeff Russell struck out 10 to lead Kiwanis past Foley-Chrysler Plymouth, 6-5. Third baseman Mark Karlson blasted a game-winning three-run homer in the fifth inning. Rich Gorman, Lee Hughes and Joe McCarthy also had hits. Karlson and catcher Jon Gangi played solid defense.

Karlson pitched a 3-hitter and hit a grand slam as Kiwanis knocked off Keohane's, 5-2. Billy Coughlin, Gorman, McCarthy and Sean MacDonald also had hits.

Kiwanis hammered Houghs Neck, 16-5, as Gangi whiffed 11 in his first pitching start. Hughes belted a double and two singles, Karlson and Coughlin both hit a double and single and MacDonald, Gorman, Gangi and Mike Koski also had hits. Coughlin played well at catcher and David Rowell was sharp at second base.

Giants, Braves, Tigers Win

The Giants, Braves and Tigers each won two games last week in Junior Farm League action.

The Giants blasted the Dodgers, 15-4 led by pitcher Eric Strauss. Justin Stavros and Strauss belted home runs and were supported by the hitting of Robbie Pirellis, Mike Nantel, Kevin Sullivan, Timmy Hunter, Mike O'Neil and Jeurik Samborski. Stavros was three-for-three and Chuck Feeley knocked in the winning run.

The Giants also crushed the Yankees, 25-6, as Nantel, Stavros, and John Laukkanen hit home runs. Other hitters included Feeley, Sullivan, O'Neil, Samborski, Pat McGann and Shawn Manning. Pat Coughlin made an outstanding catch in right field and Stavros was the winning pitcher.

The Braves mauled the Mets, 26-7, and hammered the Orioles, 31-9. Paul Marnikovic was the winning pitcher and had three hits against the Mets. Jacob Drohan had four hits, James Mastrotanni, and Mike Adams had three, and James Crowley had two. Jeff Feiner, Todd Sullivan, Katie Gallagher, Mike Martin, Jonathan Cahir, Mike McLaughlin and Jeff Sullivan also had hits.

John DeAngelis, Bruce Steinberg and Jimmy Cunio played well for the Mets.

Drohan pitched the win over the Orioles. Drohan, Adams, Feiner, Marnikovic, and Todd Sullivan had three hits. Mastroianni, Gallagher, Adam Stone, Martin, Cahir, McLaughlin and Jeff Sullivan two each.

The Tigers won their sixth in a row and are now 9-1. The Tigers edged the Pirates, 4-2, and drubbed the Red Sox, 10-1.

Mike Doyle limited the Sox to two hits. Key hits were supplied by Brian O'Connell, Timmy Sheehan and Robbie Churchill.

In other action, the Red Sox edged the Yankees, 4-3. Winning pitcher Geoff Meade belted a grand slam in the first inning. Yankee pitcher Eric Wirtz shut out the Sox the rest of the way.

John Mahoney, Mark Kelly and Robert Blaikie sparked the Red Sox. William Sullivan, Mike Greene, Matt Jarnis and Paul Greeley had hits for the Yankees.

The Junior Farm League All-Star Game will be played at Pageant Field Saturday at 10 a.m.

Boston Gear Meshing For Good Season

Boston Gear is enjoying a good year in the Quincy Junior Baseball league this season with a league leading 10-3 record.

Their most recent victory was a 15-6 win over Quincy Cable. Gear's offense was awesome as three consecutive home runs were hit in the first inning by George Wirtz, Bryan Raltery and Danny Duncan. Duncan had four hits, a homer, double and two singles and also got the save for Kenny Ledwak, the winning pitcher.

Wirtz had three key hits for Gear, a homer and two singles. Raltery belted two home runs for five RBIs. Timmy Byrne added a towering home run and a single and Johnny McGlothlin had two singles. Also having key hits in Gear's 15-hit attack were Ledwak and Jeff Burrell, who had been solid behind the plate.

Playing well defensively for Gear were Tommy Sullivan, Sean Kennerson, Bernie Mullen, Sean Dolbare and Roddy Campbell.

Earlier in the week, Gear downed Burgin and Platner 12-2 with Duncan and Byrne combining the pitching chores. They surrendered just two hits, both to Tommy Malvesti.

Duncan got the win and also had a home run, double and single.

Also helping out with the bat were Bryan Raltery (home run and single), Jeff Burrell (two singles) and Ledwak, Wirtz, Byrne and Sean Kennerson with key hits.

Playing well on defense for Gear were Sean Dolbare, Johnny McGlothlin, Tommy Sullivan, Roddy Campbell, Bernie Mullen and Kevin Keddy.

Tommy Malvesti pitched well for Burgin.

Gear also defeated State Street Visa, 8-1, with Timmy Byrne pitching a three hitter for the win. Byrne and Duncan each had three hits. George Wirtz had two hits and Ledwak, Raltery and McGlothlin each added key hits for Gear.

Defensive standouts for Gear were Sean Dolbare, Jeff Burrell, Bernie Mullen, Roddy Campbell and Kevin Keddy.

Billy Morrissey pitched well for State Street Visa.

Gear shut out Rotary 5-0 with George Wirtz hurling a two-hitter for the win. Duncan and Byrne led the Gear offense with two hits apiece. Ledwak, Wirtz and Sean Dolbare had other key hits for Gear.

Kevin Downey pitched well for Rotary, holding Gear to seven hits.

Matt Beston and George Burke had Rotary's hits.

Gear turned two double plays and played a strong defensive game.

Gear hung on against Colonial Federal to win 9-7 in the last inning on a dramatic three-run homer by Danny Duncan. Kenney Ledwak pitched a fine game for Gear to earn the win. Gear's offensive power was supplied by Duncan (three hits), Ledwak (two singles) and Bryan Raltery and George Wirtz with a single each.

Mark Smith pitched well for Colonial, a team that had Gear on the ropes. Matt McGowan cranked a grand slam in the last inning to make things close. Dave Carney also had a home run while Steve Miller had a single and played great in the field.

Gear defensive standouts were Tommy Sullivan, Timmy Byrne, Sean Kinnerson, Sean Dolbare, Kevin Keddy, Roddy Campbell and Jeff Burrell.

Against Houghs Neck Gear squeaked by 10-9, needing a two-out double in the last inning by Kenny Ledwak to score the winning run. Ledwak had four hits a double and three singles, as did Timmy Byrne, the winning pitcher, who collected two home runs, a double and a single. Brian Raltery had a towering home run, double and single.

Byrne combined with Wirtz on a five hitter. Playing strong defense for Gear were Sean Kennerson, Jeff Burrella, Bernie Mullen, Roddy Campbell, Sean Dolbare, Kevin Keddy, Johnny McGlothlin and Tommy Sullivan.

Gear also defeated Kiwanis, 15-3, with a 15-hit attack led by Burrell and Raltery, who each had three hits. Also connecting for hits were Byrne, Wirtz, and McGlothlin (two hits), and Ledwak, Kennerson and Mullen, one each. Keddy, Dolbare, Sullivan and Campbell stood out defensively.

George Wirtz was the winning pitcher, allowing one hit in the last inning but was plagued by 11 walks.

Sean McDonald tossed a good game for Kiwanis and had his team's only hit.

Gear also topped Foley Chrysler Plymouth 9-4 behind the strong pitching of Timmy Byrne. He allowed six hits, three by Rob Guenard, including a long home run in the first.

Gear's offense was wide spread, getting power from Kenny Ledwak, George Wirtz, Sean Kennerson, Byrne and Jeff Burrell each having two hits. Keddy and McGlothlin also had hits for Gear.

Raltery, Mullen, Dolbare, Sullivan and Campbell played well on defense.

Burrell was spectacular behind the plate, making several key plays.

Gear also played an earlier season game with Cable and came out on top, 9-8, with Raltery knocking in the winning run in the last inning. Byrne got the win, striking out 14 while scattering five hits.

Gear's offense was led by Byrne and Raltery, each with three hits. Danny Duncan had two hits and George Wirtz had one.

Also earlier this season, Gear topped Burgin and Platner 10-7 with Danny Duncan and Sean Dolbare sharing the pitching duties. Duncan got the win.

Gear's offense was led by Ledwak with four hits and Byrne with three. Sean Kennerson and Wirtz had two apiece and Duncan and Jeff Burrell had one each.

Hershey Track, Field Meet Starts June 28

Recreation Director Barry Welch announces that the Quincy Recreation Department will sponsor the Hershey National Track and Field Youth Program by hosting a community meet open to all boys and girls ages 9-14.

The local meet will be the first step in a competition which could result in a local athlete advancing to the National Championship in Hershey Park, Pa. New England champions are awarded an all expense paid trip by Hershey Chocolate, the national sponsor.

This program is open to all youngsters ages 9-14. Participants do not have to have previous track experience, or be a member of a community track program. There are no entry fees. Spikes and starting blocks are not allowed. The event is open to participants from surrounding communities. However participants must provide the sponsoring agency with written proof of age before they will be allowed to compete.

The Quincy meet for boys will be Tuesday, June 28 at 6 p.m. The Quincy meet for girls will be Wednesday, June 29 at 6 p.m. Both meets will be at Veterans Memorial Stadium, Hancock St.

Registration will be on the day of the meet. The age of the participant shall be his or her age as of Dec. 31, 1988. Both boys and girls will compete in three categories: 9-10, 11-12, and 13-14. Those youngsters currently eight years old, but who will turn nine years before Dec. 31, 1988, may compete in the 9-10 group. Youngsters currently 14 years in age, but who will turn 15 years before Dec. 31, are not eligible.

The events are as follows:

Age 9-10 Boys and Girls - 50 yd. dash, 100 yd. dash, 200 yd. dash, 4x100 yd. relay, standing long jump, softball throw.

Age 11-12 Boys and Girls - 100 yd. dash, 200 yd. dash, 400 yd. dash, 800 yd. run, 4x100 yd. relay, standing long jump, softball throw.

Each participant may compete in up to three events, and if three are chosen, one must be a field event.

Welch noted:

"The philosophy of this program is to stimulate participation of all eligible children, it is in no way to be contained as an all-star program. This event is run in cooperation with the National Recreation and Park Association, and the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sport. I encourage our young residents to take advantage of this excellent program."

Members of the Quincy Track Club will assist in conducting local meets. For additional information, contact the Quincy Recreation Department at 773-1380, ext. 204.

Morrisette's DeBoer Fires 2-Hitter At Wollaston

The Morrisette Legion baseball team is 1-0-1 while Wollaston is 1-1 after the first week of play which featured a game against each other.

Morrisette downed Wollaston 5-1 behind an outstanding pitching performance by 16-year-old Eric Deboer who made his first Legion start at Adams Field.

DeBoer, who pitched like a veteran, was in complete control throughout the game. He gave up one unearned run on only two hits, one an infield hit. He struck out 12 and did not walk a man while allowing just one baserunner in the first six innings.

Morrisette got all the runs they needed in the first, scoring twice off Chris Higgins, who hurled well in defeat. Higgins allowed four hits while striking out seven and walking two. He also hit a batter.

Two of Morrisette's hits were infield hits. Billy MacDougal led off the first with an infield hit, stole second and went to third on Dan Biagini's single to left. With one out, Rob McDonald was hit by a pitch to load the bases.

Ron Fletcher walked to force in MacDougal and Wayne Chambers then sent a fly ball to right field which Biagini tagged on and scored.

Higgins pitched superbly as he set down the next 13 batters in order, striking out six of them.

In the bottom of the sixth, Wollaston had some defensive problems. Mike Mullaney led off with an infield hit but was erased at second on a fielder's choice by Biagini. On an attempt to complete the double play, the ball was thrown away and Biagini ended up at third. With two outs, Fletcher hit a ground ball which was mishandled and Biagini scored. Fletcher then stole second and ended up at third after Chambers walked. Chambers and Fletcher then pulled off a double steal with Fletcher scoring. Chambers then scored when Brian Taylor singled to left center.

Wollaston scored an unearned run in the seventh as T.J. Stern beat out an infield hit, stole second and went to third when the throw went into centerfield. He then scored on an infield error.

John Thompson had the other Wollaston hit.

Against Milton, Morrisette played to a 6-6 tie in a game called on account of darkness after five innings.

Wayne Chambers started and pitched four and two thirds innings, giving up four hits and six unearned runs. He was relieved by Kevin MacDougal who pitched one third of an inning.

Ed Flavin had two hits, including a triple and one RBI. Dan Biagini collected two doubles and one RBI. Ron Fletcher had an RBI single. Brian Taylor had a double and Rob McDonald drove in two runs on sacrifice flies.

Jeff Calvert had a single and Mike Mullaney had an infield hit.

The game will be replayed as a twi-nighter July 5 at Adams Field.

Morrisette is scheduled to play three home games at Adams Field next week. Friday they play Mass Truck, Sunday they'll host Randolph and next Wednesday they play Canton. All games start at 8:15 p.m.

The Wollaston Legion team split its first two games of the 1988 season, downing Randolph 4-3 and losing to Morrisette, 5-1.

In the opener against Randolph, Mark DiMattio gave up two hits and no earned runs while striking out eight. After falling behind 3-2 in the sixth, Wollaston put together four hits by Chris Higgins, T.J. Stern, DiMattio and Chris Noble to secure the win.

The Wollaston squad has 10 returning players from last year's 8-10 season including a deep and experienced pitching staff.

Wollaston pitching duties will be shared by Mark DiMattio, Chris Higgins, T.J. Stern, Jay Lespasio, Sean Murphy and newcomers Bob Austin and David Hutchings.

Catching will be handled by Chris Noble, Jim Bryan and DiMattio.

John Shea has won the first base job. The middle infield positions will be handled by Bill Billow, Higgins, Lespasio and Keith Oliver.

Sean Thompson returns to third base and will be backed up by Steve Kohler.

Seeing action in the outfield will be Scott Logan, Mike Noonan, Rob and Rich Keddy along with Stern, Lespasio and Hutchings.

Mike Gormley will manage this year's team with assistance by Steve Burkley and Dick Travers.

Wollaston plays Quincy Thursday at 8:30 p.m. and Braintree on Monday at 8:30 p.m., both games at Adams Field.

Quincy Starts Season With Two Wins

The Quincy Legion baseball team is off to a good start, winning their first two games.

Quincy downed Holbrook last Tuesday in its opener, 4-1, behind the fine pitching of Robbie Higgins who struck out 16 and walked none. He allowed three hits and Holbrook's lone run was unearned.

Higgins, a freshman at the University of Maine this year, pitched for their varsity squad this season.

Quincy was forced to play the game with only nine players since most of their other players were involved in high school tournament play for Archbishop Williams and Quincy High School.

Higgins struck out the side in the first, second and sixth innings. All of Quincy's scoring was done in the second after Holbrook scored in the top of the second.

Higgin reached on an error and scored off Chris Beatrice's double. Kevin Daley and Greg Clifford both walked to fill the bases. Jim Baker singled to the right fielder who misplayed the ball, allowing three runs to score.

Mike Connor had two hits for Quincy while Mike Foland, Daley and Sean Gately had a hit each.

Quincy edged Randolph 2-1 with Higgins picking up the win with six strikeouts in three innings of relief.

Joe Taylor started for Quincy but was forced out with a sore shoulder with two outs in the third.

Sean Mulkern came on and struck out the final batter with a runner on second base. Mulkern pitched the fourth inning, allowing one unearned run. He was lifted for a pinch hitter in the top of the fifth when Quinc threatened with runners or second and third with two outs.

Jim Kearns hit a line drive hard to the pitcher who gloved it to end the threat.

Quincy won the game in the top of the seventh. Trailing 1-0, speedsters Paul McLellan and Peter Tufts both walked with no outs. Higgins sacrificed them along to second and third. The next batter struck out and with two away, Kearns lined a triple to right field scoring Tufts and McLellan.

Higgins struck out the side in the last of the seventh for the win.

Bill Mulkern had two hits, Tufts had a triple and McLellan a single for Quincy.

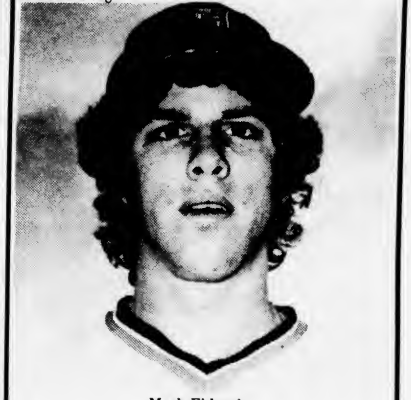
Quincy is scheduled to play Wollaston at Adams Field Thursday at 8:15 p.m., at Canton Friday at 6 p.m. and Mass Truck Saturday at Adams at 8 p.m. (The game against Mass Truck had been originally scheduled to be played in Weymouth).

Quincy will play at Braintree next Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

Dennis, Biagini All-Stars

Pitcher Jim Dennis and shortstop Dan Biagini of the Quincy High baseball team were recently named to the Suburban League All-Star Team.

Dennis was the President's leading pitcher with a 9-3 record. He and Biagini helped lead Quincy to the semi-finals of the EMass South Sectional Tournament.



Biagini was Quincy's top hitter and knocked in eight runs in the tournament.

CITY OF QUINCY
IN COUNCIL

ORDER NO. 20A
ORDERED June 6, 1988

That the City Council of the City of Quincy hold a PUBLIC HEARING in the Council Chambers on June 27, 1988 at 7:00 P.M. on the following Order

Be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Quincy, that the Revised Ordinances of the City of Quincy, 1976, are further amended in Chapter 13 Offenses-Miscellaneous, by adding the following new section:

Section 54 - Residency for City Supported Construction Projects:

1. On any construction project funded in whole or in part by City funds, or funds which in accordance with a federal grant or otherwise, or City-approved PUD or City-approved MIFA Applications, the sale of City property or projects the City Administers the construction contract or grants or special conditions, residents of Quincy, who are qualified to perform the work to which the employment relates shall be given preference in hiring on a 2 to 1 ratio, after the employer's foreman or supervisor and two key employees have been employed for a one-week payroll period.

2. Companies receiving public assistance through these financing agencies should be in concurrence with the prevailing wages in the area, including wages in the Davis-Bacon Act. No revenue bond applications are to be approved unless the applicant agrees to all of the aforementioned conditions.

3. Prior to entering into a construction agreement involving more than $10,000.00, the owner, developer or contractor shall place a reasonable size advertisement, at least 3" x 5" in size, at least twice, in at least one newspaper having a local distribution, on a craft by craft basis, indicating that bids are being sought and the qualified residents of Quincy shall be given preference consideration in hiring on a 2 to 1 ratio.

4. Minorities and women shall additionally be accorded preference for their hiring, as provided for in the federal, state or municipal laws, shall either be included, or the same will be deemed included in all such construction agreements.

5. The Quincy Equal Opportunity Administrator will be furnished copies of names and home addresses of employees, upon request, and will be furnished such other proof compliance as said Director may request, upon written request for the same, within seven days of such request.

6. In the event of violation of this Ordinance, upon three days written notice to the violator and opportunity to be heard by the City Council, the following action may be taken by the City Council:

(a) Deduction from the contractor's contract of the sum of $500.00 for every violation and adjustment of the contract price accordingly;

(b) Assessment of a fine of $500.00 each day of violation against the owner or developer who violates this Ordinance, to be paid within thirty days of such assessment;

(c) Violation of this Ordinance shall also be a violation of Chapter 1-6 of the Revised Ordinances of 1976, and as amended in the future;

(d) Debarring of violating Contractor, Owner or Developer from bidding on any future projects for three years after the date of the decision of the City Council that a second violation has occurred by the same firm.

7. In the event that any section of this Ordinance is deemed illegal, unenforceable, or unconstitutional, then the remaining sections shall remain in full force and effect.

Field Day A Success

This past Saturday the Quincy Police Patrolman's Association and the Quincy Police Superior Officers Association held a "We Care For Kids" field day at Pageant Field.

I am happy to say that the field day was a success. More than 1000 children attended, many with their parents. During the day more than 1000 finger print kits, balloons, hot dogs and sodas were given away.

The winners of the Doll Carriage Parade were: first place, Nicki PUrtell; second place, Sara Gordon; third place, Becky Leschte.

The winners of the Bicycle Parade were: first place, Richard Stewart, second place, Chris Purtell; third place, Kevin Hanlon.

I would like to thank the officers of the METRO Police Mounted Unit for their patience in giving all of the children, and some parents, a ride on their police horses. I would also like to thank the MBTA K-9 Unit and Crime Prevention Unit for their great demonstrations. I wish to also thank the supporters who made this field day possible: Crown Colony Office Park, Blue Hill Spring Water, Stop & Shop, Roxies Market, Singles World, Couples World, Big Top Tents and Buckley Associates.

We hope to see you again next year at the second annual "We Care For Kids" field day.

Quincy Sun Car Care Guide

A guide to trouble-free summer driving

To help assure trouble-free driving this summer, the makers of Prestone® products offer the following "do's and don'ts."

• DO protect your car against summer's extreme temperatures by maintaining a proper coolant level. Insufficient amounts of coolant can lead to overheating and possible engine damage.

• DON'T drive with a worn fan belt. A tell-tale sign of wear is cracking or fraying on the inside of the belt. It is good practice to have fan belts checked and replaced regularly.

• DO flush your car's cooling system once a year. Although year-old coolant may provide ample protection for the summer's heat, it may not fight rust and corrosion in your radiator anymore. Also, hot summer temperatures can accelerate corrosion damage.

Flushing is a simple procedure with the Prestone Flush 'n Fill Kit. The kit allows you to flush out your entire cooling system in about five minutes.

• DON'T allow your engine to boil over. If your car's temperature warning light goes on, or your temperature gauge is approaching the red zone, pull over immediately, turn your engine off and let it cool completely.

Check the coolant level and add coolant, such as Prestone Advanced Formula Anti-Freeze, if necessary. Remember, never remove the radiator cap when the engine is hot.

• DO get your radiator "guaranteed." The makers of Prestone offer guaranteed radiator protection to consumers who flush their cooling systems with Prestone Super Flush, and refill with Prestone Advanced Formula Anti-Freeze/Coolant in accordance with the requirements of the guarantee program.

To enroll in the renewable one-year guarantee, participants can get the registration form on the Prestone jug and mail the necessary requirements to the makers of Prestone.

Then, if your radiator should suffer coolant-related damage, it will be repaired in accordance with the guarantee program — compliments of the makers of Prestone. A network of over 30,000 service stations is on-line to service qualified claims.

Following these simple steps should help keep your car performing efficiently and safely all summer long.

AFTER FLUSHING your car's cooling system, refill with a quality antifreeze like Prestone Advanced Formula.

Of burning importance...

Avoid explosions which can cause serious injury: What not to do around your battery

In a world of precautionary labels, put this on your "must read" list. Stating, simply, DANGER — EXPLOSIVE GASES, the warning on your car's battery also says POISON — CAUSES SEVERE BURNS.

Sound scary? Consider that the battery is a device which uses chemicals to produce electrical energy. In so doing, it creates explosive hydrogen. The Hindenburg was filled with hydrogen.

A battery explosion can cause blindness, among other injuries, so Car Care Council lists six don'ts to remember when you are working around the battery.

1) Don't use a match or cigarette lighter to illuminate what you are doing.

2) Don't lean over the battery when working on it.

3) When using booster cables, never connect the ground jumper cable to the negative post of a run down battery. Instead, connect it to the frame or engine block of the stalled car as far as possible from the battery.

4) Don't be careless when using tools around the battery. You might accidentally make a direct connection across the terminals or from the hot terminal to a grounded part of the car, creating a dangerous hot spark.

5) Don't smoke around the battery when working on it.

6) Don't hook up your battery charger incorrectly. Instead, follow the directions on the charger and be sure the charger is turned off or unplugged before making connections. Remember to turn the charger off and unplug it after charging and before disconnecting the charger leads.

The Council suggests the use of a couple of devices to minimize chance of injury. One is a good battery carrier, which holds the battery securely when it is necessary to remove it from the car. Spilled acid can cause severe burns to clothing and skin.

The other recommended device is safety goggles, so that your eyes are protected from any possible flying acid or worse, from fragments of an exploding battery case.

Many people are injured annually from that docile-looking battery under the hood. Don't be careless; take precautions to be sure you are not one of them.

DON'T OVERLOOK THERMOSTAT

During spring servicing of the cooling system, the engine thermostat should not be overlooked. It is the least expensive cooling system part. But, if it is not working properly, the thermostat can reduce engine efficiency up to 20 percent and increase engine wear.

The Gates Rubber Company also suggests that all drive belts, hoses, the coolant and the radiator be checked before the summer driving season.

PREVENT VACATION WOES: HAVE CAR CHECKED

This promises to be a big year for vacation travel by car. These trips will be spoiled for thousands of families who have car trouble of one kind or another.

Most breakdowns can be avoided by preventive maintenance, says Car Care Council.

Have your car checked over thoroughly so that necessary repairs can be done on your own home turf.

OVERHEATING CAN BE AVOIDED: KEEP COOL ON THE ROAD

Failure of cooling system parts is among the most common causes of mechanical trouble on the road.

Overheating literally can destroy an engine and transmission...but it is preventable.

Have your car's cooling system thoroughly checked and serviced before taking your vacation trip.

Quincy Hospital Plans 'Evening At Pops' June 22

The first Quincy City Hospital "Evening at Pops" will be held at Symphony Hall, Boston, June 22 at 8 p.m. to raise funds for a new hospital.

John Covelli will be the special guest conductor for the Boston Pops Orchestra as well as the featured pianist.

The evening will begin with a pre-performance reception in the hospital's Gordon House Conference room at 5:30 p.m. A buffet of light refreshments, hors d'oeuvres, champaigne, wine and fruit punch will be served.

For an additional $5 per person motor coaches will be provided to take guests to Symphony Hall.

Surprise gifts will be given to the guests.

Tickets, which will help to build a new hospital, are $80. They can be purchased by calling Kathy Miller at 773-6100, ext. 4016, or Joanne Hedlund at ext. 4113.

Tickets are tax deductible. They can also be purchased right outside the cafeteria.

N.Q. Alumni Theatre Presents Scholarships

The North Quincy Alumni Theatre recently presented $500 in scholarships at the annual North Quincy High Drama Club banquet.

Kathryn Gralton and Patrick Murphy, both drama club seniors, each received $250 from the Alumni Theatre.

The Alumni Theatre raised the money last summer when they presented the comedy "Lovers and Other Strangers." They are planning another production for mid-July of this summer.

Gralton plans to attend Boston College in Newton and Murphy plans to attend Holy Cross College in Worcester.

LEGAL NOTICE

ORDER NO. 15A
ORDERED: April 19, 1988

Be it Ordained by the City Council of the City of Quincy, that the Revised Ordinances of the City of Quincy, 1976, as amended are further amended upon the recommendation of the Commissioner of Public Health in Chapter 13, Article IV, add the following:

SECTION 54. REGULATION OF SMOKE WITHIN CERTAIN ESTABLISHMENTS

Section 1: Rationale. Extensive research findings from national and health services substantially document tobacco smoke as a strong factor in the causation of lung cancer and other respiratory disorders. Smoking is also listed as one of the risk factors in the development of heart disease.

Exposure to secondhand tobacco smoke or "passive" smoke is now known to be a direct cause of specific types of lung cancer among healthy non-smokers.

Therefore, pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 111, Section 31 and 31C, of the Massachusetts General Laws, the City of Quincy adopts the following ordinance which is designed to help protect and improve the health of residents, in the City of Quincy.

Section 2: Legal Significance: This regulation prohibits smoking in every publicly or privately owned coffee shop, cafeteria, short-order cafe, luncheonette, sandwich shop, soda fountain, restaurant or other eating establishment with the following exceptions.

a. This prohibition shall not apply to an establishment seating forty (40) or more people who maintain a contiguous non-smoking area comprised of one-fourth of the floor space in which customers are served.

b. This prohibition shall not apply to an establishment seating less than forty (40) people.

c. Acceptable air cleaning ventilation devices shall be required for installation in any new restaurant licensed after the effective date of this ordinance. For the purpose of this ordinance new restaurants shall include newly constructed, expanded, or significantly remodeled restaurant as well as the transfer of ownership of any restaurant.

Section 3: Definitions:

a. "Acceptable air-cleaning system" shall mean a mechanical unit comprised of an air-cleaning device and an air circulating fan approved by the Quincy Board of Health.

b. "Air charge" shall mean the volume of the air occupying the room in which an air-cleaning device is installed.

c. "Air-cleaning device" shall mean a device, or combination of devices properly located, providing six (6) air charges per hour and capable of removing particles as small as .03 microns, including smoke, dust, bacteria, and 99 percent of all pollens with cleaned air discharged into the room in such a manner so as to prevent short circuiting from the outlet to the inlet of the device.

d. "Bar" shall mean an area which is devoted to the serving of alcoholic beverages and in which the service of food is only incidental to the consumption of such beverages.

e. "Restaurant" - any facility serving and preparing food to customers on the premises.

f. "Employee" shall mean any person working in a food service establishment.

g. "Enclosed" shall mean closed in by a roof and four walls with appropriate opening for ingress and egress and is not intended to mean areas commonly described as public lobbies.

h. "Make-Up Air System" shall mean a system capable of providing a minimum ventilation rate of seven (7) cubic feet per minute of outside air per person occupying the room in which the acceptable air-cleaning system is installed.

i. "Person" shall mean any natural persons, state agency, municipal corporation, corporation, unincorporated association, partnership, joint venture, joint stock association, or other business organization of any kind.

j. "Smoking" shall mean the combustion of any cigar, cigarette, tobacco, or any similar article or any other combustible substance in any manner or in any form.

k. "Non-Smoking Area" that area of a restaurant designated and posted by the proprietor or other person in charge, where smoking by patrons or employees shall be prohibited.

l. "Smoking Areas" all other areas of a restaurant unless smoking is prohibited by sanitation or fire safety codes or regulations.

Section 4: Implementation and Enforcement.

a. The proprietor or other person in charge of a restaurant shall make reasonable efforts to prevent smoking in the non-smoking area by:

1. Posting appropriate signs;

2. Arranging seating so that existing physical barriers and ventilation systems minimize the effects of smoking in a smoking area upon persons in an adjacent non-smoking area;

3. Directing patrons seated in a non-smoking area to refrain from smoking.

b. Any restaurant which fails to comply with the provisions of this ordinance shall be notified of such non-compliance by the Health Department in writing. Any restaurant which has received three such notices, and still fails to comply, shall be referred to the Licensing Board for appropriate action, including a fine of up to $100 per day, at the License Board's discretion.

c. Nothing in these regulations shall make lawful smoking in any area in which smoking is or may hereafter be prohibited by law.

Section 5: Severability.

a. If any provision of this regulation is declared invalid or unenforceable, the other provisions shall not be affected thereby.

Section 6: Variance Provision.

a. The Licensing Board, upon the recommendation of the Health Commissioner, may vary any provision of this regulation with respect to any particular case when, in its opinion, the enforcement thereof would do manifest injustice, provided that the decision of the Board shall not conflict with the spirit of these minimum standards and provided further, such variance may be granted only after notice is given to all affected occupants and after a hearing is held. Any variance granted shall be in writing and available for inspection in the office of the Licensing Board.

Section 7: Effective Date.

a. This regulation shall take effect thirty (30) days after final approval of this ordinance.

(Cont'd from Page 1)

"As a taxpayer, I am opposed to this project," he said to Polechronis, adding, "I am still willing to work with you."

Councillor Stephen McGrath also doubted the project. "The noise, vibrations and pollution can only get worse."

Ward 3 Councillor Lawrence Chretien, whose ward contains three of the four Quincy MBTA stations, told Polechronis, "At this point, the burden is on you.

"You get to make a case (for the project.) You're going to have to keep up the public education on this issue."

Polechronis said he plans to attend another hearing in September and present additional information regarding the project.

He also invited councillors and residents to ride a commuter rail train to Rockport on Saturday, June 25 on an MBTA-sponsored trip.

Councillor Patricia Toland, Quincy's representative on the MBTA's Citizen's Advisory Committee, also voiced her concerns over the project.

"I am not convinced that the technology of the future will be able to run this train service as a smooth running operation," Toland said.

"I have not heard of one person who is for it. They see it as double the trouble."

City Would Save Money By 1993

Newsprint Recycling, Leaves Composting Recommended By Fall

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

A recycling feasibility study, prepared for the Quincy Recycling Task Force by Alternative Resources, a Concord-based consulting firm, has recommended that the city begin recycling newsprint and composting leaves as early as this fall, said Ward 3 Councillor Lawrence Chretien, task force chairman.

The study's recommendations could be presented at the next City Council meeting, June 20, Chretien said.

The 45-page study, complete with appendices, gives a detailed look at recycling feasibility in Quincy, including costs and savings.

According to the study, it would require $631,700 to start the newsprint-compost program in Quincy. $315,400 in initial capital costs and $316,300 annually in operating and maintenance costs.

During the program's first year, the city would "lose" $207,807 but would "break even with its initial investment in two and a half years," Chretien said.

"By 1993, the city will be saving thousands of dollars," he said, adding the program would greatly enhance the city's environment.

"There is no other solution that is environmentally, as well as economically acceptable as recycling," said Chretien, who has been chairman of the seven-member task force since February.

"We're on a fast track," he said. "We have to get things moving now if we want to do it."

The program requires City Council and Mayor Francis X. McCauley's approval.

If implemented, Quincy would save an estimated $132,072 in fiscal year 1990, $166,403 in 1991, $204,603 in 1992 and $247,569 in 1993, a five-year total of $750,647.

Savings is based on 80 to 90 per cent resident participation.

"Overall, the city would be throwing money away if a program wasn't implemented," Chretien said, who called the savings figures "conservative."

"Potentially, the savings are greater than that," he said.

According to the study, Quincy is paying Browning Ferris Industries (BFI) $1,208,934 for collection and $2,829,000 for disposal this year. These figures are estimated to go to $1,396,318 for collection and $4,096,720 for disposal by 1990.

Approximately 41,000 tons of residential waste are generated each year by Quincy households residing in dwellings of four families or less, according to BFI records. This year's disposal cost in Quincy is $85.33 per ton.

"Every ton (of waste) we don't send out saves us money in disposal costs," Chretien said.

The recycling program would be city-wide and include dwellings with four families or less and municipal buildings only.

Dwellings with more than four families and commercial buildings would "remain on their own," Chretien said.

Leave pickup would begin in mid-September and continue through October. Leaves would be brought to a new composting facility to be built near the West Quincy landfill on Ricciuti Dr., Chretien said.

As for newsprint, its collection would also begin in the fall. Once collected, it would be sent to a paper dealer. The dealer in turn would sell it to a paper mill where it could be broken down and reformed into recycled newsprint or wallboard.

In addition to recommending the newsprint-compost program, the study also states that Quincy should consider expanding its recycling to include metals, plastics and glass.

"Within a year or two, it will make sense to step up," Chretien said.

"Down the road, we'll probably do more. Recycling newsprint and composting does not represent a 100 percent solution to solid waste because it doesn't deal with 100 percent of the problem," he said.

"Landfill costs are escalating every year. It makes sense to start the program and eventually expand it."

Methadone Clinic Runs Into Strong Opposition

A resolution stating the Quincy City Council is adamantly opposed to the siting of a permanent or mobile methadone clinic anywhere in Quincy was referred to the Human Services Committee after eight councillors denounced the idea at Monday's City Council meeting.

Introduced by Councillors Tim Cahill and Charles Phelan, the resolution states the clinic will "encourage a transient group of individuals with severe society problems coupled with an already overburdened public safety and social service sector" and "probably serve as an outpost for drug dealers to continue pushing drugs."

Methadone, a synthetic substitute for heroin, is claimed to help break a drug user's addiction for heroin.

According to Cahill, the methadone clinic would be run by Habit Management Inc., a full-profit company. Cahill said this method of drug treatment has not been proven as a cure or even the best method for stopping dependency.

"It's an issue that doesn't deal with a cure for a cure but rather a drug for a drug," he said.

The proposal calls for a mobile van to dispense methadone to dependents. The van would make stops and service runs to areas with a concentration of addicts, including neighborhoods in Quincy.

Councillor Stephen McGrath, in supporting the resolve, said "It's almost as if the city is under siege," referring to other proposals concerning Quincy that are considered to solve regional problems such as the Old Colony Rail restoration project.

"I think this (clinic) is an invasion and we should do all we can to make sure it doesn't come to Quincy," McGrath said.

Ward 1 Councillor Michael Cheney also denounced the clinic. "Why Quincy? Why our neighborhoods? What happens to these people when they come in (for treatment)?

"It's my opinion that we should be supporting proven services," Cheney said, who stated he has received several phone calls from constituents who said they had friends who received treatment at a methadone clinic but it did not help them.

"I can never see myself, with the information available, ever supporting a methadone clinic in Quincy," he said.

Ward 4 Councillor James Sheets said, "When it comes to dealing with drugs, we continue to tiptoe through the tulips. This (clinic) is really another way of avoiding getting at the drug problem."

Councillors Thomas Nutley, Theodore DeCristofaro and Patricia Toland also voice their opposition to the clinic.

Ward 3 Councillor Lawrence Chretien, chairman of the Human Services Committee, said he will ask several health organizations including the Department of Public Health and Quincy City Hospital to issue statements regarding the methadone treatment.

"It could be looked at as a service if it works," he said. "I think this issue deserves a lot of attention."

Mayor Francis McCauley, who has contacted Public Health Commissioner M. Jane Gallahue on the issue, said he will review the matter.

U.S. Cites Disease Risks In Quincy Bay

No Plans To Close Shellfish Flats

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

Quincy has no plans to prohibit shellfish digging throughout the city's 12 flat locations, according to Mayor Francis McCauley and Andy Ayers, the city's shellfish constable.

"There are no plans on making every shellfish digging area prohibitive on the state or city level," Ayers said.

"That's a state matter," McCauley said. "We're not planning to shut down the flats. That decision will be up to the state because they are the ones that regulate them," he said.

The response comes in the wake of a federal report released Monday which states high levels of liver tumors, viruses and other disease have been found in fish and shellfish taken from Quincy Bay.

According to the report, lobster represents the biggest cancer threat among all the fish species in the city's bay.

The year-long, extensive study also indicates the soft-shelled clam population in Quincy Bay is severely threatened by a reproductive disorder.

Furthermore, 83 percent of the flounder tested was found to have diseased livers, the report shows.

Federal and state officials Monday advised consumers to stop eating the soft green substance (tomalley) in lobsters and to adjust their eating habits after the study showed high levels of liver tumors, viruses and other diseases in fish and shellfish from Quincy Bay.

According to Ayers, Quincy's 12 clamming sites will remain unchanged. Presently, there are eight prohibitive areas and four restricted areas. Restricted areas are open to commercial diggers only, Ayers said.

Prohibited areas are: All of Wollaston Beach, from Black's Creek to Nut Island pumping station; the Town River and Neponset River.

Restricted areas are: Orchard Beach, Bell Point in Germantown, Edgewater Dr. in Houghs Neck and Black's Creek to Rice Rd.

Ayers said all areas are prohibited after a heavy rainfall.

Since the issuance of family permits was stopped in 1962, some areas have always been restricted to clam digging, Ayers said.

City Health Commissioner M. Jane Gallahue said she intends to meet with two scientists from the EPA within a week to 10 days to discuss the study's findings of consumption patterns.

The study shows that for healthy people, most seafood, other than lobster tomalley, presents a risk only when you eat it 100 or more times a year.

Gallahue called the study a "very good start" and "an attempt to bring together many scientific experts."

"We have to do a lot more. We don't want to leave any assumptions," adding that research also breeds further research.

Gallahue said her department will continue to educate the community, especially the Asian population, with flyers and pamphlets.

She said her office will also monitor phone calls that come into the health department.

"We want to know people's concerns," she said.

McCauley, a former clam digger, said "I hope we could take some steps to bring the shellfish industry back to Quincy.

"It's really a sad situation."

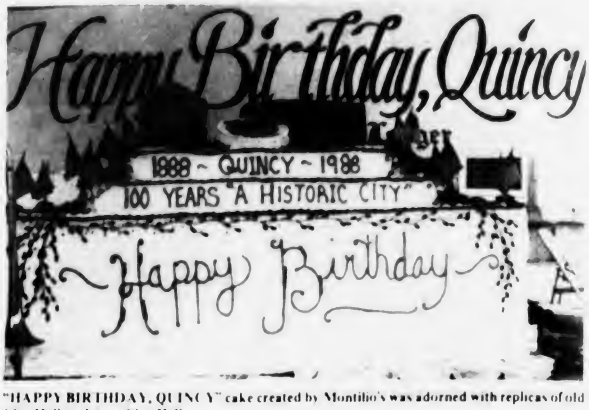
The mayor also said the only solution to the problem is cleaning up the pollution in Quincy Bay.

"I hope the EPA would take steps to see if anything can be done before the long-term (residual) treatment plant is opened at Deer Island.

Mayor: 'Please Pay Taxes By June 30'

With only six more business days remaining in fiscal year 1988, Mayor Francis McCauley urges Quincy taxpayers to pay all outstanding real estate and personal property taxes as well as boat and automobile excise taxes and water bills by Thursday, June 30.

McCauley said all municipal payments received on or before June 30 will be credited to fiscal 1988.



The mayor said it is important for the city to finish the year in a strong financial position. Surpluses in the "Free Cash" account will have to be used to close a shortfall in 1989 revenues that could reach $3.8 million, McCauley said.

Total Damage $400,000

Lightning Touches Off Steeple, House Fires

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

A North Quincy home and the steeple of the Glad Tidings Church in Quincy Center were destroyed by fire after lightning struck them minutes apart during an intense thunderstorm that moved through the area early Saturday night.

Fire officials estimated the total damage at $400,000.

The fire at 250 Billings Rd., North Quincy, originated from a lightning strike about 10 minutes after a bolt struck the Glad Tidings Church steeple at 4:50 p.m.

The house fire left two people homeless. Owner Herbert Albright, a second floor occupant, and Eileen Hubbard, a first-floor resident, were not at home at the time of the fire.

Deputy Chief Paul O'Connell estimated the damage to the structure at $150,000 and contents of the building at $50,000.

The first alarm sounded at 5:03 p.m. with Engine 6 from the Houghs Neck station the first to arrive, said O'Connell. He said the house was "heavily involved with fire" a few minutes after 5 p.m.

Due to the steeple fire at 158 Washington St., Quincy Center, assistance was called for with Boston Ladder 23 and Boston Engine 21 responding.

Deputy Fire Chief Thomas Gorman said about 30 firefighters from Quincy and Boston used six trucks to battle the two-alarm blaze for more than 40 minutes.

The all-clear was sounded at 8:06 p.m., O'Connell said.

At the Glad Tidings Church, the first alarm was sounded at 4:53 p.m. and three minutes later a second alarm was rung.

An estimated $200,000 in damage was caused to the steeple and the bell tower.

FIREFIGHTERS pump water onto the steeple of the Glad Tidings Church in Quincy Center. The fire was touched off by lightning minutes before the North Quincy house fire.

A Traffic Gridlock?

A reader sent us a letter the other day that he said was not a letter to the editor for publication "as they seem to be ignored by elected officials."

We are not using it in the Readers Forum, but we hope he doesn't mind if we borrow some of the contents for use in this column.

The writer is a North Quincy consulting engineer and he raises some interesting points and questions on the subject of traffic in Quincy.

Whether you live in Quincy, work in Quincy, drive in Quincy or walk in Quincy, you too, might find what he has to say interesting. Here goes:

"Recent editorials and news items indicate a concern about the abuse of parking meters in the various business sections of Quincy.

"It is unfortunate that no consideration is given to violation in other areas of the city. Yes, they are raising the fees but the City Council and Mayor know full well that the enforcement will not materialize. They just hope that raising the fees will force people to obey the parking rules. It won't."

He suggest a comparative study of all of the other parking violations printed on a parking ticket such as:

"1. Tow Zone -- No Parking Anytime. (I've never see a car with a ticket under one of these signs.")

"2. No Parking Anytime.

"3. Double Parking.

"4. Parking too close to corner or hydrant.

"5. Parking on the left side of the street. (Right wheels must be 12 inches from curb.)

"There are many more violated 24 hours per day, 7 days per week.

"How many tickets are written by meter maids versus the number issued by the so-called 'uniform branch' of the QPD.

"Burgin Parkway (Adams to Granite) was built and lines painted for two lanes in each direction but around the clock violations of No. 1 above effectively reduces south traffic to one lane. Ditto for Newport Ave.

"Safford St. is a nightmare of parking violations. I would hate to live on that street and have a fire in my house.

"West Squantum St. (Amesbury to Belmont) has continual violations as No. 2 above. Signs were erected but some disappeared. Delivery trucks block the pedestrian lights at Harriet Ave. Some day! Ask the School Traffic Supervisor how often she has seen this!

"Why aren't delivery trucks restricted to off-peak hours on major traffic arteries such as West Squantum St.?

"Vanasse-Hangen hired by the City of Quincy recorded 18,020 vehicles per day with 15 percent going between 42 and 57 miles per hour.

"The City of Quincy has requested that the Mass. DPW study traffic on West Squantum St. (I predict their traffic counts (ADT) will exceed Vanasse-Hangen's counts.

"Developers in Quincy have no problems getting what they want and all the traffic problems get dumped on the residents.

"Somebody better do something about traffic in Quincy pretty soon. Otherwise gridlock will set in. The current administration has been talking about traffic since 1984 but nothing constructive is accomplished."

Comments, anyone?

A CAMPAIGN RECEPTION for School Committeeman Stephen Durkin, candidate for state representative in the Second Norfolk District, will be held Wednesday, June 29 at Common Market, Willard St. from 6 to 8 p.m. Tickets are $30 per person and may be obtained by calling Maureen Durkin at 472-6585. They will also be available at the door.

Chamber Urges Health Care Law Postponement

The South Shore Chamber of Commerce is calling for postponement of the "universal health care" law.

Kevin J. Costello, Government Affairs Manager for the Chamber, said the Chamber believes that hospital reimbursement should proceed on schedule. However, there are still too many unanswered questions on the access side. There is a lack of data on who the uninsured population is and what the ultimate cost to the state will be to provide universal health care.

"Of the 600,000 uninsured in the commonwealth, some 20 to 30 per cent (the administration's own figures) make over $30,000 per year. Our question is this: When is a person responsible for their own health insurance coverage? Why should the state and employers within the state, subsidize health insurance for those who could afford it themselves, but choose not to purchase it.

"In terms of the cost, the Senate Ways and Means place the state's share at $550 million, the governor pegs it at $622 million while House Ways and Means has it at $1.2 billion. With the current budget crisis expected to extend into future fiscal years, is it prudent to commit the state to such a large expenditure?

"Surely there are ways to provide health care to those who do not have it and cannot afford it. The Commonwealth should concentrate its efforts and financial resources to provide this coverage. The Greater Boston Health Action Forum is actively seeking financially responsible methods for doing just this.

"What the state does not need now is a full blown uncapped expenditure for health care coverage for which no one has a true handle on. The legislature, with the Governor's lead, should postpone the universal health care law," Costello said.

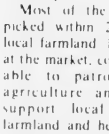
Farmers' Market Will Open June 24

The finest selections in local produce, flowers, and other products will be on hand at the sixth annual Quincy Farmers' Market at the Hancock St. parking lot, Quincy Center, June 24 through the end of October.

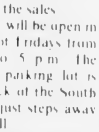
The farmers' market, which is opening in more than 70 sites across the state, offer consumers several worthwhile advantages.

Most of the produce is picked within 24 hours at local farmland. By shopping at the market, consumers are able to patronize local agriculture and thereby support local dwindling farmland and help the local economy.

Not so traditional items such as leeks, collards, ethnic specialties will be on hand along with such staples as corn, tomatoes and apples.



Handmade crafts, jams and jellies, baked goods, farm fresh eggs, and turkey pies will also be offered.



Flowers, ranging from annuals and perennials to hanging plants, which have always been popular at these markets, will be found in abundance at the sales.

The market will be open in the parking lot Fridays from 11:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. The Hancock St. parking lot is located in back of the South Shore Bank, just steps away from City Hall.

Farmer's market coupons will be accepted.

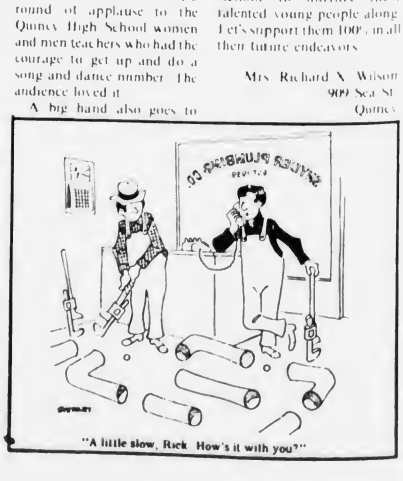
Bravo To Quincy High School Chorus And Teachers

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

On May 18 and May 19th the Quincy High School Chorus under the direction of Mr. Salvatore V. Bartolotti presented their spring production – Cabaret '88." If you missed this show, you really missed out on an evening of fine entertainment packed with wonderful young talent.



The students in the Quincy High School Chorus along with their teacher, Mr. Bartolotti, deserve a tremendous amount of credit for a job well done. Also, a round of applause to the Quincy High School women and men teachers who had the courage to get up and do a song and dance number. The audience loved it.

A big hand also goes to everyone involved with the show who were responsible for costumes, set design, music, make-up, lighting, choreography, etc. They all did a spectacular job.

This is Mr. Bartolotti's first year with the Quincy School system and I think he has done a magnificent job with the Chorus and with his first two shows. The Chorus also did a Christmas production of "Scrooge" which was also extremely well done.

We are fortunate to have Mr. Bartolotti at Quincy High School to nurture these talented young people along. Let's support them 100% in all their future endeavors.

Nick Panarelli Wins Quincy Historic Trail Logo Contest

Nick Panarelli of Quincy was recently presented a $150 check for submitting the prize-winning entry in the Quincy Historic Trail Logo Contest sponsored by the Quincy Tourism Association.

Panarelli, who designed the logo to appear on signs along the Quincy Historic Trail, received his cash award and first-prize certificate from Mary Lee Walsh, chairman of the Quincy Historic Trail Logo Contest Committee during ceremonies at the Cathay Pacific Restaurant in North Quincy recently.

More than 80 entries were received.

Second place winner was Dave Palmer and third place winner was Robert Dano, both of Quincy. For their efforts, Palmer was awarded $75 and Dano $50.

All contest participants received an award certificate.

Members of the Logo Contest Committee who organized the contest as well as judged the entries were: Paula Bausemer of WJDA; Linda Lenza of the Patriot Ledger, Councillor Timothy Cahill; Sally Erickson of the Village Nook; Mary Lee Walsh; Robert Bosworth of The Quincy Sun; and Loren Strout, president of the Quincy Tourism Association.

Panarelli's prize winning logo, a "Q" with a tri-corner minuteman's hat on the top of the letter, will be produced on all the signs along the Quincy Historic Trail, including the markers and signs at each historic site.

Strout said the contest entries were "excellent" and that it gave the committee a real challenge to make the selections. He said in a couple of cases, there were ties and that a tie-breaker vote had to be cast.

"That's how good the entries were in this contest," he said.

3,000 On Strike At Shipyard

June 23-29 1947 41 Years Ago

More than 3,000 workers at the Bethleham Steel Co.'s Fore River Shipyard went on strike seeking a 13-cent an hour raise.

"The attitude of company representatives over our demands leads us to believe that the strike will be long and costly," said John McGonagle, national representative of the CIO Marine Shipbuilding Workers Union.

"Shipbuilding in this country is nearing extinction due to high wage rates," said Bethlehem Vice President Joseph M. Larkin.

There was a difference of opinion over current wage rates. The union said they ranged from 96 cents to $1.38 an hour while Larkin said the average hourly wage at the shipyard was $1.53 an hour.

FIREMEN EXONERATED

Civil Service Director Thomas J. Greehan exonerated nine Quincy fireman of any wrong doing after solving the mystery of how an extra piece of paper was found in an envelope containing their examination papers for chief.

Seems the exam monitor took the papers home over the weekend and her brother, a Boston fireman, opened one of the envelopes to see what the Quincy exam was like. He copied some of the questions and answers and one of his papers got in the envelope by mistake.

SCHOOL RAISES SOUGHT

The School Committee was discussing plans to ask the State Attorney General to force the Quincy city auditor to honor $200 pay raises given to School Supt. Dr. Paul Gossard and Asst. Supt. Albert H. Cochrane.

The City Council objected to the pay hikes and directed Auditor Leo E. Mullen not to pay them.

Jimmy's Seafood Superb

A Great New Recipe

With the summer season underway, the outdoor cooking taking preference over the kitchen, it's always nice if one of the "kids" or anyone else tells me of their "great new recipe." Here is one from my son Jimmy all the way from the Big Apple. The recipe calls for red snapper, but Jimmy said you can use any kind of fish, such as haddock or cod.

JIMMY'S SEAFOOD SUPERB
3 slices of fish
2 large fresh tomatoes
About 1 tsp. fresh basil
½ Lb. fresh asparagus
¼ cup white wine
Juice of one fresh lemon
3 Tbsps. butter or margerine

Place the fish in a baking pan. Put the wine and the lemon juice over the fish and place in the broiler for about 10-15 minutes turning the fish once. While the fish is broiling, cut the asparagus and the tomatoes into small (one inch or so) pieces. Melt the butter or margerine and saute the asparagus first for a few minutes until they get a little softer. Add the cut up tomatoes and the fresh basil and saute until done. Take the fish out of the broiler and place the sauteed vegetables over it and then place back in the broiler for about 5 more minutes. I hope you enjoy it as much as we did!! Marie D'Olimpio is the author of "Simply Italian-And Then Some," a collection of her own recipes. Host Families Needed For Spanish Students

Seven Spanish students could be arriving in the Quincy area June 30 expecting a home to stay in and set getting no prospects.

Host families are desperately needed to share their homes with these kids for a few weeks while they learn about the country.

These students are part of the American Institute for Foreign Studies' "Summer in America" program.

Twenty-nine students are arriving on the South Shore for a few weeks to learn more about the American culture. Seven of them still do not have host families.

Kathy McNamara, area coordinator of AIFS, who is arranging the itinerary for these students, stresses that the students will present little trouble to the families they stay with.

"People needn't think it will be a big burden to care for the students," she says. "Host families do not need to have spacious homes or children of a certain age. All that is required is that you give a warm welcome and share your family hospitality for the month or part of it."

AIFS has a schedule of excursions planned for the students some of which include the host family. McNamara says the children only want to get acquainted with America.

"The kids don't expect to be entertained all of the time," she says. "They expect to do some exploring on their own."

All of the students speak English. Many of them have been to primarily English speaking countries before.

Families interested in sharing their home and their culture and learning a little about another culture in return may call Kathy McNamara at 472-3111 or 697-3937.

students developing a five year plan for their future. "It becomes apparent that adults do not give young ch enough responsibility," Fredrickson said.

At Quincy Vocati Technical School, Fredri has been cited for her wo with seventh and grade students in schools th the city and especially many at-risk students adjust and function Those who know her applaud her expertise, as we maintain classroom. Quincy Sun said Fredrick full certification in work and guidance.

"It is important youngsters identify adult world that the opportunity to look individual and ass about their careers they initially choose they do," she explains adding "it is also import that students today unde that gender gaps, although not entirely a thing of the pas should not prevent an obse to a career."

She urged guida counselors attending conference to help stud grow and to become in charg of their lives. "Students c set realistic goals about physical appearance and health; they can also ide their strengths and cope w them and with the help supportive adults they can and do create plans for future," she said.

Those students who are afraid make the most of high school years, who are academic in nature, setting Fredrickson said.

"That is why guidance counselors and teachers continue to have a responsibility to show young boys and girls how to plan and how to ready themselves for the future."

FR. WILLIAM McCARTHY, Fr. Daniel Graham, Deacon Joseph Papile, Fr. Gary Sullivan join in the festivities during Fr. Graham's special going-away liturgy at St. John's Sunday afternoon attended by hundreds of friends, relatives, religious, and young people. Fr. Graham was responsible for introducing balloons into various liturgical celebrations for children.

HUNDREDS OF BALLOONS were released outside St. John's Church as a tribute to Fr. Daniel Graham, associate pastor at St. John's for the past 13 years. During his assignment here Fr. Graham was responsible for many innovative changes in children's liturgies. Fr. Graham started a monthly Mass for children which included costumes, characters, and on occasion balloons.

Chris Peter Blood Drive July 19

The fourth annual Chris Peter Memorial Blood Drive will be held Tuesday, July 19 from 2 to 8 p.m. at the St. Thomas Aquinas Church Hall, 1000 Sea St., Houghs Neck.

In September 1984, at the age of 22, Chris Peter was killed by a drunk driver. In their son's memory, Charlie and Trudy Peter hold an annual blood drive to raise public awareness of the problem of drunk driving and ensure blood is available for those who need it.

A total of 308 units of blood have been collected over the last three years.

Babysitting will be available as well as homemade goodies for blood drive supporters.

Call the Peters at 471-9586 for information or a donation appointment.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

What is the right way to plan a funeral? It's planning ahead, before circumstances force you or your family to make rushed and difficult decisions at the time of need. By pre-planning a funeral, you gain several advantages.

Pre-Planning gives one a peace of mind, knowing that all the arrangements have been made and your family won't have to worry about it. Pre-planning makes your personal wishes known and ensures that they will be carried out the way you wish... We at the Deware Funeral Home will record your choices as to clergymen, music, Scripture readings, and the extent of the service, down to the smallest detail.

Finally, funeral pre-planning affords one the opportunity to make rational economic sound choices for your family to abide by at a time when they may not be fully capable of making these choices...

Yes, it's a sensible way to approach funeral planning ... Pre-planning is good planning.

We at the Deware Funeral Home are always available to provide you with more information on funeral services and pre-planning ... Call us ... there's no obligation.

Planning ahead can offer peace of mind...

It is only human to put things off. But getting planning for the event of one's death can spare a family many traumatic decisions and financial burdens. By pre-arranging the desires and wishes of one's funeral, burial and expenses can be specified to eliminate confusion, differences of opinion and difficult decisions on the part of family members. To ease this burden, we are making available to you FREE a booklet with all necessary information and forms to assist and guide you. Why not visit us or write for your FREE Pre-arrangement Booklet.

Booklet covers the following subjects.

- Funeral and Interment Preferences
- Vital Statistics and Data
- Survivors Information, Social Security, Insurance, Bank Accounts, Real Estate, Automobile, Safety Deposit Box, Savings Bonds, Stocks and Bonds, Retirement Accounts and Veterans Benefits.
- Pre-Arrangement Information

The 50th Year Celebration began Aug. 1, 1987 and culminates at an International Convention in Orlando in July.

4 Teachers Honored At Bank Of New England

Four Quincy elementary school teachers were honored recently for excellence in teaching at an award ceremony and reception held at Bank of New England's headquarters in Boston.

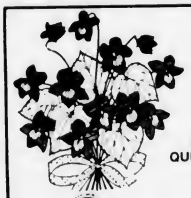
They are Virginia Kaylor, Margaret Kinsella, Mary Molloy, and Nancy Zamierowski.

The teachers completed an intensive two-week summer institute at Lesley College. This was supplemented with four follow-up sessions during the 1987-88 school year.

Each teacher received a $600 stipend from Bank of New England after completing the summer institute, and compensation for the school year sessions.

Christin Conroy Arts School Graduate

Christin I. Conroy, 18, of Quincy, recently graduated from the North Carolina School of the Arts (NCSA) with a high school diploma.



She was a high school senior studying ballet in the School of Dance at NCSA.

Miss Conroy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Conroy of Bunker Hill Lane, West Quincy.

2 Confirm Baptismal Vows At Squantum First Church

Kimberly Ann Olson and Lori Beth Ogilvie confirmed their baptismal vows at the First Church of Squantum Sunday during the morning service.

The two had participated in the Covenant of Discipleship for a year in preparation.

Assisting Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor, in giving the young women the right hand of Christian fellowship were Stewart Scott, Board of Deacons; Doug Barnum, Board of Trustees; Ellen Ogilvie, Board of Christian Education; and Ruth Swenson, Board of Benevolences. Kim's parents, Dana and Pat Olson; Lori's father, Alex Ogilvie; Lori's grandmothers, Hazel Mayne and Margaret Ogilvie, and Lori's great-grandmother, Katie Crossman.

Receiving the right hand of Christian fellowship is the way in which new members are received into the church.

The offertory anthem sung by the Chancel Choir was "Come, Thou Fount of Every Blessing" arranged by Hal M. Hopson. Mary Ruth Scott directed.

Peter Williamson sang "Quia Fecit Mihi Magna" by Bach. The words of the solo, which were taken from "The Magnificat," were "For He that is mighty has done great things for me, and holy is His name." (Luke 1:49).

Dr. Langevin preached on the subject, "On Remembering Who You Are." He also led the congregation in a special Father's Day prayer.

Hazel Mayne, Ruth and Luther Swenson were singled out for special recognition during the service for their leadership of the very successful church flea market which had been held Saturday.

Greeters for the morning were Janet Sumner and Doris Longmire. The ushers were Lore Wallin and Harry Holmes. The fellowship hour after the service, which was a reception for the two new members, was hosted by Delina Dougherty and Viola Wilner.

There will be an all-member party Thursday night at the home of Bill and Mary Ruth Scott to say good-bye to two members of the church, Peter Williamson and Gail Thornton, who are moving to California. Those who wish to attend should contact the Scotts at 328-5125.

This Sunday the morning worship service will begin at 10:30 a.m.

A SPECIAL COMMENDATION to Fr. William McCarthy, pastor of St. John's Church, was recently issued by the City Council in commemoration of the parish's 125th anniversary. From left are John Noonan, editor of St. John's News; Fr. McCarthy and City Councillor Ted DeCristofaro.

St. John's Begins 125th Anniversary With Vespers Friday

The official celebration of the 125th anniversary of St. John's Church gets underway with special vespers to be held at 7:30 p.m. Friday, the feast day of St. John the Baptist who is the patron saint of St. John's.

The general public is invited to attend.

Recently the Quincy City Council issued a special commendation to Fr. William McCarthy, pastor, to commemorate this parish milestone. Attending the City Council meeting when the presentation took place were John Noonan, editor of St. John's News; Fr. McCarthy, and Ward 2 City Councillor Ted DeCristofaro, in whose ward the church is located.

The commendation [illegible] in part: "In recognition [illegible] years of spiritual guidance and direction. The special church has served its flock with compassion, understanding, [illegible] back, we know it will continue, long beyond this milestone, to be a [illegible] strength to its community."

Guest Speaker At Covenant Congregational

Rev. Ralph Youngman, former pastor of the East Bridgewater Covenant Church, will be the guest Sunday at the 10 a.m. worship service at Covenant Congregational Church, Whitwell and Granite Sts.

Rev. Fred Lawson will be in Chicago for Covenant Annual Meetings.

The choir, directed and accompanied on the organ by Richard Smith, minister of music, will sing "Oh Jesus, I Have Promised" by Carter and "O Praise Jehovah" by Mozart, with a soprano solo by Luisa Dano. Mr. Smith will play "Prelude on Rhosymdre" by Vaughn-Williams as well as an organ response, offertory and postlude.

A nursery for all children age five and under is available during the worship service. The attendant next Sunday will be Nancy Johnson.

Following the church service, a coffee hour will be held in Person Hall. The Dano family will serve.

The board of trustees will meet in the Fireside Room following the morning worship service. All members are urged to attend.

On Sunday, July 3, the 10 a.m. worship service will be held outdoors (weather permitting) in the church park. Members are reminded to bring lawn chairs if they wish. Rev. Fred Lawson will preach and also sing a solo.

For more details about any of the church's activities, call the church office at 479-5728.

'First To Be Reconciled' Sermon At Bethany Church

During the summer months at Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center, there will be one worship service at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

This Sunday the Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach the sermon on the theme "First Be Reconciled." Tammy Vozzella will be the lay scripture reader.

The Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will serve as the liturgist and offer the pastoral prayer.

Jan Almeida, soprano, will be the guest soloist, with Peter F. Krasinski, Bethany's director of music at the organ console. She will sing two selections, Handel's "Hark, to the Still Small Voice" and a composition by Hummel, "Alleluia."

The Sunday school is closed during the summer. However, nursery care is provided for babies and small children.

The worship service [illegible] broadcast "live" direct [illegible] Bethany's sanctuary at [illegible] a.m. over radio station WJDA, 1300 kc.

A fellowship hour will be held in the Allen Parlor at [illegible] a.m. immediately following the worship service.

Individuals and families from the area are invited to come and share in both worship and fellowship.

For information concerning the ministries and programs of Bethany contact the church office at 479-7301.

Quincy Residents Honored By Pine Street Inn

Esmee Brooks and Joseph V. Herosy, both of Quincy, were honored recently by Pine Street Inn at its first annual awards recognition day.

Brooks has helped in both the men's and women's units, while Herosy served in the development area. Both have provided the homeless guests with the dignity and respect needed to survive.

In honor of their service, executive director Richard J. Ring presented them with the Pine Street Humanitarian Award. The award was given also to 49 other outstanding volunteers and 50 "food groups" who have served meals for 5 or more seats.

Wollaston Lutheran Delegates Attend Convention

Rev. Dr. Arthur H. Wismar, pastor, and Fred Cashman of Wollaston Lutheran Church were among delegates at the New England District of the Lutheran-Missouri Synod convention.

The convention was held recently at Holyoke College in South Hadley.

The convention's work included concerns [illegible] effective outreach [illegible] New England, development [illegible] among the clergy, laity and concern for [illegible] ministries.

Councillors Propose, McCauley Backs New Zoning Panel

A proposal introduced by four city councillors Monday night to create a new zoning panel that would have the authority to deny development projects on sites thought to be contaminated has the support of Mayor Francis McCauley.

"I am supportive of that proposal," McCauley said Tuesday.

Introduced by Councillors Tim Cahill, Lawrence Chretien, James Sheets and Theodore DeCristofaro, the proposal was referred to the Ordinance Committee for more careful study.

The panel would be comprised of three members, the building inspector, health commissioner and planning director. In essence, the special permit granting authority would shift the "burden of proof" to a developer. In turn, the developer would be required to make sure a certain site is clear of hazardous waste.

If passed by the council and signed by the mayor, the panel could withhold a building permit from developers if they cannot prove the parcel of land is safe.

"We're asking the developers to prove that the land is safe," said Cahill.

"In the long run, it will save the developer money. It may seem like another barrier to developers but it will save them money," he said.

According to Sheets, the special permit granting authority process is "long overdue."

"A number of sites have been determined to have hazardous waste. We have to deal with applicants in a consistent way.

"The applicant should always have to show that the site is safe," Sheets said.

Cahill said, "We're asking for developers to prove the land is safe. In the long run, it will save developers money.

"It may seem like a barrier to developers, but it will save them money," he said.

DeCristofaro, whose ward includes the former General Dynamics shipyard, voiced his support for the proposal.

Presently, the chief safeguard against building on contaminated land is the risk of liability to the developer. To obtain insurance against the risk, developers receive a 21E inspection by the state Department of Environmental Quality Engineering. The DEQE can also authorize a property owner to clean up toxic wastes.

However, these measures aren't enough to locate all the possible pollutants, councillors said.

Under the proposal, if the building inspector believed a piece of property was contaminated, he could then require the developer to seek a special permit from the new panel. The developer could appeal the building inspector's decision to the Zoning Board of Appeals.

Once a developer comes before the panel, the panel would then choose an environmental consultant, paid for by the developer. After hearing recommendations from the consultant, the panel would then determine the scope of tests to be performed.

If the tests showed the panel that development would be safe, then a special permit would be granted.

Boarding House Owner Given 6 Months To Upgrade Conditions

By CHRIS MAHONEY

Robert McManus, whose boarding house at 25 Shaw St., Quincy Point has generated complaints from neighbors and city officials alike, has been given a six month reprieve by the License Board to upgrade the conditions of the house and tenants or face revocation of his license.

If a valid complaint is received during those six months, said Police Chief Francis Finn during Tuesday's License Board meeting, then McManus license will be revoked permanently.

"If I had my way, we'd revoke your license right now," License Board Chairman John Gillis told McManus after the motion for the six month reprieve was granted.

According to Building Inspector Mathias Mulvey, McManus' appearance before the License Board in response to complaints is just one more round of a vicious cycle.

Neighbors of the boarding house have been complaining about McManus' neglect of the property and disregard for the neighborhood. One of the biggest problems concerns emptying the dumpster.

"Tenants of the boarding house have been calling and saying 'we have to use the dumpster across the street because our dumpster is full," said Health Inspector M. Jane Gallahue.

Rats have been seen in the area as a result of neglect of the dumpster, it was reported.

McManus has maintained that while there have been problems in the past, he has seen to them if notified and that there are now five emptyings of the dumpster a month.

"I don't think anyone should have to call you," said Gillis. "If you have a mess it's your responsibility."

Among the staunchest and most voluble critics of McManus' management of the boarding house was Ward 2 Councillor Ted DeCristofaro.

"I'm sick and tired of being up here," DeCristofaro said during the meeting. "There has to be better things for me to do than be up here" in regards to the boarding house problem. "If something isn't done, there will be more problems than you (McManus) think," he told McManus.

According to DeCristofaro, people have been calling him at 3 a.m. with complaints regarding the boarding house. He also said that he is yet to receive a list from McManus detailing the tenants of the boarding house.

"Your tenants are my problem and I'm sick and tired of your tenants keeping me awake," he said.

Complaints also stemmed from the conduct of the rooming house's tenants.

Neighbors complained about stereos blasting, children from the house beating other children up, beer cans thrown in other yards, and at one point a tenant was reported urinating off the house's porch.

Finn cited a letter written by a woman neighbor complaining about foul language and beer cans.

"If that lady calls me," McManus responded, "I'll rectify (the situation)." McManus also said "there is not one violation on that building."

Many of the people who brought up complaints said attempts to reach McManus have been unsuccessful. It's a state law that phone numbers of people renting out space should be posted on the side of the building. The number on the side of 25 Shaw St. is McManus' old phone number, it was reported.

"(McManus') attorney has heard from me many times," said Jane Reikard, executive secretary of the Rent Grievance Board. "McManus used to answer my calls."

Reikard said there is a large need for rooming houses in Quincy. This is the reason Finn made the motion to give McManus a six month period to clean up the rooming house before his license is revoked.

Summer Shopper's Festival At Wollaston Center July 8-9

The Wollaston Center Business Association is sponsoring its annual Wollaston Summer Shopper's Festival Friday and Saturday, July 8 and 9.

The sale will feature smart buys by many Wollaston area merchants.

Participating members will contribute prizes for a drawing which will be held July 9.

Coupons for the prizes will appear in the July 7 issue of The Quincy Sun.

The coupons must be filled out and deposited with their respective stores by Saturday afternoon.

Toland Introduces City Employee Pension Resolve

City Council President Patricia Toland has introduced a resolve which would allow employees of the city of Quincy who reach the age of 70 to continue to contribute to the retirement system until they leave the employment of the city.

"This will help our employees to receive a pension that is directly related to the duration of their employment which is only fair," said Toland.

Toland called "highly discriminatory" the present policy of cutting off the employees' ability to contribute to the retirement system at age 70.

"It should no longer exist," she concluded.

James Hartford Elected Quincy Legion Commander

The entire slate of candidates for office positions in the Quincy Legion Post ran unopposed during the recent elections.

The officers are:

James W. Hartford, post commander; Lindsay Lisan, senior vice commander; Tom Werra, junior vice commander; Ed Sherman, finance officer; Anthony Padula, assistant finance officer; Gary Taylor, historian; Robert L. Ing, service officer; John M. Corcoran, judge advocate; Warren J. Demers, assistant judge advocate; Milton Emsweiler, Americanism officer; Theodore N. Mysiak, graves registration officer; Gerald J. Leibrandt, William J. Hurley and Charles N. Peters, trustees of burial lot, and Anthony Bitto, Robert J. Bannister, Carl J. Symonds, Albert Marobella, and Tom Werra Jr., the executive committee.

License Board Briefs

The city's License Board took the following action at Tuesday's meeting at City Hall:

- Granted a request from the Masonic Temple Association of Quincy, Inc. for five one-day liquor licenses during a fund drive with a three act play between July 29 and Aug. 6 from 7:15 to 9:30 p.m.
- Granted a request from the Wollaston Center Business Association for 20 to 30 tables to be set up on the sidewalk Saturday, July 9 during the summer festival.
- Gave Kelly's Pub & Grub, 21-27 Billings Rd., three months to get a building permit and have the basement men's room repaired so that there is a second means of egress from the basement.
- Denied a request from George J. Litil, representing the prospective operator of a Chinese restaurant at 34 School St., for a common victualer license. The parking and traffic situations in that area are dangerous, it was noted.
- Granted a request from the Woodward School for a one day all alcoholic license for the school's Las Vegas Nite June 25.
- Carried over for next week a request from Raffael Bruzzere for a body shop for repairing and painting cars at 640 Washington St.
- Continued until next week a hearing regarding complaints at Dairy Mart East, Inc., 200 Sea St. of an illegal pinball machine, for not properly transferring the license when the present owner took over, and for not complying with 15 agreements on the common victualer license.
- Granted St. Mary's parish permission for a carnival on the school grounds June 22 through 25 only pending a go-ahead from Building Inspector Mathias Mulvey.

Scott Mann Wins Thayer Honor

Scott Mann of Quincy, a freshman at Thayer Academy in Braintree, recently won a Most Improved Freshman English Student Prize from the school.

He received the award during a ceremony held at the academy's East Chapel which officially brought the school year to a close.

Salvaggi Named Architect Quincy Housing Project

Richard J. Salvaggi - Architects, Quincy, has won a contract with the city to provide architectural services for the renovation and conversion of a single family structure into eight affordable housing units.

The two story wooden structure's rehabilitation is being overseen by the Quincy Affordable Housing Development Corporation (QAHDC) through the city's Department of Planning and Community Development.

The Hancock St. architectural firm will be responsible for developing design-construction documents and will assist the QAHDC in administration for the $100,000 construction project. Now vacant, the structure is being moved from 44 Bigelow St. to a Phipps St. site behind St. John's Church. The parcel is owned by the Archdiocese of Boston.

Upon completion, the 30 by 40-foot building will house eight single room housing units. Salvaggi, a Quincy resident, will oversee all aspects of the design and construction.

Salvaggi's architectural firm has worked on similar housing projects in the recent past. Projects have included renovations to a single family home in Boston converted to four rental units, renovations to a Roxbury apartment building being converted to multi-unit housing for college students, and conversion of a Quincy single family home into rental units.

This year alone, the firm has completed projects for both new and renovated buildings ranging in construction costs from $65,000 to $10,000,000.

18 Scoreless Innings For Morrisette Hurlers

By STEVE KAVANAGH

Morrisette pitchers threw 18 innings of shutout ball at opponents last week while improving the team's record to 2-0.

Morrisette's Eric DeBoer and Braintree's Ted Novio hooked up in a classic pitching duel. Both hurlers pitched 11 innings of scoreless baseball as the game was called at 11:45 p.m. with the score 0-0. The Adams Field curfew states that no inning may begin which could not be completed before midnight. The game will be played over later in the season.

In Morrisette's other game, Wayne Chambers and Kevin MacDougal combined for a 3-hit shutout and a 7-0 win over Randolph.

DeBoer, the 16-year-old fireballer from North Quincy High, allowed seven hits, struck out 15 and walked five. Earlier, in his first Legion start, DeBoer pitched a 2-hit, 12 strikeout game against Wollaston.

Novio, a four-year Legion veteran currently pitching for the University of Maine, allowed just six hits, struck out 11, and walked just one batter.

Many in the large crowd stayed until the end, which seemed fitting, as neither pitcher deserved to lose. Many long-time fans said it was the best Legion contest they had ever seen.

Catcher Rick DelVecchio had two hits and two walks in five trips to the plate for Braintree. Morrisette's Billy MacDougal was 3 for 5 against Novio.

Morrisette's other hits were singles by Rob MacDonald, Chambers and Brian Taylor.

Chambers allowed three hits and a walk while striking out five in three innings against Randolph at Adams Field. Chambers was replaced by MacDougal after he developed a blister. MacDougal walked two and struck out six in four innings of no-hit ball.

Morrisette scored all the runs it would need in the first inning. Bill MacDougal was hit by a pitch and Ed Flavin singled him to third. Flavin took second on the throw. Taylor belted a single to score MacDougal and Flavin scored on a sacrifice fly by McDonald.

Morrisette buried Randolph in the third inning with four more runs. Billy MacDougal beat out a bunt, Flavin singled, and Dan Biagini doubled home MacDougal. Flavin and Biagini scored on Taylor's single. Taylor took third on Jeff Calvet's single and scored on Ron Fletcher's sacrifice fly.

The winners added another run in the fifth. Taylor and MacDonald singled and Calvet plated Taylor with a sacrifice fly.

Taylor had three hits and three RBI, Billy MacDougal reached base four times including a triple, and Flavin had two hits.

Morrisette and Mass Truck of Weymouth were rained out of Friday's game and will reschedule the contest.

Morrisette will play Quincy at Adams Friday, and will be at Holbrook Monday night. Morrisette will face Wollaston again next Thursday at Adams.

AILEEN SMITH of North Quincy recently advanced to the quarterfinals in the Virginia Slims pre-qualifier tournament at the International Tennis Hall of Fame, Newport, R.I. The winner, Jackie Farrell of Revere, will play in the qualifying tournament and stands a chance to enter the main draw of professionals competing at the Virginia Slims of Newport to be played in July.

Quincy Drops Close Pair

Quincy Legion lost two close contests last week, one a slugfest and the other a tight pitchers' duel, and had another game called because of darkness.

Wollaston defeated Quincy, 15-12, despite a strong comeback by Quincy. Wollaston pounded out 10 hits and drew four walks while building a 14-2 lead after two innings.

Quincy then blasted two Wollaston pitchers over the next few innings scoring seven runs. However, Wollaston's Chris Higgins came in to shut the door on Quincy, allowing just one run over the final three innings.

Quincy led Canton, 8-6, after three-and-a-half innings when the game was called due to darkness. The game will be played over later in the season.

Jim Kearns belted a double and two singles against Canton and Jim Dennis, Peter Tutts, Nick Dragone, Mike Toland, and Robbie Higgins each singled. Joe Taylor pitched well for Quincy.

Mass Trucks edged Quincy, 1-0, on a wild pitch with two out in the last of the seventh. Despite pitching a superb game Dennis suffered the loss. Quincy played probably its finest defensive game in five years, said coach Dick Laracy. Shortstop Tim Baker and second baseman Higgins each made some sparkling plays. Peter McLaughlin played third base for the first time this season and played a solid game.

Bill Mulkern, Dennis, Dragone, and McLaughlin each had singles for Quincy.

Quincy, 2-2, will play at Braintree Wednesday (yesterday) at 7:30 p.m. and will face Morrisette Friday at 8:15 p.m. at Adams Field. Quincy will host Milton at Adams Monday at 8:15 p.m. and will play at Holbrook Tuesday at 8:30 p.m.

Wollaston Slips To 2-3

Wollaston Legion slipped to 2-3 as it won one and lost two last week.

Wollaston was edged, 2-0, by Holbrook despite an excellent pitching performance by J.J. Steen who allowed just six hits. Wollaston managed just three hits, however.

Wollaston exploded for 14 runs in the first two innings against Quincy Legion and managed to hold on for a 15-12 victory.

Scott Logan, Sean Thompson, and Chris Higgins paced the Wollaston attack. Mike Connor pitched sharp ball for Quincy as he shut down Wollaston from the second to the seventh inning.

Quincy trimmed the lead until Higgins came on in relief allowing just one run over the final three innings. Bill Mulkern, Jim Kearns and Jim Dennis were Quincy's top offensive guns.

First place Braintree overcame a 3-1 deficit to defeat Wollaston, 5-3.

Bill Bellew, Steen, Higgins, Logan and Rob Keddy all figured in Wollaston's three-run first inning. Braintree pitcher Brian MacDevitt settled down and silenced the Wollaston bats the rest of the way. Higgins pitched well for Wollaston allowing six hits while striking out six.

Wollaston was at Milton Wednesday and hosts Mass Truck of Weymouth Thursday (tonight) at Adams Field. Wollaston will travel to Lynn to compete in a tournament Friday at 5 p.m.

Wareham Named To All-Scholastic Outdoor Track Team

Harry Wareham, 66 Bay State Rd., Quincy, a 1988 graduate of Don Bosco Technical High School in Boston, was recently named to The Boston Globe's All-Scholastic Outdoor Track team.

In naming him, the Globe wrote, "A senior, Wareham emerged under coach Richie Hart this year and developed into an outstanding high jumper and 300-meter intermediate hurdler.

"Wareham cleared 6 feet, 8 inches indoors and won the New England championship. Outdoors, he went 6-8 to win at the State Coaches meet, where he also won the 300 hurdles in a meet record of 38.6 seconds.

"Wareham also won both events in the Class A at the EMass championships, clearing 6-6 in the high jump and running 38.9 in the hurdles.

"At the state meet he won the hurdles in 38.2 but failed to clear a height when he entered the high jump at 6-4. He was named the outstanding senior athlete at Don Bosco. He will attend either Northeastern or Blinn College."

The Globe also named his coach, Richard Hart, the 1988 Outdoor Track Coach of the Year.

Giants Clinch Top Spot With 10-3 Record

The Giants coached by Bob Pirelli and Art Carthas, have clinched the Junior Farm top spot with an outstanding season record of 10-3-0.

Being one of the newest expansion teams, the Giants played hard all season to earn the top spot, and the opportunity to advance to the playoffs.

"I knew that we had the National League wrapped up," said coach Pirelli, "but when we got word of the Tigers' loss to the Red Sox, it was a double bonus. The kids went crazy."

"The Giants are the finest group I have ever worked with," he said.

The Giants closed out the regular season with a seven-game win streak, including a 10-2 season-ending victory over the Mets.

Robbie Pirelli went the distance on the mound, hurling a seven-hitter and striking out 11.

Justin Stavros, Mike O'Neill and Co-Captain Mike Nantel hit towering homeruns as Pirelli and Captain Eric Strauss went three for three. Also connecting key hits were John Laukkanen, Kevin Sullivan and Shawn Manning.

Standing out defensively were Pat Coughlin, Chuck Feeley, Pat McGann and Jeurik Samborski.

The Giants were scheduled to play the Braves this week in a best of three series at Pageant Field.

Bryan Defeats Elks, Sons Of Italy

Bryan Post won two games in recent Babe Ruth League action, downing the Elks, 4-2, and the Sons of Italy, 5-3.

Against the Elks, Steven Waas picked up the win in a fine performance, scattering five hits while striking out seven and walking no one.

Bryan took a 1-0 lead in the first on an unearned run as Mark Kelleher reached on an error, stole third base and scored on a wild pitch.

The Elks tied it at 1-1 in the second on John Kelly's RBI single.

Bryan scored three runs in the third. With two outs, Rob Kane singled and Steven Loud walked. Both scored on Kelleher's hit. Waas then hit a run-producing double scoring Kelleher.

The Elks countered with one run in the bottom of the third on Tom Bianco's double and Dana Gurwitch's single.

Both Waas and the Elks' Bill Warren then pitched shutout ball over the last four innings.

The game ended on a dramatic double play in the seventh. Elks Tim Collins led off with a long triple. With one out, Bianco flied out to centerfielder Michael Malvesti who unleashed a strong throw to double up the runner trying to score.

Kelleher and Waas each doubled and singled to lead the Bryan offense. Malvesti doubled and Joe Marnikovic, Chris Stenmon and Kane each singled.

Pat Clifford had the remaining Elks' hit.

Catcher Kelleher had another outstanding defensive game for Bryan. Don Anderson, Paul Murphy, Todd Portesi, Tom Nutley, Terry Sheehan and Phil Bell also contributed to the Bryan win.

Warren pitched an excellent game for the Elks, striking out eight.

Against the Sons of Italy, Bryan also won another close game by a 5-3 score. Steven Loud pitched a strong game for Bryan, outdueling SOI's Ed Rizzitano.

Bryan jumped out to a 1-0 lead in the top of the first as Mark Kelleher singled, stole second and scored on Steven Waas' hit.

SOI evened the score at 1-1 in the bottom of the first on Eric Fagerland's RBI single.

Bryan took a 3-1 lead in the second on Michael Malvesti's long triple, excellent baserunning by Kevin Mullay and Chris Stenmon's single.

Sons of Italy made it 3-2 in the fourth on singles by John Gladu and Mike McDonald.

Bryan scored twice in the sixth on Joe Marnikovic's out-of-the-park ground rule double and hard extra-base hits by Mullay and McDonough.

SOI rallied in the last inning on successive singles by Sean Herron, Gladu and McDonald, but Loud bore down and got the last batter to pop-up.

Rob Kane, Tom Nutley, Phil Bell, Terry Sheehan and Todd Portesi also contributed to the Bryan victory.

Peter Ryan played very well at first base for SOI.

KEITH EGAN of Quincy recently completed his sophomore year at Norwich University where he threw the shot put, discus and javelin on the 5-3 track team. Egan won the N.E. championship in the shot with a toss of 49-8. Egan, son of William and Catherine Egan, is a 1986 graduate of Abp. Willimas High and is majoring in recreation.

Granite City Electric Downs Police

In recent Quincy Babe Ruth baseball action, Granite City Electric defeated the Quincy Police 5-3 in a well-played game.

Granite City bunched three of their five hits in the fifth inning to break open a tight pitching duel between Granite City's premier pitcher Dave Gamsby and Liam Higgins, an outstanding 13-year-old hurler for the Police club.

In the fifth, Vin Anderlonis singled. Gamsby singled and hard-hitting Andy Colleary doubled to right field. Colleary scored when Ed Costello reached on an error.

Gamsby scattered seven hits, striking out six while walking only two in a workmanlike effort.

Mike Picariello collected two singles for Granite City and played well at second base. Centerfielder George Walsh was a defensive standout for G.C.E.

The game's hitting star was leftfielder Ronnie Boudreau of the Police who had three hits including a boomer triple to centerfield.

Shortstop Chris Cuni had a single. [illegible] catcher Tyler White had two singles and first baseman Ralph Bevilacqua also singled.

Playing well defensively for the Police were third baseman Sean Cafferty and Cunio.

Also contributing to the Granite City win were Andy Veneziano, Theresa Elwood, Mike MacDougall, Wayne Sit, Dave Jolley and Brian Jennette.

Sean McGinn On Dean's List

Sean F. McGinn of 15 Petrel Rd., Adams Shore, has been named to the dean's list at Carnegie Mellon University, Pittsburgh, Pa. He is a senior in the College of Industrial Management.

Bryan Defeats Elks, Sons Of Italy

Bryan Post won two games in recent Babe Ruth League action, downing the Elks, 4-2, and the Sons of Italy, 5-3.

Against the Elks, Steven Waas picked up the win in a fine performance, scattering five hits while striking out seven and walking no one.

Bryan took a 1-0 lead in the first on an unearned run as Mark Kelleher reached on an error, stole third base and scored on a wild pitch.

The Elks tied it at 1-1 in the second on John Kelly's RBI single.

Bryan scored three runs in the third. With two outs, Rob Kane singled and Steven Toud walked. Both scored on Kelleher's hit. Waas then hit a run-producing double, scoring Kelleher.

The Elks countered with one run in the bottom of the third on Tom Bourcy's double and Dana Gurwitch's single.

Both Waas and the Elks' Bill Warren then pitched shutout ball over the last four innings.

The game ended on a dramatic double play in the seventh. Elks Tim Collins led off with a long triple. With one out, Bianco flied out to centerfielder Michael Malvesti, who unleashed a strong throw to double up the runner trying to score.

Kelleher and Waas each doubled and singled to lead the Bryan offense. Malvesti doubled and Joe Marnikovic, Chris Stenmon and Kane each singled.

Pat Clifford had the remaining Elks' hit.

Catcher Kelleher had another outstanding defensive game for Bryan. Don Anderson, Paul Murphy, Todd Portesi, Tom Nutley, Terry Sheehan and Phil Bell also contributed to the Bryan win.

Warren pitched an excellent game for the Elks, striking out eight.

Against the Sons of Italy, Bryan also won another close game by a 5-3 score. Steven Toud pitched a strong game for Bryan, outdueling SOI's Ed Rizzitano.

Bryan jumped out to a 1-0 lead in the top of the first as Mark Kelleher singled, stole second and scored on Steven Waas' hit.

SOI evened the score at 1-1 in the bottom of the first on Eric Fagerland's RBI single.

Bryan took a 3-1 lead in the second on Michael Malvesti's long triple, excellent baserunning by Kevin Mullay and Chris Stenmon's single.

Sons of Italy made it 3-2 in the fourth on singles by John Gladu and Mike McDonald.

Bryan scored twice in the sixth on Joe Marnikovic's out-of-the-park ground rule double and hard extra-base hits by Mullay and McDonough.

SOI rallied in the last inning on successive singles by Sean Herron, Gladu and McDonald, but Toud bore down and got the last batter to pop-up.

Rob Kane, Tom Nutley, Phil Bell, Terry Sheehan and Todd Portesi also contributed to the Bryan victory.

Peter Ryan played very well at first base for SOI.

KEITH EGAN of Quincy recently completed his sophomore year at Norwich University where he threw the shot put, discus and javelin on the 5-3 track team. Egan won the N.E. championship in the shot with a toss of 49-8. Egan, son of William and Catherine Egan, is a 1986 graduate of Abp. Willimas High and is majoring in recreation.

Sean McGinn On Dean's List

Sean F. McGinn of 15 Petrel Rd., Adams Shore, has been named to the dean's list at Carnegie Mellon University, Pittsburgh, Pa.

He is a senior in the College of Industrial Management.

Granite City Electric Downs Police

In recent Quincy Babe Ruth baseball action, Granite City Electric defeated the Quincy Police 5-3 in a well-played game.

Granite City bunched three of their five hits in the fifth inning to break open a tight pitching duel between Granite City's premier pitcher Dave Gamsby and Larry Higgins, ace pitcher for the Police club.

In the fifth, Vin Anderlionis singled, Gamsby singled and hard-hitting Andy Colleary doubled to right field. Colleary scored when Ed Costello reached on an error.

Gamsby scattered seven hits, striking out six while walking only two in a workmanlike effort.

Mike Picarie collected two singles for Granite City and played well at second base. Centerfielder George Walsh was a defensive standout for G.C.E.

The game's hitting star was lefthielder Ronnie Boudreau of the Police who had three hits including a boomer triple to centerfield.

Shortstop Chris Cuni had a single while catcher Peter White had two singles and first baseman Ralph Bevilacqua also singled.

Playing well defensively for the Police were third baseman Sean Cafferty and Cunio.

Also contributing to the Granite City win were Andy Veneziano, Theresa Elwood, Mike MacDougall, Wayne Sit, Dave Jolley and Brian Jennette.

Recreation Dept. Sponsoring Summer Sports Camps

The Quincy Recreation Department will again sponsor its popular summer sports camps and instructional workshop program.

A new offering has been added this year to bring to 10 the number of camps and workshops that the department supervises on a self-supporting basis.

The new activity is "Youth Garden Workshop" and this special program will be a hands-on gardening program conducted on the grounds of the Lincoln Hancock School. Boys and girls ages eight and above will have the opportunity to participate Mondays, Wednesdays or Fridays for six weeks. The gardeners will nurture plants from seeds to harvest and will participate in a variety of hands-on gardening activities including composting, corn grinding, canning, insect collecting and many gardening related crafts.

A large variety of vegetables and flowers will be grown in the Quincy Youth Garden. This program will be under the supervision of Steve Cantelli, an elementary school teacher in the Quincy Public Schools. One of the special features of this program is that the produce from the children's garden will be donated to the Quincy Homeless Shelter.

The camps added to the Recreation Department in 1982 have become increasingly popular each year. Recreation Director Barry Welch said, "These camps and workshops have been designed to give Quincy residents a low cost alternative for youngsters who desire specialized instruction without the high cost usually associated with residential camps."

Registration for all of the 1988 programs will begin Monday, June 20 and will continue weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the Recreation Department Office at 100 Southern Artery. Enrollment is limited and is taken on a first come first served basis.

Fines Increase For 7 Traffic Violations Gets Approval

An ordinance that would increase the line for seven traffic violations from $5 to $15 was passed by the Ordinance Committee Monday night and given a verbal okay by Mayor Francis McCauley Tuesday.

Committee Chairman Michael Cheney, Ward 1 Councillor, said the ordinance will come before the council at its next meeting, Monday, June 27.

The mayor said he will sign it.

As submitted by the Quincy Traffic Commission, fines would increase to $15 for the following traffic violations: parking at a fire hydrant, crosswalk, sidewalk or intersection; double parking, and parking in a posted tow zone, bus stop, restricted place and within 20 feet of a corner.

Ward 5 Councillor Charles Phelan said in support of the ordinance, "I think these (increases) are long overdue. They're all in the interest of public safety."

Ward 3 Councillor Lawrence Chretien also voiced his approval, saying the current $5 fines allow people to "gamble" with illegal parking.

"At $15, it (the increase) has some bite to it," he said.

Police Chief Francis Finn appeared before the council and said the department "totally supports" the increase.

Recycling, Composting Would Cut Waste Stream

Quincy should implement a recycling program of newsprint and leaves this fall, authors of a recycling report told the City Council Monday night.

The report, prepared by Alternative Resources, Inc., for the Quincy Recycling Task Force said recycling newsprint and composting leaves would eliminate 11 percent of the city's waste stream.

This in turn would save thousands of dollars in collection and disposal costs.

"The benefit would arrive from avoided disposal costs," says James Binder, president of Alternative Resources.

Residents would be asked to set aside newsprint and leaves at the curb twice a month. Newspapers would be tied together with string or twine or bundled into bags while leaves would be put into large biodegradable bags provided by the city.

About 90,000 bags would be needed. The distribution program is uncertain at this time.

An initial investment of $631,000 to cover capital costs and first-year operating costs is required before the program can start.

Mayor Francis McCauley said Tuesday that he will review the study before making any decisions on appropriations for the program.

According to the consultants, savings on waste disposal costs would cut the first year of the program to $205,607 and that the city could expect to save $134,382 during the second year of the program.

According to Binder, the initial capital costs would be paid off within 28 months and Quincy would have a net savings of $250,000 a year by the fiscal year 1993.

"It's very good from an economic standpoint," Binder said, referring to the newsprint-compost program.

If the recycling program were to be expanded to include metals, plastics and glass, savings could reach $500,000.

The report was based on 80-90 percent resident participation.

Councillors agreed that something must be done to reduce the volume of waste in Quincy.

"Recycling is the best step we could take in solving the solid waste problem in Quincy," said Ward 6 Councillor Thomas Nutley.

Nutley said the simplest recycling program for residents to adjust to would be newsprint.

Councillor Timothy Cahill said he favors composting leaves because that would take place only once a year, in the fall.

"It wouldn't be a major change in lifestyle," he said.

Councillor James Sheets said, "We have to find a method to reduce the volume of waste we dispose of."

Ward 2 Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro said the public needs to be educated in order to obtain the 80 to 90 percent participation rate.

The report states that leaves, which are five percent of the city's waste, could be recycled and converted into compost at a facility at the West Quincy land fill.

Binder said there is not a market for compost, but it could be given to residents or landscape companies or used to cap the city's landfill.

Newsprint comprises 10 percent of Quincy's waste and could be recycled at 65 percent efficiency. If this rate were attained, 2,660 tons of paper would be recycled. It could then be sold for $3 to $10.

The main savings would come from cutting disposal costs. According to the report, Quincy is paying BFI $85 per ton this year, and will pay $90 per ton in 1989 and $99 per ton in 1990.

Vending Vehicles Parking Ordinance Proposed

The City Council Ordinance Committee Monday approved a proposed ordinance that would allow vending vehicles, such as ice cream trucks, to park legally on the same side of the street within a park area.

The proposal will be advertised before a final vote by the City Council.

The ordinance, introduced by Councillor Timothy Cahill, amends Section 10, Chapter 9 of the Revised Ordinances of the City of Quincy to allow the sale from a vehicle parked within a public park or playground or on that portion of a public way being immediately adjacent to the lot line of the public park or playground, provided the said vehicle is parked in a legally permitted area.

This ordinance change would apply to only vending vehicles, not foot peddlers or hawkers, Cahill said.

Cahill said this change is for safety reasons, in that it would now make it legal for vendors such as ice cream trucks to park near a park and away from busy intersections.

3 Quincy Artists In Milton Exhibit

Three Quincy artists are featured in the juried gallery exhibition, "25th anniversary of the Milton Art Association," held at the Gallery Cafe in The Milton Marketplace, and two of the three were named winners.

Helen Shaw of Quincy was a winner in the category which included media other than conventional oils and water colors.

Carol Bottary of Quincy was a top winner in the category of oils.

Louise Swindells of Quincy, who works with watercolors, was invited to participate in the show. She, as is the other two, is a member of the Milton Art Association.

The exhibition, which will run at the cafe through July 9, marks the conclusion of the fourth season of gallery exhibitions held at the Gallery Cafe.

The exhibition presently showing at the Gallery was judged from Milton's annual Hometown Show, which took place in May.

Strawberry Festival At Christ Church

Food, crafts, and other attractions will be available at the Strawberry Festival this Saturday at Christ Church grounds, 12 Quincy Ave., from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The festival is sponsored by Christ Church Workshop.

Strawberry shortcake, hot dogs, books, plants, a cake table, crafts, and a white elephant table will be featured.

Atlantic Center Plans Cape, La Salette Trips

An excursion to Cape Cod for lunch and shopping and a trip to La Salette, Festival of Flowers, are being offered by the Atlantic Neighborhood Center for June 27 and July 18.

The Cape trip includes lunch at Grandma's Restaurant on Buzzards Bay and a trip to the Christmas Tree Shop in Sandwich.

Reading Program Getting Bigger At Parker School

A rather interesting dragon has invaded Francis W. Parker Elementary School in Wollaston.

And as long as the students, faculty, and staff keep voluntarily reading books, the dragon is going to get bigger.

It's a "reading dragon" and it's part of this new motto at Parker School: The more you read, the more you know. The more you know, the more you grow.

Everyone at the school from Principal Daniel Malvesta on down reads books at home. The book, author, and reader are written on a paper scale and the scale is then added onto the dragon. The colorful creature now has thousands of scales.

Mary O'Brien, along with other parents, has helped to maintain the dragon.

Adams Shore Restaurant Trip

The Adams Shore Community Center is sponsoring a trip to Whites Restaurant, Westport, July 14.

Cooking Expert Featured On Cable Talk

This week's "Cable Talk" program with host John Noonan features cooking expert and nutritionist Connie Cahill from Perdue Kitchens.

Perdue is known for its chicken and has developed turkey and turkey parts which are available year round.

Cahill and Noonan prepare several delicious entrees using turkey as its main component.

This edition of "Cable Talk" was videotaped on location in the kitchen of St. John's Rectory.

The show can be seen Thursday at 9 p.m. on Channel 3 in Quincy, Milton and Randolph.

Registration Starts For Youth Garden Workshop

Recreation Director Barry Welch announces that the Quincy Recreation Department is accepting registration for its new Youth Garden Workshop which will be held Mondays, or Wednesdays, or Fridays, July 6-Aug. 12.

Registration will be taken on a first come first serve basis at the Quincy Recreation Department, 100 Southern Artery, Monday-Friday, 8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m. as long as openings still exist.

This new camp is a special program which will be a hands-on gardening program conducted on the grounds of the Lincoln Hancock School. Boys and girls ages eight and above will have the opportunity to participate on Mondays, Wednesdays or Fridays for six weeks. The gardeners will nurture plants from seeds to harvest and will participate in a variety of hands-on gardening activities including composting, corn grinding, canning, insect collecting, and many gardening related crafts. A large variety of vegetables and flowers will be grown in the Quincy Youth Garden. This program will be under the supervision of Steve Cantelli, an elementary school teacher in the Quincy Public Schools.

One of the special features of this program is that the produce from the childrens' garden will be donated to the Quincy Homeless Shelter. Camp director is Steve Cantelli, elementary school teacher in the Quincy Public Schools. Location is the grounds of Lincoln Hancock Community School. Ages: Boys and girls at least eight years of age. Time: 8:30 a.m. - 11:30 a.m. Cost is $13.

WEEK OF: June 23

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
People who know you find you sympathetic, cautious, and the owner of a vivid imagination. But you can be touchy -- and sometimes find it hard to forgive. Renewed commitment -- to an individual and to an idea -- is the theme of the coming six months. Early '89 favors new directions in career or education.

AQUARIUS – January 21 - February 19
Friends find you uncommonly perceptive and empathetic at this time. Long-distance information comes after a delay. Be prepared for people to change their minds -- again.

PISCES – February 20 - March 20
Self-improvement and renewed self-confidence are the week's themes. Perhaps you consider signing up for a class in assertive thinking. Good week for making plans for summer diversions.

ARIES – March 21 - April 20
If entering into negotiations of any sort, be equipped with background information. The arts play an unusually important part in your life through this period.

TAURUS – April 21 - May 22
Weekend arrangements go off without a hitch, but advance plans are the key here. Artistic abilities win praise. Attention to miniscule details is critical at the workplace.

GEMINI – May 23 - June 21
Your knack for coordinating activities can lead to a project's early completion. Invitation to an unusual event arrives during this period. Be super careful if making any estimates.

CANCER – June 22 - July 22
Supervisory tasks occupy your time. You may be asked to become a member of a prestigious organization. Partner may be dropping hints -- it's up to you to find them.

LEO – July 23 - August 22
Creative thinking at work can give you the edge in landing a plum assignment. Relationships prove more cordial. Travel planning is highlighted through the weekend. Intriguing correspondence arrives.

VIRGO – August 23 - September 22
Financial arrangements require careful attention before you agree to the terms. Mechanical tasks require quick and professional attention. Watch tendency to overindulge in rich foods or too much sun.

LIBRA – September 23 - October 22
The summer season starts on an upbeat note. You may be hearing that a favorite friend will visit. Community related activities may be less straightforward than you thought.

SCORPIO – October 23 - November 21
Small event may trigger a major inspiration, leading to a key achievement by the end of this period. On a light note, children add unexpected diversion to the weekend.

SAGITTARIUS – November 22 - December 22
Variety is the essence of a week that involves spontaneous travel, romantic revival, and visits to a surprise destination. Money matters may dominate time after the weekend.

CAPRICORN – December 23 - January 20
Some interesting travel opportunities may be available; the key here is to keep eyes and ears wide open. Be extra careful about dishing out advice; it may backfire.

City Launches Centennial Celebration

By RUTH WAINWRIGHT

Several hundred residents were at McIntyre Mall Sunday for the kick-off activities of Quincy's Centennial.

Rose Drohan, 102, was there, despite the intense heat, but not the Centennial baby, Caitlin Marie Kelly, only a week old.

More than 200 attended the ecumenical Thanksgiving Service at First Parish Church, and the Quincy Alumni Band Concert at Ruth Gordon Amphitheater.

And, thousands crowded Quincy Shore Drive, adjoining streets, Pageant Field, and roads along the shoreline from Houghs Neck to Squantum for the climax of the day's celebration - a fireworks spectacular.

Enthusiasm was high about the colorful and noisy aerial displays fired from a barge in Quincy Bay - up to a finale which did not materialize.

"It was a technical thing on the barge," explained Barry Welch, Quincy director of Recreation and fireworks committee chairman. "The rockets (for the finale) were fired prematurely and much too quickly, lasting 35 seconds instead of a minute and a half."

After a 15-minute or so delay while spectators waited, traffic got underway.

"There were no traffic problems," Welch said.

Safety precautions were taken by Quincy Police and Fire Departments, Quincy Civil Defense under Tony Siciliano, the Metropolitan District Commission, and a boat patrol.

At McIntyre Mall, Baron Hugo and his five piece band opened festivities promptly and continued for two hours, with popular music, vocal solos, and sing-alongs.

Joyce Baker, cochairwoman with Eugene Creedon of the Quincy School Department, welcomed the gathering and introduced the special guests.

State Senator Paul Harold said of the date and place: "It is appropriate to honor our founding fathers on Father's Day, and on this site, the basis of town government, religious worship, town services and public safety 100 years ago."

Mayor Francis McCauley outlined Quincy's beginnings as a city 100 years ago, noting "This will be a year we will not forget."

SENATOR Paul Harold describes the Quincy of the 1880's.

City Council President Patricia Toland spoke briefly. She introduced Councillors Timothy Cahill, Thomas Nutley, James Sheets, and Charles Phelan.

Mary Collins, vice chairwoman of the Quincy School Committee, praised the quality of Quincy's education during the years. She introduced Peggy Nigro and Steven Durkin, School Committee members.

Mayor McCauley read congratulatory messages from President Ronald Reagan, and National Commander John "Jake" Comer of the American Legion, a Quincy native, who was out of state at a Legion convention.

Special guests introduced were:

Rose Drohan, 102-year-old resident of Presidential Convalescent Home.

Richard Porter, grandson of first Quincy Mayor Charles H Porter and his wife, Ardis Porter.

John McCarthy, a 1987 graduate of North Quincy High School, who was presented with a Centennial flag bearing the logo he had designed.

Mayor McCauley officiated at the planting of the symbolic Centennial tree on the grounds to the right of the mall. All special guests shoveled dirt about the tree. A commemorative plaque was dedicated beside it.

The Centennial birthday cake designed by Montilio's and sponsored by the Patriot Ledger was cut and distributed.

At First Parish Church, a procession of Quincy clergy, members of the Quincy Choral Society and city officials opened a well attended "Interfaith Service of Thanksgiving Celebrating One Hundred Years of Quincy as a City."

Rev. Sheldon W. Bennett, Ph.D., minister of United First Parish Church gave a welcome and invocation, in addition to his address, "A Gateway to Greatness."

Mayor McCauley again spoke briefly of the Town and City history calling the years between, "a real lesson in democracy."

Rev. Cornelius J. Heery, pastor, Sacred Heart Church and Vicar, Quincy Vicariate, gave the prayer of thanksgiving. Imam Talal Eid of the Islamic Center of New England led the closing prayer.

"The greatness of our City is its people," Rev. Bennett said, adding that Quincy is now officially designated as a "Gateway City" particularly for people of the Orient.

Selections were by the Quincy Choral Society, Diane Murphy, president; Brian O'Connell, director, and Diane Ferrichiello, pianist.

Norman Corey was organist. Ushers from United First Parish Church included Bryan L. Donovan, Thomas Hurlebaus, Thomas A. Keto, Ardis Porter, Richard Porter and Richard E. Post.

Hostesses for the reception from the Quincy Historical Society headed by Doris Oberg were Barbara Holmes, Edith Howell, Charlotte Radcliffe.

An hour and a half concert by the Quincy High School Alumni Band was held in the evening at the Ruth Gordon Amphitheater at Pageant Field, with George Valentine director.

Eugene Creedon introduced the program, reading a poem, "My Quincy Home" written in 1893 by a priest who had served at St. John's Church in Quincy.

Mary-Jane Fandel was coordinator of activities.

Project OK'd With 21 Conditions

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

A 120-unit, one building development project to be built by the Quarry St. Realty Trust Co. on 6.6 acres of land in West Quincy was approved with 21 conditions by the City Council Monday night.

"This is probably the most restrictive special permit that I have ever proposed to the City Council," said Ward 4 Councillor James Sheets whose ward includes the development site.

"I think it protects the people I represent to the absolute maximum," he said.

The project will contain 60 one-bedroom and 60 two-bedroom rental units. The building will be eight stories high in the front and seven stories high in back.

When originally proposed four years ago, the project had 260 units and five buildings.

Thomas Williams, a former assistant city solicitor representing Daniel Cronin of Quarry St. Realty Trust, said ground will be broken in two months. It will take 18 months to complete, he said.

"Councillor (James) Sheets has been a great help. We've had a lot of meetings and the neighborhood seems to be satisfied," Williams said.

To ensure that the site is safe, Quarry St. Realty must submit to the building inspector, planning director and health commissioner a test data relevant to the site. Acting as a review board, this group will review with a consultant, chosen by the city and paid for by the developer or applicant, all pertinent data, and if deemed necessary by the review group, additional testing will be done before a building permit is issued.

The scope of that testing will be determined by the review board, after input from a consultant, if the review board deems a consultant necessary (paid for by the applicant). If additional testing is done, it will be overseen by the city's consultant and the review board, with a certified engineering firm to be chosen by the developer or applicant. no building permit or work on site will be undertaken until the review board indicates that to the best of its knowledge the site is safe.

Another condition stipulates that at least 10 percent of the units, or 12 of them, will be set aside as affordable housing.

Council Votes 8-1 'No' On Mobile Methadone Clinic

Citing several problems of a proposed mobile methadone clinic in Quincy including location and the merits of such a program, eight city councillors voiced a resounding no against the proposal at a special City Council meeting Monday night.

Only Ward 3 Councillor Lawrence Chretien voted against the resolution stating the city is opposed to the proposed methadone clinic. Chretien, who expressed reservations over the wording of the resolution at a council meeting June 20, said the clinic may lower heroin-related crimes in the city and also slow the spread of AIDS, especially among heterosexuals.

Chretien said he collected data concerning methadone this past week from the State Department of Public Health, Quincy Commissioner of Public Health Jane Gallahue and Leonard Kuptz of Habit Management Co., a private firm that made the proposal for the mobile clinic.

"Based on the data, it may be possible to reduce drug related crime," Chretien said, adding that figures he obtained show that heroin related crimes have "skyrocketed" 25 percent in the last year.

"I feel that by getting people off heroin and controlling the situation, there is the potentiality here to reduce heroin related crimes," Chretien told the council.

"While methadone isn't a panacea, and perhaps it should be considered a necessary evil, it is, I believe, and the data suggest, it is an improvement upon heroin. The data does not suggest it is a magic bullet, that it is a cure for heroin addiction. The data suggests that heroin addicts may be a heroin addict for life in the same way that an alcoholic is an alcoholic for life," he said.

"What methadone can do in a controlled situation is provide a substitute for heroin that does not get, if administered properly, does not get a patient high, and does not encourage a person to commit crimes," Chretien said.

In addition to reducing crime, Chretien said methadone, which is dispensed orally, would slow the spread of AIDS.

Heroin is injected into the body with needles. AIDS has been found to spread among intravenous drug users.

"Those two benefits of methadone are worth consideration," Chretien said.

Councillor Timothy Cahill said he was opposed to a methadone clinic in Quincy because it replaces one drug for another drug.

"Do we support that theory, do we support that practice and do we want to give that message to our children and the young kids that we hope to stand up for and hope to set a role model for?

"I don't feel in my heart that that is the correct method that we should be taking, that we should be advocating," Cahill said.

"When you get hooked on drugs to me there's only one

Bike Safety Clinic At Atlantic Center

A bicycle safety and identification clinic will take place at the Atlantic Neighborhood Center at 10:30 a.m., July 5.

Bicycle identification consists of etching the child's or parent's social security number on the bike as a deterrent to bike theft and to help in the recovery if the bike is lost.

Robert Hanna, crime prevention officer of the Quincy Police Department, and Quincy Sun columnist is presenting the clinic.

All children are welcome. The Atlantic Neighborhood Center is located on 12 Hunt St., North Quincy.

$250,000 For Traffic Signals

The City Council appropriated $250,000 Monday night to be used for improving traffic signals at eight high-volume intersections throughout the city.

David Kinnecom, the city's traffic engineer, said the money will fund new controllers and detectors which control the timing and coordination of traffic signals.

"It will make them work more efficiently," he said.

The work, to begin probably next spring, will include these locations:

- Newport Ave extension at Enterprise Dr. at Heritage Dr. and at Myrtle St.
- Southern Artery at Sea St. and at McGrath Highway.
- Newport Ave. at Beale St. and at Brook st.
- Hancock st. at Elm Ave and Wollaston Ave.

Improvements of these intersections would begin the implementation of some of the recommendations of the Quincy Traffic 2000 Study.

Kinnecom said the improvements are "short-term" since it doesn't involve any major reconstruction.

"But it's a start," he said.

Ward 2 Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro, in support of the appropriation, also said he would like the intersection at Water St. and Quincy Ave. to be improved for safety reasons.

"I think that's a real prime concern. Safety is a prime factor and the only way to achieve it is by upgrading the signals," he said.

Kinnecom said money from the Community Development Block Grant could be used to fund more improvements, including the Water St.-Quincy Ave. intersection.

Ward 3 Councillor Lawrence Chretien, whose ward includes two of the eight intersections up for improvement, said, "It's really just the tip of the iceberg as far as Ward 3 is concerned."

New Ordinance Backed

Strong Support For Local Construction Job Hiring Preference

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

City councillors and residents voiced their overwhelming support for an ordinance that would give job hiring preference to qualified Quincy residents on any construction project city approved or city funded at a public hearing at City Hall Monday night.

"It is my feeling that Quincy residents should share in these developments," said Ward 1 Councillor Michael Cheney, drawing applause from the approximately 60 residents who attended the hearing.

"I think this is workable," said Councillor Stephen McGrath. "If it isn't, we can always change it to make it work," he said, also drawing applause.

The ordinance states that Quincy residents qualified to perform the work to which the employment relates shall be given preference in hiring on a 2 to 1 ratio after the employer's foreman or supervisor and two key employees have been employed for a one-week payroll.

Minorities and women would receive additional priority.

The ordinance would apply to any construction project funded in whole or in part by city funds, or funds which in accordance with a federal grant or city-approved PUD or city-approved MEFA applications. It also applies to the sale of city property or projects the city administers the construction contract or grants or special conditions.

Fifty-eight residents signed a petition supporting the ordinance.

About 10 residents spoke in favor of the measure, including Carmen D'Olympio, president of the Quincy and South Shore Building and Construction Trades Council.

D'Olympio presented a construction site scenario that he said "seems to be happening more and more."

"A developer, using local contacts, appears before a city body with promises of high-quality construction, jobs, increase in business and increases in taxes and tax base, all this in exchange for certain concessions from the city.

"However, after they receive the necessary approvals and permits, it seems some developers come down with amnesia," he said.

In one instance last year, construction workers were brought into Quincy from Georgia, Texas, Louisiana, Alabama, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Peru, South America, D'Olympio said.

"Interesting to note, there were large newspaper articles concerning out-of-state non-union workers. However, when illegal aliens were removed from the same job site, there was a very small article," he said.

"At the same point there was only one Quincy plumber," D'Olympio said, adding that complaints were filed with the National Immigration Department.

Furthermore, an investigation showed four illegal aliens were working on the site and they and other workers from out of state were being put up in a Foxboro motel, according to D'Olympio.

"In a news article, some contractors made it clear, in print, that they were taking advantage of depressed areas to entice construction workers, both foreign and domestic, to come to Quincy," he pointed out.

D'Olympio said the Crown Colony project has a history of out-of-state workers.

"All the steel on one particular building was fabricated and erected by New Hampshire people, as well as cement work that was done on another building," he said.

D'Olympio also said that a New Hampshire subcontractor working on the Quincy Police station had 17 people on its payroll, including two from Massachusetts (Lowell and Methuen.)

"All you have to do is check the public works records. No one is opposed to profit, but it would not be at the expense of people," he said.

"This type of ordinance would help protect all residents of Quincy. There is no union pre-requisite. We represent people, not profit," D'Olympio said, who advocates a three to one ratio.

Chamber Survey Shows:

Electricity Use Up, Demand-Supply Concern

Ninety-eight percent of top executives of Massachusetts' major employers believe total electricity consumption in the state has increased during the past few years and 60 percent say it has increased greatly, according to a survey conducted by the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce in conjunction with other state-wide chambers including the South Shore Chamber of Commerce headquartered in Quincy.

The survey was conducted by mail among high level executives in 779 companies across the state which have 100 or more employees. More than 300 replies were received, a response rate of 40 percent.

Companies that have 100 or more employees account for approximately 40 percent of all employment in the state.

In addition, based on extrapolations from responses, it is estimated that the 779 companies included in the sample represent about 1 million Massachusetts employees. Those companies which responded to the survey represent approximately 425,000 employees.

Among the companies that responded were Digital, The Boston Globe and The Boston Red Sox.

Results of the survey were announced by South Shore Chamber President Ralph Rivkind and Executive Vice President Ronald Zooleck at a recent press conference at the Chamber headquarters, 36 Miller Stile Rd., Quincy.

"I don't think there's anything in this survey that's new," said Zooleck. "But it does confirm our beliefs."

Statewide, the demand for energy increases five percent annually while energy supply increases only two percent.

"Energy is but one of 'three-prong issue,'" said Zooleck. "Our environment and economy must be looked at as equally important," he said.

Avoid Dangerous Fireworks Over 4th

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

With the Fourth of July holiday approaching, the medical eye doctors of this state hope that they will not have to operate on victims of fireworks injuries. In the past, accidents from misuse of illegal use of fireworks have caused serious eye injuries resulting in tragic, needless loss of sight.

Although nationwide statistics show that regulating use of fireworks significantly reduces the number of injuries, serious accidents continue to occur to both the person lighting the explosives and to the innocent bystanders. Crudely made bottlerockets explode in young boys' faces and blind them, and unsupervised children get poked in the eyes from sparklers, resulting in corneal burns.

As a member of the Massachusetts Society of Eye Physicians and Surgeons, I am writing this letter to the editor in hope that it will remind people to avoid dangerous fireworks. It's possible to enjoy a beautiful and safe celebration by attending community sponsored displays.

Free Blood Pressure Clinic At Hospital

Quincy City Hospital will conduct a free blood pressure screening for the public Tuesday, July 5, in their Ambulatory Care Department from 1:30 p.m. to 3 p.m.

The Ambulatory Care Department is located on Hunting-1.

These screenings, performed by nursing staff, will enable the individual to keep track of his blood pressure, and to be aware of dangerous elevations in the pressure. Persons in need of referral to a physician will be advised to do so. Referrals to physicians are possible through the QCH Doctor Directory at the individual's request.

These screenings, which take place at the hospital on the first and third Tuesday of each month, are free of charge. All are welcome to attend.

Will He Or Won't He?

Will he or won't he?

If you like to look ahead, that's the big political question in Quincy.

Francis McCauley is the he. And the full question is: Will he run for a fifth term term?

McCAULEY

Those closest to him at City Hall say they don't know.

And, apparently, the man himself doesn't, either. Put the question to him and he says:

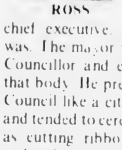
"I haven't decided. It's too early to decide. I won't make up my mind until around January. It all depends on what things look like then."

The only sure thing right now is that he hasn't decided not to run. So he's not a lame duck mayor and isn't acting like one.

And, the City Council isn't treating him like one, either.

Among those interested in McCauley's decision are City Councillors Steve McGrath and James Sheets. McGrath has made no bones about the fact he would like to be mayor. And Sheets has been warming up to a run.

LaRAIA



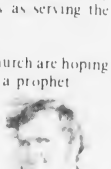
Then, of course, there is former mayor Joseph LaRaia, who came within a whisker of upsetting McCauley last year and returning to City Hall. McCauley hung in there by a 460 vote margin.

Another question here is: If McCauley runs again, will McGrath, Sheets or LaRaia challenge him?

Some close to McCauley at City Hall wouldn't be too surprised if he did seek a fifth term.

They note that he is a history buff and has great respect for Quincy's history. And they think he would like to be remembered not just as another mayor but one who left an historic mark as the "Champ."

If elected to a fifth term and he completed it, he would be all-time longevity champ under Quincy's Plan A form of government.



ROSS

It would give him 10 years as chief executive. Tate Mayor Charles Ross now holds the longevity distinction with nine years under Plan A.

Amelio Della Chiesa all together served 12 years -- eight under Plan A and four under Plan E.

But the plan E mayor was not the chief executive. The city manager was. The mayor was actually a City Councillor and elected "mayor" by that body. He presided over the City Council like a city council president and tended to ceremonial duties such as cutting ribbons, kissing babies, and welcoming visiting dignitaries.

DELLA CHIESA

Plan A mayors are the true mayors. And McCauley wouldn't mind going down in history as serving the longest as Plan A mayor.

PARISHIONERS AT St. John's Church are hoping that Fr. William McCarthy, pastor, is a prophet.

Fr. Daniel Graham, who served 13 years as associate pastor at St. John's, began his new duties Tuesday as assistant pastor at St. Brendan's, in Dorchester.

GRAHAM

At the recent special Mass of Thanksgiving for Fr. Graham at St. John's, Fr. McCarthy paid tribute to him and added: "Maybe someday he will be back as pastor."

Sustained applause from parishioners seconded that possibility.

Fr. Graham is well known for his humor and the little stories that precede his homily with "I've got a good one for you today."

He got off his final good one at St. John's during the Mass of Thanksgiving.

It was about the 92-year-old man who wanted to be a caddy in the recent U.S. Open in Brookline. All the young caddies were taken, leaving him the last possibility for the last golfer.

"I have excellent eyesite," the 92-year-older assured the golfer. "I won't lose the ball. I'll keep track of it."

So the golfer took him, teed up his ball and drove far down the fairway.

"I see it, I see it," the 92-year-old caddy shouted proudly.

"Good," the golfer told the 92-year-old. "Where is it?"

"I forget."

THEY REALLY GAVE former Fire Chief Carl Valenti the business at his retirement roast the other night at Morrissette Legion Post.

VALENTI

It was all in fun and here are a few of the good natured zingers.

Councillor Ted DeCristofaro: Valenti, who followed many years of Irish fire chiefs, was suspended the first week on the job for painting the fire hydrants the same colors as the Italian flag.

Council President Patricia Toland: Valenti always wanted to know how Dalmations came to be the official mascots of fire departments. He was told they were the only ones who knew where the fire hydrants were.

Also Toland: Valenti's son was at Bible class and the teacher wanted to know who was responsible for the Walls of Jerico coming tumbling down. Little Carl said it wasn't him. The teacher was a little surprised at the answer and called his mother who said: "If my son said he didn't do it, then he didn't do it."

Finally, the teacher, now pretty exasperated, called Valenti and told him what his son and wife had said.

"The Chief," Toland went on, "said he didn't want a scandal. He told the teacher not to worry about it. He would personally pay for the wall."

Mayor McCauley noted that Valenti had once requested a $300,000 ladder truck but McCauley talked him down because of the cost.

McCauley said he had been thinking it over and he wanted Valenti to get a ladder truck before he retires.

McCauley presented him with one for which the price was right: a one-foot toy ladder truck. Cost: $9.99.

'Our Flag - It Must Fly Free'

(Following is the text of the winning essay written by Sarah Gordon a fourth grader at Atherton Hough School. The essay won first place in the Houghs Neck Legion Post Flag Essay contest. The four schools that participated were Merrymount, Montclair, Snug Harbor and Atherton Hough School.)

By SARAH GORDON
Atherton High School

There are lots of things our flag stands for, but there is one that I feel is the most important, and that is Freedom! America is so fortunate to have freedom. There are still countries and continents that do not have freedom. They cannot be what they want to be or do what they want to do.

Can you think about what our country would be like without freedom. Without being able to go where you want to go, say what you think, pick the school and the job that you want to go to, have a gun if you want to, and most important vote for the people who run your country. I think it is important for women, or men, boys or girls to have freedom!

The United States of America was actually started on July 4th 1776. This was the day that the Declaration of Independence was adopted by the 13 original colonies.

The Declaration of Independence told why the 13 colonies wanted to be free. It listed the wrongs that they suffered. It said that the colonies would now fight their own wars, make their own peace, and carry on their own trades as they saw fit, and act in every way as an Independent nation.

As the last sentence of the Declaration says, These men by signing it pledged to one another, "Our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor." Our flag symbolizes the freedom that these men fought so hard to gain.

Now let's talk about the flag, the 50 stars stand for the 50 states. The 13 stripes stand for the 13 original colonies. George Washington explains the colors of the flag in this way, "we take the stars and blue union from heaven, the red from our mother country, separating it by white stripes, thus showing we have separated from her; and the white stripes shall go down to posterity, representing liberty."

Freedom and the flag is important to everyone!

ATHERTON HOUGH SCHOOL Principal Ed Baccari presents winning trophy of Houghs Neck Legion Post's Flag Essay Contest to Sarah Gordon, a fourth grader at Atherton Hough. Sarah won the top prize among four schools that participated.

Broad Meadows Students Complete TV Documentary On Quincy Shipbuilding

A television documentary on the history of Quincy shipbuilding, including interviews with former workers as well as a discussion with Sen. Edward Kennedy about his commitment to Quincy Shipbuilding, was recently completed by seventh graders at Broad Meadows Middle School.

The interview with Kennedy was done by Jill Hawes, Stacy Medeiros, and Margaret McLean after Hawes wrote a request to the senator. Kennedy said during the interview that he is committed to a reopening of the yard.

The project started in 1985 when it was announced that General Dynamics would close down.

Since then the project was handed down to consecutive seventh graders.

The first group researched shipbuilding at Fore River at the Quincy Historical Society. The next group attended the last two christenings at the General Dynamics yard as guests. Nineteen of those students slept aboard the battleship USS Massachusetts at USS Battleship Cove, Fall River.

Oral history was added by the current group of seventh graders. The students interviewed relatives and neighbors who either worked at the yard or who sailed aboard Quincy built ships.

"Kilroy Was Here," centering around one of the more famous sayings to come out of World War II-and presumably Quincy--is one of the interview subjects. The interview features Kathy (Kilroy) Needham, daughter of James J. Kilroy, former Fore River rate setter.

Other topics include the role of women at the yard, working conditions, proudest moments, and most famous ships build at Fore River.

Why 'Quincy Built' is the best thing you can say about a ship is a topic discussed by Bill Greene, sailor on the USS Lexington; CDR. Herbert Molmes, USS Gregory, USS Baltimore; Mark Newton, curator of the USS Massachusetts, electricians John Bendix and Cliff Pamplin, ship designer H. Hobart Holly, and shipbuilder Jay "Rudder" White.

Students involved in production of the documentary are:

Jill Hawes, Stacy Medeiros Brian LaRoche, Margaret MacLean, Heather LaRume, Rob Chu, Rich Stone, Brian McNamara, Dawn Curtin, Rob Proude, Mindy Dove, Duane Holmes, John Austin, Jamie White and Ann Margaret Cavallaro.

The coordinating teacher is Mr. Ron Adams, who saw the project from beginning to completion.

Applications Being Accepted For Head Start

Applications are now being accepted for the federally funded First Chance Head Start Program for children in Quincy, Braintree and Hull.

The program is for children who will be four years old by Dec. 31, 1988 who meet federal guidelines. Children age three may enter if they have special needs.

The program is free. Transportation, snacks, and hot lunches are provided.

Programs and assistance in the areas of education, nutrition, health, mental health, and social services are provided to families of children in the program. Parents may volunteer in the classroom and have input in all major decisions of the program.

Anyone who thinks their child or a child they know may be eligible may call the First Chance Head Start office at 848-8142 for more information.

Quincy's Yesterdays

City Celebrates Nation's 150th At Adams Birthplace

June 30-July 6
1926
62 Years Ago

Quincy observed the 150th birthday of the United States with parades, bonfires, fireworks, patriotic speeches at the birthplace of John Adams and baseball games in every park, playground and vacant lot in the city.

Mayor Perley E. Barbour, Cong. Louis A. Frothingham and Henry Adams, a descendant of the Second President, spoke from a temporary platform set up on the lawn of the Adams Birthplace where a parade of 3,000 marchers disbanded.

The holiday, observed on Monday, July 5, began with a huge bonfire on the banks of the Neponset River, continued through a band concert at Merrymount Park and concluded with fireworks set off from Pine Island.

Thirty seven rounds were fired from a 77 millimetre gun during the celebration at Atlantic Playground and Mrs. James Leslie Kerr Jr., regent, led the Abigail Adams Chapter DAR in ceremonies at John Hancock's grave in Boston.

The city of Quincy sprung for all the ice cream the kids could eat and, since it was dispensed in Germantown at 10 a.m., Wollaston School at 2 p.m. and Coddington School at 3:30 p.m. a kid with a strong pair of legs could put away a lot.

The new Adams Playground on Bradford St. was dedicated by Park Commissioner William J. Spargo and the playground in Squantum was formally named for John Wendell Moses, who was killed in the Argonne Forest in France on Oct. 23, 1918.

Art White's homer and a pair of doubles paced the Quincy AA to an 18-4 victory over the Weymouth Wanderers at Ward 2 playground and the Squantum AC won three weekend games, beating South Quincy, 13-11; Fort Banks, 20-5; and the Charlestown Marines, 8-7.

Police raided a candy store on Washington St., Quincy Point, and seized what they called "the most dangerous collection of fireworks seen here in many years," including 200 bombs of the type that blew two fingers from the hand of a Weymouth boy.

And an overenthusiastic Ward 6 Committee faced a $345 deficit after spending some $1,300 on its celebration. The city donated $300 to each ward but Ward 6 collected only $700 in public subscriptions to make up the difference.

New Way Chicken

There's probably more ways to prepare chicken than any other food. Or is it that so many of us either have to include it in our diet, or if you are like our family, just love chicken! Anyway, here is one way you might not have tried.

NEW WAY CHICKEN

1 Lb chicken cutlets
(or as many slices as you need)
Enough flour to coat the chicken
½ Lb fresh mushrooms
Swiss cheese
(as many slices as the chicken)
Cooking sherry (about ¼ cup)
Olive oil
Butter
Garlic powder
Salt and pepper to taste

Cut up the mushrooms. Flour the chicken. In a little butter or margerine combined with the oil, saute the mushrooms adding the garlic powder, salt, pepper, and the sherry as it cooks. Add a smidgen of flour to thicken it a bit and then set aside.

In another pan, and also with a little butter and oil, saute the chicken slices quickly turning once and place in a platter. Then in that same pen, arrange the slices of chicken, cover each slice of chicken with a slice of the swiss cheese. Cook slowly until cheese begins to melt just a little. Serve in individual plates, with a couple of tablespoons of the mushroom mixture over each slice. I served it with mashed potatoes and peas, but it will go with just about anything. (If you prefer another type cheese, this entre can also be made with slices of provolone or munster)

Marie D'Olimpio is the author of "Simply Italian-And Then Some," a collection of her own recipes. Copies of the book are available at That's Italian, Franklin St., South Quincy; Previte's Market, Sumner St., Quincy Point, Samoset Pharmacy, Samoset Ave., Merrymount and Winfield Gift Emporium, Hancock St., Quincy Center.

Pearl Garcia Honored By Emblem Club

The Quincy Emblem Club recently held a surprise testimonial for past supreme president Pearl Garcia at the Quincy Lodge of Elks.

More than 200 people attended and paid tribute to Mrs. Garcia for her 25 years of service to the Supreme Emblem Club.

Emblem members and friends traveled from New Hampshire, Connecticut, Vermont, Maine, Rhode Island and Massachusetts to attend the testimonial.

Chairman of the dinner was Supreme District Deputy Susan McGregor, assisted by state past president Dorothy Mateik, past presidents Marilyn Alcott, Geraldine Shepherd, Charlotte Wilson, president Louise Ficarra, Alice Smith, Mary Thomas and Mary Gibbons.

Past Supreme President Carolyn Randall of Wareham was the toastmistress.

Bringing greetings from the Elks were Exalted Ruler Leo Nunnari and Grand [illegible] Deputy John McPhee.

A citation from the Elks was presented to Mrs. Garcia by Thomas Shepherd for service to the veterans at Jamaica Plain hospital.

A memory book was presented to Mrs. Garcia from past president Dorothy Mateik of photos and clippings covering the past 25 years.

A special guest at the dinner was Mrs. Garcia's 92-year-old mother Mrs. Carolyn Bianchi.

D. Scott Deware

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain Unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty, and the Pursuit of Happiness."

These familiar words still ring with noble passion today. Thomas Jefferson, the young Virginian who wrote them, was inflamed with a fierce devotion to the rights of man as opposed to the divine rights of kings.

Americans are more sophisticated and skeptical today than they were when the Declaration of Independence shook the English with its thunderous challenge. Sadly, today, there are some who have come to distrust these fine words.

But the Founding Fathers who endorsed this revolutionary edict were realistic and courageous men. They knew that what they were proposing was in the eyes of their royalist masters simple treason. They also knew if they failed, their fate would be swift and ignominious. The magnificence of the Declaration's language is matched only by the splendor of the democratic vision which fired their hearts.

This Fourth of July let us cast our thoughts back to that tumultuous time. We, who are so rich in creature comforts, are poor in spirit if we cease to be grateful to the dauntless Americans who underwrote our security with their lives, their fortunes, and their sacred honor ...

AMERICAN CANCER SOCIETY

'Our Course Of Strength' Bethany Sermon Topic

This Sunday there will be one worship service at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary of Bethany Congregational Church, United Church of Christ, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center.

The congregation will share together in Holy Communion. Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will preach a sermon entitled "Our Source of Strength."

Kinya Mikami will be the lay scripture reader. The communion commentary - for radio only - will be given by Irene Belcher.

Peter E. Krasinski will be at the organ console. In addition Steven Kaufman, guest soloist, will play two pieces for the trombone. In addition nursery care for babies and toddlers will be provided by church members.

A fellowship hour follows the worship service, and you are cordially invited to come and share in both the worship and the fellowship.

The service is broadcast live at 10 a.m. over WJDA. A cassette tape of the worship is also available for $2 by contacting the church office at 479-7300.

For any other questions regarding Bethany's worship or work contact the church office from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Friday.

'Breaking Through To God' Squantum First Church Topic

"Breaking Through To God For Healing" was the title of the sermon preached Sunday morning at the First Church of Squantum by pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin.

He directed his remarks particularly to those who were suffering serious illnesses, although they applied to others as well.

Craig Zaehring was the organist.

Jack and Ruth Westerbeke were the greeters. Harry Holmes and Tore Wallin, the ushers, and Hazel Mayne and May Lewis hosted the Fellowship Hour after the service.

The Church Council was scheduled to meet Wednesday, June 29, at 7 p.m. This Sunday the church will hold its annual "Independence Day Breakfast" in the backyard of the parsonage at 9:15 a.m. Those who plan to attend are encouraged to wear patriotic colors and a good "Fourth of July" hat.

After the breakfast, the morning worship service will begin in the sanctuary at 10:30 a.m. Visitors are welcome. Reservations can be made for the breakfast by calling Hazel Mayne at 328-4367.

9 A.M. Services At Good Shepherd

Worship services at the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd will be conducted each Sunday at 9 a.m. from July 3 through Sept. 11.

The services will be conducted by Pastor Ross Goodman. Child care will be available.

The Church of the Good Shepherd is located at the corner of Harard and W. Squantum Sts. in North Quincy.

Community Health Screenings At Quincy Hospital

Quincy City Hospital is now offering community health screenings Wednesday afternoons. The screening consists of a blood chemistry analysis, which will evaluate blood glucose, cholesterol, BUN, creatinine, calcium, hemoglobin, other parameters, and a urine specimen will also be taken. The screenings are from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.

A registered nurse will review the results of the screening test with the patient. Copies of the test results will be given to the patient's physician.

If the individual does not have a physician, the nurse will assist the patient in the selection of a physician through the hospital doctor directory.

Community health screenings will be offered in the outpatient department.

Patients will register for the testing through the outpatient registration area in the admitting department.

The fee is $10, due at the time of service. Cash, check or bank card are accepted for payment.

For additional information contact the Ambulatory Care Department at the hospital at 773-6100 ext. 3009, between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. weekdays.

Contact with the doctor directory may be made between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. on weekdays at 786-0005.

Rev. J. Stephen D. Hayes Celebrates First Mass

The Rev. J. Stephen Dominic Hayes, O.P., a Quincy native, celebrated his first solemn Mass of Thanksgiving recently in his home parish, St. Ann's Church, Wollaston.

Because the Mass fell on the Feast of Corpus Christie, Fr. Hayes included a traditional outdoor procession with the Eucharist and benediction.

Fr. Hayes, the son of Mrs. Nora (Johnston) Hayes of 365 Highland Ave. and the late Dr. John S. Hayes, was ordained in Washington, D.C. May 20 by Most Rev. Francis X. Roque, D.D., an auxiliary bishop in the U.S. military ordinariate at St. Dominic's Church.

Rev. Thomas Keane, pastor of St. Ann's Church, was among the Dominican dignitaries joining Fr. Hayes for his First Mass.

Rev. J. STEPHEN D. HAYES

A 1971 graduate of Boston College High School and a 1975 graduate of St. Anselm College, Manchester, N.H., Fr. Hayes graduated in 1979 from Boston University School of Law. Prior to entering the Dominicans in 1982, he practiced law in the Boston area for three years.

Fr. Hayes has served at St. Mary's Church, New Haven, Ct. and Mother Elizabeth Seton Church, Germantown, Pa. as deacon.

Summers, Fr. Hayes was a nursing assistant for terminally ill patients at St. Rose Home, New York City, and has attended the Center for Pastoral Education in the Dominican Republic.

In September Fr. Hayes will continue work at the House of Studies in Washington for a licentiate in sacred theology (S.T.L.).

Fr. Hayes has [illegible] brothers and four sisters.

Outdoor Service At Covenant Congregational

The 10 a.m. worship service of Covenant Congregational Church, Whitwell and Granite Sts., Quincy Center, will be held outdoors in the church park.

Members are reminded that they may bring their own lawn chairs.

Rev. Fred Lawson will preach on the topic "A Great Call." Communion will be served by the Diaconate and a special offering will be taken for the Diaconate's benevolence fund.

A solo will be sung by Rev. Lawson, accompanied on the portable organ by Richard Smith, minister of music. The choir will not sing until Sept. 11, but various members will sing solos or duets.

Members are reminded that at the summer services, everyone is a greeter. Flowers from members' gardens would be appreciated for the altar during the summer. A coffee hour will follow the service and volunteers are needed to serve.

Upcoming events [illegible] special congregational meeting following the worship service on [illegible] and Confirmation Sunday, July 17.

For more details about [illegible] of the church's activities, the church office at 479-[illegible].

10 Quincy Students Submit Winning Entries In Hospital Poster Contest

Ten Quincy students recently submitted winning entries in a poster contest sponsored by the Quincy City Hospital and Quincy Public School system celebrating National Hospital Week.

With the assistance of Eugene Creedon, director of elementary education, and Robin McGoff, director of art, art teachers were asked to provide a collection of artworks for display in the hospital.

Artworks were received from all 10 of Quincy's public elementary schools.

A panel of judges selected winning entries from among several hundred artworks.

The 10 students' artworks chosen for special recognition were:

Cecila Cheng, grade one, Montclair School; Frederick Dunne, grade one, Snug Harbor School; Michelle Freeman, grade four, Wollaston School; Michelle Jodrey, grade two, Squantum School; Jimmy Lee, grade four, Wollaston School; Glenn Peterson, grade five, Merrymount School; Michelle Phillips, grade three, Furnace Brook School; Eric Stimpson, grade two, Atherton Hough School; Felicia Tam, grade three, Merrymount School; and Lynda Wilson, kindergarten, Lincoln-Hancock School.

Each winner was presented a gift from the hospital during an awards dinner. The five first place winners received a Red Sox tee shirt and three tickets to attend a Red Sox game while the five honorable mention winners received bicycle locks donated by the Kryptonic Corporation of Dorchester.

The artworks were displayed at the hospital for the enjoyment of hospital patients, visitors and staff.

The hospital thanked all students who participated in the project and look forward to making it an annual event.

Mary Collins Candidate For County Commissioner

Mary P. Collins, an 11-year veteran and twice vice-chairwoman of the Quincy School Committee, has announced her candidacy for Norfolk County Commissioner.

In making her announcement, Mrs. Collins cited the strong need for change in the operations of county government.

In 1985, the Legislature enacted Chapter 807, commonly referred as "Charter Reform" to allow the various counties to determine their future form of governance.

Collins said, "The legislation allows the Commissioners to vote to place a question on the ballot asking voters if they want to have a charter commission and subsequently allows for the election of 15 charter members."

She criticized the current commissioners for "Their failure to act, and their failure to bring county government out of the dark ages by voting to place the issue on the ballot."

"County government can and should be a viable, regional form of government or it should be abolished," she said. She pledged that as one of her first acts she would vote to place the issue on the next state election ballot.

MARY COLLINS

"We are one of only three counties that has not availed itself of the provisions of Charter Reform, she said.

Mrs. Collins said she would work with the Legislature to help support efforts to take over the operation of the county jail or to provide financial assistance to the Sherriff to operate the facility. "It is important that we protect the integrity of the Sheriff's office, which is able to operate the House of Corrections at a rate much lower per inmate cost than the state system, but that we also lobby the state to provide financial assistance to allows the Sheriff to maintain the jail, build a new facility and give him the resources to adequately compensate personnel," she said.

Mrs. Collins, who is now serving her second term as vice chairwoman of the Quincy School Committee, cited her budget and personnel experience as assets that she felt would serve her as a county commissioner. She also said her experience and ability to make tough decisions as being the type and kind of person who could fill a need in county government.

A licensed real estate broker for the Jack Conway Company, she lives at 116 Lansdowne St., Squantum, with her husband, Tom, and their four children.

She is a member of the Quincy and South Shore Board of Realtors, the Quincy Ward 6 Democratic Committee and serves as treasurer of the Quincy City Hospital Social Service Committee.

6 Residents Winners In Low License Plate Drawing

Six Quincy residents were among the 143 winners drawn recently from the 9,000 eligible entries in the Registry of Motor Vehicles' second low number license plate lottery held in Boston.

The winners and their plate numbers are:

William J. Barron Jr., 55M; Paula M. Matthews, M73; both of North Quincy; Paul D. Eldridge, M63; Thomas C. Malvesti, 9790; and Valerie G. Stromberg, M43; all of Quincy; and Kevin Flaherty, 2324, of Wollaston.

Contestants had until midnight June 9 to submit postcard entries specifying their name, address, license number and the registration number of their eligible passenger vehicle.

More than 20,000 copies of eligibility rules were mailed on request and distributed from Registry offices.

In order to assume compliance with contest rules, all entries were batched, computer recorded, and ineligible entries electronically detected and eliminated.

Winners were drawn by members of the Automobile License Plate Collectors Association (ALPCA) and winners of last year's low number license plate lottery.

Squantum's 80th July 4th Parade Set For Monday

Squantum's 80th annual July 4th parade will step off Monday, July 4th, at 10 a.m.

Melba Sprague of Dundee Rd. will be Grand Marshal.

She was especially chosen for this year as she is the only Squantum resident (that the Squantum 4th of July Committee was able to locate) who was living in Squantum for the first parade, and is still residing in Squantum for Parade No. 80. She has some wonderful stories to tell about parades through the years.

Celebration of the day will begin with a flag-raising ceremony to be conducted by the Robert L. Nickerson Post at the monument (intersection of Huckins Ave. and E. Squantum St.) All are invited to attend.

Parade line up begins at 9:15 a.m. when the floats will assemble near the gas station. At this time judges will get a good look at the work done by the participants.

Floats will then line up with the politicians, bands, costumed marchers and others participating.

While it is late to register large floats due to contributory problems, the entry of decorated smaller vehicles (pick-ups, etc.) is encouraged.

The parade route will begin at the intersection of Bellevue Rd. and Huckins Ave. at First Church, follow Bellevue to Dorchester St., left on Dorchester to E. Squantum St., up Huckins Ave. to Standish Rd., left on Standish, and then into the Wendall Moses Playground behind Squantum School.

Here the committee will receive the final decision of the judges on the winning floats and costumed marchers. Prizes will be awarded to registered entrants for first, second and third place floats in applicable categories, and first, second and third place costumed marchers in singles, doubles and group categories.

Those interested in registering may call Sandra Buckley, Community Center coordinator, at 328-4851.

The parade's primary source of support is money raised through an annual collections drive among Squantum residents, supplemented by contributions from community groups and businesses.

This year the parade committee is sponsoring a fund raising raffle, winners of prizes to be announced following the parade.

16 From Quincy At Boys State

A week of caucuses, elections, and sportsmanship is in store for 16 Quincy boys at Bentley College.

Morrisette Wins 4th Straight

By TOM SULLIVAN

The unbeaten Morrisette Legion baseball team won two Zone 6 victories last week to run its streak to four.

Morrisette defeated Quincy, 7-2, and rolled over Holbrook, 23-3.

Morrisette will host Wollaston tonight (Thursday) at Adams Field, will play a two-night doubleheader with Milton Tuesday starting at 6 at Adams and will play at Braintree next Wednesday night at 7:30. Morrisette has four games to make up, two games that finished in ties and two rained-out games.

Eric DeBoer scattered seven hits, struck out 11 and walked only one in the win over Quincy. He is 2-0 and was also involved in a scoreless tie.

Morrisette collected 11 hits off Jim Dennis, several being bleeders and bloopers.

Eddie Flavin went 4-for-4 for Morrisette, including a double and two RBI. Rob McDonald had two hits and two RBI, Billy MacDougall doubled home two runs and DeBoer also singled in a run.

Mike Mullaney had a long triple to center, Ron Fletcher had a ground rule double that bounced over the fence and Wayne Chambers also had a hit.

DeBoer, a 16-year-older in his first season of Legion ball, has struck out 38 in 25 innings.

Coach Dave Perdios had a chance to use his entire squad in the runaway victory over Holbrook.

Morrisette collected 22 hits off three Holbrook pitchers. Wayne Chambers coasted through five innings, giving up eight hits, striking out seven and walking three. Rich Kissel pitched the final two innings, giving up one hit and a walk.

Morrisette scored six runs in each of the second and fourth innings.

Flavin had a homer, triple and single, walked, drove in six runs and scored four. He has now hit in his last seven at bats.

Jeff Calvert went 3-for-4 with a sacrifice fly, Chambers also was 3-for-4 and scored four runs, McDonald had two hits and three RBI, Jimmy Glynn two triples and three RBI, MacDougall two hits, two walks, two RBI and four runs scored, Brian Taylor a run-producing triple and Jim Ross, Tony Anderlionis and Kevin MacDougall a single each.

DISPLAYING THIER GOLD and silver medals won recently at a Masters Swim Meet in Cinncinati are, from left, Hazel Rambo, of Quincy, 84; Ralph Yohe, executive director of the South Shore YMCA; and Mary Wentworth, of Canton, 62. In addition to winning a total of 10 medals, Hazel and Mary, both longtime YMCA members, also won medals during the recent Senior Olympics in Quincy.

Quincy Splits Pair

The Quincy Legion's baseball team remained even at 3-3 as it split two games last week.

Quincy, after playing Milton Tuesday and Holbrook last night (Wednesday), will be home to Randolph tonight (Thursday) at 8 at Adams Field.

Quincy defeated Braintree, 5-2, as two University of Maine pitchers hooked up. Robbie Higgins of Quincy pitched a five-hitter, walked two and struck out nine. Ted Novio of Braintree gave up six hits, struck out nine and didn't issue a walk.

Quincy trailed, 2-0, going into the seventh inning but exploded for five runs, while batting around.

Bill Mulkern started it off with a single, Peter McLaughlin, batting for Sean Gately, singled and Mike Toland walked to fill the bases with no outs. After Nick Dragone popped out, Higgins doubled to clear the bases. He was out trying to stretch it into a triple.

Jim Dennis walked and Peter Tufts doubled to the fence, took third on an error and scored the fifth run on a passed ball.

Dragone had a double and Tufts a single for Quincy's other hits.

Quincy lost to undefeated Morrisette, 7-2, as Morrisette's Eric DeBoer pitched a seven-hitter. Dennis gave up 10 hits and walked three while striking out six for Quincy.

Higgins drove in Quincy's two runs with a triple over the right fielder's head.

Wollaston 2 Out Of 3

The Wollaston Legion baseball team improved its record to 4 and 4 after defeating Milton 6-4, Canton 12-3 and losing to Mass Truck 3-2 in recent Zone Six action.

After spotting Milton a four point lead, Wollaston came from behind in a five-run fifth inning.

Bill Bellew opened the inning with a triple and was brought home after J.J. Steen hit a double. Steen was then brought home after Sean Thompson hit a single. After Chris Higgins reached on an error, John Shea doubled, driving in two runs.

Scott Logan's single moved Shea to third, from where he ground a sacrifice fly by Dave Hutchines.

Steen guttered four hits while striking out four to gain the win.

Mass Truck of Weymouth defeated Wollaston 3-2 behind the strong two-hit pitching of Matt Poulin. Mark DiMattio's five hitter was wasted as their record dropped to 3 and 4.

In support of Chris Higgins' six hit-ten strikeout performance, Wollaston broke open a 2-1 game with a six-run fifth inning and four runs, in the sixth.

John Shea, 3 for 4, and Higgins, 2 for 4, sparked a twelve hit attack. All nine starters for Wollaston contributed a hit in the game.

Wollaston travels to Randolph Wednesday, and will host Morrisette at 8:30 Thursday evening.

2 YMCA Swimmers Win 10 Medals At Masters Swim Meet

Two senior swimmers from the South Shore YMCA, 79 Coddington St., Quincy, recently won a collective 10 medals, including nine gold medals, at the Masters Swim Meet in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Mary Wentworth, a past president at the South Shore YMCA, won six gold and one silver medal during the recent competition. An active board member, she serves on the Executive, Personnel, Resident Camp and Women's Committees.

She also works one afternoon a week with the YMCA's Special Needs Program.

Another big winner was Hazel Rambo, who finished with three gold medals. She came to the YMCA after her grandchildren urged her to learn to swim.

A member of the Women's Committee, she has helped with many fundraising activities for the South Shore YMCA.

Boston Gear Continues To Mesh

Boston Gear continued its winning ways last week with two victories.

Gear bombed Houghs Neck, 19-5, with Danny Duncan the winning pitcher with a three-hitter. Gear pounded out 19 hits, led by Bryan Raftery's homer run and two doubles. Timmy Byrne had a homer, double and single, Duncan and George Wirtz a double and two singles each, Sean Kennerson a double and single, Jeff Burrell two singles, Bernie Mullen a double and Kenny Ledwak and Tommy Sullivan a single apiece.

Sean Dolbare, Kevin Keddy and John McLoughlin played excellent defense.

Chris Geary played a fine game for HN and collected two of his team's three hits. Mike Santoro and Bobby Johnston played strong defense.

Boston Gear also edged Colonial Federal, 6-5, with Byrne the winning pitcher, also pitching a three-hitter.

Duncan was out of action with a concussion. Gear had eight hits with Wirtz and Ledwak having a double and single each. McLoughlin had a key double and Byrne, Burrell and Kennerson each had a single.

Bernie Mullen, Raftery, Kennerson, Sullivan, Keddy and Dolbare played strong defense and Kennerson and Wirtz each came up with unassisted double plays.

Steve White, Steve Miller and Matt McGowan had the hits for Colonial Federal. Miller was outstanding at shortstop and came into pitch the final two innings, blanking Gear. Colonial Federal rallied in the last inning but came up a run short.

• Babe Ruth League

Bryan Racks Up Three

Bryan Post won three Babe Ruth League games during the past week, including a 9-7 win over previously undefeated Local 1139.

Bryan jumped off to a 4-0 lead in the fourth on hits by Steven Waas, Michael Malvesti and Rob Kane. Local 1139 scored once in the bottom of the inning on Rob Fitzpatrick's RBI single.

Bryan increased its margin to 5-1 in the fourth on Kevin Mullay's hit and in the fifth Mark Kelleher singled and scored on Waas' hit. Local rallied with two in the fifth on Gary Rawdon's single.

Bryan added a run in the top of the sixth on Mullay's single and Don Anderson's sacrifice fly. Local cut it to 7-5 in its half on hits by Costa Rozantis, Fitzpatrick and Pat Gallagher.

Bryan made it 9-5 in the seventh on hits by Kelleher and Waas but Local again came back with two on hits by Rawdon and Fred Regan, but Waas hung on to earn the win, aided by a quick shortstop-to-home to first double play, initiated by Steven Loud.

Waas helped his own cause with three hits and Kelleher and Mullay each had two. Rawdon had four singles for Local 1139 and Regan and Fitzpatrick had two hits each.

Bryan Post defeated Granite City Electric, 8-3, with Pat McDonough, Joe Marnikovic and Loud combining for the victory. David Gamsby pitched well for Granite City, allowing only five hits and striking out 14.

Marnikovic's double and Malvesti's single gave Bryan a 1-0 lead in the second but Granite City tied in the bottom half on George Walsh's single.

Bryan scored two unearned runs in the third and widened its lead to 6-1 in the fifth on hits by Anderson and Waas. Waas tripled in the eighth to make it 8-1.

Granite City scored twice in the seventh on hits by Brian Jennette and Vin Anderthonis. Marnikovic, who had pitched hitless ball over four innings of relief, gave way to Loud, who struck out the last two batters.

Chris Stenman played a fine game at second base for Bryan Post.

Bryan Post also edged Bank of New England, 3-2, in a fine pitching duel between Bryan's Malvesti and Bank of New England's Michael Patch.

They pitched scoreless ball over the first five innings. Malvesti getting out of a fourth inning jam on a spectacular double play as Kane in center field made a nice running catch and fired a strike to double up the runner at the plate.

In the top of the sixth Bank scored twice on singles by John Tahey (two hits), Tom Balzano and Rich McDonald (two hits). Bryan tied it in the bottom half on Waas' single and Marnikovic's ground rule double.

In the seventh Loud took over for Malvesti and turned in another fine relief job by striking out the last two batters and retiring the side in order.

Bryan won it with an unearned run in the seventh inning.

Waas again led the attack with two hits and Paul Murphy, Philip Bell, Terry Sheehan, Todd Portesi and Tom Nutley had hits. Patch and George Rozantis had the other hits for BNE.

• Jaehnig League

2-Way Tie For Top

Masterclean and J.B. Heating are tied for first place in the Jaehnig Summer Basketball League with 6-1 records.

Masterclean defeated the Hoop Junkies, 64-59, behind Brian Donahue's 25 points and 20 by Greg Smith. The Junkies, in their finest effort of the year, were led by Joe Pendergast with 19 points, Bob Cunningham with 17 and Bob Flaherty with 15.

Heating topped the Cutters, 71-60, with Don Murphy scoring 18, John Byers 14, Steve Waitekas 12 and Brian Levitt 10. Norris Brown had a game-high 25 for the Cutters and Jeff Worswick had 13.

The Jaehnig Chiropractic Club upset the Miller A.C., 82-74, with Paul Leonard, Chuck and Mark Jaehnig and Marty Connolly combining for 76 points. David Britt was a sparkplug on defense. Billy Loughnane had 26 and Rick Stoltz 20 for Miller.

The balanced scoring of Brian Seppalla (18), Tim Rivadinera (16) and Kevin Hourihan (15) sparked the Republicans to a 66-57 decision over T-Troop. George Esau had 17 and Russ Bagle 15 for T-Troop.

Kane's Place won by forfeit.

The standings: Masterclean, 6-1; J.B. Heating, 6-1; Miller A.C., 5-2; Jaehnig, 4-2; Kane's, 4-3; Cutters, 3-4; Republicans, 3-4; Hoop Junkies, 2-5; T-Troop, 1-6; X-Men, 0-6.

Summer Playground Program Starts July 5

The Quincy Recreation Department will initiate the summer playground program Tuesday, July 5.

Four-year old Pamela Jacobs is the new 1988 "Little Miss Houghs Neck" chosen Saturday at the Houghs Neck Community Council's annual field day at LaBrecque Field.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jacobs of 16 Turner St.

Runners-up were Courtney Ryan, 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Ryan of 92 Bayview Ave.; and Sarah Wilson, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wilson of 1782 Babcock St.

They received trophies, ribbons and other awards. "Little Miss Houghs Neck" will ride in the Quincy Christmas parade.

Other contestants receiving gifts were Linda Marie, Wallace, 6, Justine Lee Mitchell, 4; Melissa Crossthwait, 6; Shannon Marie Davis, 5; Ryan Kelly, 4; Donna Robbins, 7; Colleen Ryan, 6; and Michele Catrambone, 5.

Joseph Peters, 5, son of Mrs. Ann Peters of 335 Rock Island Rd., is 1988's "Little Mr. Houghs Neck."

Philip Miceli, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Miceli of 15 Charles St., and Michael Murphy, 4, son of Mr. and Dennis Murphy of 12 Rock Island Rd., were runners-up.

They, too, received trophies and other awards. Other contestants were Bryan Zarnoch, four, and Billy Murphy, five.

Judges for the contests were City Councillors Patricia Toland and Michael Cheney, School Committeeman Steven Durkin, Stephen Tobin, candidate for State Representative, and Patricia Ridlen, director of the Houghs Neck Community Center.

Darlene Gardner was contest chairman. Thomas Timcoe was master of ceremonies.

Decorated doll carriage contest winners were Deja Bergstrom of 1198 Sea St., Diana Berberan and Julia Berberan, both of 36 Bell St.

Deja Bergstrom came in first in the decorated bicycle competition. Danielle Picarski and Paul Picarski, both of 112 Turner St., took second and third prizes.

"Most horrible" was a three-headed monster including Jennifer Moore, Colleen Clark and Melissa Micey. Jacoall Bergstrom of 171 Babcock St., took second place, and Brian Nolan of Winthrop St., third.

THE THREE-HEADED MONSTER was the "most horrible" sight at the Houghs Neck Community Council field day at LaBrecque Field. Showing their evil spirit are Melissa Micey, Colleen Clark and Jennifer Moore, who took home a first prize.

Survey Shows Electricity Use Up

(Cont'd from Page 3)

Among the findings were:

- Massachusetts executives agree that a strong economy is dependent upon an adequate supply of energy.
- The great majority feel their company and the state have greatly increased their electrical use in recent times.
- Almost all were greatly concerned about energy demand exceeding supply and the state's ability to meet energy needs over the next five years. In fact, most felt if the energy supply becomes worse, it would keep companies from locating or expanding in this state
- Eight out of 10 (95 percent of the larger firms) indicated their firms have instituted energy conservation measures. Despite this, the great majority, said their actual energy consumption has increased Most feel their companies can further reduce their electrical use through increased conservation measures - but only by a small amount.
- Sixty-five percent report their own company's consumption to be greater than two years ago, while only four percent believe it to be less. (Thirty percent said it was about the same.)

Furthermore, among companies with 500 or more employees, 73 percent report increased consumption.

In terms of conservation, 82 percent of Massachusetts executives report their companies have instituted measures to conserve energy but of these, 67 percent state their electrical consumption has increased over the past two years.

While almost all feel further conservation could reduce consumption, only nine percent said their company could realistically reduce their electricity use a "great deal" through further conservation.

Regarding diversification of energy sources, 92 percent said more sources are needed; 86 percent believe electricity use is growing much faster than overall supplies and 84 percent said the state should use all of its existing sources of electricity generation, including nuclear energy, Zooleck said.

"I think we have to look at it as a total package. We can't be totally dependent on one energy supply," he said.

On the issue of the importance of an adequate electricity supply, all executives agreed a continued strong economy in Massachusetts is dependent on an adequate supply of electricity.

Furthermore, 93 percent said voltage reductions or blackouts and brownouts at peak periods would be a major problem for their company.

Zooleck said he "thinks there will be" selective brownouts this summer, adding that many companies "can't handle" them because of computer memory failure.

Zooleck also announced that Lt. Gov. Evelyn Murphy has formed an energy task force which will analyze the state's energy needs and seek solutions to the energy problem. Among the members of the task force will be representatives from business and organized labor, he said.

"Solutions must be formed immediately," Zooleck said, adding that the state does not have a definitive energy policy.

"We'd like to take some steps before we have a major energy crisis," Zooleck said.

"The formation of the task force is a definite step in that direction," he said.

McDuff Promises Strong Support For Animal Legislation

John H. McDuff of Quincy Point, Republican candidate for state representative from the Third Norfolk District, promised strong support for animal welfare legislation as he spoke recently before a group of animal rights activists

McDuff endorsed a measure which would remove the ban on pets in state-subsidized senior housing. He said that "this is long overdue for the emotional and physical health of the elderly who now are forced to give up their only remaining friend when they enter senior housing.

"We have just seen a 91 year old woman being evicted on the hottest day of the year and her 14 year old dog dying during the eviction. Such action is inexcusable and points up the need for leadership and compassion in this area."

McDuff also urged passage of House Bill 2444 which would allow Massachusetts students the option to do alternative study projects rather than dissect animals. Despite strong public support the bill died in the legislature last year as a result of pressure from the Mass. Teacher's Association. McDuff termed animal experimentation "a throwback to barbarism, a dehumanizing experience for young people who should be taught how to care, not how to kill."

McDuff added

"As I have led the fight for a new Quincy Animal Shelter, for the repeal of the Pound Seizure Law and better treatment of animals in this city, I pledge to continue that same advocacy on Beacon Hill.

"I ask all animal activists to support my candidacy with people-power and with contributions. As founder and president of the Quincy Animal League I've done my best. As your next state representative I can do much more."

Toland, Union Heads To Meet Thursday

Arthur Osborn, president of the Massachusetts AFL-CIO, and other union labor heads will announce what they feel are issues of the utmost priority in the upcoming state elections during a conference with Quincy City Councillor Patricia Toland and a candidate for state representative.

The meeting will be today (Thursday) at President's Place, currently under construction on the old Bargain Center site.

Local and county labor officials as well as representatives from the press are expected to attend.

License Board Briefs

The city's License Board took the following action at Tuesday's meeting at City Hall

- Granted a request from Pagnano Towers Tenant Association for a permit to conduct a rummage sale July 23 on the condition that no used clothing is sold because of contamination possibilities
- Agreed to withdraw without prejudice a request from the Clam Box, 789 Quincy Shore Dr., for a skillmaster machine that would've been outside the establishment until a special permit is obtained from the Board of Appeals. Having such a machine outside the building would be nonconforming use of property.
- Agreed to withdraw without prejudice a request from JAAD, Inc., operating as Napoli Pizzeria, 1470 Hancock St., for a video game permit because there was no necessity for a third video machine and the board wishes to view effects of the redeveloping of Quincy Square night life before doing something which might cause problems.
- Granted a request from St. Boniface Church for a fundraiser Aug. 13 on the condition that conditions are squared with the health, police, building, and fire departments.
- Agreed to withdraw without prejudice a request from Periwinkles By The Bay, Inc., operating as Seaside Grille, for extension of its common victualer-wine and malt license to include area stretching to nearby boardwalk because of possible unsupervised drinking on boardwalk
- Granted a request from Fenton Hollander for a common victualer-all alcoholic license and entertainment license for July 30 for a classical music concert and fireworks display at Marina Bay on the conditions that a traffic pattern is acceptable to the police chief, a fire detail is paid for, permits from the health commissioner, fire chief and building inspector are obtained, and there is a means of egress in case of emergency.
- Granted a request from Quincy Police Sgt. Richard Laracy for controlling who would be on the premises of liquor serving establishments after closing. The policy recommends last call on drinks for establishments serving over 25 people at 12:30 a.m.; absolutely no liquor served after 1 a.m.; all customers off premises by 1:30 a.m.; and all employees off premises except two cleaners and manager by 2 a.m.

Thomas Vangel Receives Law Degree

Thomas S. Vangel of Sheldon St., Quincy, was recently awarded a Juris Doctor degree by the New England School of Law during recent commencement exercises.

He plans to take the bar examination for the jurisdiction of Massachusetts.

While at New England School of Law, Vangel made dean's list 1985 through 1988; he was New England Scholar, 1985-87, New England Law Review Staff, 1986-87, managing editor 1987-88, Student Bar Assoc. Rep., 1985-86, treasurer, 1986-87.

He also won the following American Jurisprudence Book Awards: Professional Responsibility, 1987; Federal Income Taxation, 1986; West Corpus Juris Secondum series award.

Vangel is the son of Mrs. Roma L. Vangel of Sheldon St., and Mr. Louis Vangel, of Baltimore.

Help Yourself To A Happy Vacation

It's that time of year again. You can make your summer vacation more enjoyable and carefree if you will take a few simple steps to reduce the possibility that your home will be burglarized or vandalized while you are gone. A vacant house - or one that appears to be vacant - is an appealing target to a burglar. Returning to a home that has been broken into is an unpleasant finish to any trip. Never give a burglar an even break.

Here are some simple suggestions that you can do a few days before you leave:

- Notify the post office to hold your mail or arrange with a neighbor to pick up and hold your mail. On extended trips, you may wish to have the post office forward your mail.
- Notify your news carrier to discontinue delivery.
- Make arrangements to have grass cut and watered. Have someone check daily to remove throwaway papers and circulars.
- Arrange with a neighbor or relative to watch your home and give them a key. Let them know where and how you can be reached in case of emergency. Write their telephone number down so you can check with them during your trip. Also give them your car description and license plate number in case you have to be notified of an emergency.
- Notify you local police department about your departure and return dates so a special watch may be kept on your home. Also give a name and telephone number of a neighbor or relative to notify in case of an emergency, fire, burglary, water leak, etc.
- Check possible fire hazards such as oily rags, open containers of combustibles, questionable wiring.
- Make sure any broken windows, door locks, window locks are repaired.
- Move all ladders, tools, lawn implements, garbage cans, and yard furniture to your garage, basement, shed.
- If you have valuables in the house, take them to your bank for storage in a safe deposit vault. Deposit extra cash in your bank account.
- Purchase Travelers Checks. They are safer than carrying large amounts of money around.
- Ask your neighbors not to inform inquiring strangers that you are away.

If a burglary has occured during your absence:

- Do NOT enter the house - the burglar might still be there. Use a neighbor's phone to call the police immediately.
- Do NOT touch anything. Just wait until the police arrive.
- DO have a record of the serial numbers of the missing items, and also your Operation Identification Number. This is your best chance to get your property back.

Arts/Entertainment

Children's Summer Reading Program At Libraries

Children from two through 12 can join the Thomas Crane Public Library's summer reading team.

Printed schedules are available now and children may register at the main library or at one of the branch libraries.

Two and three year olds accompanied by a parent can join the Toddler's Team at the Adams Shore Branch Library on Sea St. Programs are held Tuesday mornings at 10:30 from July 19 through Aug. 23.

Lori Seegraber, children's librarian, will share stories, books and fingerplays during the half-hour program. There also is time for parents and children to enjoy child development toys and to select their week's reading.

Mary Raux, children's librarian, coaches the reading teams at the North Quincy Branch Library on Hancock St. on Wednesdays from July 6 through Aug. 3. One team meets at 10, the other at 11. Teams will be introduced to a variety of books as well as some outstanding films for children. This program is offered to children from three through five years old.

Marian Cicarella, children's librarian at the Wollaston Branch Library on Beale St., will lead a team of six through eight year olds on Fridays at 10. A combination of stories, book talks and films will be presented for six weeks beginning July 8.

Children's librarian Nancy Breef-Pilz invites children eight years old and older to join the bookcraft team at the Quincy Square Library. Team members will make their own books after seeing different kinds of books being published today. Possible types of craft projects are flip books, choose-your-own books, pop-up books, and alphabet books. The bookcraft team meets Thursdays at 10:30 July 7 and July 21 and Aug. 4 and 18.

The Quincy Square Library is repeating its successful storytelling series Tuesday evening at 7 from July 12 through Aug. 16. Six different artists will appear in concert for families with children age five and older.

Performers are George Capaccio, July 12; Betty Lehrman, July 19; Scot Cannon, mime, July 26; Judith Black, Aug. 2; Len Cabral, Aug. 9; West of the Moon, Aug. 16. This storytelling series is funded by the Quincy Arts Council.

All reading team members place a colored dot on the track for each book they read and each program they attend.

FUTURE PASSED, a rock group out of Quincy, is made up of, left to right, Frank Levesque, Joe Lundbohm, John Amendolare, and Mike Carty.

'Future Passed' To Celebrate New Song At Release Party

Future Passed, a Quincy-based rock group of local fame, will perform a release party for their new song, "Hear Me," tonight (Thursday) at Nostalgia on Quincy Shore Drive.

The group, which receives airplay on WBCN, WCGY, WHJY, and WFNX, consists of John Amendolare, keyboards, guitar and vocals; Mike Carty, bass guitar and vocals; Frank Levesque, drums and vocals; and Joe Lundbohm, lead guitar and lead vocals.

Future Passed has been described by Boston's rock magazine, "The Beat," as a band that could "revive the dead with their energetic, rhythmic style."

The first single they released, "Shame on You," was featured on Kiss 108's "Battle of the Bands" show and won first place five consecutive weeks in a row.

The band has also released the medley of updated '70's dance songs, "Play That Funky Music Fire."

Beechwood Chamber Players At Memorial Congregational

Three free concerts, featuring the Beechwood Chamber Players and Dawn Heckman, will be sponsored by the Memorial Congregational Church, 136 Sagamore St. at Newbury Ave., for July.

The Beechwood Chamber players will perform July 12 and 19. Dawn Heckman and her guitar are featured July 26. All concerts start at 7 p.m. on the church lawn.

Anyone who wishes to attend should bring a blanket or beach chair. Straight chairs will be provided.

Concerts will be held indoors in case of rain.

Marie Hoitt Orchestra Librarian

Marie Hoitt of Quincy was appointed librarian of the board at a recent banquet ending the 72nd season of the Southeastern Philharmonic Orchestra.

The banquet was held at the Viking Club in Braintree and officers and board of directors were also named.

Regular rehearsals for the orchestra will resume in September. They will be held every Thursday evening at Weymouth North High School. New players are welcome. For more information call Mary Quinton, newly elected president, at 337-9858.

Ward 2 Civic Assn. Field Day Monday

The Ward 2 Civic Association's annual Fourth of July Field Day will begin Monday at 10 a.m. at the Fore River Field, 16 Nevada Rd., Quincy, beside the Fore River Clubhouse.

Among the events will be races for 5 to 14 year olds, decorated doll carriage contest; "Horribles" costume contest and a decorated bicycle contest.

"Sparkles the Clown" will make up the faces of little boys and girls.

Trophies and ribbons will be awarded to contest winners.

Hot dogs, ice cream and cold drinks will be served at no cost.

Other events planned by the Ward 2 Civic Association this summer are:

July 13. Bicycle Rodeo and Safety Course, supervised by the County 4-H and Quincy Police Department, at 11 a.m. Certificates will be awarded to all who pass the course.

July 21. A trip to the South Shore Music Circus Children's Theatre to see "Pinocchio." Pre-registration is required. Cost for bus and ticket is $5. Bus leaves at 9 a.m.

July 28. Bicycling engraving by the Quincy Police Safety Officer will be conducted from 10:30 to 11:45 a.m.

Also, every Tuesday during July there will be a young people's quilting class at 10 a.m. A fee will be charged for kits.

Sept. 1. A trip to the South Shore Music Circus Children's Theatre to see the "Ugly Duckling." Bus leaves at 9 a.m. Reservations are required and cost for bus and ticket is $5.

Audubon Society Trip To Squantum Point July 9

A trip to Squantum Point in North Quincy, sponsored by the Audubon Society, is scheduled for Saturday, July 9, from 8 a.m. to noon to view the shore birds.

In early July sandpipers and other shore birds are already heading south for the winter. This trip will provide a chance to see a variety of shore birds as they rest and feed on their way from Canada to South America, possibly even the rare curlew sandpiper.

Jim Barton is leader. Those participating are to meet at U Mass Harbor Campus where transportation is available. Also, binoculars and field glasses should be brought. Cost is $15 ($12 MAS members). To register call Mass Audubon at 367-1026.

Chicken Barbecue At HN Legion Post

A chicken barbecue will be held by Houghs Neck Legion Post Saturday from 12 noon to 5 p.m. at the Post Home, 1116 Sea St.

Brian Young, junior vice commander, is in charge of the event, which is open to the public. Admission of $3.50 may be paid at the door.

Quincy Beaches Swimmable

Quincy's 15 beach areas are considered swimmable by the city's Health Department after conducting water samples tests June 21.

Results are:

Avalon Beach: 90 total coliform, zero fecal coliform.
Mound Beach: 70 total coliform, 5 fecal coliform.
Broady Beach: 100 total coliform, zero fecal coliform.
Germantown Fire Station: 30 total coliform, 5 fecal coliform.
Brooks Beach: 50 total coliform, 10 fecal coliform.
Lake Water Dr.: 30 total coliform, zero fecal coliform.
Bicknell St.: 120 total coliform, 10 fecal coliform.
Point Island Rd.: 30 total coliform, zero fecal coliform.
Wollaston Katawbut Rd.: 1200 total coliform, 50 fecal coliform.
Wollaston-Rice Rd.: 140 total coliform, 20 fecal coliform.
Wollaston-Sachem St.: 220 total coliform, 30 fecal coliform.
Wollaston-Channing St.: 1700 total coliform, 180 fecal coliform.
Wollaston-Milton St.: 200 total coliform, 40 fecal coliform.
Nickerson Beach: 1800 total coliform, 150 fecal coliform.
Orchard Beach: 70 total coliform, zero fecal coliform.

The Wollaston beach area is under the control of the Metropolitan District Commission.

The Health Department considers beach water samples of fecal coliform counts of less than 200 swimmable.

Counts of over 200 are unacceptable and unhealthy for swimming.

The next tests were scheduled to be conducted Tuesday, June 28.

WEEK OF: June 30

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
You're well-known for your sentimental streak. There are indeed, some days when you prefer to live in the past. Your strong imagination leads to creative expression. The year ahead may find you working with small children involved in cultural activities, and turning a hobby into a profitable enterprise.

AQUARIUS – January 21 - February 19
Good week for getting together with friends you've been neglecting. Health and fitness program should not be overlooked. You may be taking on the role of host or emcee.

PISCES – February 20 - March 20
Week finds you assuming the role of social organizer. Out-of-town visitors may arrive unexpectedly. The light-hearted side of romance is spotlighted.

ARIES – March 21 - April 20
Cultural events highlight the week. [illegible] your career related ideas on a friendly basis. Make a note change. Personal relationship is on a steadier course.

TAURUS – April 21 - May 22
Supervisors become more receptive to your ideas. Public speaking event thrusts you into the limelight on the weekend. Team tax undertakings require thorough review. Partnership arrangement demands attention.

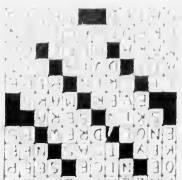
GEMINI – May 23 - June 21
Make an effort to be generous with your time. Loved ones/relatives seeking counsel for advice. Weekend is for fathers to [illegible] you may be a long-sought after one.

CANCER – June 22 - July 22
Family requests need prompt response. Legal matters or [illegible] which may arrive now, require careful study. New friendship may be forged at this time.

LEO – July 23 - August 22
Good week for discovering unsuspected talents. Be careful about yourself. Your casual remarks may be taken to heart by a loved one. If traveling, care for advance planning is important.

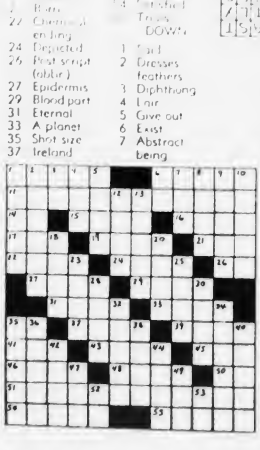
VIRGO – August 23 - September 22
Joint ventures are highlighted at this time. You may be under pressure to promote a key plan. Travel opportunities are also likely, especially after the weekend.

LIBRA – September 23 - October 22
Education is the word's theme and [illegible] enrolling in a language class, in relationships, you get a clearer view of where you and partner are headed.



SCORPIO – October 23 - November 21
The start of the month is hectic with relatives and high-ups demanding your undivided attention. Remain alert to your instincts and the week could prove a success.

SAGITTARIUS – November 22 - December 22
Relationships at work become less comfortable, but only if you take the initiative. Good week for planning ways to use your time more effectively. Loved one engages surprising you.



CAPRICORN – December 23 - January 20
Your moral support thanks to the support of a dear friend and your relationship with co-workers pick up as well. Your confidence returns late – an ability to reflect your upbeat tempo.

BORN THIS WEEK

Council Votes 8-1 Against Methadone Clinic

way to get off drugs and that is to stop taking drugs," he said.

Cahill, who compared drug users to alcoholics said, "As far as I'm concerned, it's the same.

"The degree of withdrawal may be more significant with drug users as opposed to an alcoholic but the fact remains unless you clean it out of your system once and for all, and go through the struggle of getting it out of your system because to me that is the most important thing.

"I do not agree with weaning (out drug addicts). I think we have to make a strong and firm stand. The only way to get off drugs is to get off drugs," Cahill said.

Several councillors expressed the problem of where a methadone clinic would be located in Quincy.

Ward 1 Councillor Michael Cheney said, "If it is a social problem that we're trying to correct, if it's an urban setting they're looking for, if someone needs this type of treatment, then fine, but let them go to a hospital and get it.

"If they want to experiment with methadone, they're not going to do it in Quincy, they're not going to do it in our neighborhoods. If someone really wants treatment, let him travel to Boston.

"Boston has accepted it," he said.

Councillor Stephen McGrath added, "I'm sure the six ward councillors do not want it in any of the six wards and I support that position 100 percent. I think we've had enough of experimentation," he said.

Cheney also expressed doubts over the claim that methadone significantly reduces the spread of AIDS.

"I don't think it reduces the spread of AIDS significantly. I think it does probably stop some of it but it's not a significant reduction of AIDS," he said.

Ward 6 Councillor Thomas Nutley was also doubtful of some of the information collected on the clinic.

"Let's be honest. We're males not informed. We're taking the word of some interest party," Nutley said, referring to Habit Management Co. and the 25 percent increase in heroin related crime.

Nutley said he believes the real drug problem is cocaine and its derivative crack. "Quincy does have a drug problem and I think it's about time people start standing up to it like alcoholics," he said.

Ward 4 Councillor James Sheets said using methadone as a way to reduce crime "infuriates" him because the only way to reduce crime is by using "police, courts and prisons."

"Until we get rid of the people who are walking our streets, who are polluting the youth of this city, this state, this country, we're not going to get rid of the problem," Sheets said.

"I feel sorry for them but I feel much more sorrowful for those good young people who are the victims of those who are hooked and those who shouldn't be out in society preying on other individuals," he said.
